Besides offering the usual dairy products, Dairy-Land has sanding establishment, the Galloways expect to add more locations in

Cemetery Group Meets Sunday

Regular quarterly meeting of the Cemetery Association will be Sunday at 3:00 in the cemetery.
It is suggested that all who are interested in the care and upkeep of the final resting place of their loved ones, and perhaps some day their own, come out early and wander through the cemetery and come to the meeting at the Tool House on top of the hill at 3:00 with any suggestions they might have for consideration of the association.
Attendance by all officers and directors is urged. The nine directors or their proxies will draw for terms of 1, 2 or 3 years of service.
Let us all think of our loved ones who have passed from this life and take time to visit them on this Sunday.
In case of inclement weather
the meeting will be held in the Methodist church.

$500

Approximately $500 was collected in the Mental Health Bell Ringer drive Monday. Part of the campaign was a Coffee Break

James Conway and Mrs. George R. Huckaby served as co-chairman of the Iowa Park drive. They were assisted by district chairmen and a large number of volunteer block workers.
This year more than 80 per cent of the money collected will stay in the county.

TO THE EDITOR:
On the barren deserts and dim mountain trails in the great Southwest, one may ride from sun to sun, never laying eyes on a living thing—save a packrat, a roadrunner or a desert wren.
It's not a lonely sojourn if it's what a man likes to do, or might reveal a few things he'd like to know. One seldom rides against great odds in that domain without reasonable assurance of fulfilling his mission. It's a cruel country, still challenged by the cruelty of man.
The most practical approach may be found in the Proverb of the Old Prospector: "A man has to do a lot of living on the ground to learn a few things they never bother to put in books."

For various reasons, many a man has driven himself on endless quests with such momentum to overlook mental and physical frailties, to again grab into illimitable time and immeasurable space, to discern the subjective and tragic history that had no name or goal; unmindful of the Indian concept that even mountains and rivers had a spiritual essence as well as physical shape.
From late teens to near middle age, Jules Burton—later known as Shag—prepared himself to subdue that sand-crawling and crater country. Master's degree from Yale, PhD from Columbia, legal therapist of Sir Blackstone, he mastered polo and was equipped for the trail. Boosted as the "Desert Expert" in the local paper, he set sail in the Shappo Desert near Podunk, Ariz.

His first concern was a clue which he soon found—a fragment of a cotton garment clinging to greasewood on a narrow trail, a small imprint of a donkey hoof on the baked earth. Direction thus established, he rode down a small depression which soon became wider and deeper, dense brush and more fragments.
Suddenly, from the small dig of a miner's pick in a gravel mound, he dismounted and hurried along the trail. Being dusk when he gained the rimrock of Skelter canyon, he pulled the saddle, fed his horse, and turned to stare at the vague outline of a lofty, mysterious mountain, adjacent to a yawning abyss which, for unknown centuries, belched troubled waters that uprooted mile after mile of sand dune and worthless lava, for CERTAIN not a creation of man, to give us the Grand Canyon.

Shag was fingering the lid of his coffee pot when the scream of a mountain lion came booming out of the gulch, sending the Palamino helter-skelter across the desert. Red eyed and spent from a sleepless watch of the cougar, day break found the old "new" Desert Fox dragging his English racing saddle over sand dunes and cactus; racing boots and lace-leg jockey pants were in shreds.
His slow drag finally brought Shag to the point of embarkation. Hand and face dripping blood, sweat dropped from the elbows of his fancy shirt; ears drooped from clustered blisters, the molten sun had curled his sideburns and given him a fresh hair-do.
As of today, Old Shag says defeat came about under reading lamps—that book stuff.
We can't criticize a book we haven't read, but we'll hang on to our almanac, trapper's guide and seed catalogue.
Thank you.
LONNIE LEE

COOK CLEAN THE FLAMELESS ELECTRIC WAY WITH HEAT AS CLEAN AS ELECTRIC LIGHT

Most homemakers will admit they have a hard enough job cleaning the inside of cooking utensils. Scouring fuel grime from outer surfaces, too, just adds unnecessarily to kitchen chores. But clean, flameless, electric heat is free from by-products of combustion that smudge and soil utensils. Pots and pans, walls and curtains, and the range itself, stay cleaner. You'll be surprised how much time you'll save for other household activities when you cook the clean, flameless electric way. See your electric appliance dealer today.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Iowa Park:

Have your "say" by voting your thoughts on April 3rd.

