

For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments: and His commandments are not grievous.—(1 John 5,3.)

We may profess with words and gestures that we love God, and yet by our actions which violate even one of His commandments, be a living denial of our protestations, in church or out Loving God, obeying Him, is no part-time, half-hearted thing.

IN — OUT AND ROUNDOABOUT

The rains came! After several days of cloudy skies, rain finally fell at 4:45 p.m. Friday, May 25, bringing much needed moisture to this area. Heavy thunder clouds hovered overhead for about an hour before the spattering of rain drops which fell for nearly five minutes. Then the skies really let loose and heavy showers fell for the next ten minutes. From then until six o'clock rain continued to fall over much of the local area, soaking the land and bringing smiles of relief to everyone's faces.

Strong winds left tornado-like effects to parts of the east section of town. Many trees along the highway lost branches that were broken off and strewn on the roadside. A large tree near the home of Mr and Mrs Glenn Barrett was badly damaged, looking much like it had been struck by lightning. Although the Barretts were home at the time it fell, they weren't certain of the cause.

A shed belonging to A. L. Morris in the east part of town was damaged by winds.

The Gordon Tant home lost a good portion of its roofing along the south end creating a new type of air-conditioning in the Tant livingroom. Mr and Mrs Tant and family have taken up temporary living quarters until the roof is repaired.

The home occupied by the Henry Ivory family was heavily damaged when it was moved over about four feet off the foundation base. Mr Ivory was faced with many problems while trying to re-adjust the home on its foundation as much work will have to be done restoring it to use.

James Ellison's having his share of troubles, too. After trying several types of TV antennas, taking about a month to erect the one he now has, and finally getting it in the position wanted, his is the only one in town reported to be down. And it is, laying parallel to his driveway and lacking about three feet from being onto the highway. It's been said that he has already spent enough on his TV as what it would cost to be able to enjoy colored TV.

The C. G. Roys family reported a loss of 50 baby chicks during the two-day storm.

A bit of humor was provided by Seburn Neatherlin when he brought a fish pole out in front of his repair shop and pretended to be fishing in the water that was running along the curb on main street.

Clouds continued to hover above Saturday, however rain didn't commence falling until 10:15 that evening, continuing most all night long. Heavy rains fell around 3:00 a.m. diminishing to light but steady showers through the rest of the night.

Homer Gregg reported the government gauge at the City Hall registered .70 of an inch Friday and 3.08 inches Saturday for a total of 3.78 inches. Billy Meyers reported an inch at his place at Flomot and about four inches here at Quitaque; H. B. Finney got 3 1/2 inches at their place as did Jim Stroup on his farm. Others reported getting from one to three inches in their various localities.

Cloudy weather has prevailed up through Tuesday permitting all the moisture to soak in. The possibilities look good for more rain in the next few days.

Mrs E. A. Puckett and grandchildren, Billie Jean and Earl Lee, returned home Friday afternoon from their visit at Gainsville, Texas.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT TAXES

I have just returned from a luncheon at the National Press Club which was addressed by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. At meetings of this kind, the speaker usually makes his speech and then subjects himself to a question and answer period. This was the procedure followed on this occasion. However, the Secretary almost turned the tables. He figured out some rather searching questions to himself, and fiscal policies to answer them. This was a novel approach, and it appeared that the Secretary might have gotten himself out of the line of fire for some embarrassing questions. He took up the question about the possibility of a budget surplus, and admitted that it was conjectural, but that they felt sure that they could have a budget surplus of around 1 billion, 8 hundred million dollars. He pointed out that since this government is spending 1 billion dollars every 5 days, which is being collected along as it is being spent, a hitch or delay in the mails could upset the fiscal apple cart.

The Secretary also asked himself whether or not there would be a tax cut if there was a budget surplus. He then proclaimed an emphatic "no" (that is, if his recommendation should be the determining factor). He explained that before a tax cut would be in order, there must be some measurable space between the income and the out-go in favor of the income.

He also treated the discussed fuss between the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury and undertook to point out that whatever disagreements might be present between these two agencies they were not serious but matters of honest disagreement that would and could be resolved to the ultimate benefit of the country.

