

Arrived back home safe and sound from a few days visit with relatives in Nebraska and Iowa. Am about to give up the idea of ever going north again and coming back without finding some disheartening news.

On our last visit away from home we found we had had an uninvited guest and things were almost flooded away by a broken commode. This time Earl Morrison and Clayton Ham informs us we lost out on $100.00 by not being present at the show. Like I've said before — You can't win for losing.

We've been told we're expected to have big headlines next week reporting lots of rain. . . . bring it on, we're all ready.

B E H

Richard Farnsworth, president of the Texas Council of Churches, is asking that all Texans set aside several moments each day throughout the month of August to pray for rain. The Council has its headquarters in Austin and represents eleven Protestant denominations and one million church members.

It is hoped that members of all faiths would take time each day during August to offer petitions for rain and that churches might plan for special prayer services during the month.

The following is a prayer that is taken from the Book of Common Prayer:

"Almighty God, Lord of heaven and earth; we beseech thee to pour forth thy blessing upon this land, and to give us a fruitful season; that we, constantly receiving thy bounty, may evermore give thanks unto thee in thy holy Church, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mrs. Rucker, pleased to be sponsored for the title by her extension club, was also a bit reluctant at competing against her friends and neighbors in the county.

But for the district title, she feels no reluctance and is hoping she can be named the winner.

Gap in Insulation Leaks Heated Air Like Hole in Tire

Many home-owners will pay unnecessarily high fuel bills this winter because gaps in the insulation barrier protecting their homes will allow heat to escape like air from a punctured tire. A continuous blanket of insulation must be tucked in all around.
Sometimes an out-of-the-way place such as the floor above an unheated garage, the wall separating the garage from the house itself, or the roof over an exposed porch may be overlooked when a house is insulated. If so, an insulation contractor can blow mineral wool into these areas without damaging the home.
Attics can be completely insulated in the do-it-yourself tradition. Mineral wool batts or blankets are stapled between roof rafters and collar joists, but the result won't be completely satisfactory if knee walls, gable-end walls, the cheeks and ceilings of dormer windows, or other areas are left bare of insulation. A building material dealer can advise whether batts, blankets, or loose mineral wool can best be used.

Gutters, Roof Main Points In Check-Up

Once upon a time, it was pretty simple to waterproof the ordinary house.

Leaves, cornstalks, or manure were piled against the foundation to keep the wind from getting under the floor. Then, the family boarded up all rooms but the three or four that were easiest to heat.

Today, waterproofing is much more complicated.

Builders say the best place to start waterproofing is the roof. A flashlight check of the underside of the roof deck most times will disclose any tell-tale leak spot. One leak often foretells additional difficulty. Different parts of the roof wear out at about the same rate, so a re-roofing job is probably the only remedy for a leak in an old roof. Asphalt roofing is a many-year investment. It is easy to have done while the weather is warm.

In older houses, air leaks around the door and window frames are worth checking. Calking is an antidote for this. The cornices are another trouble spot where caulking can help. Driving winter storms often force water into cornice cracks, causing paint failures and wallpaper stains. In wooded areas, fallen leaves present a gutter problem. A clogged gutter, a heavy snowfall, and a fast thaw are likely to cause water back-up. That can mean trouble.

Windows and doors need to be weatherstripped to prevent air leakage. New ponderosa pine window units, assembled at the factory, come completely weatherstripped. Mineral wool insulation, three inches in the wall and four inches in the ceiling, is essential to economical heating.

Build Schools Children Like, Architect Says

"We're learning to put up school buildings for the children, not for the school board."

That optimistic observation on school design comes from Ben John Small, partner in LaPierre, Litchfield & Partners, a New York architectural firm with considerable experience in school work.

"The whole purpose of a school building should be to make it easier for children to learn, and that is largely a fortress of learning, or a monument to the school board, is being replaced."

"Institutionalized school buildings are too abrupt change from the child's home. They form a cold environment for the child and are an obstacle to learning."

Mr. Small says that in its meaning to a child a school building should provide a "gentle transition" between home life and school life. He says that the school should be designed to spread out "campus style," with a number of one- and two-story units that fit into a residential community, rather than one large, ponderous building that doesn't fit.

A school building should be akin to the home in detail as well as in architectural form, the architect believes. For instance, he specifies wood windows "for wood is in tune with the domestic character we want. Carried into the school, it adds to familiarity and ease of adjustment to the environment for learning. From an architectural standpoint, the narrow sash and frame members of ponderosa pine window units satisfy modern design objectives."

The small units of a campus-style school contribute to proper lighting and acoustics. Mr. Small points out. He explains that by breaking the school up into individual buildings, classroom units, labs, auditorium, lunchroom, faculty rooms, gymnasium, and offices, the architect can situate each unit so that it gets natural light.

Noisy areas such as the gym, can be kept distant from classrooms.

Another advantage of smaller buildings, he says, is that in case of fire or other emergency pupils can be evacuated more quickly.

Mr and Mrs Charlie Caripbell of Cotton Valley, Louisiana, arrived last Thursday for a weeks visit at the home of her brother, Mr and Mrs S. T. Bogan. They left Wednesday to return home.