We believe that the inequities of the citizens outside the city limits who are receiving the benefits of water, sewer and other facilities is UNJUST and that these citizens should be taxed proportionately with those within the city limits.

Under the present administration, some of the newly developed areas, which have sought admittance, have been denied.

Accomplishments of the present administration are the results of planning, surveys and other groundwork, completed by a previous administration and financed by a Bond Issue which was approved by the voters at the same election which voted the present administration into office.

We believe that, in order to safeguard the lives of our children, definite steps should be taken to improve traffic control in our city and establish adequate Law Enforcement.

Of course we are ALL aware of the fine, excellent condition of our city streets, for which we can thank the present city administration.

We believe that the city should be run like a business, for the majority of its citizens, and we further feel that the young business men of this town are well qualified in this respect.

Your vote for the YOUNG MEN on April 3rd will assure you of a voice in city government.

Dub Hicks Seeks Legislative Job

A native Wichitan and one of the city's best-known young business men, Wallace B. (Dub) Hicks, has authorized the Herald to announce his candidacy for the Texas House of Representatives, Place 1, 81st District.

The 28-year-old Wichitan attended public schools in Electra, Olney and Wichita Falls and was graduated from WFSH.

He worked his way through the University of Texas and later attended a business and public relations seminar at Louisiana State university.

Having a civic record normally found in men many years older, Hicks is president the Junior C of C in Wichita Falls, holds membership in the Toastmasters club, city and county Civil Defense organizations, Panhandle Lodge 341 IOOF, Northwest Texas Field & Stream association board of directors, Chamber of Commerce board of directors, US Jr. C of C, Texas State Guard association, American Heart Fund, Wichita County Security Unit and holds a first lieutenant's commission in the Military Police Corps of the Texas State Guard.

He has been a volunteer worker in the March of Dimes for five years, served as committeeman on the United Fund for four years, has been an assistant Scoutmaster and associate adviser for Boy Scout Troop 35 and Explorer Post 35.

He is a past state president of the Jr. IOOF and Grand Chief Ruler of the Wichita Falls lodge, member of Hope chapter Order of DeMolay, business manager of the University Longhorn Band.

Member of the university student government, Wichita Falls Citizens Safety Council, Civil Defense committee, Chamber of Commerce's public relations committee, and East Branch YMCA fund raising committee.

He is a member of the Baptist church and a Democrat.

In 1952 Hicks was one of four delegates from Texas for a youth pilgrimage to the United Nations.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde O. Hicks, a 32-year veteran of Texaco, Inc., formerly of Electra, now residing in Wichita Falls.

For the past seven year, since his graduation from college, Hicks has worked for the same firm in Wichita Falls. He is married to the former Miss Sherline White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie White of Wichita Falls. The couple has two daughters: Teresa Kaye 4, Cynthia Marie 1. She is niece of Mr. and Mrs. Euell Spruiell, former principal of Valley View school, now principal of the Henrietta Elementary school.

In his official announcement, Hicks said:

"I believe in unbiased representation of all the people in the district, representation achieved by decisive action and clear cut decisions on every issue.

"I feel every voter should be aware of how their representation is being handled and mainly how their representative votes on all issues.

"With constant vigilance for the welfare of the people of this county and the entire state and with determination and dedication to achieve and preserve the principles that were attained by those before us.

"With my eyes and conscience on God, I pledge my efforts to the service of humanity.

"I believe, now more than ever, we must have steady and decisive hands on the rudder of our 'Ship of State.'

"I am in favor of a stable economy based on sound financial judgment, exercised after research and study of monetary problems that have besieged our state for many years.

"I am in favor of better laws which will tend to protect our small businessmen from bogus and hot check artists that plague our state. Only through the enactment of legislation which will put teeth into our present statutes will our law enforcement agencies be able to cope with this cancerous epidemic.

