CAGNEY ACTION KEYS NEW FILM FROM WARNERS

In one of the most unusual portrayals he has attempted in a long and fruitful film career, James Cagney plays the powerful lead role in "Come Fill The Cup," the new Warner Bros. action drama which comes to the Plaza Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Phyllis Thaxter stars opposite him.

Cagney rose to fame in Hollywood as a screen tough guy and in most respects this is another meaty role for his many fans to enjoy. Though an ex-Broadway hooper, the versatile Cagney is nevertheless first thought of as a two-fisted guy who is fighting his way through trouble either on one side of the law or another.

In "Come Fill The Cup," Cagney is on the law's side. He is a city editor of a large metropolitan newspaper, and undertakes an unusual assignment in behalf of his publisher, one for which he is peculiarly adapted and knowing by reason of his life up until the time he had become the paper's top newsman.

YOU GET MORE

NO doubt about the fact you see more GMC trucks on the roads today than ever before—and the reason's no mystery.

This popularity must mean that GMC owners are getting more of the kind of performance they appreciate in a truck. Like what?

Like more horsepower. Not more than you need, but all that you need to meet exacting schedules—without relying on excessive speeds to make up the time many trucks lose when the going is rough.

Like more hub-to-hub, bumper-to-tail-light stamina. Plenty of brawn in the right places—yet a GMC is a trim truck, engineered so that it doesn't penalize your pay load with dead weight.

Whether your hauling involves gasoline or Diesel power—light, medium or maximum loads—why not come in and see a new GMC? See why you get more!

This year we will have to ask all farmers who cannot get money from your local bank, to apply at once for a loan through the Emergency Relief Funds that are now available at this time for this part of the State. We are like you, we are not able to finance any one this year. I will finance my own business and will expect everyone else to do the same. Get your loan through now so that you can go ahead with your farming on time. I have to pay cash, and I will expect cash for what I sell. Credit sales do me more damage than all other bothers put together. Stop and think. I have to go right back and get another load and pay cash just as soon as I am empty. ## CITY ELECTION COMING UP

There is a law that says candidates for city office must file their names with the city secretary 30 days before the date of the election. With the city election to be held in Baird on April Fool's Day this year, the deadline for candidates to file for office is March 1st. Today is the 29th, the last day of February. Tomorrow is March 1st.

A place on the city council calls for some time and effort to be spent for the benefit of the city. It is not an easy job, but for those who take pride in helping their town grow, the position affords the office holder the satisfaction of having done something for his town.

During the next year the city council will have a big job to do. After all, the city's business is the biggest financial structure in Baird. The light plant business alone represents $100,000 a year. That business is growing constantly, and already the need is being felt for another engine to produce electric current for the town. Our water, sewer, streets, sanitary service, and a lot of other services are on the increase. The town is growing and naturally the demands for city services are growing too.

CREDIT FOR A GOOD JOB

We would like to pay tribute, in this small way, to employees of the city who repaired the pipes when the water main broke Monday. The main broke near Jones Dry Goods Store on Market Street about 11 a. m. By 7 p. m. the damage had been repaired and water was turned into the city's mains again. This work was done in the face of snow and cold rain, but the workers stuck with their job regardless of the weather, to give water to citizens of the town. If this work had not been done promptly, the freeze that fell during the following night would have caused many more water pipes to burst leading to more trouble for everybody. The thanks of the entire town go to those who worked on the job to repair the main.

Cold weather did not cause the water main to break. Ever so often the main that runs beneath the pavement on Market Street breaks and water gushes out under the pavement half a block away at times. The trouble goes away back when Market Street was paved with cinders. In those times it was believed that cinders placed on the street was a good way to get rid of the cinders from the railroad and keep the street from getting muddy at the same time. When the street was paved, there was the water main buried in cinder beds deep underground. No one thought cinders would eat on the pipe, but after all these years, that is just what has taken place. Each time the pipe breaks, there is evidence of how the chemical reaction from the cinders has caused the pipe to corrode.

Each time the main springs a leak, the pavement has to be cut in order for repairs to be made. The pipe is repaired, the hole in the street filled with new concrete, and then we relax until the same procedure is necessary all over again a little farther up the street. The longer we wait to lay another 8-inch water main down the alley, and abandon the cinder-eaten pipe under Market Street, the more damage will be done to the pavement and the more emergency work will be done by city employees.

This is no reflection on the city employees. They are doing a whale of a good job with the tax money. The trouble is, there's not enough tax money to work with. Looks like something is going to have to be done about the water main under Market Street, as well as quite a lot of other water mains throughout the city. To work it all over right would take a bond issue. In that case the people would have to decide whether they wanted the new water mains more than the money involved, or vice versa.

