TIRED, DRAGGY WORN-OUT

Texas Lady Thus Describes Condition She Was In. Then Tells How Cardui Relieved Her.

West, Texas-Mrs. J. A. Hunter, of this place, recently made the following statement: "I have known of Cardul for years-when a girk my mother gave it to me to stop pains...and it certainly did me a great deal of good.

After marriage I was in a run-down state of health and nervous, not at all like my usual self...so much so that I had to go to bed. I began taking Cardul...soon I was strong, able to do my work, even my washing.

I have been well since ... and I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so ... Whenever I over-work and feel tired, draggy, worn-out, I take a few doses of Cardui. It strengthens me, gives me an appetite, seems to strengthen my back, and I soon feel like going to work again.

I think all women should keep and use Cardul. It is splendid."

If you are suffering from any of the symptoms Mrs. Hunter mentions, try Cardui, the woman's tonic.

In use for over 40 years, Cardul has helped thousands of women.

Cardui is composed of mild, medicinal, vegetable ingredients, acknowledged by standard medical writers to be of benefit in many female disorders.

FANCY CORNICE MAKES BUNGALOW

Distinguishing Feature of Every Good Design.

HOW TO BUILD IT EASILY

Very Attractive Bungalow Illustrated, With Simple Directions as to Material and Labor Necessary to Construct It.

One distinguishing feature of the

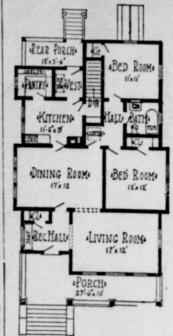

One distinguishing feature of the modern bungalow is the wide over-hanging eaves with exposed rafter ends and heavy verge boards and brackets in the gables. This is such a radical departure from the ordinary cornice construction that the builder who has had but little experience in bungalow building may be at a disadvantage when it comes to doing good and fast work.

The material for the verge boards should be of good quality, free from sharp lateral bends and the top and bottom edges should be straight. The board is framed completely on the ground. The length of the board is equal to the length of the gable rafter plus the amount of projection at the side. Determine the position of the brackets and cut the notches for them; work the lower end to the shape required and nail on the molding that goes up under the shingles and is used to hide the ends of the ceilings. This It is built gable end to the street, and molding should extend above the the roof extends over in front to cover board a distance equal to the thick-ness of the ceiling. The exposed rafter ends are usually made from two by six stock, about six feet long 22d nearly always sawed to a fancy pattern. Before the rafter ends are put in place the roof should be framed completely; all the roof boards, from about eighteen inches above the plate, should be on and all the collar beams and other supports in place. The rafters should be well supported, as any sagging after the

The completed boards are now fitted in their proper place in the gable, tight up against the sheathing and fastened temporarily. The boards should be from one-quarter to one-half an inch high to compensate the shrinkage of the board and the settling of the brackets. The brackets are now placed in their notches and securely fastened by nalling through the sheathing from the inside. When all the brackets are here in place the verge boards are moved cept out to their proper place and nailed

The frieze is now placed and the bed molding fitted and tacked to it. As the celling progresses up the gable the bed Lolding can be nailed solid. When slringles are used in the gable the frieze is not placed until the Bell county school children still shingles are all on. This makes a maintain the lead over all other counthe shingles against the frieze. This method is sometimes used with lap and rustic siding.

To secure greater strength when the cornice is wide and the verge boards heavy, the top member of the bracket extended through the sheathing and nailed to a header, or a bolt is used. Toenailing the board to the bracket does not give a very strong connection, and as an added precau tion in windy localities a piece of band In this case the brace member of the bracket should be

When it is necessary to splice s verge board make a square cut above the center of a bracket and nail a piece of galvanized iron over the joint on the inside. Do the same to the joint at the top. If a piece of iron is not handy use a piece of three-quarter-inch board. It won't show if kept a little distance above the edge of the verge board.

With wide boards, especially if they are a little green, it is very hard to a joint at the peak that will stay tight. To overcome that diffi-culty a piece is nailed over the joint. It should be a little thicker at the top than the thickness of the molding and taper as shown.

In localities where it is difficult to get verge boards of the proper size and length they can be built up of three-quarter-inch boards. This makes a verge board lighter and better than if solid. Put no cleat near the top, but after the boards are in place put in a plece extending six or eight inches on each side of the joint. In seiling up the gable cornice from one-pattern for all the other ones of the stone wall up to the surface of the ground and the usual framework for the superstructure. The main floor is set up well above the ground by ele vating the joists several feet above the top of the cellar wall. The upper part of the basement above the wall is boarded with sheathing, and then a course of building paper, then the outside heavy boarding.

