The Hansford Sheriff's Department is holding a 23-year-old male in Spearman, and another male is being held in the Perryton jail for allegedly raping a 13-year-old Spearman girl last week. Neither of these men have escaped from jail. Rumors on the street this week implied that a rapist had escaped from the local jail.

Sheriff McFarland stated that the Sheriff's Department and the Police Department have released a warrant for a subject concerning a local burglary. The public is urged to lock their cars, homes, and help the local law enforcement agencies prevent burglaries.

Do you often find yourself struggling to pay bills at the last minute, paying late fees or receiving past-due notices? If so, you may need a system for knowing when bills are due.

One method is to keep track of payment dates on a calendar or home computer. As the bills arrive each month, record the due date and the amount to be paid.

On some bills, you'll need to calculate the due date from the billing date. If your payment doesn't arrive prior to the due date, then you may have to pay additional interest.

Many bills, such as some travel and entertainment cards, do not have any grace period. Others, like utility bills, may have one amount if paid by a certain date and a late fee if paid after that date. To avoid late fees and possibly being reported to the credit reporting agency for late payment, always pay the bills by the due date.

Occasional expenses that come in only once or twice a year, such as insurance and taxes, can be a problem if plans are not made to have this money available in advance.

Use your calendar or computer to go in the habit of planning ahead weekly, monthly and yearly to see what bills are due. If you mail monthly payments, you will need to send the money ahead to get there on time and avoid late charges.

Make a notation on your calendar about occasional bills that will be due in each of the coming months. To have the money ready, you may want to set aside an amount each month so that the total amount will be available when needed.

Sending cash through the mail is risky. If you write checks for bills or purchase money orders, you'll have receipt. Automatic bill paying offered by banks is another method of paying bills. Traveling from place to place to drop off payments for bills may be a very expensive procedure.

Our Heritage of Faith...

Identity in Worship. Some people have indicated their belief that food influences their life by saying, "You are what you eat." This claim may be a bit strong, but the fact is that we identify people in many ways: food, customs, work, values, etc. Christian Worship gives the believer in Jesus Christ a point of identity that can not be achieved alone. Worship talks about who we are, and where we stand with God and our neighbor.

NEXT TOPIC: More about identity in worship.

Gospel music at the Fair

The Amarillo Tri State Fair will offer a first in its entertainment format this year—a special night for gospel music in the Coliseum on Thursday, September 19th at 8:00 p.m. The KINGSMEN, THE GOLD CITY QUARTET & THE REX NELSON SINGERS will give fair-goers two solid hours of traditional gospel music. The Kingsmen have become one of the most sought-after groups in the Gospel Music field today. They have sold close to a million albums and tapes. Three of these albums won Dove Awards, given by the Gospel Music Association. They have also won the Singing News Fan Award for quartet in 1980 and 1981 and the favorite Band Award in 1979 and again three more times in 1981, 1982, and 1983. The Gold City Quartet came into being in 1981 and is another very popular gospel act that has earned a tremendous reputation in the southern part of the United States. Their record "John Saw" was number three on the Christian Music Chart this year. The five-man group plays piano, bass, drums, banjo, guitar and various other keyboard instruments.

The Rex Nelson Singers are one of gospel music's premier groups who have never been afraid of changing with the times or rolling with the punches. The Nelsons are Rex, daughter Kelly Nelson-Thompson, Jerry Thompson and Karen Peck. Four band members complete the group. The Nelsons work about 250 shows per year out of the Atlanta area. At the 1985 GMA Dove Awards, the Rex Nelson Singers won the Dove Award for the best traditional album of the year.

Tickets for the Gospel Music Show are $10.00 each and may be purchased by mail beginning July 15th. Tickets go on sale across the counter on August 28th at Western Plaza Mall and at High Plains Religious Book Store in Amarillo. Mail orders should be sent to Tri State Fair, Box 31087, Amarillo, Tx. 79120.

Spotlight on Texas

Texas has become the envy of many other states. And it's not just because of our mouth-watering chili and mesquite-smoked barbecue.

Our state is now attracting more and more businesses to head-quarter or locate a major operation here. Corpus Christi was just chosen as the new U.S. Navy base for the battleship Wisconsin. And support warships will be stationed in the Houston-Galveston area. The annual economic impact is expected to top $250 million.