Mr and Mrs Claude Chandler and family of Dallas were here for a weekend visit with his parents, Mr and Mrs Gene Chandler.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2 proposing an amendment to Section 49-b, Article III of the Constitution of Texas, to change the membership of the Veterans' Land Board, and authorizing the Legislature to provide for trial and commitment of persons of unsound mind by jury where the person under inquiry has not been charged with commission of a criminal offense.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 49-b, Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so that the same will hereafter read as follows:

"Section 49-b. There is hereby created a board to be known as the Veterans' Land Board, which shall be composed of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and two citizens of the State who shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Governor shall biennially appoint one such member to serve for a term of four years, and the Senate shall biennially appoint one such member to serve for a term of two years, and four years, respectively, and all subsequent appointments to be according to provisions of this section. One such appointive member shall be well versed in veterans' affairs and the other such appointive member shall be well versed in finances. The Commissioner of the General Land Office shall act as Chairman of the Board and shall be the administrator of the Veterans' Land Program under such terms and restrictions as may be now or hereafter provided by law. The compensation for said appointive members shall be as fixed by the Legislature, and each shall make bond in such amount as may be prescribed by the Legislature. The Veterans' Land Board may issue not to exceed Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000) in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as the Veterans' Land Fund. Such bonds shall be executed by said Board as an obligation of the State of Texas, in such amount as may be prescribed by law, hereafter to be provided by law, and upon the terms as are now provided by law or as may hereafter be provided by law, and shall bear a rate of interest not to exceed three percent (3%) per annum, and that the same shall be sold for not less than par value and accrued interest.

In the sale of any such bonds, a preference shall be given to the administrators of the various Teacher Retirement Funds, the Permanent University Funds, and the Permanent School Funds; such bonds to be issued as needed, in the opinion of the Veterans' Land Board.

"The Veterans' Land Fund shall be used by the Board for the sole purpose of purchasing lands suitable for the purpose hereinafter stated, situated in this State (a) owned by the United States, or any governmental agency thereof; (b) owned by the Texas Prison System, or any other governmental agency of the State of Texas; or (c) owned by any person, firm, or corporation. Provided, however, the portion of the Veterans' Land Fund not immediately committed for the purchase of lands may be invested in short term United States bonds or obligations until such funds are needed for the purchase of lands. The interest accruing thereon shall become a part of the Veterans' Land Fund.

"All lands thus purchased shall be acquired at the lowest price obtainable, and be paid for in cash, and shall be a part of the Veterans' Land Fund.

"The lands of the Veterans' Land Fund shall be sold by the State to Texas veterans of the present war or wars, commonly known as World War II, and to Texas veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945, as may be included within this program by legislative Act, in such quantities, and on such terms, and at such prices and rates of interest, and under such rules and regulations as are now provided by law, or as may hereafter be provided by law.

"All monies received and which have been received under the Constitution of Texas at the election held on November 13, 1951, and which have not been used for purchase of land as provided herein by the Veterans' Land Board from the sale of lands and for interest on deferred payments, shall be credited to the Veterans' Land Fund for use in purchasing additional lands to be sold to Texas veterans of World War II, and to Texas veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945, as may be included within this program by legislative Act. In like manner as provided herein, the proceeds from the sales of the bonds, provided for herein, for a period ending December 31, 1955, to pay the principal and interest on the bonds heretofore issued and on bonds hereafter issued by the Veterans' Land Board, shall be set aside for that purpose. After December 31, 1955, all monies received by the Veterans' Land Board from the sale of the lands and interest on deferred payments, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be set aside for the retirement of the bonds heretofore issued and to pay interest thereon, and any such monies not so needed shall not be deposited to the credit of the General Revenue Fund to be appropriated to such purposes as may be prescribed by law.

"This amendment shall be effective on and after January 1, 1957.

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the general election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1956, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the Amendment to Section 49-b of Article III of the Constitution of Texas to change the membership of the Veterans' Land Board, increasing the Veterans' Land Fund by $100,000,000; said fund to be used for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas veterans of World War II and to Texas veterans of service in the Armed Forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945. Such funds shall be expended in accordance with instructions and requirements that may be provided by law."

"AGAINST the Amendment to Section 49-b of Article III of the Constitution of Texas to change the membership of the Veterans' Land Board, increasing the Veterans' Land Fund by $100,000,000; said fund to be used for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas veterans of World War II and to Texas veterans of service in the Armed Forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945. Such funds shall be expended in accordance with instructions and requirements that may be provided by law."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the voters cast were in favor of said amendment, it shall become a part of the State Constitution and be effective from the date set forth in said amendment, and the Governor shall issue a proclamation in keeping therewith.

Sec. 3. Should the Legislature pass legislation with regard to this amendment prior to its adoption, it shall not be invalid because of its anticipatory nature.

Sec. 4. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Aircraft Engineering Improves Floor Furnaces

Some of the lessons learned by aircraft engineers are turning up in an unlikely place—the familiar floor furnace, which scientific airflow design has helped convert into an efficient modern heating appliance.

The way a floor furnace functions is that air at room temperature flows down into the furnace through a "cool air chamber," then turns a sharp corner and comes up through a "warm air chamber." On its way up, it passes over a heated metal surface, where it is warmed before it flows out into the room.

These passageways now have been streamlined, according to the Coleman Company, a manufacturer. Air movement across a curved, streamlined surface is much smoother than across an angular surface. This principle is as true for a floor furnace as for the fuselage of a jet plane.

Rounding the bottom of the floor furnace to do away with all sharp angles has increased the flow of warm air as much as 35 percent.

A floor furnace fits under the floor in a house, where it is concealed except for the register at floor level. A dual-wall model fits under a wall, with a register on each side of the wall for direct distribution of heat into two rooms.

Floor furnaces are made to burn either gas or oil. Heat output can be controlled by manual regulation of the burner or by automatic controls that operate from a wall thermostat.

One floor furnace will comfortably heat a small home. Larger homes require two or more units. A multiple installation gives zone heating, in which one area of the house can be kept at a different temperature from other areas. For instance, bedrooms that are little used during the day can be kept at a lower temperature than the living area. This conserves fuel.