A break is made on a level with the floor joists and the structure from here up to the plates is similar, except that shingles are used for weather covering for the sides of the house proper, as well as on the roof.

The gables are distinguished by a panel finish of stucco over metal lata.

The cornice is wide and the gable projection is given a heavy appearance by using an extra deep fascia, supported by brackets. With an over-hang as wide as this such support is necessary to prevent sagging.

The floor plan of this interesting little bungalow shows three rooms, two bedrooms and a bathroom. with a good pantry and a few extras, such as reception hall, with a good coat closet and a splendid pantry rear vestibule, which affords consider able additional storage.

The one permanent objection to a bungatow, the stock in trade of all objectors, is lack of closet room. This plan overcomes the difficulty on the main floor without resorting to special cupboards in the basem in the rear hall, so that some use may be made of the attic for storage pur poses if necessary.

There is a good cellarway going down from the kitchen, which also has a good storage cupboard to the right of the door as you enter from the kitchen.

There is a back entrance to the cellar which is covered with a sloping door for shedding rain, and which protects the outside concrete steps. ally it pays to add a little extra expense to a cellar under a bungalow because more use is made of a bungalow cellar than a similar cellar under a two-story house. An outside cellar way is a great convenience on wash days and when tending the furnace. It is a good ventilator at all times, because any of the different doors may be left partly open to admit much or little air as needed according to weather conditions.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis Zi:18-29.
GOLDEN TEXT—Speak every man truth with his neighbor.—Ephesians 4:26.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Ephesians
4:26-22. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Genesis 27: 1-45; Proverbs 12:17-30; Zechariah 8:16-17; Acts 5:1-11.

I. Isaac's Purpose Regarding the Birthright (27:1-4).

The infirmity of old age reminded Isaac that he should set his house in The particular matter needing attention was the determination as to who should be the head of the house when he was gone. As to whether Isnae knew what God had told Rebekah concerning Jacob's priority we are not told (Gen. 25:23), but it is evident that he lacked spiritual discernment, being under the sway of his appetite. Even though he was ignorant God's plan as revealed to Rebekah, Esau's action in marrying heathen women (Gen. 26; 34, 35), ought to have convinced Isaac that Esau was unfit to be the head of the house which was in line of the covenant blessing. II. Rebekah's Scheme to Frustrate Isaac's Plan (vv. 5-17).

Having heard Isaac's instructions to Esau, she took steps to divert the fa-ther's blessing from Esau to Jacob. She knew it was God's will that Jacob should have the birthright, but had no scruples as to what method should be used in its accomplishment.

1. Rebekah's instructions to Jacob (vv. 5-10).

She sent Jacob to bring two kids from the goats, promising that she would make savory meat, such as Isaac loved. She knew that Isaac's weak spot was his stomach.

2. Jacob's hesitancy (vv. 11-17). He foresaw the difficulty and danger which confronted him. His hesitancy was not because he had conscientio scruples against doing the deed, but was afraid of being found out. Some have a desire to do evil, but refrain from it because they are afraid of be ing caught. Rebekah undertakes to the curse that may come, so places into his hands the food. III. Jacob Deceives Esau (vv. 18-29). 1. Interview between Isaac and Jacob (vv. 18-25).

Jacob's scruples are set uside. She clothes him with Esau's raiment, and

The quickness with which the savory meat was brought, aroused suspicion in the mind of Isaac. In order to allay that suspicion Jacob deliberately lied. He not only lied, but blasphemed the name of God in declaring that his success was due to the help of Jehovah. This lie is again repeated when Isaac questions him further. One lie calls for another. Having started on the road of deception he was obliged to lie in order to cover up his deceit.

2. The paternal blessing (vv. 26-29). It embodied the following particulars: (1) A fertile soil and abundant products (v. 28). Man is dependent upon God for the fruitage of the soil. Few stop to consider their obligation to him for temporal blessings. National pre-eminence (v. 29). (2) was to give him a numerous and powerful offspring. This has in a large measure been fulfilled, but in a still larger measure it remains to be fullarger measure it remains to be fulfilled. (3) Pre-eminence among his kindred (v. 29). "The elder shall serve the younger." (4) The object of God's especial care (v. 29). Being God's choice, God obligates himself to care for hir. Those who would misuse Jacob would suffer; those who would favor Jacob would be favored. Those who are chosen of God enjoy his special care, and woe be to him who would dare to molest them. included temporal and spiritual blessings. Happy is he who enjoys the friendship of God.