No longer is our state a land of only oil and agriculture. While those industries still play major roles, they are now part of a varied big picture, which includes the banking, defense, computer, tourism and telecommunications industries, to name a few.

Regardless of their locations within Texas, the influx of new businesses is a boon to the whole state. New businesses increase the state's tax base and create new jobs for all Texans.

Attracting new businesses

Helping to draw new businesses to Texas are the state's abundant resources, good climate, excellent transportation and hard-working residents.

For example, good transportation was a dominating reason for Southwestern Bell Telephone's recent decision to locate a major distribution warehouse in Lancaster, south of Dallas. The new 490,000 square foot complex will serve all five of our company's states.

In addition to transportation, telecommunications facilities are also important in many business relocation decisions.

Southwestern Bell Telephone is proud to offer top-notch telecommunications in the 450 towns it serves in Texas. For the eighth year in a row, we are investing more than $1 billion in new construction to meet Texas' growth and to continue adding state-of-the-art communications facilities.

Reasonable phone rates

Also, Texas residential telephone rates are among the lowest in the nation. In fact, a recent study conducted by an investment brokerage firm — Smith Barney — found Texans had the lowest average monthly residence bill among the 18 states surveyed.

From 1975 to 1984, the average residential phone service for most Texans increased only 44 percent. During that time, the Consumer Price Index rose 93 percent, gasoline went up 117 percent, medical costs increased 184 percent, while natural gas prices rose 239 percent.

In fact, statistics show it actually takes a smaller percentage of earned income to pay for telephone service today than it did 25 years ago.

Even at our current proposed increases, Texans will continue to enjoy quality communications at affordable rates.

What makes Texas grow? It's a lot of factors, from its highways to its telecommunications services to its state government that actively works to promote economic development.

It's also good people, including Southwestern Bell Telephone's 35,000 Texas employees. We're proud of our traditions of service in the state since the late 1800s. And we're confident of our abilities to continue meeting the needs of our growing state.

ATVs can be dangerous

All-terrain vehicles, better known to their users as ATVs, are among the hottest-selling, summer recreational items among people who can afford the investment. The 3-wheeled motorcycles can scoot over sand dunes, marshes, pastures and other areas inaccessible to autos.

But problems mar the vehicles' reputation. Since they have been available, thousands of injuries and some deaths, mostly of children, have been attributed to their use.

The injury rate to users of ATVs is double that of 2-wheel vehicles.
More than 45 percent of the injuries are suffered by riders under age 16, and 24 percent occur to kids under 12.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that in 1982 when ATVs were new, 8,585 injuries were reported. That total has jumped dramatically every year since, as popularity and numbers of ATVs have spread.

From Jan. 1 to April 30 this year, some 28,000 injuries were attributed to ATV use. At least 161 deaths, 11 of which were in Texas and 40 of which were in surrounding states, have resulted from accidents with ATVs since government agencies began studying the machines' safety.

Dan Sowards, of the Texas
Department of Health Hazardous Products Branch said that studies are under way to determine if user ignorance or negligence, or engineering defects are linked to the majority of injuries and deaths. He recently testified for the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC)

a hearing in Dallas.
"CPSC only now is able to get in-depth information from consumer groups, ATV manufacturers and distributors, and independent safety experts about the reported problems associated with ATVs," Sowards said. "Only now can some of the possible problems with ATVs be identified by studying the variety of injuries attributed to them. Most injuries result from the rider's loss of control. The machines can overturn or roll over in some circumstances. Sometimes riders have been thrown off."

"At the recent hearing in Dallas, parents of small children and physicians from surrounding states, representing individuals who have been disabled or killed, called for stiffer regulation of ATVs. They wanted clearer warnings of the potential hazard, training and education required for anyone using an ATV, an age and protective clothing requirements for ATV users. Some advocated a ban on the machines in the United States.

"CPSC will hold two more hearings before making any conclusions about ATVs' safety, but it is clear the public wants guidance in how to avoid some of the tragedies already experienced. I would expect that by this time next year CPSC will have moved on the evidence it is collecting now," Sowards said.

