Results gratifying Inspection of Manor

Representatives of the Texas Department of Health were in the Hansford Manor on Monday and Tuesday, November 3rd and 4th. There were four inspectors, including a Registered Nurse and Registered Pharmacist. These individuals talked extensively with Manor residents, family members and employees to determine the adequacy and quality of care being provided. They reviewed compliance with State rules and regulations and surveyed the ability of the Manor in meeting the health, recreational and social needs of its residents. The results of the survey were very gratifying and only confirm what we already knew. That the Hansford Manor is a quality, well run facility meeting the needs of the people of Hansford County in an exceptional way. The State Department of Health awarded the Manor a certificate indicating that is a "Superior Facility" on December 9, 1985. The results of this most recent survey will only confirm and continue this "Superior" rating. Only those facilities meeting all State and Federal regulations and providing an exceptionally high quality of care are awarded this certification but it is worth all of the time and effort that goes into it because it testifies to the fact that Hansford County Residents are getting the very best.

Lions

Dear Hunter,
The Morse Lions Club is proud to announce its 2nd Annual Pheasant Hunt. We know that you will be pleased to find some of the best pheasant hunting available anywhere (right here in the top of the Texas Panhandle) with the bird count appearing to be up from last year.

Our hunt takes place on thousands of acres of cut croplands, weedrows and patches, and each group will be guided by men who know both the area and the ways of the ringneck pheasant. However, our guides do more than just lead you toward great gunning. Whether it be the extra effort put forth to find a downed bird, the added time spent helping a beginner, or just friendly conversation, our Lions will do their best to make your hunt a great experience.

Opening weekend, Dec. 13 & 14, 1986, is the time set for our hunt. The fee is $100.00 per gun for our hunt. It includes two days, and includes breakfast both days. A registration form is attached for your convenience—just fill it out and mail with your check, to confirm your reservation; but hurry, space is limited.

Feel free to share this information with your friends and form your own groups, or we can put you with a group. If more information is needed, call me at 806-733-2118.

We are looking forward to a good hunt and a good time!

CHRISTMAS GIFT IDEAS

CHOOSING A DIAMOND

By Lloyd Jaffe, Chairman
American Diamond Industry Association (ADIA)

A diamond is a diamond is it? No, unlike the popular saying about roses, each diamond is unique and must be chosen with care, as many holiday shoppers are discovering.

In 1985, over 17 million pieces of diamond jewelry were sold in the United States for a combined dollar value of over $8 billion and many of those sales were generated during the pre-holiday rush. With the allowance of sales tax deductions through the end of 1986—the new tax laws prohibit deducting major purchase sales tax in 1987—there is added incentive for Americans to purchase luxury durable goods such as diamonds.

Characteristics known as the "Four C's" of diamonds give each polished diamond distinctive luxurious qualities:

CUT. The shape of the diamond (round, oval, emerald cut, heart, marquise, pear-shape) is a matter of personal taste. A fully cut diamond has 58 facets so carefully placed they maximize the "fire" in the stone.

CARAT. The weight of a

stone has a lot to do with its ultimate value. A carat is roughly equivalent to one-fifth of a gram.