"I am in favor of curbing the lobbyist influence over our state legislature by strict lobbyist control. I am also in favor of strict laws pertaining to major crimes committed by juveniles.

"I favor the encouragement of more industry for Texas by attracting a greater number of scientific research centers and experimental laboratories, and by utilizing our vast natural resources which will draw modern and diversified industries to our state, thus furnishing more job opportunities for our people."

Hicks said he was against extravagant spending and unwise management of state funds and preferential treatment of any individual, business or association.

"I will fight to the best of my ability the patronage system," he said.

"Since I grew up in the oil patches around Wichita county, I know first-hand the problems that are confronting the families that depend on the oil and gas industry for their living. We must take the steps necessary to make our communities strong financially and insure the future of our loved ones."

"I believe government should be of laws rather than of individuals and that God gives us the meaning and purpose of our everyday lives," he said.

"Through my experience in various civic, service and professional organizations, working with the residents of this county and through my knowledge gained from first-hand experience with government agencies—from city hall to United Nations—I earnestly feel that I have a well balanced background for intelligent and decisive governing of our state.

"I humbly ask you for your support and trust in this coming election."

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Estes, Carol Sue and Lynda of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Estes of Abilene and Mrs. Paul Griffin of Gainesville were here over the weekend and attended the wedding of Barbara Faye Estes in Wichita Falls, Saturday.

CITY ELECTION, TUESDAY, APRIL 3
Your Support Will Be Appreciated

Grandma's Rocking Chair

Another week has passed, and how fast they fly! Before we know it, it will be time for school to be out and I do hope then plans for the library will have been completed and the youngsters will have that facility available for use during vacation. The move to secure a library is a worthy project and those working on it are to be commended.

It behooves all of us to lend a hand in any way possible. Perhaps the desire to read more will be kindled in the young people of our city. Let's get our shoulders to the wheel and put the project over.

I often wonder if people read as much as they did when I was growing up. It seems that reading is becoming a lost art and that youngsters nowadays are not taught to read as we were. They are so busy reading the words they fail to get the meaning.

Consequently, history, English and any other subject that requires reading to get the meaning of the text are not absorbed. The child does not "get" the lesson. This also seems to be true in "stated" problems in math. The child does not know his words adequately, struggles to decipher the word and thereby loses the meaning of the text. That's my sermon for the week!

I was recently asked if I had read certain books on the best-seller list, and when we began to check and discuss them, I found to my surprise that I had read practically all of them. Now I lead a busy life, my time is limited, but since I first learned to read I have loved it and can always find time somewhere during the day or night to read a few pages. I wonder how many of our young people would be able to entertain themselves with a book?

Having read my way through the school library, I requested books for birthday presents and at Christmas and by the time I established my own home I had a considerable library. I even enjoyed the required reading in school and enjoyed Shakespeare, Thanatopsis and the Canterbury Tales! Let's teach our youngsters to read — they will meet many nice people that way and they can while away many hours!

A recently married young friend declares that the first week of wedded life found them down to their last nickel. The groom took the coin and went out and bought bubble gum! Well, their stomachs might not have been full—but their mouths sure were!

Pulled a fast one on Grandma this week. He does not care for lemon flavor in any food. When I bought cake mix Saturday, I did not put on my bifocals, just looked at the illustration on the package. It was yellow and I wanted a yellow cake. When I started to mix it, I found it was a lemon mix. Woe is me! I put pineapple slices in the bottom of the pan and converted that lemon mix into an upside-down cake. At Sunday dinner Grandpa loved it sure was good cake! (When he reads this I may have to leave home!)

Looks like it will take quite a spell to pick up all the trash that blew into the yard last weekend. Someone's paper was plastered against the back fence Sunday. If anyone in the neighborhood missed the news Sunday morning it can be found pasted to the fence.

Well, spring is making another bid. Trees and plants that got nipped last week are leafing out again and in the next few weeks the hum of lawn mowers will be heard throughout the land.

Our preacher says we shouldn't pray on Sunday and prey on our fellowmen the rest of the week. Ye editor threw me a curve last week and edited my column to the extent that my friends were occupying the Graham Purcell home in Wichita Falls. Being staunch Republicans, they are not occupying the Purcell home.

