Correction On Story of Slaying

There was an inaccuracy in our paper last week in connection with the Timmons slaying. We stated that District Attorney, David McCoy had written at least two letters in the past few months to Timmons on the behalf of Cruse to try to settle their land rights dispute. The names were inadvertently switched. In reality Timmons had requested the letters be written to Cruse.

We apologize for any problems this may have caused. It was truly just an error.

THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Labor Day, what sort of thoughts do these words bring to your mind? Thoughts of a holiday--a day to relax, play with the kids, take a trip, sleep late? Or does it evoke pictures in your mind of all the labor that has gone on in this world to make it comfortable for us? Yes, it is a celebration of Labor!

How do we honor it? A rest from all labor or do we get busy and "Labor"? Today can set the pattern not only for the rest of your days but those of your children who will grow up and remember how you celebrated the holidays of the year!

In this sense today, Labor Day is the first day of the "rest of your life."

Henry van Dyke once wrote "Are you willing to consider the needs and the desires of children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, but rather ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people bear in their hearts; to trim your lamp so it will give more light and less smoke; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and a garden for your kindly feelings, with gate wide open--these even for one day?"

How we spend our "Labor Holiday" is going to affect our lives from now on. There can be no changing of the day on Tuesday morning. So let's all do something for someone else, something that will make us feel great when we look back to see how we spent September 7, 1992, Labor Day!

Yes, let's labor with a glad heart to give great joy to someone we know. Have a safe, happy holiday.

"Good Guys" Awards Go To Mixed Pair

Barry Wheeler and Linda Ferguson are the recipients of our "Good Guys Awards" this week.

After closing the Turkey Drive-In the other night, Linda was driving home when her car lights picked up something crawling from Mary Beth Adamson's home into the street. She thought it was a snake so she ran over it, then turned around and ran over it again. This crippled him, but he was able to crawl back to the Adamson yard. Keeping her car lights on the snake, she ran to the Wheelers' residence and ask Barry to get something to kill it. Barry grabbed a shovel and quickly sent the snake to its reward. It was the hated rattler.

Quoting Linda, "It was a huge rattler. I felt like I was driving over a fence post when I ran over him."

The next afternoon we noticed that June Montgomery and Mary Beth were both out mowing. I don't know if it was just time to mow or if they were looking for the rattler's mate on the safety of their riding mowers.

old when he camped out on the Arizona desert and lived on different Indian reservations.

Scenes from the battlefields during World War II and the story behind the pictures are also included in this intriguing book.

A beautiful table was set up in the lobby of the bank. Refreshments of punch, coffee, cookies, chips and dips were served to visitors in the bank.

The Stubbs are grateful to all their friends who furnished lots of encouragement while they were writing this book. They were quite pleased by the outpouring of interest that was shown them at this autograph party.

The couple presented the bank with two reprints in appreciation for hosting the party.

This book would certainly be an asset in anyone's library.

4-H'er Relates What Ciub Means to Her

4-H has always been a part of my life. I can't imagine what it would be like to have not been in 4-H. If you aren't (or weren't) involved, don't despair, there's still hope for you.

Library Has Books About Your Health

by Arlene Hinkle

Labor Day is upon us--Fall isn't far away and cooler days will be a great energy booster for anyone who likes to exercise. We have some great books on diet and exercise programs here at Caprock Public Library.

For those interested in diet programs and diet recipes, books such as: Fit for Life by Harvey Diamond; and The Partnership Diet Program have some good ideas.

The psychological effects at being overweight are explained by Theodore Isaac Rubin in Alive and Fat and Thining in America. Elizabeth Taylor tells us about self-image and self-esteem in Elizabeth Takes Off.

Two books on exercise are The Body Principal by Victoria Principal and Body Rhythms by Manya Kahn. Body Rhythms has a 10 day health and beauty program based on stretch, breathe, relax techniques which will appeal to any age group.

New hours are coming for the library. Watch the Valley Tribune next week for updates.

Horned Toad Society Seeks Ancient Creatures

It may seem a little far-fetched, but there actually is a group of environmentalists for the conservation of horny toads!

The Horned Lizard Conservation Society is circulating a questionnaire asking, "Have you seen a horny toad lately?" The group is concerned about the decreased horny toad population and has set out to find out why the numbers are so low.

The Society is asking people who have seen a horny toad to report the date, time, county, environment, weather conditions and size and number of them seen.

So, if you've seen a horny toad lately, you can write the Society at Dept. 188-1, P.O. Box 122, Austin, Texas 78767.

Father, Son Team Win First At Roaring Springs Rodeo

Billy, and son Wealey Farley teamed up to enter the "Wild Cow Milking" contest held recently at the Old Settlers Reunion in Roaring Springs.