Sowards added that the ATV manufacturers, mostly based in Japan, have reported backlogs of orders for their new 4-wheeled ATVs, which are believed to be more stable.

Gruver man pilots rescue helicopter

Charlie Johnson piloted this helicopter on a rescue mission in Alaska in May.

Two Evergreen Helicopters of Alaska pilots and a mechanic responded to a distress call May 7 when a single-engine aircraft with four people aboard crashed into Cook Inlet, near Anchorage, Ala.

Charlie Johnson, Brad Warren and A.J. "Bert" Fowler responded to a call from the Alaska State Troopers about 8:30 p.m. after the small plane had crashed landed in the inlet. Persons on shore said the plane, a Cessna 180, set down as smoothly as it could, but then the nose went into the choppy water.

While people on shore scurried to assist the victims, the Evergreen employees readied their rescue ropes and took off in a Hughes 500D helicopter. According to Fowler, the crew was airborne within minutes of receiving the call.

Troopers had called the Coast Guard and all the other helicopter companies, but they didn't have luck finding a pilot on duty that could scramble quick enough to get to the people bobbing in the 30-degree water. Fowler said "I didn't know where we were going, and I didn't look out the window all the way there. I spent the time tying ropes into loops for the rescue."

Fowler said that they spotted the people in the water floating about one-half mile off shore. The helicopter was not equipped with floats, so, rescue operations took place from about a 10-foot hover over the water.

When they arrived, the man was bobbing in the water, holding his wife up, with the family dog continually trying to climb on top of the people for safety.

"Brad, the mechanic, took the rope I fed him and straddled the skid. By the time we arrived, the people had been in the water for 20 to 30 minutes and had severe hypothermia.

"I don't know how the man did it, but he pulled out super-human strength from somewhere and was treading water with his wife in one arm holding her up and the dog in the other."

Fowler said he had Johnson hover lower, so he could grab the man, who had at that point lost control of the woman and the dog. He got a rope around the man's waist and grabbed the dog, keeping it from climbing on the woman and pushing her under.

"I grabbed the dog by the collar and heaved him up into the cockpit. The woman had gone under, and we couldn't see her, and we were about to lose the man, so, Brad and I worked but couldn't get him into the helicopter, not even up on the skid. He was almost unconscious and so cold that he couldn't move at all. We grabbed his arms and clamped them around the skid, and I tied a rope around him, tying him to the skid."

The team then headed for shore with the man who was losing consciousness.

"His eyes began to roll up in his head and then close, and his grip loosened. I yelled with all my might while hanging on to his shirt collar, and he opened his eyes again. I just kept yelling and telling him he was going to make it," Fowler said.

Once on shore, fire and rescue crews grabbed the man. But Fowler could not let go. His hand had frozen while holding the man, and the firemen had to open his fingers to get the man to the stretcher.

Fowler threw the dog out as they started to take off again for the accident site. A fireman reached for the animal and told the men that there were children in the sinking plane.

While taking the man in, they passed two men who had pushed off shore in a life raft to aid in the rescue. By the time the helicopter came back, the men had the woman pulled aboard. The aircraft hovered over them and tried unsuccessfully three times to pull her into the helicopter. According to Fowler, she was limp and kept slipping through the noose. Then a motorized raft arrived at the scene and rushed her back to shore.

The crew then tried to get to the sinking aircraft, but ran out of time, so, they decided to go back and get a diver to retrieve the children. When they came back, all that was left of the plane was an oil slick.

"Visibility in the water was limited to two feet because of the merky tide coming in so fast, and the diver couldn't find anything. The crew on the other raft had lost contact with the plane because of having to paddle hard to fight the tide, and by the time we were back on the third trip the wind was blowing 10 to 20 knots and visibility was about 400 yards in heavy snow," Fowler said.

"We almost couldn't see the shoreline of huge mountains, and we had to fly back to Merrill Field 100 feet over the highway in blinding snow.

If I would have known the first time out that those kids were in the plane and that the tide was coming in so fast, I could have gone into the water and probably gotten them out. What a shame, it really bothers me a lot about not being able to save them," Fowler said.

The woman also died one week later in the hospital never having regained consciousness.

Our entire Evergreen family expresses its pride in the tremendous efforts this crew made in this miraculous rescue.