The Jaycees have been at it again and last Saturday's work party poured steps and a lovely curved walk at the Youth Center. The Garden Club is raising funds to landscape the area, so if you are interested in donating to this fund . . . leave it at the Herald office or mail your check to Mrs. Arch Hughes.

Study Club hears Mrs. Watson

First Methodist church was the setting for the annual Guest Day of 23 Study club recently. Mrs. Earl Watson was the book review artist for the occasion. Catherine Marshall's autobiography "Beyond Our Selves" was discussed.

Mrs. O. E. Lochridge presented a prelude of organ music while guests were assembling. Mrs. James A. Sewell, president, extended welcome and presented Mrs. Chauncey Weiler, leader for the afternoon.

A beautiful meditation was contributed by Mrs. C. L. Metz. Her theme Teach Your Heart to Sing was developed through use of a musical staff and glittered notes. She observed that even though everyone is not blessed with the ability to sing, his life could radiate melodies as he goes about rendering service to God and to humanity.

"Beyond Our Selves" is a spiritual autobiography. In describing her faith Mrs. Marshall tells an exciting adventure and ranges over an appealing variety of subjects. Included are her childhood and parentage, early college day and the secret questioning journals she kept, friends who have inspired her, the death of her minister father, and the work and influence of Peter Marshall.

In writing of guidance and forgiveness, of suffering and miracles of answered prayer and healing, she blends personal experience with extensive knowledge of and love for the Bible.

Decorations created by Mrs. W. G. Steele and Mrs. Lester E. Brooks stressed the St. Patrick's Day motif.

Among out of town guests were Mrs. Philip Carpenter of Burkburnett, district secretary; Mrs. George McClarty of Burkburnett, district secretary; Mrs. C. R. Tucker of Wichita Falls, district friendship chairman.

To the voters & taxpayers of Iowa Park

On Tuesday, April 3, 1962, an election will be held to select a Mayor and three Councilmen for Iowa Park.

In the past two years during the administration of Mayor Charles Metz, much has been done with the taxpayers' money to improve the City. A new water-works system, including filtration and treating plant, new water mains to insure adequate flow of water, and a new water tower have been built.

Streets have been improved and the overall functioning of City Government has been achieved with regard to fiscal responsibility. The City is in good financial condition.

However there are still some inequities that should be cleared up.

Before you vote for any candidate, ask him or find out if he believes:

1. That all persons receiving the benefits of water, sewer, etc., which is paid for by taxpayers' money should pay his just share either by taxation or its equivalent in charges therefor.
2. Taxpayers' money should not be used to provide water, sewer, etc., to areas outside the city limits without full compensation therefor.

The answer to the above should be YES.

It is our belief that Mayor Charles Metz, Mr. Clark Holloway, Mr. Marlin Terrell, and Mr. Sam D. Hunter will warrant your consideration and VOTE on next April 3, 1962.

Paid for by Dr. Gordon G. Clark and other interested taxpayers.

Jaycees

President Buster Reaves advises that some 30 members were at the Thursday night meeting at the Youth Center. The Jaycees have several projects to be put in operation soon.

Merlin The Great, hypnotist, is to be held March 28 and 29. Jaycees are selling tickets and invite all to attend. They assure you will see a good show.

Plans were discussed regarding the annual Jaycee Awards banquet which will be held April 12. Program will be outstanding—ask any Jaycee. You might be the Citizen of the Year.

Another important project of the Jaycees is the Blood Bank drive. This starts now with signing of pledge cards and ends with the bloodmobile's being in Iowa Park on April 5. You are urged to give blood—you never can tell when you or a neighbor might need it. This service is for the entire town and surrounding area.

This weekend was a full and enjoyable one for Jaycees and their wives. Friday night at the Youth Center the Jaycee-ettes had a get-acquainted party. A large turnout made it a success with plenty to eat and plenty of 42 games going. Ask Pete Koonce about his winning streak.

Saturday was a work day at the Youth Center with sidewalks and steps being poured. Lights were installed on the outside and new light fixtures were put up inside by members. Due to the creative mind of Dud Rowntree there is now a new trash can stand at the back of the Center. He invites you to see it.