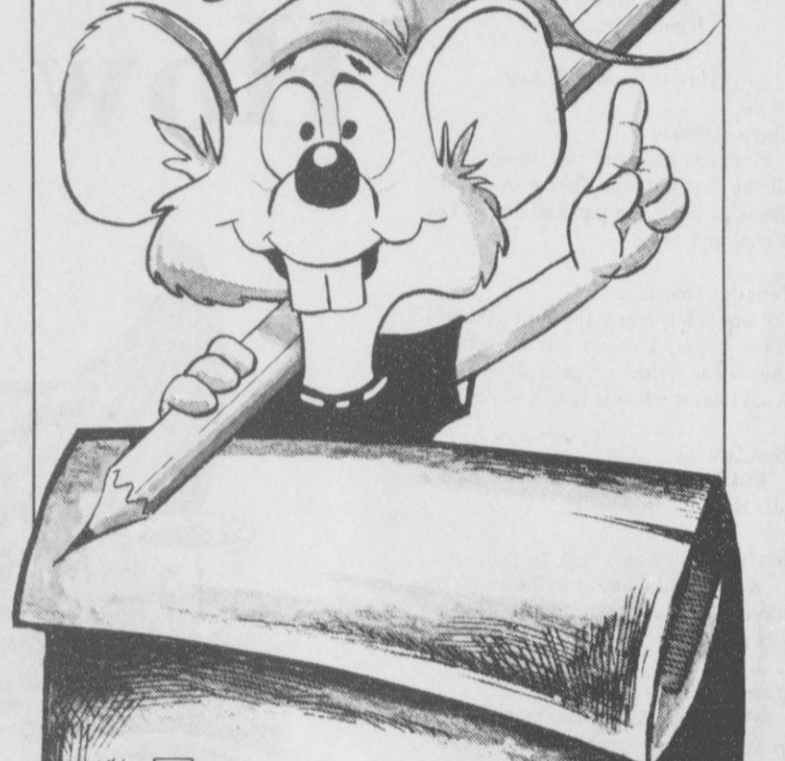

CLARITY. The imperfections in a stone can make the difference between a quality stone and a flawed one. The fewer the flaws, the better the diamond.

COLOR. Diamonds come in a variety of colors ranging from colorless to deep yellows. Extremely rare are shades of pink and deep blue.

Adornment, love, prestige, pride and the desire to have something that's one of a kind: these have been prime motives for buying, owning and giving diamonds for over 2,700 years. They are good reasons for choosing a fine diamond this year as well.

The American Diamond Industry Association represents cutters, importers, dealers and distributors in this country.

Check Safety To Make The Holidays Bright

- Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets.
- Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas.
- Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs.
- Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit.
- Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk.
- If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- Place your tree away from the fireplace or other heat sources and out of the traffic pattern.
- Never string lights on a metallic tree. Light strings with damaged insulation can electrically charge a metallic tree. Instead, shine unattached colored floodlights or spotlights on the tree.
- Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.
- Never use lighted candles on a tree or near evergreens. And don't burn evergreens in the fireplace.
- Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty.
- When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of electrical lines. Make sure you or your decorations don't come in contact with them.
- Should you receive a CB radio or television this Christmas, let a qualified serviceman install the CB base unit or television antenna for you. This delicate job is best left to the professionals.
- Be sure electrical toys are tested for safety. Look for the UL mark.

THE LOCATION IS APPROXIMATELY 2 1/2 MILES NORTH OF GRUVER ON TEXAS STATE HIGHWAY 136.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION IS CONTAINED IN THE PUBLIC NOTICE SECTION OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS

You are hereby notified of the opportunity to request a public hearing and/or submit written comment concerning construction permit applications No. C-17371 and No. PSD-TX-715 by Valley View Energy Corporation to construct its electrical generating station near Gruver, Hansford County, Texas. The proposed location is approximately 2 1/2 miles north of Gruver on Texas State Highway 136. The proposed facility will emit the following air contaminants in amounts significant enough to require a Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) permit review: sulfur dioxide (SO₂), nitrogen dioxides, carbon monoxide and particulate matter (PM). In addition, the proposed facility will emit: hydrogen chloride. No other pollutant emission increase will result from this facility.

The Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board (TACB) has determined that the proposed facility will not violate any state or federal air quality regulations and will not have any significant adverse impact on soils, vegetation or visibility. He, therefore, has made the preliminary determination to issue these permits.

The degree of PSD increment predicted to be consumed by the proposed facility and other increment consuming sources in the area is as follows:

	Averaging Time	Maximum Increment Consumed (ug/m ³)	Maximum Allowable Increment (ug/m ³)
SO ₂	3-hour	163.5	512

Interested parties may inspect these materials during regular business hours (8-5, M-F) and submit written comments and/or request for hearing to the Executive Director of the TACB. Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request a hearing from the TACB. Requests for hearing must be in writing and shall state the nature of the issues proposed to be raised in the hearing. Comments should be limited to the air pollution aspects of the proposed project and should not concern land use aspects which are beyond the jurisdiction of the TACB. All air pollution related comments received in writing by January 3, 1987 will be considered by the TACB in making its final decision on these applications. All comments will be available for public inspection at the TACB office in Austin.