Library News

Summer reading program begins this Friday, July 19, 1985! At 10:00 a.m. we will be kicking off our summer reading program for kindergarten on up to whatever age is interested in attending. We will have a storytime, and then a time to check out books to read the following week. Our theme for this year's program is AWESOME ADVENTURES, and we hope you will choose to participate. More details will be given on Friday when you come, so don't miss the first episode in the adventures that books can bring. Remember Friday, 10:00 to 10:30 a.m. at the Gruver Library!

Book Review: Once again, in The Black Velvet Gown, Catherine Cookson brings her exceptional skill as storyteller to the rugged countryside of Northumberland in the northern hills of England. With a fine sense of the land and a superb eye for detail, she tells us the story of two remarkable women: a mother and daughter often at odds with each other but more so with their world and its circumstances; the mother facing the loneliness of premature widowhood, and the daughter, the need to challenge and fight the prejudice of her time.

It is 1820 and the widowed Maria Millican takes work for herself and the custom of the day, teaches the children to read and think. It is Biddy, the oldest daughter, who shows a natural gift for learning and thus the ability to live a life she can never achieve. At fourteen she is sent away to the county seat to work in the laundry of the great house. Against all warnings she continues to read, to learn and to think for herself, but this cannot be, for in nineteenth-century England, knowledge can bring nothing but pain and trouble to the like of a serving girl - and for Biddy, a terrible tragedy. But her intelligence, courage and natural grace sustain her as she overcomes the prejudice of her day. To weave her tale, Catherine Cookson has assembled a splendid cast of characters. There is Percival Miller, once professor at Oxford, now strange and reclusive, whose eerie affections almost destroy the Millican family; Tol Briston, the wise and sensitive man of the countryside, whose love and gentleness bring hope back to Maria; Davey Millican, the beautiful and simple son, whose impulsive instincts threaten all who love him; and most of all for Biddy, there is Laurence Gullmington, whose passion and honesty trans the age and bring a new lease on life for all the Millicans.

Catherine Cookson portrays them all with the perception and compassion that have made her one of the world's most widely read novelists. The Black Velvet Gown is a narrative of great power and diversity that is surely to be reckoned as one of her major achievements.

Summer is fast slipping by - read a good book before it's over!

Nutritional program for horses

A horse's soundness is directly linked to its nutritional program, says Kenneth Slough of Double 'D' Fertilizer & Feed in Gruver.

"To stay in good, sound physical condition, a horse must receive a nutritionally well-balanced diet including the right amounts of important minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus. And these minerals must be in the right proportion, too," Slough says.

Young horses that are fed inadequate amounts of calcium and phosphorus or an improper calcium-phosphorus ratio are candidates for abnormal bone development problems, Slough added. "If there is an inadequate supply or improper ratio of calcium and phosphorus, there is reduced bone mineralization. The less dense bone is susceptible to damage. Inflammation, tenderness and possibly lameness and permanent damage can result."

Horses fed raw grains, which are essentially devoid of calcium, are especially susceptible. Grain mixes with minerals added can also cause problems when the calcium-phosphorus ratio is inappropriate to the horse's stage of growth.

The generally accepted minimum calcium-phosphorus ratio is 1:1. A feed with a 1:1 ratio, such as Purina's Omolene #300, for example, is an excellent choice for young stock. However, if a horse owner cuts that with raw grain, which contains phosphorus but very little calcium, the ratio will drop below 1:1, he said.

The feed dealer recommends horse owners carefully read the feeding recommendations on bags, to be sure the product is suited to a horse's activity level. Purina's Lifestyle line, he notes, offers different formulations to meet specific needs, when fed according to recommendations.

"A lot of horse owners tend to 'fixate' on a single ration component, such as protein," he said. "But the total nutrient balance and adequacy are important for top performance."

Ayres family reunion held

I once read where a family reunion is when we "resolve to go no a diet to lose some weight before the next one" and the guys resolve to be in better shape and are more youthful looking. I don't know if that means a false "hairpiece" to cover up the slightly larger bald spot or using the darkening formula that removes the gray over a period of time so no one notices as it is done naturally. Never the less, it is always a joyous occasion for families to be able to get together during the summer for family reunions. So, many have established the tradition for these reunions to occur every year or every other year or even every five or ten years. In the case of the Ayers clan, they have chosen to gather every other year during the month of July.