He spoke at length of paying our way as we go and not burdening our children and grandchildren with further indebtedness. However, he failed to state that the national debt today is greater by several billion dollars than when he took office. In fact, when he took office the law prohibited the national debt from exceeding $275 billion. Today the debt is $276 billion, 296 million, or over 1 billion dollars more than was allowed by law at the time Mr. Humphrey took office. He states that he wanted to make payments on the debt rather than to use the budget surplus for tax cutting. If he used every dime of the budget surplus that he claims will be available for such purpose, the debt today would still be several billion dollars more than it was when he took office.

When the question and answer period arrived, one of the reporters asked him what he thought of T. Coleman Andrew's proposal to do away with the income tax. You could tell by the expression on the Secretary's face that the proposals of his former Internal Revenue Commissioner, Mr. T. Coleman Andrews, did not have Secretarial approval. As a matter of fact Secretary Humphrey was visibly flushed and started his answer by saying that he thought the public trust assumed by a public official when he took a high office did not cease with termination of that office, but continued on thereafter. The general appearance of the Secretary under the circumstances indicated to me that he thought Mr. T. Coleman Andrews was engaging in quite a bit of demagoguery. Not being a mind reader the impression that the Secretary so felt, but his general demeanor and his statement that the proposals of Mr. T. Coleman Andrews were very unfortunate did lead me to believe that Mr. T. Coleman Andrews should not apply for a reinstatement in his former position or in any other position that might be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE SPELLING MATCH

Bee in the person of Robert Davis, the handsome son of Mr and Mrs. Herbert Davis of Amarillo. He stood his ground until they gave him a word that I am sure most people have heard of. In fact, it looked to me like it came from some foreign tongue. These people are certainly deservingly nervous, and I think they do an outstanding job, under the circumstances. We were certainly all proud of Robert.

Our office was honored this last week by visits from Mr. C. A. James of Amarillo who brought along his cousin Mrs. J. D. Casey of Potosi, Missouri. We also had a visit from our good friend, A. E. Herrman, who is the new head of TIPRO. He was accompanied by Mr. W. E. Turner, the Secretary-Manager of that organization.

H. A. C. Brummett Seeks Dist-Att. Office

It is with a sincere belief that the people of this Judicial District do not believe that the District Attorney's office should be considered the personal property of any one man that I announce as a candidate for District Attorney. The present District Attorney has been elected to the office for five successive terms and is now seeking a sixth term, which will assure him of fourteen years in this office. Upon completion of his present term, he will have received approximately $60,000.00 in salary and expense allowance. If elected to a sixth term, he will assure himself another $30,000.00 in salary an expense allowance.

If you good people feel that after ten long years in this job the present incumbent is entitled to a rest, then I would like to work for you. If it is a good thing, it should be passed around; if it is not, then he should be relieved of the burden.

As a lawyer with many years of experience in the trial of civil and criminal cases I have always been zealous in representing the interest of my client in keeping with the highest code of ethics of my profession. If elected District Attorney, the people of this District will be my clients, and I will be equally zealous in representing their interests. I have always considered it unfair for a District Attorney to take advantage of his office to practice civil law and represent vested interests such as the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and insurance companies. Too often these large cooperations are buying the prestige of the District Attorney's Office rather than employing a lawyer. It is unfair to the other lawyers in the District who must earn their living from their private practice without being subsidized by a salary such as the District Attorney draws, and it is unfair to the people, because many times the duties of the office are neglected in order to serve private clients. You can not serve two masters, and for that reason I HERE AND NOW WILL NOT ENGAGE IN THE PRIVATE PRACTICES OF THE LAW. I will devote all of my time to the duties of the District Attorney's office and be available at all times to talk with and counsel the peace officers and other citizens who are interested in fair and impartial law enforcement.

Wheat Allotment For Farms Without Wheat For Three Years

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for any of the years 1954, 1955, and 1956, may apply for a 1957 wheat acreage allotment, according to R. A. Eddleman, Chairman of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by July 16, 1956.

Blank application forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments.