The local team won first in this dangerous event. The contestants have to rope the wild cow and then milk her.

Their first prize was bits, a beautiful hand-made piece crafted by Spraberry.

Billy reported this was the first time he had ever won a useful prize at a rodeo. These bits will be something he will be proud to use. Congratulations Farleys.

If You're Over 65, You're In Good Company

Between 1900 and 1991 Americans over age 65 increased tenfold. By the year 2030, almost 66 million Americans, or 18% of the population, will experience the environmental and personal changes associated with aging.

Occupational therapists suggest there are many ways you, a friend or a relative can adapt to aging. For example, something as simple as joining an exercise class for senior citizens may increase your range of motion and mobility.

In addition, to combat forgetfulness, which most of us experience from time to time, occupational therapists can help structure your environment to simplify daily tasks.

Amarillo Fair To Open With Parade Sept. 26

The opening day parade for the Amarillo Tri-State Fair will be held on Saturday, Sept. 26 rather than on Monday the 21st as originally planned. The change was made due to a recent change in schedule by the Amarillo Public Schools putting the students in classes on this day.

This year's parade theme is "Rediscover America" in observance of Columbus year activities. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. and will march down Polk Street with clowns, floats, marching bands, horses and military units.

Leading this year's parade and serving as honorary parade marshal will be Lynn Griffin, who will retire as general manager of the Tri State Fair at the end of the year.

Cash awards will be given to the three floats that best follow the theme of the parade. Also, about fourteen trophies will be awarded to winners in various categories. Awards will be presented at 5:30 p.m. on September 26.

There is no charge for entering the parade, but an entry form must be submitted to the fair office by Sept. 11. For entry forms or additional information contact the fair office at 806-376-7767 or write Tri State Fair, P. O. Box 31087, Amarillo, Texas 79120.

Wage Withholding Notices Mailed To Defaulted Texans

The Texas Guaranteed Student Loan Corporation has mailed the first wage withholding notices to Texans who have defaulted on their federally guaranteed students loans. Recipients have 30 days to make repayment arrangements or file an appeal before their employer is notified to withhold up to 10% of the employees net pay.

Wage withholding is arguably the most powerful tool for the collection of defaulted guaranteed student loan balances. It was made possible in Texas by passage of the November 1991 Emergency Unemployment Benefit Compensation Act.

Defaulted borrowers who enter into voluntary repayment with TGSLC will not be subjected to wage withholding. Borrowers can call toll-free 1-800-222-6297 to set up a repayment agreement.

The first group of borrowers to receive withholding notices is fairly representative of the entire population, according to Cathy Flautt, TGSLC's Director of Public Affairs. The group includes trade school, two-year and four-year college and university graduates. Loan balances range from $1,100 to $26,860 for seven loans. Most have been in default for more than a year with no resolution on their accounts. Some have already had judgments filed against them but have still not responded.

The federal law requires that the withholding be done administratively--which means that no court action is needed. It allows up to 10% of a borrower's disposable income to be withheld and to be applied to their defaulted loan balance until it is paid in full.

Withholding will affect defaulted borrowers only. Defaulters are borrowers who made no payments for at least six months and the lender has already been reimbursed by claim.

The federal guaranteed student loan program utilizes money from participating lenders, and in Texas, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, to make low-interest loans to students, and their parents, attending private and public colleges and trade and technical schools. The loans offer long term repayment periods, deferments, forbearance options and grace periods to assist borrowers in repaying their obligation. Borrowers who default on their loan obligation, however, do not qualify for these benefits. The program is subsidized by the federal government. TGSLC is a non-profit public corporation which administers the federal program for the State of Texas. ***

'Tis a maxim of the wise to leave things before things leave them.

Ag Station To Host Field Day September 8

The year-round efforts of scientists to help agricultural producers meet the daily challenges in providing the nation's food and fiber at a cost consumers can afford will be put on display here Sept. 8 at the 83rd annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock/Halfway.

The event alternates each year between the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center just north of the Lubbock International Airport and its research facility at Halfway, west of Plainview. This year, it will be at the Lubbock center, just east of Interstate 27 at the Shallowater exit No. 11. From 1 to 4 p.m., wagons will transport visitors to research plots and exhibits.

This year's tour will have five featured stops, exhibits providing timely information from producers and consumers, a look at the latest commercial and research equipment, and an open house at the Texas Forest Service greenhouses, said Edsel D. Bynum Jr., research entomologist and field day chairman. The first 100 visitors will receive a free tree seedling.

The featured stops will focus upon concerns critical to area farmers this year, as well as long range efforts to help them meet production and environmental demands, Bynum said. The stops will examine progress in cotton breeding efforts, farming systems, integrated pest management in cotton, developments in grain sorghum and chemical storage and safety.

