Community youths cited

A dozen Iowa Park youths were cited for their exemplary traits during Monday night's youth appreciation banquet sponsored by the Optimist Club and Opti-Mrs. Club.

About a hundred persons, including parents of youths honored, attended the annual banquet at First Pentecostal Church.

The banquet climaxed a week designated as youth appreciation week observed by the two service organizations here.

Two students from the six upper grades in the Iowa Park school system were honored.

They included Cheryl Flowers and Kent Roberts, seventh; Kristi

Lemmon and Eric Birk, eighth; Ruth Robertson and Matt Curry, ninth; Regina Sargent and Jeff Shaw, tenth; Carol Crush and Billy Anderson, eleventh; and Debbie McCreary and Jeff Taylor, twelfth.

Eldon Thompson, Optimist president, presented plaques to the young men honored, and Opti-Mrs. president Maxine Hoffman made presentations to the girls.

Warren Silver, general manager of KFDX-TV, who said his daughter had received an Optimist youth appreciation award while she was in high school, was guest speaker.

"You are a positive person because you are inspiring," Silver told the honored youths. He said their traits set them apart from peers who cast negativism.

"Your heads can be held high because of what you have done. Be humble, of course, but be proud," the speaker said.

Drawing on the Bible, Silver said people should strive to exhibit more love, show concern and share what they have.

"Anybody who thinks success in this life is easy is barking up the wrong tree ... Anything worth doing is worth doing right, or don't do it at all," Silver concluded.

Presentation of awards and Silver's talk was preceded by a turkey and dressing dinner prepared by women of the First Pentecostal Church.

OUTSTANDING YOUTHS -- Twelve Iowa Park youths were honored Monday night, climaxed youth appreciation week observed by the Optimist Club and Opti-Mrs. Club. Youths cited, seated from left, were Debbie McCreary,

Christmas parade plans explained

Chamber of Commerce directors Monday heard plans for what could possibly turn out to be the largest parade ever staged in Iowa Park.

Meeting in their regular monthly session, directors heard a report from Danny Parkerson and parade chairman Tom Key on the Dec. 3 Christmas parade. The event is sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association.

Most of the entries are from the Wichita Falls area, through units listed from Iowa Park included the Junior High band, Friendly Door, TOPS and Chamber. Wichita Falls entries include two groups from the Maskat Temple, Model A Club, Notre Dame High band and drill team, Hirschi High ROTC, Skating Club, Wichita Falls Roadrunners, and possibly the drum and bugle corps from Sheppard.

Entries will be accepted until next Wednesday, according to officials. Three awards will be presented to the top entries in the parade. Plaques for the "people's choice" will be awarded after the parade is completed.

The parade will form at the old fair ground, west of the shopping center, and travel east through the business district, starting at 10 a.m.

Santa Claus will be in the rear of the parade, distributing candy to children.

OTHER BUSINESS

Directors named Joe Matlock to fulfill a directors' term which will expire in 1979.

Also approved were a project to paint the outside of the office building, and purchase a mechanical instrument for working on the Chamber's sign.

The painting project will be in cooperation with the city. Mayor Johnny Crawford explained the city would like to paint the exterior of the building, from the remodeled council chambers, around east to the back, including the Chamber portion. Cost estimate on the entire project is $400, with each group paying a proportionate share.

Directors also approved expenditure of some $180 for repairs to the office roof.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS
Helen Rich told directors that the new Christmas decorations were received, paid for, and would be put up Saturday by members of the Volunteer Fire Department.

Sometime in the coming week, a tree will be donated by the Optimist Club, to be installed downtown and decorated.

Merchants, Mrs. Rich said, are being solicited to decorate their businesses for the Christmas season, hopefully in time for the downtown parade.

Higher electric rates go into effect

New electric rates went into effect here and system-wide for Texas Electric Service Co. Tuesday, following a ruling Monday by the Texas Public Utility Commission in Austin.

The new rates will not show up in billing until late December, or even January, depending on when individual meters are read, Wayne House, local manager, explained.

The new rates will result in a 13.2 percent increase in revenue for the utility company, which had originally sought a 23.6 percent increase.

PUC's ruling over rides the recent ordinance passed by the Iowa Park city council, approving an 8.33 percent increase.

"The 13.2 percent increase is the average annual increase," House explained. For residential customers, including total electric, the increase is more in the summer and less in winter.

"But even with this increase, Texas Electric's rates will still be among the lowest in Texas, as well as the rest of the nation," he commented.

The new rates include a customer charge which is the cost of having electric service available. For residential customers, this charge will be $7 per month. Added to this will be a level cents-per-kilowatt-hour charge for the amount of electricity used, if any. This level charge will be higher in the summer than winter.

Cost of fuel used to generate electricity will also be billed through a separate "cents-per-kilowatt-hour" charge. This charge will vary from month to month with the cost of fuel. TESCO's cost of fuel, while the lowest in Texas, is rising, House said.

Texas Electric originally filed for a rate increase June 29 and was involved in numerous hearings before the increase was approved by the PUC Nov. 2.

Vandalism continues

Several incidents of vandalism were reported this week to Iowa Park police.

Bob Cole, principal at Kidwell Elementary reported Monday that the school had been struck by vandals, who shot out several exterior lights with a BB gun.

Police received a report Sunday that the back window of an automobile parked at 111 N. Pacific had been broken.

Stan Reed reported the burglary of a pickup truck parked at 919 Van Horn. An ice pick was used to gain entry by prying open a wing window. A CB radio and three 8-track tapes were stolen.

Karen Skaggs and Debbie Samples reported criminal mischief Friday at a nursing home at 1109 N. Third. A rock had been thrown through a window and screen.

Leader prints a day early

This issue of the Leader, though carrying a Nov. 24 dateline, was printed Tuesday evening and mailed Wednesday.

The Leader's policy has for years been to print early, when a holiday falls on Thursday, that readers might have their papers a day early rather than a day late.

However, some merchants have complained, and it should be pointed out that prices in advertisements are not effective until Friday, unless otherwise specified.

Leader office will remain open Wednesday, but will close the holiday until Monday morning.

Holiday sales are looking up

If sales tax receipts are any indication, Iowa Park merchants can expect brisk holiday sales.

Latest figures from the state comptroller's office show sales taxes collected by Iowa Park merchants are up 20 percent as compared to the first 10 months of 1976.