REGULAR MEETING OF GRUVER CITY COMMISSION NOVEMBER 12, 1986

Outstanding Homemaker BARBARA STAVLO

Mrs. Paul Stavlo is actively involved in the betterment of home and family life and has exhibited outstanding qualities of devotion, trust, and leadership in the community by starting the C.A.P.P.'s, Citizens Against Poisonous Pollutants.

Barbara is the wife of Paul Stavlo who is an area farmer. They have two children, Sammie and Charlie. She is an active member of the Gruver P.T.A. She is Chairman of the Cultural Arts division of the P.T.A. board. As a member she can be involved with her children's education.

Barbara was one of many citizens who were concerned about A.N.R. dumping their waste in the upper portion of the county. Therefore, C.A.P.P. was formed. Barbara was elected president and was very outspoken in this role. Through these efforts, she established communication with many legislators. Barbara is now involved in giving talks about how to work with the legislators and against ideas that could be harmful to the children's future.

Barbara is a member of the Catholic Church and is involved in Bible School and Church dinners in the Oslo Luthern Church. She has taught a confirmation class in Spearman. Her other interests are bridge and china painting.

This year we salute Mrs. Paul Stavlo as Homemaker of the Year for her continued interest, time and support of home and community life, and for the belief that the home is truly our hope in a changing world.

26th ANNUAL HANSFORD SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Outstanding Conservation Farmer JAMES F. GREENE

Jimmy Greene owns or operates several thousand acres of land in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles.

In 1984 Jimmy requested technical assistance through the Hansford Soil and Water Conservation District from the Soil Conservation Service personnel at Spearman to correct some erosion and irrigation water management problems. A Great Plains Conservation Program contract, which provides assistance for installation of conservation practices, was then developed.

Under this program, a low efficiency surface irrigation system has been reorganized by installing 3,151 feet of underground irrigation pipeline and a center pivot sprinkler system.

To control erosion, 2,555 feet of level basin terraces and 2,352 feet of diversion terraces were installed. Approximately 4 acres of waterways were shaped and seeded to grass to serve as stable outlets for the diversions.

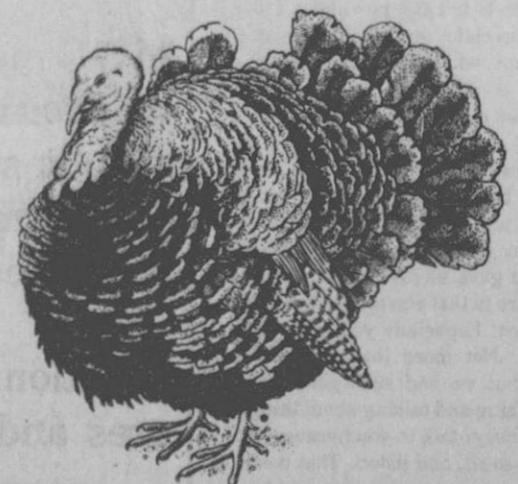

He seeded 108 acres of cropland back to permanent vegetative cover. About 60 acres of the Plains yellow bluestem which was seeded will be irrigated for hay production or grazing.

Jimmy, his wife Donetta, and their daughter Carla reside northeast of Spearman. They also have 4 other children: Lonita James of Childress, Debbie Schuman of Spearman, Sherry Thompson of Tulia and Dean who attends Odessa Junior College. They also have two grandchildren.

On the Go with Joy

At this time of year, we put more thought into being more thankful for the things God has blessed us with, but especially it is a time for families being together. Even though everyone can not be together at the same time, most of us try to be in contact with our families via telephone letters, cards etc.

When I.W. Ayres contacted me about this letter that his late wife Mary had written to her father on father's Day 1986, I decided it would be good to publish it for Thanksgiving instead of waiting until next June.

No matter what is going on in this world at this time, one thing we can always do is stop and give Thanks to God for our blessings.