This year, the plans were for the main gathering and meal was scheduled for Saturday July 13 at the Golden Age Center in Gruver. Marie Harbour and Val Winger were in charge of making arrangements for having the delicious meal of Bar-B-Que, catered by Ivey's Hungry Boy from Spearman. They also conducted the business meeting for choosing the site for 1987 and hostesses for the next reunion, Fayrene Williams and Debbie Odom will be in charge of the next one which will be in Gruver also.

There were prizes given during the meeting to the youngest and the couple who were the most recently married. Even though Warren and Marion McClenagan were the most newly wed, they had not arrived yet so the prize went to Darin and Tanya Winger who were in attendance from Ft. Worth. Rani Dunlap, daughter of Genna(Green)and Mike Dunlap of Amarillo won the prize for being the youngest. Next youngest was Cuatro (Raymond Nathaniel IV) Lunn of Archer city son of the Nat Lunn and grandson of Valine (Henderson) and Ray Lunn of Wichita Falls. There was a total of 127 who registered and Aline Henderson's family was represented with 100%.

Vivian Green had 43 of her family there. Those registering were R.C. and Betty Green of Webster. Their children were daughters Amy of Webster, Texas and Beth and husband Dean Boyd of Dallas, Texas. Weldon and wife Elene of Gruver, children: Ron of Gruver, Dee and Susan from Childress (and sons Eric and Matthew), Genna Dunlap, Kenna, Michelle, and Rani from Amarillo. Mittie Blackburn from Abilene. Virginia and John Alley of Springfield, Mo. and their children Becky Holton and sons Kyle, Jarid from Roswell, New Mexico and John David Alley and wife Judy and daughter Katie were in attendance from Batesville, Arkansas. Adeline and husband Joel Wheeler from Albuquerque New Mexico. Their children attending were Joel Wheeler and daughter Sherm, Jan and Kay Wheeler all from Albuquerque and also Karen Palsie from Basin, Wyoming. Euline Green and wife Becky from Abilene with their children Rho, Tuell and Lenna. Glenda Green and husband B.J. Renner from Gruver and their children Viva, Ross and Anise.

Charmain Lyle, her children and grandchildren who registered were: Fayrene and L.A. Williams, son Neal and wife Julie Williams all of Gruver. George Paul Odom, son George Brian and his wife Debbie with sons Kenton, Grant, Dan and daughter Jill. Also George Paul's daughter Darlene and husband Mack Hoel with sons Matthew and Brian Hoel.

Those attending from Amarillo of the J.M. Ayres family were J.M. and Ruby and son James.

Edith(Ayres)Bolanz and her husband Carl came from Denison, Texas.

There were quite a few registering from the Pauline Winger family which included Joette Riley and her grandchildren Micah and Jori Buchanan from Amarillo, Riley Mike(Riley), Lynn, Amy, John and from Perryton, Monty Harbour, Marie, David, Mary Kay, Lena, Jacob, Roy and Denise all of Spearman. Val Winger, Marlene, Manda, Davin and Teague of Gruver, Darin and Tanya Winger of Ft. Worth, Lonnie and Marva Burnam of Goodwell. Guests were Elizabeth and Cortney Johnston, Teague Winger's twin sisters from Dallas, Texas. Kay and husband Leon Hobbs, sons Bret and Clay from Gruver.

From the Aline Henderson family, from Gruver were Rita and Jerry Williams and sons Todd, Ty and Trevor. And Ray and Valine Lunn from Wichita Falls, also from Wichita Falls were their son Will and his wife Helen and their son Adam. From Archie City were Nat Lunn and Sidney with children Natalie, Kalie and Cuatro(Raymond Nathaniel IV). From Ft. Worth were Kyle and Kathy Lunn with son Reagan.

Keep a little romance in your marriage

By Paula Sinise

Frankly, I think romance has gotten a bad name. Romance is that mushy stuff newlyweds indulge in that makes the rest of us wish we were somewhere else...long, lingering looks, holding hands, sighs and whispers. Yuk, right?