For the monthly sales period ending Nov. 3, the city of Iowa Park was rebated $2,694 for sales taxes collected here. That compares to $2,472 collected during the same time period last year.

The overall 20 percent increase is

Local agribusinessman elected to state office

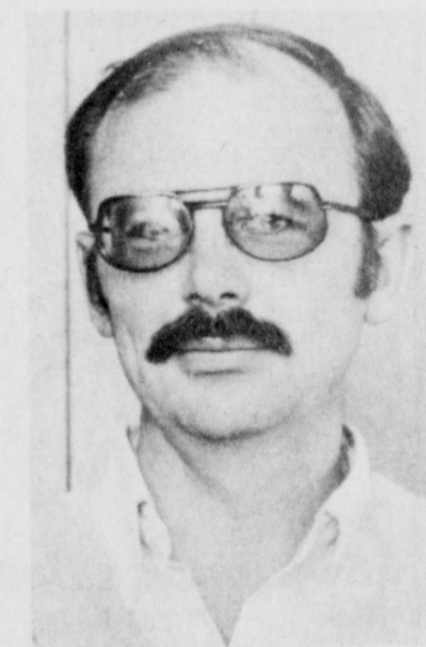

Iowa Park agribusinessman Ralph Harvey has been elected president of the Texas Plant Food Institute, a trade association with over 550 members who manufacture, distribute and apply commercial fertilizer throughout the state.

Harvey, owner of Texoma Ag-Products, has been in business in Iowa Park some 15 years, though he resides in Wichita Falls.

Election of the new organization president took place during a recent convention of the TPFI in McAllen.

The TPFI, through its staff and membership, is generally recognized as the official voice of the fertilizer industry in Texas. The TPFI primarily devotes its efforts to the more efficient use of commercial fertilizer and related products by farmers and ranchers of the state.

Members receive the latest available information in fertilizer blending techniques, modern and efficient methods of application and safer means of handling and applying pesticides. The ongoing educational benefit provides a professional position from which TPFI members may offer sound and professional recommendations to farmer customers.

Harvey has been a TPFI member 10 years.

He says he has been extremely busy since taking office, primarily with correspondence. The major problem facing his industry, Harvey says, is establishing a priority for the industry's consumption in case of a national curtailment. Only one percent of the nation's natural gas is used by the industry, "And no other consumer can show as much a return in terms of benefit to the people," he explains.

Mrs. Ola McLaurin

She has the courage to live a normal life

One of the most heart-warming human interest stories is that of a handicapped person who has indomitable courage to live a normal life and to face the handicap with a faith that will not falter.

Mrs. Ola Hendricks McLaurin, a native of Iowa Park, who was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was a very young child, has lived a full and useful life, touching the lives of many people in a special way with the gentleness, unselfishness, beauty and simplicity of her own.

"I have done everything that I ever wanted to do", she said triumphantly and in a way to let you know that she had never basked in self-pity or expected special consideration from others.

She is the mother of five children, 19 grandchildren (four of these she and her late husband of 44 years, Roy G. McLaurin helped to raise), one adopted and six step-grandchildren, and three great-grandsons. Her deep concern for each of these indicates that she has been, and still is, devoted to being a "discreet, chaste keeper at home (Titus 2:5)", a career that calls for manual skill, intuition and psychological expertise.

Ola was one of eight children of the late Mr. and Mrs. H.K. Hendricks, six of whom are still living. When she started to school she was put in the second grade because her mother had taught her how to read at home. She laughed as she recalled that experience and how she reacted to being switched from second grade back to first grade and then back to second grade before it was determined what grade level she was ready chrysanthemums and roses in autumnal hues.

A distinctly formal air characterized the refreshment table covered with a cream-colored silk cloth that extended to the floor where the five-tiered anniversary cake captured the elegance of the table. The rich and dramatic embellishments in icing roses, miniature lilies and marzipan grapes in shades of gold and bronze, a cluster of the flowers on the top tier and "50" in gold numerals centering the second tier enhanced the beauty of the confection.

Complementing the cake were flanking gold candelabra centered with gold cylinders entwined with green spider mums, bronze and gold silk poppies, chrysanthemums and English ivy banked at the bases of the four-point candelabra. Gold punch and tea services completed the table decor.

In the refreshment table area was a handsome bouquet consisting of 50 yellow roses, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Phil Powell, personal friends of the honored couple.

Granddaughters of the couple, Mrs. Pat Gaines, Misses Mona Miley, Millie Crawford and Ami Whitaker secured signatures of approximately 400 guests who called between two and five o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Warren served as members of the houseparty.

The registry table was draped with a cream-colored floor length silk cloth and appointed with the beautiful anniversary book and a tall pillar candle imbedded with the reception invitation uprising from a circle of

Eagles edged by Pottsboro for bi-district championship

Able to capitalize on only two of seven turnovers, Holliday's football season sputtered to an end when Pottsboro edged past the Eagles 21-15 in Friday's bi-district clash at Bowie.

Despite the disappointing outcome for coach Don Lucy and crew, ducat holders who made the trip in search of gridiron excitement received an ample return on their investment.

Individually, several Eagles shined brightly.

Sonny Henson had his best night of the season, recovering two Pottsboro fumbles, forcing a third fumble and dragging Pottsboro's quarterback to the ground in the end zone for a two-point safety.

Rusty McDaniel was there to recover the fumble forced by Henson, and later in the contest covered up another Pottsboro fumble.

Gerry Graves also recovered a Cardinal fumble.

When Holliday's wrecking crew blocked a Pottsboro punt, Andy Barton was there to grab the loose ball and deliver it to paydirt.

In the final analysis, it was the opening minutes that belonged to the Cardinals and the closing minutes that belonged to the Eagles.

Pottsboro, champions of District 14-A, quickly unloaded their awesome offensive guns inside the first minute of play.

The Cardinals covered 44 yards in two plays after taking Holliday's opening kickoff with their gifted quarterback, Lester Barrett, delivering the touchdown on a 41-yard dash.

The PAT was good and the red birds jumped ahead 7-0 and 11-13 showing in the first quarter.

Holliday fumbled on its first try from the line of scrimmage at its own 33.

It appeared the Cardinals would ignite the scoreboard again, but a Pottsboro fumble on Holliday's seven was recovered by Henson to save the day.