Dear Dad,

Fathers Day, June 16, 1986
 Instead of sending the usual card, I would like to tell you how much I love and appreciate you from my own heart, not what someone else has written.

First let me thank you for being a real Dad to me. You know when we were growing up we didn't have much money, but we were never really hungry, and always had clothes to wear, but what some people had like that, you gave us love, and made us feel secure in that you loved each of us very much. Especially you seemed to love me. Not more than the others maybe, but we had such good times going fishing and talking about things. I could always talk to you because you had time to sit, and listen. That meant so much to me.

Then you taught me about God, and helped me to put Him in the right place in my life. I know so many people who have never had this opportunity. I remember as a little girl when I was sick, you would walk the floor and carry me. You always made me feel happy because you never complained any, and helped me to always see the bright side of life. You worked so hard at every thing you did, and although you had a share of lifes sorrows, the way you carried them so bravely will always be an inspiration and encourage me to try the same when sorrows come my way. So what more could a daughter say to a great Dad who loves me so very much, and love me so much which money can't buy.

May this letter help you to know how much you mean to me on this Fathers Day.

All my love your daughter Mary Ayres

Alpha Mu Psi

Kelly Armes was hostess for the Alpha Mu Psi Meeting on November 18. Kelly also gave a program of cross-stitching on sweatshirts. The meeting began with the news of Phyllis Hoel taking a leave of absence. We then discussed the upcoming Pheasant Hunters Breakfast. This year it's scheduled for Dec. 13. After refreshments, Cindi Ferguson was the winner of the hostess gift. A warm welcome goes to our special guests; Brock Irwin and Laina Grotegut. Members present; Melanie Zimmer, Teresa Weldon, Amy TeBeest, Jean Prouty, Nancy Morris, Marsha Lowe, Nancy Koons, Jody Irwin, Kelly Hart, Pam Harris, Ginny Grotegut, Angela Grotegut, Debbie Breland, Tracy Beville, and Kelly Armes.

Members of Alpha Mu Psi and their spouses met in the home of David and Kelly Armes for the Annual Fall Social. Supper was served as a "Mexican Pile Up", with everyone piling it how they liked it. Afterwards, we all retired downstairs for an action packed round of "Bunko". Prizes were awarded to Gail Etheredge, Cynthia Henson, Debbie Breland, Mike Yanke, David Grotegut, and Clint Irwin. Next, it was back upstairs for the revealing "Newlywed Game" Tommy and Cynthia Henson were our grand prize winners.

A special thanks to Kelly Armes, our hostess and Nancy Koons, our Social Coordinator.
 Couples present were Mr. and Mrs. David Armes, Steve Beville, Gregg Breland, Ray Etheredge, Mike Grotegut, David Grotegut, Pat Harris, Brand Hart, Tommy Henson, Clint Erwin, Lyle Koons, Mike Yanke, and Teresa Weldon.

Timesavers for Holiday Parties

When it comes to parties an increasing number of people like to put it on paper; they're finding paper partyware can add a special touch - its own elegance - to holiday entertaining.

The many designs in disposable paper partyware will add a special touch to your holiday entertaining.

Paper plates, cups and plasticware are more than a fashionable timesaver during the busy holiday season. Many people are using disposable partyware when they entertain to avoid having to drag out fragile china or spend time doing dishes when they could be entertaining their guests. The partyware is often sold in sets with decorations and styles that range from cute to sophisticated, humorous to traditional.

Many special designs are available for the holiday season from American Greetings Partyware. For example, silly dancing reindeer can delight your gathering while sophisticated red and green solids set a stylish tone. And traditional Santa and poinsettia looks complement the offerings.

Whatever theme you choose, it's likely that at the end of the evening you'll count the blessings of having no dishes to do!

Lady Hounds take Stratford Tournament

Hounds Sweep Follett

The Gruver Greyhounds participated in the Stratford Tournament, November 21-22. The Lady Hounds brought home the first place trophy by defeating Dalhart 51-46 and River Road 47-32. Two players, Anne Potts and Cissy Smith were presented plaques for their efforts which placed them on the girls All-Tournament Team.