The truth is romance is very good for any relationship. It's like powdered sugar on chocolate brownies, an attractive addition. Let's take a look at romance.

First, of course, a definition. Romance is anything that is not absolutely necessary. There is nothing romantic about brushing your teeth. However it is romantic to put toothpaste on your mate's toothbrush. Not necessary, but nice. Here's another example. It is never necessary to buy that perfect red rose bud for your love, but it is romantic. The list of romantic things you can do for each other is endless. Take a look at that definition again. Romance is ANYTHING that is not absolutely necessary.

In recent years, the market has been flooded by thousands of romance novels about perfect lovers and wonderful relationships. Why are they so popular? Studies have been done to determine what makes a perfect lover. Questions were asked from both men and women and guess what they discovered. We're hungry for romance. It's not sex appeal, good looks or money. What tops the list? "She sets aside time for me." "He's a good listener." "He remembered that I like pickled jelly beans." Thoughtfulness, consideration and yes, romance.

I think you probably understand what romance is by now. How can it help improve an already steady relationship? How can it stabilize a rocky relationship? Remember when you first started dating and your boyfriend always opened the car door for you. Well, you've been married ten years and you're lucky if he remembers to unlock the car door after he gets in and starts the motor. You know he loves you. You have wonderful home life and your children are the most attractive and well-behaved on the block. But he still forgets to open the door for you. Perhaps your favorite meal is fried squash with liver and onions. It's been three years, two months and nine days since your wife fixed it for you. You know she loves you, but it would be nice if she remembered to fix it. We're talking about romance. The details of caring that are above and beyond the nitty-gritty of survival in married life.

One of the things couples in counseling complain about is a disregard for details. We've heard the jokes. He squeezes the toothpaste from the bottom and she doesn't. They divorce for marital incompatibility. Being thoughtful about the little things is a part of romance, too. Taking the time to be creative in your relationship can cement your love when (or if) the passion fades from a roaring fire to a glowing coal.

Here are a few suggestions for adding romance to your relationships:

1. Take a few minutes each day to talk to each other. It doesn't matter about what. Just talk.
2. Date your mate, away from children or friends, at least once a month.

3. Try to think of a surprise for your mate (besides a new paint brush so he or she can finish the trim on the house). Little or big, it doesn't matter what it is or how inexpensive it is. Be creative. Show your mate that you're thinking about him or her.

4. Focus on the positive. Instead of remembering what he or she never does, focus on what he or she did and be openly appreciative.

5. Treat your partner as if you were still trying to impress them enough to marry you. We forget, after a few years, that partners liked to be pampered and cherished. Maintaining a long-term relationship takes work, attention to details and creativity.

6. Finally, don't be embarrassed to be tender and affectionate to your mate. It may not be fashionable in our lovely-cynical society, but it will certainly pay off in your relationship.

Perhaps it would be a good idea to expand our definition of romance. Romance is anything that pleases, flatters, pleasantly surprises, cherishes or enhances your mate or your relationship. It is the unselfish dedication to someone else's happiness. Stated that way, even paying the bills can be romantic. So you see, romance isn't really only for newlyweds.

To God: A note of thanks

Mrs. E.A. Greever

My dear friends the head-line of these weekly articles you read in the Spearman Reporter tells you to whom the praise and thanks go for Mrs. E.A. Greever does not possess only that given by him. By his grace I am what I am and the world today would say as they did of the Apostles chosen by Jesus where did she get her learning.

I am of a family of seven children who had good honest God fearing parents with very little of this world goods. I went to a country school, children from the school age to grown ups with only one teacher until 17 years of age then during the school term walked 1 1/2 miles to a small town. Alba, Mo. and had two years of high school teaching all that was taught at that time. This was year 1907. In a revival in 1908 I began my higher education my text book the Holy Bible, King James version the one and only I've studied since. I was deeply convicted of sins I had committed and with many tears and a Godly sorrow I repented and God forgave and I received a peace I had never before known and Gods word declares all must repent or they perish. My life was so happy with such peace I had a hunger and thirst for more of Gods righteousness.