A yard short of the first down, Holliday could not sustain a drive after the turnover and was forced to punt giving Pottsboro possession at midfield.

Five plays later Pottsboro had penetrated Holliday's defense and scored on a 19-yarder run. Another successful PAT and the Cardinals were leading 14-0 with half the first quarter remaining on the clock.

A gusty southerly wind playing an important factor in the punting game, the remainder of the first quarter elapsed in a stalemate.

Early in the second period Pottsboro found itself backed up against the wall.

Four steps away from his own backyard, Pottsboro's quarterback dropped back into the pocket where he was tackled by Henson in the end zone giving Holliday a safety worth two points.

Jay Wright brought Pottsboro's kickoff out to the Eagle 49, but Holliday was unable to garner a first down.

Mark Wells' punt rode on the wind deep into Cardinal territory. When Pottsboro's receiver collapsed in the end zone Holliday fans cheered over what seemed to be another safety.

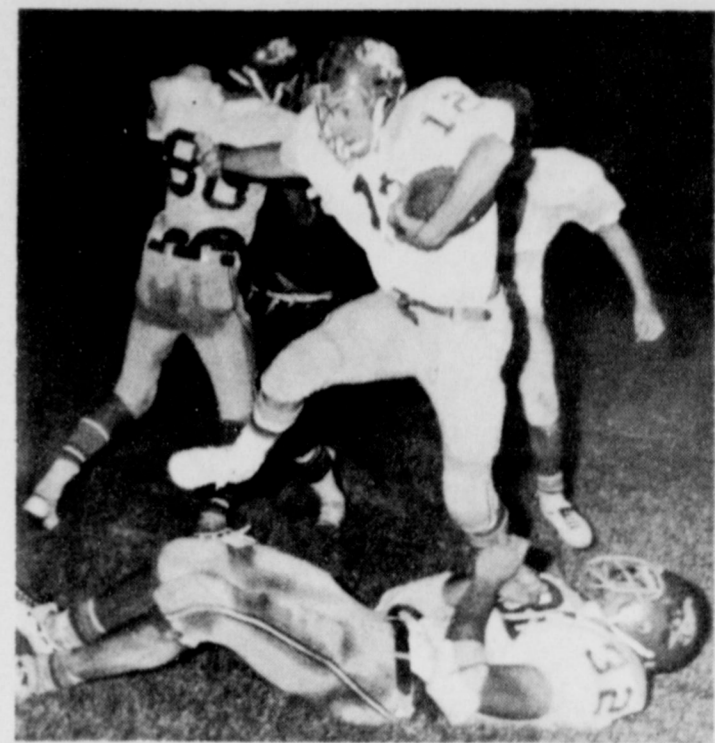

However, Pottsboro was given possession on their own 20 after officials ruled the Pottsboro punt receiver was carried into the end zone by his own momentum.

The sideline rovers on the Holliday side were angered by the call and hit officials with verbal protest.

Officials threw a yellow flag and stepped off 15 yards against the Eagles. Although some fans thought they had caused the penalty, officials said one of the Eagles caused the call for unsportsmanship like conduct.

Moments later the Eagles redeemed themselves, forcing Pottsboro to fumble. Henson was there to make the recovery.

Aided by a nine-yard aerial from Wright to Kent Lemons, the Eagles made a quick first down. On a second and eight situation, quarterback Steve Lucy sailed the ball toward McDaniel and the Holliday fans screamed for an interference call which went unacknowledged by officials.

With Holliday's drive halted, Pottsboro set up shop on their own 41. An 18-yard touchdown run capped the drive and the Cardinals were out front 21-2 with eight seconds left in the third stanza.

The situation began to turn toward Holliday's favor early in the fourth stanza when the Eagles had Pottsboro backed up against the Cardinal 12 yard line.

Holliday's wrecking crew enveloped the Cards when they were forced to punt. Led by Benny Ezzell, the attack paid off. Barton snagged the loose ball and sprinted into the end zone for the score.

With less than 10 minutes left to play, Lucy called for an onside kick. The gamble worked with McDaniel recovering the bobbled return, although the Eagles were unable to capitalize on the turnover. Then the punting battle resumed.

Two minutes showed on the clock and Holliday seemed in a hopeless situation, having to set up shop on their own 14.

Wright broke loose for a 66 yard gain before being tackled on Pottsboro's 20. A yellow flag set the Eagles back another nickle.

But with 1:46 on the clock Wright found McDaniel in the open on an aerial covering 25 yards for a TD. The PAT failed.

Hawks edge out Bowie to remain undefeated

The Hawks kept their record unblemished Monday night, and the Hawkettes held their own with a powerhouse.

While the boys were easing past Bowie in an overtime, the girls were being edged by a mere six points by Azle, district winner four of the last five years.

The Hawks jumped to a 14-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, and saw that margin narrowed to only 33-31 by halftime. Bowie, long a stronghold for basketball in this part of the country, surged ahead with a 21-12 third quarter to go into the final period with a 52-45 lead.

Trailing by seven points with two minutes remaining, Iowa Park started its rally and tied the game at 64-64 by the end of regulation play.

The Hawks stalled, with the score tied at 67-all the last 20 seconds, and then sent Jim Dooley driving down the key just before the buzzer. He stopped, jumped, and flipped the ball over the rim for a 69-67 victory.

Dooley finished the game high for the boys, with 18 points. Anthony York had 14 and Rusty Price 10.

That made the Hawk record 2-0 for the young season.

The Junior Varsity lost 47-52. Travis Little had 12.

GIRLS' GAME

Azle, boosting three starters six feet or taller, zoomed to leads of 9-0 and 13-1 before Iowa Park's young club could gather its wits. But they did, and trailed only 15-18 at the first official rest stop.

A 19-12 second period sent Iowa Park into the lead, 34-30, over their hosts.

Azle's age and experience paid off, however, and they took over during the third to lead 52-46, and finished 60-54.

Azle guards had a hard time handling freshman guard Jo Ann McClurg, who canned 38 big points. And guard Linda Fredrick earned 16 Guard Equivalency Points (GEP), a grading system developed, highest of any player yet this season.

Coach Mike Fountain told the players he felt they had played the best they could, for this time of the year, following the game.