The Hounds placed Clay Smith on the Boys All-Tournament Team. They dropped a game to a tough Dalhart Team and lost a thriller in overtime to River Road 59-63 taking fourth place in the Tournament.

The Gruver Greyhounds traveled to Follett Monday, November 24. They came away with two varsity wins plus a victory by the junior varsity boys. The Hounds jumped off to an early lead 10-0 and held on to a halftime lead of six points. The second half was all Hounds as they pulled away to a 64-49 win. Gruver scoring was led by Clay

Smith with 18 points and Brian Hoel's 16 points. Gary Murry and Steve Duncan also chipped in 8 points a piece. The team shot 64% from the free throw line.

According to Coach Blackshear, this win was sweet revenge for the "shot at the buzzer" loss to Follett, November 19.

Farm and ranch and agri-business women can display their fashion and sewing skills at the Natural Fibers Fashion Showcase to be held at the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition in Fort Worth on February 28, 1987. The showcase demonstrates what beautiful finished products come from cotton, wool and mohair—all Texas agricultural commodities, says Hansford County Home Economist, Karen Babitzke. The entrants will compete for first, second and third place awards in four divisions: custom sewn garments, knitted and crocheted garments, coordinated mother and child ensembles, and former grand award winners. Each garment entered in the show must be made of a minimum blend of 50% cotton or 50% wool and/or mohair, says the home economist. Contestants must be 18 years or older, and actively involved in farming, ranching or agri-business; or be a member (or member's spouse) of an

Shriners burns hospital first-rate

By Jim Hudson
Perryton Herald

RECOVERING PATIENT - Twenty-five month old Andrew Howell of Borger is recovering from burns to his thighs and feet. His mother, Michelle, stayed with him during his treatment at the Shriners Burn Institute. The child was injured when a pot of boiling water spilled on his lower legs and feet.

(Editors note: This is the second and final part of a series of articles about the work that Perryton's Wheatheart Shriners do for the crippled and burned children of the area. By raising money through dues and special events the Wheatheart Shriners support a network of 21 hospitals across the United States. This is the story of one of those hospitals, The Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children-Burns Institute Galveston.)

"This facility is not just a hospital," said Chief of Staff, Dr. David Herdon. "This is a twenty-four hour a day intensive care facility."

That description demonstrates the special care that children receive at the Shriners Burns Institute in Galveston. The hospital is recognized as the lead facility for the treatment of burns of children in the world. The thirty bed hospital is staffed by over 250 professionals that specialize in the emergency treatment of burns, reconstructive surgery and burn research.

"One of the things that we are proud of at this hospital is that there is not a cash register in the facility," said Administrator Dr. Nick Wilson. "Everything that we do here is at no cost to the parents. We don't accept government funding, except for research, or insurance payments. We are funded totally by the Shriners of North America."

Over the twenty years the hospital has been in operation, over 125 children from the Panhandle area have been treated by the facility. In all over 25,000 children have been patients of the hospital.

Functionally the hospital is divided into three parts. The first is the acute care unit. This group treats the child as soon as possible after the injury occurs. The second phase of the hospital is reconstructive surgery to repair the damage to the child the burns caused. The third phase of the hospitals function is to do research into the best way to treat burn victims.

"The most important time in the treatment of a burn victim is the first 24 to 48 hours after the injury has occurred," said Dr. Herdon. "If we can get the victim to our hospital within that time period their chances for survival are excellent. This is true even with patients that are burned over more than 90 percent of their body."

According to Dr. Herdon the latest technique in the treatment of burn patients is to totally remove all the skin that was injured. Then either cadaver skin or artificial skin is used to cover those areas until enough of the patients own skin can be transplanted to the wound.

"Eventually the artificial or cadaver skin is rejected by the patient," said Dr. Herdon. "A small area of undamaged skin of the patient can be harvested many times to provide transplant skin." The undamaged skin is removed and expanded to cover an area fifty times as large as the original skin area.