Impossible for me to try to describe to you how hungry I was and I received a satisfying portion several years later after coming to the Panhandle of Texas where my home has been ever since. In 1919 I heard the message of sanctification an experience that would be given by Jesus who gave himself for this blessing for all who had repented and come to God and in arevival by Holy Ghost ministers the three Morton Sisters in Wawaha, Texas(now Waka) I surrendered my life, soul, and body and the blood shed by Jesus cleansed my lift from the sin nature that I was borne with making me holy for Gods glory. Then I was completely made a new creature born of the spirit and so desirous to tell others the experience could be theirs and in studying Gods word was told to tarry for the Holy Ghost that would give the power to witness for him; and in a tarry service in the home of Joe Davis in Range Okla. community He came in to abide.

How did I know he came in? Answer-He took complete control of my vocal organs and I spode for two hours in a language I did not know and during the full two hours I was preaching or singing Gods praise. Gods word tells us when He the Holy Ghost abides we can be a witness unto the uttermost part of the world. This experience I received was in 1921 and by Gods grace I have been very careful not to grieve this teacher out of my life and How marvelous the zeal burning with in me to tell others the story of Father Son and Holy Ghost. In this life I have heard or known about many things and not know them and this is true about the knowledge of the Heavenly Father and his Son our Saviour. A vast difference in knowing them and knowing about them and now nearing 97 years of age I am still growing in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ and expect by Gods grace to finish this course of study when Jesus comes for me and this mortal body puts on immortality and glorious hope.

The following is the words of a song I wrote several years ago.

My Redeemer Liveth
I know that my Redeemer liveth,
I know in whom I trust today,
I know he'll give me and glory,
Until I have immortality.
I know he shed his blood on Calvary,
I know it saves from sin today,
I know he'll come in clouds of heaven,
To catch his waiting bride away.
I know that he arose triumphant,
I know he's at the throne today,
I know he entered and blesses,
And some day I'll in his image stay.
Chorus
So I'll praise the blessed name of Jesus
I will worship him whom I adore
I will 'eer exalt my dear Redeemer,
Who is calling all to mercy's door,
I'm so happy to know this knowledge is for who so ever will.
Thank you God.

Energy Savers

This is the last year that taxpayers may claim the residential energy tax credit.

A tax credit of up to $300 is available for energy conservation materials installed in the home, with a separate credit of up to $4,000 for taxpayers who install "renewable" energy source such as solar or wind equipment.

The credit for energy conservation materials is figured at 15 percent for the first $2,000 spent on such items as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weather-stripping and caulking. Also qualifying are certain fuel saving heating system modifications. Only materials installed in homes that were built before April 20, 1977, are eligible for energy credit.

The "renewable" energy source credit is 40 percent of the first $10,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind, or geothermal equipment used to heat or cool or to provide hot water for use in the home.

Both credits are available for items purchased and installed on a taxpayer's principal residence between April 20, 1977, and December 31, 1985. The "renewable" energy credit is available for both existing and newly constructed homes. Renters as well as homeowners are eligible for the credit.

For additional informatin, order the free IRS publication 903, Energy Credits for Individuals, by calling the Federal Tax information number listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

TG&Y contest begins here

The week of July 15-20 TG&Y is having a company wide sales contest. The winner of each district wins $1000.00. We at TG&Y have found a group of people who are in desperate need of help to raise money. This is the Panhandle area. Kidney patients auxiliary of the Dialysis Center of Amarillo. We plan to donate our prize money to this auxiliary because the people in the Panhandle area who are on dialysis will have the funds that the government provides them for medicine and travel to Amarillo 3 times a week cut in September. This will affect from 150 to 200 people in the 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle and surrounding area of Oklahoma and new Mexico.

Some of these people will not be able to continue coming to Amarillo for dialysis as they will have to choose whether to continue treatment or feed their families and they will choose to feed their families. A person whose kidneys do not function properly has to be put on the dialysis machine which consists of going to Amarillo 3 times a week for treatment which means sitting in a chair for 4 hours three times a week having their blood running through a machine to clean the poison out of their systems so they may live. A person whose kidneys have failed will only be able to live 2 weeks without dialysis.

The family members of some of these patients have gotten together to form the Panhandle area Kidney Patients Auxiliary. This is a non-profit organization with all the work being volunteered. We hope that we will be able to raise funds to be used for our patients in our area so that they may continue to live.