He was not so complimentary over their play Friday at Byers, however, when they lost 33-36 in overtime after leading 25-10 at halftime.

"I guess Byers just has a cold end of the court," he explained later. "We held them to 10 points, two in the second quarter, at that end, and then we went down there and scored only eight in the second half," he said.

Sheryl Thornton had 18 points in that game.

The Freshmen girls won their first game of the season Monday, defeating Electra 35-26. Byers defeated the JV 41-20.

Both the boys and girls varsities and junior varsities were slated to play at Henrietta Tuesday night. Then Monday they have a four-game stand here against Electra.

Tuesday the boys will host Childress in a three-game stand, while the girls travel to Childress for three games.

Hunters happy

Hunters were pleasantly surprised over most of the North Central Texas area on opening week-end, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel.

Wildlife biologist Joe Stevens, operating weigh stations in Hamilton County, said that Nov. 12 was the best opening day he could recall in the past few years. Hunter success was good. Bucks had better than average horn growth and the majority of the deer were in "good" body condition.

Stevens contributes this to some recent rain in the area and a good acorn crop. He suggested this condition could not possibly last through the season, so hunters should take their deer early as possible.

Turkey hunting, on the other hand, started a little slow according to wildlife biologist Larry Holland, who is stationed in Brownwood.

Holland was quick to add, "There is nothing alarming about this because most hunters are intent on taking deer first and then start hunting turkey. We have a good population of birds, a very liberal season, and hunters really have something to look forward to."

The wide variety of hunting seasons and bag limits of Texas requires the sportsman to check the new 77-78 Texas Hunting Guide.

These guides are available from all license deputies and TP&WD offices and contain valuable information on hunting rules and regulations along with license requirements.

Some turkeys are expensive

Ordinarily, turkey hunting is not considered an expensive sport, even on the eve of Thanksgiving.

However, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game warden supervisor Doug Fisk and game warden Ron Jones apprehended two Electra men hunting turkey at night. The price of roost shooting the big game bird went sky high when the case was taken before a Wichita County judge.

The charge, according to Jones who is stationed in Vernon, was "Hunting a wild game bird at night." The judge set the fine and both men paid a total fine and court cost of $414.

"This has been a good year for the wild turkey, Texas' most popular big game bird. Now that the season is open from Nov. 12 through Jan. 1 with a bag limit of two gobblers or bearded hens, it seems most liberal," Jones explained. "There is no reason for anyone to violate the law by hunting at night."

"Shooting a turkey roost is probably the most single factor I know of to completely eliminate turkey from an area," Jones went on.

Cook of the Week

The Thanksgiving feast cannot help but recall the very earliest days of our country. Turkey, of course, is the feature of the meal, and the horn of plenty or a bowl of fruits and nuts always figure into the table setting.

Traditional side dishes include dressing, giblet gravy, cranberries, sweet potatoes, etc. Mrs. Wayne NeSmith is not sharing a complete Thanksgiving dinner menu with our readers this week, but several of her recipes will be part of the dinner in many homes across the land.

Her recipe for corn bread dressing is the same as her grandmother's. Even though cooks have discovered many ways of preparing dressing and with all the new mixes on the market today, the way our grandmothers made dressing still scores high, and we are thankful that it has been preserved and handed down through the years.

Mrs. NeSmith and her husband, who is manager of Good Year Tire and Rubber Service on Jacksboro Highway, and their two daughters, Heather, a student at Kidwell Elementary, and Diana in junior high school, are among the newcomers in Iowa Park. They have another daughter, Anna Kay, a sixth grader at McGaha Elementary School in Wichita Falls.

The former Judy Taylor of Cortez, Colo. was graduated from high school there and attended secretarial schools. She worked as bookkeeper for the Ramada Inn and Chamber of Commerce in the Colorado town. She is presently employed as a bookkeeper in the Cost Accounting Dept. at Wilson Mfg.

A woman of many talents and interests, Mrs. NeSmith plays the accordion, does all types of embroidery and ceramics. She enjoys camping and hunting with her family. In Colorado, she was Girl Scout and Brownie leader.

The NeSmiths attend First Baptist Church.

Dawson is speaker for club program

A talk by a well-known educator who is more than instructor and dispenser of knowledge, because of his ability to identify with students, made a significant impact on 23 Study Club members Thursday afternoon with his evaluation of the Iowa Park High School. The address was given in the school library. Mrs. O.E. Lochridge was program leader.

Bob Dawson, principal of the high school, speaking on "From the Principal's Office" gave facts to show how a good school was one of the principal supports in reducing juvenile crime in a community.

"Our high school is one of the very best, our students who take the SAC and ACT tests are above the national average scholastically and students who cause trouble or vandalize the property constitute a definite minority", he stated very convincingly.

The principal reported that the present high school enrollment of 768 set a new record. He distributed information sheets concerning courses offered, grade placements, quarter or time credits and prerequisites to bring club members, most of whom do not have close contact with the school system at the present time, up to date on the current set-up. He placed major emphasis on the efforts being expended to keep students in school through the different vocational programs.

By request, he commented on the discipline problem with high school students this year. Observing that the discipline problem was common in all high schools due to the overall decline of the moral fiber, he said that it was minimal here in comparison with most schools.

"Of the 768 students enroll not more than 25 are trouble makers; the others I am proud to say have a desire to learn and act responsibly," he summed up the situation.

From high school, club members went to the home of Mrs. W.G. Steele for the business meeting and other program numbers. Mrs. Chauncey Weiler was co-hostess.

Miss Titia Belle Blanks brought the Thanksgiving meditation suggesting that the best response to God's love was to express thanks.

Mrs. Steele presented "Souvenir" by Drdla for an organ solo and the group sang "School Days" for an additional arts number.

Mrs. Joe Singer had charge of business. It was voted for the secretary to compose a letter endorsing Mrs. Earl Watson as president and Mrs. Singer as third vice-president of Santa Rosa District. Members voted to have an entry in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from a ivory linen-covered table featuring a harvest theme. The centerpiece was a china cornucopia filled to overflowing with fruits and nuts.

Also present were Miss Ethyle Kidwell; Mmes. Rollins Woodall, Fred Widmeyer, T.M. Thaxton, M.L. Hines, E.F. Soell, James A. Sewell, Sam Hill, C.A. Hicks, T.M. Clark, L.E. Brooks, C.E. Birk and Homer Blalock.