"Unlike the heart or liver, skin replaces itself over time," continued Dr. Herdon. "We can return to the original site within five to ten days and remove another section of skin for transplanting."

The victims of burns also suffer other complications. "A child that is badly burned has its entire body thrown into shock. Massive amounts of adrenaline are released into the blood stream. There is a tremendous amount of water that escapes from the body as a result of the burn."

Large amounts of food and water are needed to help the child recover from the trauma associated with the burn. "As much as three times the normal calorie intake is needed by the child," Dr. Herdon said.

After the child has recovered from the initial shock of the burn injury, reconstructive and plastic surgery is begun. The skilled doctors of the hospital have reconstructed noses, ears and fingers of patients that have lost those appendages in fires.

Along with the reconstructive surgery, the hospital provides physiological counselling to both the children and their parents. "Most of our former patients are living normal lives," said Dr. Herdon. "They have jobs, families, hobbies and are socially adjusted. It is society that needs to redirect its expectations of individuals. Physical appearance shouldn't be the only way a person is judged by society."

One of Dr. Herdon's goals is to educate parents about the causes of burns in children. "We see a large number of burn injuries that can be prevented through common sense," said Dr. Herdon. The leading cause of burns in small children is scalding by hot liquids. The child pulls a boiling pot off the stove or a hot cup of coffee off the table.

Another cause of burns is hot water heaters that are set above the 180 degree scald threshold. "A number of burns in small children could be avoided if the parents turned the water heaters down to 140 degrees," advised Dr. Herdon.

A surprising large number of burns in children are caused by child abuse. Twenty-five percent of the cases at the hospital are confirmed cases of abuse and an additional twenty percent are suspicious in nature.

Research is a large part of the function of the hospital. "Over the past five years we have made tremendous strides in the treatment of large burns in children. Because of our reputation we have patients that no other hospitals will treat. Children that are burned over 98 percent of their bodies come here for treatment."

A Healthy Community

When 11-year-old Bobby Rouse broke his only pair of glasses, his family couldn't really afford a new pair. In addition, the glasses provided little relief for Bobby's wandering eye condition.

The local Lions Club not only promised help, but provided Bobby with contact lenses, giving him 20/20 vision for the first time.

This kind of concern is not severely burned children. In the last five years they have treated 739 children that were burned over more than 50 percent of their bodies. Of those children all but three have survived.

The hospital has developed a number of advances in the treatment of severe burns. Artificial skin was perfected by the hospital. A special type of bed that prevents bedsores was also invented by the hospital's researchers.

In addition to the services that are available to the patients, the Shriners also look to the needs of the parents. Apartments are made available to the parents that stay with their children in Galveston. Transportation to the hospital is provided and a meal allowance is available if needed. All of this is at no charge to the parents.

Over $9 million is spent by the Shriners Burn Hospital in Galveston each year. "If some of our patients were in private care," estimated Dr. Wilson, "the cost of the acute care, plastic surgery, physiological counselling and housing would be in excess of $500,000 for that patient." The Shriners, through their dues and contributions, fund the hospital.

The cost to transport a patient to Galveston is also a manor expense. An Air Evac or MediVac airplane flight from Amarillo to Galveston can cost as much as $2,500. Last year the Wheatheart Shriners spent over $28,000 transporting children to the Shriners hospitals. "This is tough emotional work," said Dr. Herdon, "but, it is all worth it when one of the children walks out of the hospital."

Advice issued to hunters

With hunting season in mid-swing, Game Ranger James Wilson has issued a few safety and legal reminders to marksmen and archers.

"A license is required to hunt, and it will be enforced," Wilson said. "Some hunters may be confused by the fact that there used to be exemption for hunting within the county you live."

"The other exemption was for age," Wilson said. "Now, the license is less expensive for those over 65 and under 17 years of age."

The special resident hunting license, at $6, is good anywhere in Texas. The regular hunting license is $10, and is required of all Texas residents who hunt any wild bird or animal. Lifetime resident hunting licenses are available for $300. All hunting and fishing resident and non-resident licenses are available.