We urge everyone to come out and help us help this group of people and have a great time and enjoy some great bargains so we can help some not so fortunate people live.

County gets job training funds

Governor Mark White announced today the allocation of $103,949,867 to Texas' 34 local Service Delivery Areas for job training programs under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

The Texas Department of Community Affairs (TDCA) will contract with these local job training programs to prepare economically disadvantaged Texans for jobs in the private sector. Of the total amount, $77,178,824 in Title IIA funds will be allocated to provide job training and other services to teenagers and adults. The remainder, $26,770,843 in Title IIB monies, will be designated specifically for summer youth employment programs.

"The Job Training Partnership Act is a valuable mechanism that brings the public and private sectors together to train Texans for productive employment and economic self-sufficiency," Governor White said.

Under JTPA, local elected officials work in partnership with private industry councils composed of business and community representatives to design and implement job training programs that are tailored to meet the needs of area residents.

A listing of TDCA's funding allocations is attached. For more information, call Les Reedy at the Department of Community Affairs at 512-443-4100, ext. 333.

IRS waives penalty

The penalty assessed for non-payment of estimated taxes required to be paid by employees of certain church or church controlled organizations is being waived for 1984, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Certain churches or church controlled organizations that are opposed for religious reasons to the payment of employer social security taxes may have elected, under the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, to be exempt from these taxes. Employees of these electing institutions must then generally make estimated tax payments to cover their Self-Employment Contribution Act (SECA) liability.

Many churches filed their election to be exempt from paying employer social security taxes late in 1984. This late election resulted in many church employees being unaware of the estimated tax liability for 1984.

While some affected taxpayers may be charged a penalty initially, the IRS is identifying these church employees and will adjust their tax liability to abate or recompute the penalty.

For more information, call the IRS using the number listed in the local telephone directory.

July 31, 1985, is the date by which employers must report on Form 941 social security and withheld federal income taxes for the second quarter of 1985 and pay any taxes due, the Internal Revenue Service says. If the quarterly liability (less any deposit during the quarter) is $500 or more, the unpaid balance must be deposited.

This deadline does not apply to employers who timely deposit in Federal Reserve or approved commercial banks the full amount of tax due. They are allowed until August 12 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return."

Employers who have not received a Form 941 by mail can order one through the Tax Information number listed in the telephone book under U.S. Government. IRS publication 15, Circular E--Employer's Tax Guide, is also available by telephone.

Folkfest planned

AMARILLO -- Four different ethnic folk groups are scheduled to perform at the second annual Folk Fest starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, August 6, in the Memorial Park, south of the Amarillo College.

They include Norwegian, Scottish, Top of Texas Cloggers and Greek groups. The fest, sponsored by the European Club, is open to the public. Charles Kitsman, club president, said, "Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend."

The European Club, organized in the spring of 1983, has 150 members from throughout the Panhandle area. The club promotes European languages and cultures.

The group plans to hold Oktoberfest on Saturday evening, Oct. 5, in St. Joseph's Annex, 4122 South Bonham, Amarillo. The festivity, an annual fundraiser for the club, will include a live Polka band, German cuisine, door prizes and dances.

Membership information in the club is available from Charles Kitsman, 2700 West 16th, Suite 344, Amarillo, Texas 79102.

Win A New Golf Cart

The Hansford Golf Club is offering chances on a new golf cart. The $100.00 donation to the club will not only give the donor a chance at winning a new golf cart but will also allow the donating couple an evening of dining and dancing.

The golf cart is now on display at the golf course. The "Golf Cart Ball" will be catered by IV's Hungry Cowboy.

In other golfing news Brian Noel, golf pro at the Hansford Golf Club announced this week that the junior golf tourney at the club will be held on July 24.

There will be no entry fee for the "Junior Golf Tournament". The Tournament is open to Hansford County residents only. Ages 10 and under, 11-13, will play 9 holes. The 14-18 year olds will play 18 holes. T-off will be at 9 a.m. Wednesday, July 24. Trophies will be awarded.

The Hansford Golf Club is extremely proud of the many people who use the club. This year the State Champion play-off Gruver boys team had all of their practice training at Hansford Golf course. The club is used by young and old alike, and if you are a golfer you are welcome to play at this beautiful Hansford County course.