Thanksgiving already?

EDITORIAL

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving, a Day of Thanks. A time to enjoy our many blessings. I can think of no better time to express our sincere appreciation for the good Christian Community we live in, our school system which runs so smoothly thanks to the hard work of many concerned parents. The care and understanding of our teachers should also be taken into account. It is not easy to be surrounded by a large group of teenagers eight hours a day.

Special thanks to our principal, Mr. Dawson who runs IPHS so efficiently, to the school board members and also to the people behind the scenes who work in the office, the cafeteria and the custodians who all work to keep it this way.

Yes, many thanks should be given to our Community and school on this Thanksgiving Holiday.

Have you ever heard of the word "Boondoggle"? Well, neither have some of the students in IPHS. Here are some of their responses....

Billy Farmer ... "A little goofy green monster that is short and fat and beeps a lot. HE also has a curly antenna on his head and he eats duckles."

Paul Arrington ... "If a new puppy leaves a surprise on your clean rug you boondoggle him."
Sonny Cook ... "Sounds like your trying to mix someone up with big words."

Jill Koonce ... "It's Daniel Boone's pet puppy."

Carrie Cole ... "A large, orange flower with 2 ft. long leaves, that needs no water, catches butterflies, and blooms in the spring."

Belinda Price ... "Mr. Dawson's pet dog."
"Spike" McCord ... "An ancient Egyptian sheep herder."
The true meaning of the word: A boondoggle is a useless or wasteful project or activity.

Runners may compete in Pioneer Bowl event

The Wichita Falls Jaycees with support from the Board of Commerce and Industry, Perkins Department Stores, and the YMCA are sponsoring a 10,000 meter (6.2 miles) fun run on December 10 at 9 a.m.

That is the date for the 1977 Pioneer Bowl, the NCAA Division II National Championship football game. The $5 entry fee will entitle the entrant to an official Pioneer Bowl fun run T-shirt and a ticket to the game later that day.

There will be eleven divisions as follows: Male age 13-17, 18-24, 25-30, 31-39, 40-49, 50 & over; Female age 13-17, 18-24, 25-30, 31-39, 40 & over. We will award medals to the top three finishers in each division.

In addition, the first place overall winner will be awarded a $50 gift certificate by Foot Action, Inc., an athletic shoe and apparel store in Sikes Senter Mall, Wichita Falls. The first place finisher in each division will also receive a $25 gift certificate from Foot Action.

After the race, a hospitality room will be available with free refreshments. The awards will be presented there.

Pioneer Bowl officials have promised the overall winner will be recognized sometime during the game. Since ABC TV will televise the Pioneer Bowl game, there is a chance that parts of the race itself will be filmed.

This race has generated quite a lot of interest in this area as well as from afar. Entries have been received from as far away as Hawaii.

Entry blanks can be obtained by writing to: Dennis Dohrer, 4408 Phillips, Wichita Falls, Texas 76308.

Entry blanks are also available at Foot Action, Inc. in Sikes Senter Mall, Holts Sporting Goods in Sikes Senter Mall, the Athletic Department at Midwestern State University, the gymnasium at SAFB, and the YMCA in Wichita Falls.

There is a deadline of Nov. 30 for entries, however, they will be accepted on the day of the race for $6. Additional football tickets can also be purchased at $2.50 per ticket.

"You can lower your heating bill 24% this winter by lowering the temperature in your home from 74° to 68°."

"A setting of 68° during the winter is the one Texas Electric recommends for both comfort and energy efficiency.

For each degree above 68° the energy used for heating your house is increased by approximately 4% per degree.

As shown by the chart the difference between the recommended thermostat setting and 74° is 24%. At 78° the increase in energy usage is 40% or more.

Clearly, the lower you set your thermostat the lower your heating bill is going to be. And after last winter, one of the coldest on record, we think a lot of people are going to be trying their best to use less energy.

Remember to change the filter in your heating system regularly, too. A dirty filter causes your heating system to work longer and that costs you more. Check the filter at least once each month.

All forms of energy are costing more these days. If you're serious about saving energy and money, request a copy of our energy efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill."

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

MY SISTER'S FIRST DATE

It seemed corny and unimportant to me but Mom and Dad seemed pretty excited about it. It was to be sister's first date. I mean a real date with a real boy! The boy had asked her a week before but she had delayed telling the folks for fear they wouldn't let her go. She finally told them at the supper table the night before the date was to be. Dad got choked but Mom seemed proud to hear it. Sis spoke nervously at first but then blurted it all out and quickly said, "Please, Mama, can I? Can I?"

Dad said, "No, you're too young!" Mom said, "We'll see."

At breakfast Mom said, "We've got a lot to do today if you really want to go out with that boy." "Dad nodded. Sis was bursting with excitement, "Really - can I - really!"

Her hair had to look just right so they set to work on that, fussing over it for nearly an hour. They rustled in her closet back and forth through the small selection, not coming up with anything suitable. Tears came, with Sis blubbering, "I don't have a decent stitch to my name." Mom left the room and returned with a box wrapped in plain brown paper.

She laid it on the bed under Sis's downcast gaze. "What's that?" "Open it and see." Her puzzled look turned to joy when she pulled out the prettiest dress imaginable. Even I thought it looked nice.

Mom said, "It was going to be your Christmas present but I reckon its more appropriate right now. Try it on and let's see how it fits."

They had to take some tucks and stuff but when it was all fixed Mother said she looked just like a princess.

Dad moped around all day with a concerned look on his face but no one paid him any mind.

Finally Mom ran us all out of the room and shut the door. They were in there for about an hour but I never knew what they did.

The date was at seven but Sis was ready by four. She made a thousand trips to the front window to look out.

Promptly at seven there was a knock and Sis ran to her room and shut the door. Dad let him in, looking him over critically. Mom said, "She's not quite ready yet. Would you care to have a seat? Can I get you something to drink? It's been an unusually cool day today, don't you think? How are your folks?" He said, "Thank you, no ma'am, yes ma'am, fine, thank you ma'am."

There was a long silence then and Mom said, "I just can't imagine what's keeping her. I had better check." I had never realized how much Sis favored Mom till they came out of the room together. They both looked as pretty as I had ever seen them. I didn't realize until then how important all this was. Why, before long she'd be married and moving away from home, maybe even out of the state. Then I might not ever see her again and... For a moment I thought, "Dad might be right, maybe she is too young!"