There are no changes in restrictions on hunting weapons, Wilson said. Still in effect is the requirement that all shotguns used to hunt any migratory bird be plugged to allow for three or less shells. Manufactured plugs are not required, Wilson said. "I just use a pencil."

Plugs are not required when hunting pheasant, quail and turkey, but are required for dove, duck, geese and crane hunting.

"Most of the crane are sandhill, but some whooping crane pass through, and we don't want any of those shot," Wilson warned. "There's only a little over a hundred left in existence. They sometimes fly with the sandhill."

"We are always concerned with the problem of random poaching," Wilson said. "Some years ago, hawks got into the chickens, but I only know two farmers in the county who are even raising chickens anymore. The good hawks and eagles do far exceeds the harm."

Even the vulture is protected under federal and state law, Wilson said, because of their potential for good. "For instance, if a cat dies of some contagious chronic disease, birds of prey will eat the carcass and pass off the remains, killing the disease," Wilson explained.

"I get so exasperated with people who see some unique and shoot it. If it's unique, the last thing you should want to do is shoot it. Careless, indiscriminate destruction is disgusting to me," Wilson said.

"The fact that it is illegal (to shoot a protected species) is a secondary problem to me. Destroying something beautiful is worse. My best advice is to stay with the species you are hunting. Don't shoot at hawks while you are going after pheasant," Wilson counseled.

Wilson implored hunters not to engage in wild shooting. "Every year we have the problem of livestock and equipment being shot."

"Road hunting is still illegal including the bar ditches. The only legal hunting is on private property with the owner's permission," Wilson said.

The fine for any single game violation, a Class C misdemeanor, ranges from $25 to $200 plus court costs. A civil reimbursement penalty may also be assessed hunters, Wilson said, of up to $800 on some rare muledeer bucks.

Wilson has some good news for hunters. "The pheasant population up; it's substantially better than previous in years."

Gun Show success

The Gun Show held at the Museum on November 8th was a huge success. The public really responded. There were between 75 and 80 guns of various kinds and descriptions on display. Besides the guns, a lighted revolving case showed hundreds of different shells. You had to see it to appreciate all the time and research that went into this display.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the drawing for the beautiful Sesquicentennial Carbine/Rifle (described throughout the year) revealed Richard Melton was the winner. Omar Cotter won the sheet of Sesquicentennial Stamps and W.E. Sparks received the Sesquicentennial package of pasta.

The Stationmaster's House Museum Board members wish to convey their thanks and appreciation to the participants as well as the general public for their support in purchasing tickets for the drawing. From a financial standpoint, it too was a success. Thank You.

One good New Year's resolution many people will make this year will be to give up smoking. That resolution may be easier to keep with the help of a product called Nicorette, a nicotine-containing chewing gum. Available only by prescription, it can help the body get over its craving for nicotine while breaking the habit of handling, lighting and smoking cigarettes. Ask your physician for more information. It could help you stay smoke-free in 1987.

Handel's "Messiah" to be performed in Perryton

G.F. Handel's masterpiece, "The Messiah," will be performed Sunday, December 7, 3:00 p.m. in the Perryton High School auditorium, with Cloy Webb directing.

"The Messiah," performed more than 25 years in Perryton, will feature 20 members of the Amarillo Symphony, more than 100 members of the chorus from the tri-state area, and soloists who come from a large area including Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

The Perryton production was started in the Methodist Church in Perryton more than 25 years ago under the direction of Lawrence Elzey and was moved to the high school auditorium 5 years ago. It is funded by the Hotel-Motel tax and local donations.

John Elzey, chairman of the planning committee, notes that the Perryton production is unique.

"I don't know of another town the size of Perryton that has attempted such a production. You would have to go to Amarillo or Oklahoma City to find anything to compare with it.

"We're fortunate to have so many talented people in our area, and we welcome singers from neighboring communities to join us in an unforgettable experience."

Singers from area towns are invited to participate in the production. Practices will be held on Thursday, November 20th, and on December 4 at 7:00 p.m. in the Perryton High School choir room.

The public is invited to the performance Sunday, December 7, at 3:00 p.m. There is no admission charge.