Herb Byars Family Move Into Their New Home Last Week

Mr and Mrs Herb Byars moved last week into their new home which is located across the street from the Rayburn Burgess residence. The home was built in Lubbock and transported here by truck about a month ago. Since that time Mr Byars has completed the interior work in order to make it ready for occupancy. The structure which consists of two bedrooms, den, living room, kitchen and bath, is a lovely addition to that section of our city.

In the near future Mr Byars plans to build a garage over the concrete foundation that has been laid, and plant a lawn and some shrubbery.

OBSOLETE ANSWER

Writing in the Wall Street Journal, Russell Kirk, the distinguished educator and author, discusses some of the serious problems socialized medicine has created in England—problems adversely affecting patient and doctor alike. At the end of his article he makes this important point about the economic aspects of medical care: "In the United States, where the public spends a greater proportion of income on medical attention than in any other country, only about 4.5 per cent of family income goes for medical attention. Nearly an equal amount goes for alcoholic beverages; half as much goes for tobacco, and a good deal more goes for recreation. We are living in an age, in short, in which the average man can afford to pay for whatever medical attention he requires with the exception of the really poor, who are a small minority."

"Yet what has been adopted in Britain, and what is sometimes proposed in the United States, is a doctrine of nineteenth-century socialized medicine, to the point of the terms of which have altered immensely in the twentieth century. In a society of material abundance, state medicine is an obsolete answer."

No one—except the extreme hypochondriac—likes to be ill, or likes to go to the doctor, or likes to pay a medical bill. So, human nature being what it is, we often tend to exaggerate the cost of medical care out of all reasons, forgetting the far greater sums most of us spend on non-essentials. It is to be reminded of the facts as Dr. Kirk has done.

NO BACK SEAT

"King Coal" won't take a back seat to atomic energy or Northwest water resources for electric power generation. That statement leads off a news article by Gene Smith, in the New York Times.

Mr. Smith tells of some big aluminum production projects which are to be built in the Ohio River Valley. Aluminum is a huge electric consumer—and these new plants will be served by coal-burning electric systems. Mr. Smith quotes an aluminum company executive as saying that the significance of such development is that the aluminum industry is no longer dependent upon locations close to large hydroelectric installations which are removed from industrial markets.

Back of all this is the fine record of progress made in utilization of coal as a source of electricity. In 1939 it took an average of 1.38 pounds of coal to produce one kilowatt hour of power—in 1954 the figures was 0.59 pounds, a drop of close to a third, and some highly advanced plants do much better. In the single year 1955 there was a three per cent improvement in efficiency as against 1954.

SIMPLE RULE

The U. S. oil industry, with its unquestioned world leadership is a monument to the achievements of private enterprise.

And the proven superiority of private enterprise in oil development is not limited to this country—as an article in U. S. News & World Report vividly shows.

The article begins: "Developments in Latin America are drawing attention in this part of the world to a case history of government vs. private operations of a key industry—oil." It then deals with four Latin American countries with important oil resources. One is Mexico, where oil is a government monopoly and where the industry doesn't sell enough petroleum products abroad to pay for its U. S. imports. The second is Brazil, where a special law excludes foreign oil companies—and Brazil is able to produce a mere two per cent of the oil she needs annually. The third is Argentina, where the government is the boss—and Argentina, despite a wealth of oil underground, has to buy half its petroleum requirements from other countries.

The fourth is a much smaller country—Venezuela. There oil is a private industry. And according to U. S. News, here's what is happening: The country is booming as never before, because of oil. She is now the world's largest oil exporter. Her production is second only to the U. S. and is double that of the Soviet Union.

Any country that wants progress should not forget a simple rule. Avoid socialism and / or government domination of enterprise like the plague it is.

Color Helps Give Family Efficiency Lift

Color plays an important role in promoting efficiency and a feeling of well-being in the family circle.

The value of interior color was shown recently in a two-year study by Johns Hopkins University of 2,500 Baltimore school children.

After a year in attractively color-styled classrooms, the pupils boosted their average grades 9 percent and their attendance 13 percent above the previous year spent in drab classrooms.