As I See It....

I hope you all have a happy Thanksgiving, fully appreciating what the holiday is all about, and can realize the blessings we each have. If I have my usual Thanksgiving day, I'll either practice self-starvation until the evening, or sleep during the football games because I've eaten too much.

Surely, there will be a lot of snarls about this Thanksgiving Day. With prices, utilities, taxes, everything going up except our hold-on money, it's hard to see anything good about today.

But, like the old saying about not judging until you've worn the other man's shoes, we should look back at what we had, or didn't have, in the past.

There are some dark situations in our lives. Always have been. We just don't know how we can go any farther.

But we must remember, something good is in everything, or results from everything.

Ever thought about what good comes from the Devil?

Well, without him, would we have God?

If nothing else, we should give thanks we made it to another Thanksgiving Day. So have a good 'un!

Humor 'n Whimsey

Joe Riordan

When J.T. King coached Texas Tech's Red Raider football team in the early 1960's, I think he took more abuse from the fans than a red-necked sheriff at a hippie riot.

Every football aficionado on the South Plains professed more knowledge about how to run a football team than the beleaguered coach.

One rabid fan said having J.T. as coach was like betting on a cross-eyed grandmother in a needle threading contest.

Another announced he was tired of buying season football tickets and getting his biggest thrills from watching the marching band at half time.

The worst insult happened in the fall of 1963, when Tech's Athletic Department purchased a special closed-circuit television system as a coaching aid.

A television camera with a zoom lens was mounted in the press box, high above the playing field. It transmitted a closed circuit picture to a television set placed near the team's bench on the sidelines.

The zoom lens provided a closer look at each play than Coach King could get from the sidelines. Obviously J.T. liked the system. During every play his eyes were on the television set and not on the playing field.

One Saturday evening Tech was behind 13-0, when a Red Raider intercepted a pass on the opposing team's 20 yard line. It looked as if Tech finally had a chance to score.

Tech's quarterback called time out - moved to the side lines to confer with his coach - and then huddled with his team when the referee's whistle blew.

The Raiders moved to the line of scrimmage. A hush fell over 40,000 partisan Tech fans. J.T. King hunched over the television screen as the quarterback began a long count.

Suddenly a loud voice ripped a hole in the silence and reverberated through the stadium.

"Good gosh, we're losing 13-0 and J.T. King is watching 'Gunsmoke!'" for. It was such a traumatic experience that she was unhappy for nine full months, declaring vehemently that she hated her teacher.

It is not hard to imagine her mental disquietude when she started to school the next fall learning that she would have the same teacher. However, the dislike turned to love and respect and the year was a happy one for both student and teacher.

Mrs. McLaurin was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received recognition for having been neither tardy nor absent nine out of 11 years. She attended Draughon's Business College and worked in John C. Murphree's law office before her marriage.

She and her husband lived in Iowa Park for several years, then moved to Corpus Christi where they lived for 10 years. They eventually moved to West Plains, Mo. where they lived for 15 years. Following his death two years ago she moved back to Iowa Park.

Some of the memories that have blessed and are still a part of the structure of Ola McLaurin's life are the lessons taught and the examples set by her mother. One of the greatest of these was to give the Lord's demands priorities in her heart and life each day.

To get a big family ready and have them at church on time is in itself a sizeable chore for one who has no handicaps. Doing this and filling a leadership role is exactly what Mrs. McLaurin did for many years. Among her duties in the church in Missouri were printing the church bulletins, serving as general secretary of the Sunday School department, leading the opening assembly for both Sunday School and Training Union, serving as president of the Woman's Missionary Union and attending all the local and associational meetings of the WMU.

In Iowa Park, she is a member of First Baptist Church and Friendship Sunday School class.

She has more time on her hands since her children have established their own homes, but she fills each day meaningfully by doing "whatsoever her hands find to do with all her might." She sews and makes toys for her grandchildren. In recent weeks she has been busy making Christmas presents for her family and friends.

She has fashioned unique monkey dolls that will make Christmas happier for children out of Rockford men's socks, sewed and crocheted garments for part of a layette for her grandbaby, embroidered and framed pictures and made barbee and Ken doll clothes. One of her prettiest crocheted articles is a bedspread which she did earlier.

Realizing the importance of hobbies in one's life, she set about to collect bottles and dolls. She has 200 bottles in her collection and bottles of dirt from Saudi Arabia, Iran, Vietnam, Germany, England, Greece, China and Japan. Her bottles represent many places, states and nations.

Mrs. McLaurin's children are Roy, a Church of Christ minister, and Gary, both of Victoria, Donald of Iran, Jimmie of Natchez, Miss. and Dorothy Johnston of Fort Polk, La.

One of the highlights of the show will be the pecan queen pageant. Girls ages 16-19 inclusive are invited to enter. Entries can be made by contacting Mrs. Kay Webster at Texas Electric Service Company in Wichita Falls or the County Extension Office. The girls must be residents of Wichita County.

Each contestant must make a one minute prepared speech on anything that has to do with pecan production, marketing or nutrition. The County Pecan Queen will represent Wichita County at the State Pecan Pageant scheduled for next July.

The pecan food show will include a senior division for individuals 19 years of age or more. Classes in this division include pies, cakes, cookies, candy, quick breads and yeast breads. The junior division is open to contestants up to 18 years of age. Classes include cookies, candy, quick loaf breads and cakes. All of these must be prepared with pecans.