Scarcely had Isaac ceased bless Jacob till Esau came for the blessing The secret was now out. Lying and deceit cannot long be hid. In the face of what had been done, Isaac shakes with fear. No doubt this is due to the manifest presence of Jehovah. gives forth a terrible wail. shedding bitter tears of disappoint ment, he rages with passion and plans to murder Jacob after Isaac's death This is a most bitter experience for Esau, but he is merely reaping what he sowed. For a brief indulgence of his flesh he sold his birthright. May Esau's foliy warn us of choosing flesh-ly indulgence rather than spiritual blessings. Whenever one turns from the love of God to the gratification of orldly lusts, he is guilty of Esau's profanity.

IV. Esau's Remorse (vv. 30-38).

Only those who are lifted up from the earth draw men unto them. The world is possessed by those who are not possessed by it. The momentum of love is the source of power.—Francis G. Peabody.

Roosevelt thought it dead wrong for President Wilson to appeal to the country to elect a Democratic Congress, but he thought it all right for McKinley to make the same plea for a Republican Congress during Spanish-American war. The trouble with Roosevelt is that he thinks the country will go to hades if he is not again put at the head of the government. The chances are that his ambition will never again be gratified in that line Roosevelt is too empetuous and not a safe man for president in the perilous times to come in the next few years.

RESOLUTIONS.

On May 31st, 1918, death enter ed the home of Archie Ledbetter at Paducah, Texas and took from his home his wife, Sister Mattie Ledbetter. Sister Ledbetter was a member of Admiral Baptist Church of Admiral, Texas. She was born in the year of 1872; her age at death was 44 years, 3 months and 18 days. She accepted Christ at the age of 14 years; joined the Sardis Baptist Church, in Ettawah county, Ala,, at the age of 15. She was married to Archie Ledbetter Nov. 18th, 1895. Two children were born to this union, one girl who has gone on to meet her Saviour and one boy who is in the service of his country in France.

We bow in submission to the will of our blessed Lord, and extend to her lonely husband, her mother, brothers and sisters our deepest sympathy, and can only point them to her Savior whom she served so long and in whose presence she is now dwelling and pray the loved ones she left behind will so live that they will meet her again where there will be no more parting.

No Mystery in Meat

Some things are so simple that they have to be explained again and again. When things are obvious, people keep looking for mysteries behind them.

So it is with the packing business. The mere size of Swift & Company confuses many. Because their imaginations are not geared up to scale, they believe there must be magic in it somewhere-some weird power.

Swift & Company is just like any other manufacturing business run by human beings like yourself; it takes in raw material on the one hand and turns out a finished product on the other.

Swift & Company keeps down the "spread," or the expense absorbed between raw and finished material, to as low a figure as possible. (If it didn't it would be put out of business by others who do.)

How much Swift & Company pays for the raw material, and how much it gets for the finished product, depends upon conditions which Swift & Company does not control.

It depends entirely upon how much people want the finished product, and how much raw material there is available to make it from.

The profits of Swift & Company amount to less than one cent per pound on all meats and by-products-less than one-fourth of a cent on beef.

Specific for influenza—the disease must run its course. Nature herself will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger its in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the bodily resistance that there is danger of energy monia or bronchitis developing and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you or if you are over 50 or not strong, stay in bed four days or more. according to the severity of the attack.

The Chief Danger Lies in Complications Arising, Attacking Principally Patients in a Rus-Down Condition—Those Who Don't Go to Bed Soon Enough, or Those Who Get Up Toe Early.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS.

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the air passages to throw off the air passages to throw off the grippe germs, to aid in loosening the philegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier. Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be abplied over the throat chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then Vick's should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and coyer with two thicknesses of hot fiance ciotas. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, is haled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin attracting the blood to the surface and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE. Spanish Influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has all the appearance of grip or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C. which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831, this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-1890.

THE SYMPTOMS.

Grippe, or influenza, as it is now called usually begins with a chill, followed by aching, feverishness and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane, or lining of the air passages—nose, throat and bronchial tubes; there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT.

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake, but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powder, etc., may be administered by the physician's directions to relieve the aching. But there is no cure or Sherman Said it.

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY ISES YOUR KIDNEYS

For centuries GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been a standard household remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and stomach trouble, and all diseases connected with the urinary organs. The kidneys and bladder are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood. If the poisons which enter your system through the blood and stomach are not entirely thrown out by the kidneys and bladder, you are doomed.

Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, headache, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, difficulty when urinating, cloudy and bloody urine, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago, all warn you to look after your kidneys and bladder. All these indicate some weakness of the kidneys or other organs or that the enemy microbes which are always present in your system have attacked your weak spots. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need.

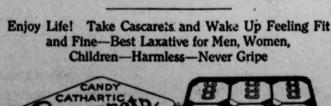

They are not a "patent medicine," nor a "new discovery." For 200 years they lake the proper the property of the original imported direct from the laboratories in Holland.