Private pesticide applicators attending the field day can receive two continuing education units toward annual requirements of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Applicators should have their TDA license certificate with them.

Home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will present a food safety exhibit and a display on uses of cotton. Other exhibits will showcase cotton grown locally with naturally colored lint; collaborative efforts of the Experiment Station, Texas Tech and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cotton production and fabric research; and new agricultural products and equipment.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of the Experiment Station, Extension Service, High Plains Research Foundation, USDA-Agricultural Research Service, Texas Forest Service and Texas Tech.

The Turkey Drive In Is Undergoing Refurbishing

The Turkey Drive-In closed last Friday night for a week of cleaning up. The cafe will reopen on Tuesday, September 8th.

While closed there is a lot of cleaning, repairing and painting taking place. If you happen to stroll in there this week, you'll be handed a paint brush instead of a cup of coffee.

1948 TURKEY HIGH SCHOOL CLASS REUNION PLANNED

A class reunion is being planned for the 1948 Turkey High School graduation class. The mailing address of out of town class members and teachers is needed, also the address of anyone who attended the class during his school years.

Please send your address to either Mary Jo Lyles Calvert or Tommie Jo Browning Cruse, Route #1, Flomot, Texas 79234. They have high expectations of a good turnout, so help them make this endeavor a success.

When the date and scheduled activities are complete, they will contact you and will have it published in the Valley Tribune.

Things Seen And Heard

by Ann Coker
Visitors in the home of Arville and Lorene Setliff last week-end were Arville's sister, Marlene Boyce of Longview and her daughter, Joyce Atman of Mesquite.

While here the Setliffs and their house guests drove to Plainview on Sunday to visit another brother and his wife, Hubert and Dale Setliff.

Carol Weatherly, Lynn and Sheridan Davis of Memphis were guests in the home of E. L. and Bonnie Hill last week-end. Carol is the Hill's daughter and Lynn their granddaughter.

Also visiting the Hills and other relatives in the Turkey area was Janis Payne of Plainview who came on Sunday afternoon.

An empty head has room for much knowledge—Karl Kraus

We are glad to report that Jim Robison of Amarillo who recently had by-pass heart surgery, is recuperating fine. We were glad to hear this good report about Jimbo.

While visiting with Bettie and Keith Green recently we learned their son, Jerry and Kathy and children will be moving to Little rock Arkansas the first of October. It is a promotion for Jerry.

Believe it or not Keith and Betty have already mapped out the best and quickest route to Little Rock.

Dolly and Redell Irby, Maurice and Billy Fuston and the Randy Gaffords of Floydada have all returned home after an extended fishing trip to Gunnison, Colorado.

Besides fishing, they took several excursions into other parts of the state. One of them was a trip to Aspen, Colorado. Upon arriving in Aspen, they planned on doing some sight seeing, and eating lunch. Much to their dismay, there were so many sight-seers in Aspen they couldn't even find a place to park.

They were forced to drive on to Elgabel, Colorado to eat lunch—which proved to be quite an expensive sandwich.

Needless to say, they are all glad to be home.

Rod and Milly Setliff and daughters, Taylor and Robyn, left the states from DFW on August 18th, after an extended vacation in the states. They arrived at their home in Dubai United Arab Emirates on the following Thursday, August 20th.

Attending the Garth Brooks concert in Amarillo recently was Tracy Guest.

Valley Patriots Defeat Southland Eagles In Control Scrimmage 10-0

Valley Defeats Southland

The Southland Eagles were out-matched in a control scrimmage held at Patriot Stadium last Thursday night as the Patriots scored a 10-0 win.

Valley scored on their first offensive play as Joe Valdez hit Bubba Powell on a 60-yard scoring pass. Josh Scoggins scored next with a 40-yard TD run. Bradley Price got into the action with a 60-yard romp on the very next play. After a 6-yard run by Scoggins, Valley scored on their next three plays—a 55-yard run by Jason Smith, a 60-yard run by Dewayne Davais, and a 60-yard run by Smith.

Later, Scoggins scored on a 38-yard run and Price had TD runs of 7 and 21 yards.

On defense, Valley held the Eagles to one first down and a total of 6 yards offense. Joe Valdez got in the end zone as he scored on a 28-yard interception return.

Also contributing to the offense was Danny House with a 7-yard reception. Ricky Hughes did a good job during his quarterback snaps. Clay Merrell and Danny Ulrey each had good games at the center spot. The offense stacked up 596 total yards.

The JV also won its scrimmage with Alfie Clardy scoring the only TD on a 65-yard run. The offense had 108 total yards on 20 plays. Rollie Castillo, Will Sperry and Donnie Calvert provided the blocking, while Clardy, Reggie Hendrix and Steven Browning did good jobs in the backfield. Rubeen Hinojosa, Steve Lopez, Jeremy Castillo and Michael Lane had a good game on both sides of the ball.