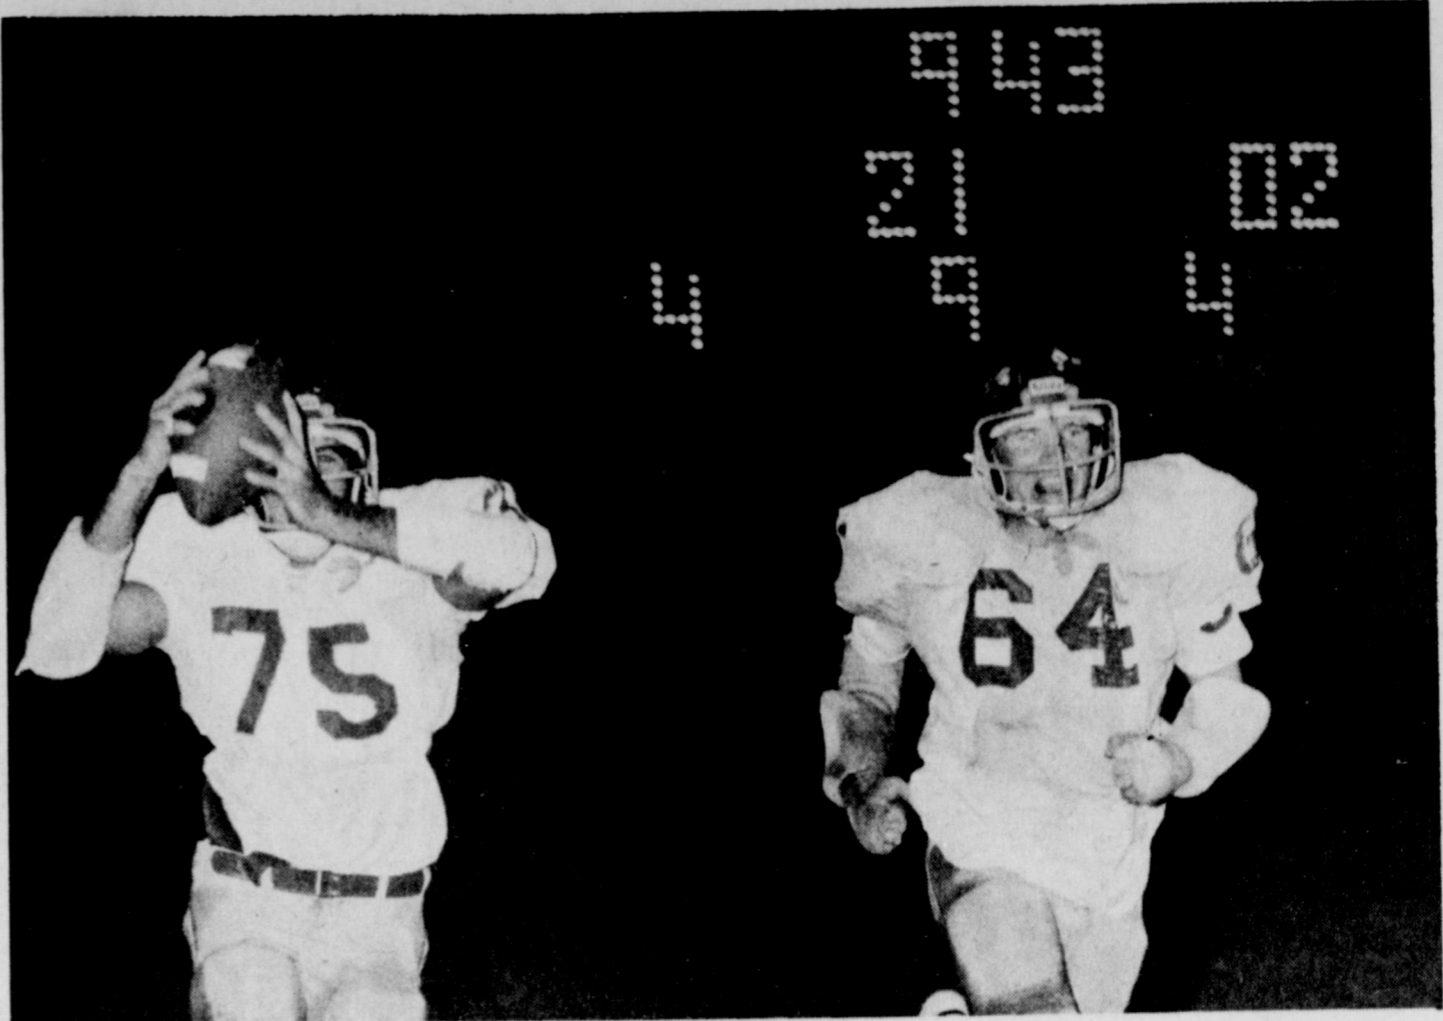

The Wichita County Pecan Growers will crack pecans for the public for 15 cents per pound. There will be a limit of 25 pounds per person. Proceeds from the cracking will pay the expenses of the county pecan queen to the State Pecan Pageant next July. Crackers are being provided by Darrel McKinley of Wichita Falls.

Entries in the pecan show are due at the County Extension Office in Wichita Falls Monday. Samples can also be left at K&K Grain Company in Electra. An entry includes 40 pecans, any variety, placed in a paper bag bearing the owner's name, address, and variety, if known. If varieties are unknown, they will be identified by the show officials.

An information booth along with educational exhibits will reach people who have questions concerning pecan production. Bulletins on all topics of pecan production will be available.

The show is under the sponsorship of the Wichita County Pecan Growers and Wichita County Young Farmers. These organizations will process the pecans on Dec. 1 in the Sikes Senter Community Room to determine the number of nuts per pound and the percent kernels. This information will be used by the judges in placing the pecans.

Judges of the pecan show will be Dr. Bobby Reeder, Montague Research Center and Emory Boring, Extension Area Entomologist.

HAPPY DAYS -- The scoreboard soon showed another seven points in the visitor's column as Holliday celebrated its first TD of the night against Pottsboro in the bi-district tilt. Andy Borton [75] snatched up a punt blocked by Benny Ezzell [64]. Borton and Ezzell, both named to all-district teams, were headed back to the Holliday bench with revived enthusiasm after the TD.

Loys Barbour to MC annual banquet Monday

The Community Improvement and Conservation Banquet is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday at Underwood's Barbecue, Wichita Falls. The purpose of this event is to show action programs for organized rural communities and to recognize the top 1977 soil and water conservation land owners in the county.

Conservation awards will go to Carl Brockreide as the Outstanding Resident Conservation Farmer and to Norman Vanderwoude as the Outstanding Non-Resident Conservation Farmer. This presentation will be made by Fred Dwyer and Roy Thompson, district directors of the Wichita SWCD.

A conservation overview in pictures will be given by Mike Isbell and Randy Underwood of the Soil Conservation Service in Iowa Park.