Sunday work included painting chairs and clean-up detail at the Center.

These projects are for Iowa Park and surrounding communities. Just ask any Jaycee how he spends his time and you will see that these projects are bettering the community.

Christ and a Faith for Our Day

by Boyd Schlenker

I would like for us to think today about why Christianity is not a religion!

Christ came to do away with the religious searching of men; He came to bring the "Religion" which would spell the end of religion. He came to redeem mankind from the endless round of religious observance which was inevitably self-centered.

The difficulty of speaking of "the Christian religion" is that in our present understanding religion, mixed as it is with our "broad-minded tolerance," the Christian "religion" becomes another religion, although we may consider it superior, alongside the "other religions" of the world. Thorough-going acceptance of such an approach would spell the end of the Christian gospel.

If religion is, in Ralph Barton Perry's definition, "man's profoundest solicitude for that which he counts most valuable," then the word "religion" is totally unacceptable in the context of Christianity. Religion and religious values are always values for me; but in the Gospel of Jesus Christ I am summoned, as Lex Miller said, to "a disinterestedness in which I surrender all concern about what is valuable for me, in favor of a sole concern for God and the neighbor."

And this in Christianity, is all tied in with the New Birth in Christ, for what man could become so disinterested in himself unless God did something to alter drastically his sinful nature, which is prone to evil! This, then, is the purpose of God in Jesus Christ: to redeem us from religion! He saves us from trying to save ourselves! In Christ, the chief end of man is to glorify God (and, by the way, to enjoy Him forever).

Christianity is not one of the "World's Great Religions" if it understands the gospel of Christ aright. God does not desire Christianity as an institution, but as a channel through which His grace may flow to mankind.

Christ is the light of the entire world, and if we believe that men can get along without Him then there is no Mission to spread the gospel.

Certainly God may be at work anywhere in His creation, working among the religions of the world, but the ultimate concern has been given to His church to rush through the dark night of people's lives, crying, "Good news! Good news!" It is not our task to build up "our Christianity" for its own sake. Christianity, then, is the Religion that is no religion; it is the Religion to end all religion. For religion is man's search for God, but Christianity is God's search for man.

Friday, March 30, at 7:30 on Channel 6 the Lions clubs' crippled children's camp at Kerrville will be featured on the "Route 66" series. The Lions clubs of Iowa Park urge all area folk to watch this show and get a good look at the camp.

RE-ELECT C. L. METZ MAYOR

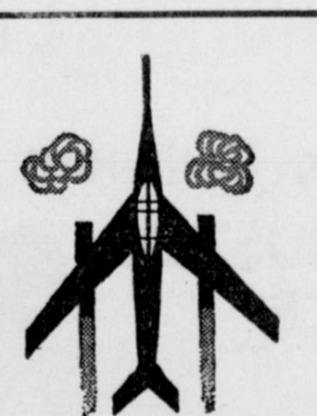

C. L. Metz served for four terms on the City Council from 1949 to 1957. During these eight years many improvements were accomplished by the City, including the enlargement of the water treatment plant, a new 300,000 gallon concrete clear well at the water plant, many water and sewer line extensions, and many other improvements to City facilities. Also during this period, the City Council gave full assistance in creating a water district for the purpose of supplying soft water instead of ditch water.

doubling the old capacity. A new elevated water tower and many new large supply mains have been constructed. Under the guidance and control of the City Council many new houses have been constructed, and the orderly growth of Iowa Park is still continuing.

C. L. Metz has served for the last two years as Mayor, during which time many more civic improvements have been accomplished. A complete new water treatment plant has been constructed, tripling the old capacity. A new unit has been constructed at the sewage treatment plant,

C. L. Metz has served the City well and faithfully during most of this growth and improvement programs. As Mayor, Mr. Metz has looked after the City's interests completely, being fair and impartial with all. His only desire is to serve all of the people of Iowa Park.

C. L. Metz is qualified to serve as Mayor, and many years of experience and leadership will insure the continued prosecution of the City's business in a fair, impartial, and progressive manner.