Home-owners can brighten the lives of their families in much the same way by following these four guides for interior color styling:

1. Two or three bright colors in one room can make it cheerful and pleasant. But limit bright colors to three.

2. Warmly painted windows and panel doors add appeal to the walls of any room. For an especially attractive effect in a large room, ponderosa pine doors and windows can be painted in hues which subtly contrast with the wall color. Small panel, however, should have door and windows painted to match the walls. Wood windows are the only type that can be painted or stained for these decorative effects.

3. Dark colors make a ceiling seem lower, while light colors give the room height.

4. Any room seems to shrink in size the moment dark colors are applied, but light colors make it appear to expand.

By LYN CONNELLY

IT IS strange to us that Ann Blyth continues to insist on lifting her voice in song, and stranger still that so many movie producers give her the choicest musical plums to be had... Now Ann is a sweet girl, she's beautiful and extremely talented, but when it comes to singing, her voice should be confined to the nursery where the babies know no differently... Any hometown choir singer could put rings around the Blyth voice, yet with such talented singers as Kathryn Grayson and Jane Powell available, Ann keeps getting the big roles... Neither Katie nor Jane can act one-half as well as Ann, yet instead of one being in drama and the others in musicals, two are not heard from at all any more and the other, who can't sing worth a herring bone, gets all the breaks... You figure out the idiosyncrasies of movie producers!

Judy Garland is slated to open at the Palace in New York on October 16, fourth anniversary of her sensational 1951 opening at that theater... Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis would love to go their own way but they'd have to cancel millions of dollars of assured income to do so... Things are so strained, however, that they may do just that... Somehow we can't picture Dean doing a solo... He has no talent except as Jerry's partner... Certainly his voice isn't good enough to buck the excellent singers of today whereas good comedians are rare.

Odd that teams can survive the hard days but as soon as they reach Easy Street they yearn to be apart... Too bad, too, that straight men always ruin everything by wanting to be more important... Dean is a wonderful straight man—why can't he leave well enough alone?

Boyles' Service Station has been owned and operated by H. G. Boyles since February, 1950, faithfully serving the public with products of the famous flying red horse, Mobilgas and Mobiloil.

H. G. is a native son of Quitake, being born here on October 25, 1928, to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Boyles. He received his grade school and high school education in the local school system where he was a high school graduate.

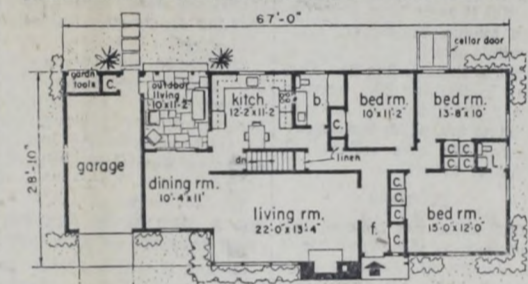

At 7 p.m. Saturday, February 15, 1947, H. G. was united in marriage to Miss Joyce Duck at the home of Rev. Elrod, Baptist pastor at Silverton. At that time H. G. was employed with Jim Baird and the Magnolia Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyles are the parents of two children. Eight year old Elaine will be a student of the third grade this fall in the local grade school. Their son, Bobby will be three years old this coming November 21st. They are members of the First Baptist Church of Quitake.

H. G. has no hobbies, preferring to spend his spare moments either at the station or keeping up with the work that needs to be done at home.

The next time you need your car serviced, if it isn't already your custom, stop in at H. G.'s station and let him check it from bumper to bumper. You'll be glad you did.

Roof Line Adds Appeal

A welcome departure from long, unbroken roof lines is the key to the exterior charm of this efficient, six-room home designed by Rudolph A. Matern, Jamaica, N.Y., architect.

The gabled front, set off by a broad stone chimney, combines with a roof break between the house and cupola-topped garage to create the look of individuality so desirable in today's homes.

Inside, an open, 32-foot living-dining room boasts a wood-burning fireplace and a 12-foot-wide picture window. The three bedrooms are well-separated from the working and entertaining areas of the house, and the kitchen has table space plus a step-saving U-shaped work area.