The Blueprint for Progress through Community Improvement will be presented by Bill Benson, Extension community resource development specialist of Vernon. He will show action programs which may be considered by leaders from the organized rural communities. I will conclude the program by providing all of the rural communities an opportunity to enter the Texas Community Improvement Program. This entry places no obligation upon the communities which enter TCIP.

The master of ceremonies will be Loys Barbour, chairman of the county program building committee. Others on the program include Dee James, County Extension Agent, with the introduction of guests and Donald Hill with the invocation.

Pest control course slated

Fertilizing pecan trees produces bumper crop

"The proof is in the pudding" holds true for the pecan management by James Cassada of University Park. His bumper pecan crop is the result of a good insect and disease control and soil fertility program.

His pecan production from five trees totals 300 pounds compared to only 60 pounds last year. Cassada says, "the trees set more pecans last year than this year. However, last year's crop fell victim to the pecan nut casebearer and the pecan weevil. I protected the nuts this year with virtually no insect loss."

The average production per tree amounts to 60 pounds from the 20 year old trees. The trees have attained a height of 35-40 feet. Nitrogen fertilizer is used generously in the feeder root zone early each spring. This accounts for excellent development of the trees.

Here is what Cassada did to make the pecan crop. He sprayed on May 30 for the control of the casebearer using Zolone at the rate of 1 1/2 pints per 100 gallons of water. NZN was added to the spray as a treatment for pecan rosette (Zinc deficiency).

The secret to his production may involve a spray application for the casebearer second generation. It was applied 42 days after the first spraying which fell on July 11. We normally do not recommend treatment for the second generation of the casebearer. However, the second generation did a lot of damage this year. We may need to consider second generation treatment in this area. At least, it paid off for Cassada this year.

Toward the end of the summer, it looked like he had a pecan crop made. But, he was aware the pecan weevil can come in late and completely destroy a pecan crop. Two spray applications were made for weevil control using Sevin at the rate of two pounds per 100 gallons of water. The timing was August 30 and Sept. 7. The pecans were sprayed as the kernels changed from the water stage to the soft dough.

Bluejays have been trying to rob the trees as the pecans began to hull. This problem has been partially overcome by harvesting the trees as the shucks began to split. Now, he has more pecans than the family can use so his cost of production will be recovered through the sale of pecans.

4-H CLUB News

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has just printed two new 4-H projects which should prove very popular. These projects "Outdoor Gardening" and "Indoor Gardening" provide rural and urban 4-H'ers an opportunity to show or develop their "green thumb". If you are interested in beginning a project in any area of landscape horticulture, contact your 4-H leader or the Extension Office at 766-0131.

Food project leaders need to return the information sheets provided you to the Extension office. This information is needed to show names of 4-H'ers enrolled in Foods and Nutrition Projects. Please return these as soon as possible.

Dr. Bill Jackson will teach a short course in livestock fitting, selection, and feeding on December 3 and 4 at

The Texas 4-H Center in Brownwood. This will be a very worthwhile shortcourse. Dr. Jackson has been involved with livestock all of his life.

Contact Corky Redden at 766-0131 if you would be interested in attending this shortcourse.

4-H livestock projects during cold weather should have a North windbreak and kept out of the rain as much as possible. Watch all projects for colds and pneumonia. Symptoms of colds and pneumonia are quick, shallow respiration; discharge from nostrils and perhaps eyes; crackling noises with breathing, and gasping for breath. Treatments for colds and pneumonia should start with placing the sick animal in a quiet, clean, dry place away from drafts and feed easily digested feeds. Antibiotics or Sulfa drugs can be given as treatment.

Growth stimulate demonstrated

By DON DECKER
County Agent

The Ralgrow growth stimulate demonstration on calves at the Thompson Ranch near Iowa Park was inconclusive. The dry June, July, and September months reduced pasture conditions which limited the response to the Ralgrow.

The calves must gain at least one pound per day in order for the growth stimulate to work. Actually the animals need to gain 1 1/2 pounds or more per day for maximum response.

This 119 day trial with Mark, Larry, and Alvin Thompson gave three-fourths pound per day gain in both the Ralgrow implanted calves and the calves with no implants. There was no difference between the Ralgrow treatment and the check.

Twenty calves were implanted with four calves left as a check with no implant. These were nursing calves on cows grazing native pasture. An 8 to 12 percent growth response would be expected with better grazing conditions. For example, stockers grazing on lush wheat pastures usually give excellent response to the Ralgrow implants.

The implants can be administered when the calves are being handled for dehorning and branding. A pellet implant is placed under the skin of the ear about one inch from the base. A special implanting needle is used to administer the pellets.

The county livestock committee headed by Ralph Harvey is interested in establishing more Ralgrow demonstrations. We will provide the Ralgrow and the scales for weighing at the beginning and the end of the 100 day demonstration. I would especially like to establish a trial on some cattle grazing wheat, if rain comes in time to make some winter grazing. Stockmen interested in this demonstration can contact me at the County Extension Office in Wichita Falls.

This may be a good year for cow-calf producers and cotton farmers to do some business with each other. Cotton farmers face low cottonseed prices and ranchers face high feed prices relative to the price of calves.

But, you will want to put the pencil to the cost before starting this practice. A rule of thumb used by many cattlemen is to use whole cottonseed whenever 5 pounds of whole seed can be fed for less than the cost of 2 pounds of 41 percent cottonseed meal and 3 pounds of grain sorghum. Using this rule of thumb at current prices, the break point would be at $102 per ton for the whole cottonseed.

Cottonseed can be fed on the ground provided it is fed at different spots in the pasture. Dean Decker, my brother in Childress County, has successfully fed a lot on cottonseed on the ground in recent years.

Advantages of feeding cottonseed include: cost is often favorable, less whole cottonseed is fed with range cubes, and high feed value of cottonseed.

All that glitters isn't gold when it comes to this feeding practice. Stockmen need a facility to store the bulky cottonseed as cotton is harvested before winter feeding commences. Cottonseed stored in bulk is more difficult to handle than supplemental feed purchased in sacks.

Hunters Association, Inc. of Dallas, is interested in making referrals to farmers and ranchers with deer, quail, and turkey leases. Wichita county producers wishing to make quail leases can contact the County Extension Office in Wichita Falls.

I will need to know your name, address, telephone number, and the cost per day or season and acres in the lease. This information will be forwarded to the Hunters Association.