Imagination Can Be Cruel

TERRY D. RENNINGER, Barberton, Ohio, says he thinks that one of the greatest fears a person can have is the fear that someone is laughing at you.

Thinking back over his childhood, he doesn't remember having any fear until he started to school. He had an impediment in his speech and could not read as well as the other children. In the first grade, he gave a recitation "A frog on a log that couldn't croak because he had a frog in his throat." Instead of giving a clear and distinct speech like the other children, his was just a bunch of jumbled-up words. From that day on he carried the nickname of "Hawdy", a shameful word to him, as it meant he couldn't speak well.

From that day on he had doubt of ever trying to read or speak in the classroom. So he concentrated all his efforts on arithmetic. By the time he was in the third grade he was doing sixth grade arithmetic, but was far behind in reading ability.

He carried the awful nickname of "Hawdy" for eight years through grade school. In junior high school the nickname left him. But in his own mind was the fear that someone was laughing at him. To offset this fear, he built up resentment of people, and resolved that he would show them he would amount to something. He got excellent grades in science and mathematics, and because of these grades he was considered a good student. He worked his way through college and was graduated in the top fourth of his class, but he never participated in social affairs at college because he was still carrying his fear.

After this, he took an active part in Sunday school and fraternal organization work. Within a short time he was elected to the top offices of these organizations. Doing this type of work helped his pronunciation of words and gave him confidence.

He says that as he looks back over the years, he believes it was mostly his imagination that people were laughing at him.

How to get what you want and need in a truck

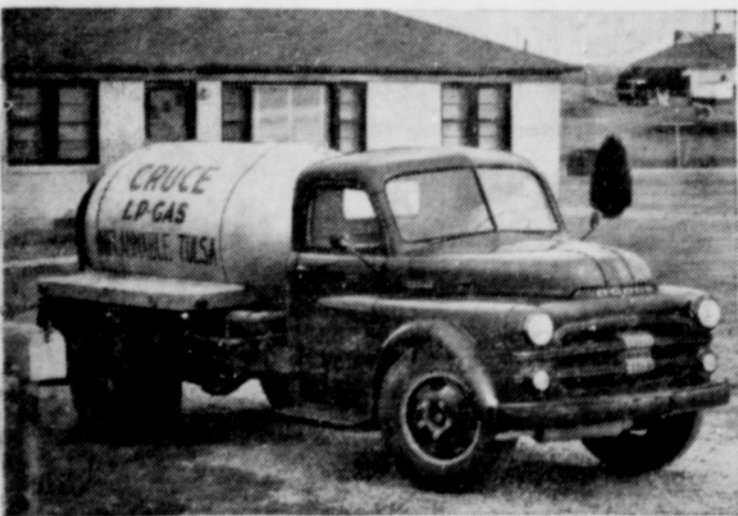

"Dodge 'Job-Rated' Trucks are the best we've ever used!"

...says PAUL CRUCE, Cruce Butane Co., Tulsa, Okla.

"We do a lot of driving on narrow roads, in and out of driveways, in small yards and other tight spots. We need trucks that are real easy to handle, so we switched to Dodge. They'll turn on a dime!"

"We service oil wells, too, and that's the toughest off-the-road hauling there is. We need plenty of pulling power. For mud and heavy pulling, Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks are dependable and economical to operate."

SUPPOSE you need a 1½- or 2-ton truck. Naturally, you'll want one that costs less to run. You'll want one engineered to last for years and years. Above all, you'll want one that fits your job to a "T".

That calls for a truck in which every unit that moves the load is engineered to meet most severe conditions—and every unit that supports the load is engineered to provide the strength and capacity needed. What's more, load-moving and load-supporting units must be engineered to work together.

The way to get such a truck is to see us about a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck—one that's factory-engineered for your kind of work!

Yes... when it comes to your hauling job, you'll find everything you want and need in a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. Come in today.

Power with economy. The big high-compression engine of a Dodge "Job-Rated" 1½- or 2-ton truck operates with outstanding economy. You get money-saving values like chrome-plated top piston rings, and exhaust valve seat inserts.

Time-saving performance. Low loading height on 1½- and 2-ton models and hinged center sections on stake bodies make loading and unloading easier. 5-speed transmission available on most models for more pulling power, better speeds.

Easy handling. Exceptional handling and steering ease is made possible by wide front tread and short wheelbase. Thanks to shorter turning diameters, you can turn sharper either right or left—back into tight places easier.