The effect of the unusual roof is heightened by the use of bright-colored asphalt shingles. The stone chimney is both decorative and functional, with a stone planter extending from the chimney under the wide picture window.

Facilities for outdoor living are provided by a roofed patio overlooking the back lawn. The patio is accessible from both the kitchen and dining room. The garage has a garden tool storage room. Adjoining it is a closet for work clothes.

The architect suggests that with year-around air conditioning becoming so popular the exterior walls and the ceiling should be fully insulated with mineral wool. He says insulation will cut down heating and cooling costs as well as reduce the initial cost of equipment.

The house has 1,392 square feet of floor space, excluding garage, basement and outdoor living.

A blueprint package, with instructions for building with and without a basement, is available from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N.Y. Refer to Plan No. 9449.

Pvt. Billy Joe Pointer was here visiting his parents. He reported back to his station at Fort Knox, Ky. after an emergency furlough to be with his wife who underwent an operation. Mrs Pointer was getting along nicely and returned from the hospital to the home of her parents. Mr and Mrs John Childers at Cisco.

The Jack Holcomb family moved to Quitaque from Turkey where they occupied Mrs J. N. Hamilton's home place on the west highway.

A singing was held in the Otis Purcell home, as a farewell party for Bob Kaneen who returned to Calif. after a visit here with his wife and small son. A pleasant evening was spent and refreshments of cookies and punch were served. They had a quite a few guests at the party.

Mr and Mrs S. L. McKenzie and children were here visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs Henry Hamilton and other relatives. Mr McKenzie received his discharge from the Army about May 1st after serving for two years and several months. His last station was at Oakland, Calif. where he did office clerical work. He had the rating of sergeant. They visited relatives in south Texas before returning to their home at Fort Worth where he resumed work with the Burrough Adding Machine Co.

There was a widespread epidemic of piscatorial fever raging in this area and there seemed to be no effective relief ex-

for BUYING SELLING TRADING RENTING LOANS

(Continued from Page 1) would like to make a few brief statements of a personal nature. I have lived in Dickens County for 41 years and practiced law for 27 years, having served as County Judge of Dickens County for 6 years. As a trial lawyer, I have actively participated in the trial of many cases all over West Texas, and I invite a comparison of my trial experience and ability. My first wife passed away in 1951. We had four fine children, three boys and one daughter. My oldest son, Carlos, is in business in Lubbock, Texas, is married and has two children.

His wife teaches in Lubbock Schools. My second son, Winson, is a lawyer in Lubbock, Texas. He was formerly County Attorney of Dickens County, Texas, and is now a partner in the law firm of Brummett & Kimmel. He is also married and has four children. My youngest son, Dudley, is also a lawyer. He was County Attorney of Lubbock County Texas for two terms and is now serving his first term as County Judge of Lubbock County. He is married and has two children. My daughter is now Mrs. Ross Q. Smith and lives in Dallas, Texas. She is married and has four children. Although my children came up through the depression, I am proud of the fact that their mother and I gave each of them a college education, and I am proud of the success they have made.

Two of my four sons were in World War II, and Dudley was a bomber pilot. His plane was shot down while on a bombing mission over Germany, and he was prisoner of war until liberated. I have always tried to be of help in all community matters wherever I lived. For years I served as a member of the Dickens County draft board under appointment of President Roosevelt and President Truman. For six years during the depression I served as United States Conciliation Commissioner for Dickens, Kent, King and Garza Counties and helped distressed farmers who were threatened with foreclosure. I am a member of the Methodist Church.

In 1953 I married Mrs. Harriette Hatcher, a fine lady, who is now County Home Demonstration Agent in Floyd County, Texas. Prior to serving Floyd County as Home Demonstration Agent, she was Home Demonstration Agent in Dickens and Yoakum Counties. We now have her 18 year old daughter in college. We have lived in Floydada, where I am actively engaged in the practice of law, since May of 1955.

This district is composed of Floyd, Briscoe, Motley and Dickens Counties and I hope to see each voter of the district personally. However, if I fail to have an opportunity to see you personally, I hope you will take this as a personal solicitation for support, and I will deeply appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely yours,
H. A. Brummett