A stingy JV defense held the Eagles to a -33 total offensive yards.

The Valley JV was scheduled to play Alamo Catholic at Valley, but due to Alamo dropping football, the JV will travel to Samnorwood Thursday, September 3 at 6:30 for their first game.

The Varsity will face Jayton at Jayton at 8:00 Friday, September 4. Come support your Patriots!

Third Grade News

by Emily Woods

Hi! I'm Emily Woods writing to you from the third grade class. We started this year with having an election of officers. Magan got president, Jenifer got Vice-president and I got secretary. So I will be your reporter for this year. We learned about secret ballot and how the president gets elected. We have learned many things since school has started. First we have learned how to write a how to paragraphs. First thing we did in our how to paragraphs. We did tying our shoes that part was funny because Magan and Jana were up reading Janas story.

Friday we are making banana splits. In social studies we are doing graphs and that is what we have been doing this week. Thanks for reading the third grade news.

Children's Immunizations

It's that time of year again—back to school time. Time to start buying new shoes and clothes, backpacks and lunch boxes.

But if parents forget one important part of the back to school process—immunizations—their children won't be allowed to start classes on that all important first day. According to Texas State Law, children must have the proper immunizations before beginning preschool, elementary school and junior high, and most daycare programs. Parents are required to bring their children's shot records when registering for school.

The common immunizations children receive include: DTP-Diphtheria, tetanus toxoid and pertussis, oral polio vaccine, HibTITER-Haemophilus influenzae b, Hib-Haemophilus influenzae b, MMR-measles, mumps and rubella and TD-adult tetanus toxoid and adult diphtheria toxoid.

As teens head back to school, many will be driving for the first time. And as important as it is for many teens to be able to drive to school, it's equally important that they recognize the need to take care of their vehicles.

Bruce Bradshaw, education tire specialist for Firestone, says the care of tires among teens is often overlooked.

"Unless it's a blowout, many teens will not notice problems occurring with their tires. As important as it seems to teens to be able to drive, they should be mindful of taking care of their vehicle to ensure that they can continue to drive."

Tire care among teens should begin with a visible inspection of their tires on a regular basis, Bradshaw said. Teens should get into the habit of checking the inflation pressure of their tires at least once a week.

Tires tend to lose one psi of air pressure per month in normal driving, and as the weather turns cooler, most people don't know that tires will also lose a pound of air pressure for every 10 degree drop in temperature, Bradshaw says. Improper inflation can result in rapid treadwear and premature tire removal, while proper tire inflation can save fuel which means less money spent buying gas and more pocket money for movies and pizza.

As teens get into the habit of checking inflation pressure, they should also make a habit of looking for obvious signs of wear such as cuts in the tread or sidewall. If cuts do exist, it could lead to serious problems such as sudden air loss or loss of solid traction for the vehicle.

One thing many teens do pay close attention to on their vehicle is its appearance. When cleaning their car, they often use "store-bought" vinyl protectants to make the tires shine.

However, many of these protectants contain petroleum or alcohol derivatives which can cause your tires' rubber to decompose. The best way to keep your tires looking good is to give them a thorough scrub whenever you wash your car.

Another good tire maintenance practice for teens should be to cultivate good driving habits, Bradshaw says.

The way a person drives has a great impact on tire mileage and safety. Cultivating good driving habits includes observing posted speed limits and avoiding fast starts, stops and turns. Driving at high speeds can cause tires to build up excessive heat which can lead to tire failure.

Avoiding potholes, curbs and other objects on the road is another important practice to develop in cultivating good driving habits. Avoid running over curbs or scuffing the sidewall against the curb when parking.

"As with most activities, just a few simple steps can go a long way toward keeping your car on the road without problems. And with teens, that's very important," Bradshaw said.

Recycled Used Oil Has Benefits For Consumers

Used oil is a valuable resource that should be recycled for several reasons. One of the main concerns with used oil is that it can cause harm to human health and the environment if disposed of by pouring down storm drains, onto the ground, or in to the trash. It takes only one gallon of oil to ruin one million gallons of water.

Some of the benefits of recycling used oil are:

1. It takes only one gallon of used oil to make the 2.5 quarts of lubricating oil that it takes 42 gallons of crude oil to make.
2. If all of the used oil in the U.S. were recycled it would save the U.S. 1.3 million barrels of oil per day.

3. One gallon of used oil used as fuel contains about 140,000 BTU's of energy.

There are several options or programs that can be done to recycle used oil. Some of these are: curbside collection programs, designated collection sites, businesses with established oil collection, and special drop off days.

If you are interested in how to find a way to recycle used oil or starting a community program, call the Briscoe County Extension office at 823-2131.
