Voters To Be Presented Question On Legal Sale of Alcoholic Beverages

The voters of Briscoe County Justice of the Peace Precinct 1 will be asked to vote for or against "the legal sale of all alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption only" in a special election Tuesday, March 5, 1985.

A petition containing more than 242 names was presented to County and District Clerk Bess McWilliams February 7, and the election code requires that the Commissioners' Court call an election at their next regular meeting, which was Monday. It was required that "the actual signatures of a number of qualified voters of a political subdivision (in this case, Justice of the Peace Precinct 1) equal to 35% of the votes cast in the subdivision for governor in the last preceding general election for that office" be contained in the petition. More than that number are on the petition.

Those voters included in the special election will be those who live west of the caprock in Briscoe County.

Absentee voting will continue through March 1 in the office of the County and District Clerk. Polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. on special election day, and each qualified voter who regularly casts a ballot in voting box one, three, four and five will be eligible to vote on this question. Voting box one is located at the City Hall in Silverton, box three is in the Pioneer Room at the First State Bank, box four is at the office of Verlin B. Towe, and box five is in the office behind the Neil Taylor home at Lake Mackenzie.

Man and Woman of the Year Recognized at Valentine Banquet

A Valentine Banquet was the occasion Monday night when "We the Women" revealed the 1985 "Man and Woman of the Year." Rusty and Janice Henson were presented plaques for this honor by the 1984 Man and Woman of the Year, David Brunson and Margie Boyles.

The Hensons have lived in Quitaque only six years but have had an impact on both civic and church activities. Janice and Rusty both are graduates of West Texas State University and moved to Quitaque shortly after their marriage.

Janice has served as president of "We the Women" and has been active in the Quitaque Chamber of Commerce. Rusty is a past president of the Lions Club, is a farmer and rancher, and recently purchased the Quitaque Elevators. The couple are Youth Directors at the First Baptist Church and are active in all phases of church and community activities. They both are very deserving recipients of this Man and Woman of the Year award for 1985.

The EMTs, Firemen and City Council members also were recognized and honored. David Brunson gave a summary of the activities and accomplishments of this group for the year. Quitaque is indeed fortunate in having so many well trained and skilled EMTs. O. R. Stark told of the City Council's efforts in securing grants for the city, the latest one being the money to drill new city water wells which will begin in the next few days.

Patsy Herrington entertained the group by playing easy listening organ music during the meal. Games of "Family Feud" and "The Newlywed Game", and "Oldie but Goodie" were played. There was much laughter and fun and a grand way to fellowship with one another.

MIXED DRINK TAXES REBATED TO CITIES, COUNTIES

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $13.4 million to 220 counties and 427 cities as their share of the state's mixed drink tax collected at the new rate of 12 percent during the fourth quarter of 1984.

The Texas Legislature raised the tax from 10 percent to 12 percent, effective October 2, 1984.

Bullock said the state collected $46.5 million in mixed drink taxes during the quarter, up 22 percent over the fourth quarter in 1983.

Texas cities and counties are receiving a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state. The state's general revenue fund received the balance—$33 million—of the tax money collected. The Legislature reduced the city and county share of the tax to 12.5 percent, effective with first quarter collections in 1985, and the state will then get the entire gain from the tax increase.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's Office.

The total city tax revenue in Silverton was $1,433.78. In Quitaque this amounted to $1,510.27. The city's 15 percent remittance was $215.07 for Silverton and $226.54 for Quitaque.

Briscoe County's total tax revenue was $2,944.05, with the county's 15 percent remittance being $441.61.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Chandler and grandson, Jon Earl Pigg, visited in Lubbock Sunday. Jon Earl visited his mother, Barbara Pigg, and the Chandlers visited the local people who are in hospitals there. They visited Charlie Grundy, who broke a leg Friday night and entered St. Mary's; Ray Payne and Mrs. Jack Loudermilk at Methodist Hospital, and Joe Chandler at Lubbock General.

Letter Received From Rev. Armstrong Who Is In Indonesia

Faye Armstrong has finally heard from her husband, W. who is spending a month in Indonesia. She and their friends were all so anxious to hear from him. We thought many of you would like to hear what he has to say about his work, etc. Faye and Armstrong spent twelve years as missionaries in Indonesia and are, as the letter states, planning to go back and work again. Dear Sweetheart,

I found this typewriter and hit it hard enough it will type.

I arrived safely in Medan a 48 hours from Turkey. The longest part of the trip was in Singapore Airport—next to I may try to find a hotel. I stayed in one of the guest rooms behind the Bishop's house. I made from the old godown that we built when we were there is not outside but an air conditioner makes sleeping nice.

I had a long talk with Bishop this morning and wants us to come and work here and live in Bandar Baru—place on the road to Brastagi. We will be helping to develop this place with attention toward orphans as well as my going to build churches. If a visa can be obtained we should be ready to come here the last of October early November.

I am preaching in Tigaling on Sunday (Feb. 3rd) and help baptize 150 people. I am preaching in Wesley Church on Feb. 10th. Robert Tobing is the pastor and will be returning to Medan Feb. 11th. The Bishop and I will also be visiting in Prapat next week and then on the 19th, we will be in the Pastor's retreat.

Everywhere I go people are thrilled to see me and happy to know about our coming back.

I miss you and everyone as about you. Wish I could share this warm weather with you. Be home before you know it. Love, W. J. A., Jr.

Farm Financing, Policy To Get Spotlight

Agricultural financing and national farm policy will share the spotlight in Lubbock February 19 at the annual meeting of the South Plains Development Program. U. S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Tex., a leading spokesman for agriculture in Congress, will be the keynote speaker.

Theme of this year's educational conference for area producers will be "Planning for Profit," said Billy C. Gunter, district director for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In addition to farm policy and financing, it will provide economic outlook predictions for area crops, agronomic considerations for improving profitability, and the views of an agricultural economist and a farmer on the keys to farm survival.

The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Koko Palace, 50th Street at Avenue Q, in Lubbock. A registration fee of $7.25 will include lunch. The conference will close at 3:00 p.m.

The current turmoil in financing agriculture, both nationally and across the South Plains, will be addressed by Dr. Dean Hughes of Texas Tech University. He is director of the Thornton Agricultural Finance Institute in Tech's department of agricultural economics.

The outlook for the area's agriculture will be presented by Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension agricultural economist and cotton marketing specialist, from College Station. The changing structure of agriculture in a changing policy environment will be explored by Dr. Ed Smith, Extension economist and grain marketing specialist, College Station.

Dr. James R. Supak, Extension agronomist and cotton specialist at Lubbock, will discuss critical agronomic considerations which area producers will face this year.

A farmer's view of keys to survival in 1985 will be offered by Stan Shockley, Levelland producer. Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension agricultural economist and marketing specialist at Lubbock, will present an economist's view.

The program will be moderated by Dr. Milo Shult of College Station, associate director of the state Extension Service, and Gunter.

The SPD Program is a coordinated regional effort to promote economic development in agriculture and improved family life in 21 counties. It is sponsored by the Extension Service, working through county Extension program building committees and special SPD task forces which identify educational needs and coordinate educational activities.

POSTAGE STAMP PRICES INCREASING SUNDAY

An adequate supply of "D" stamps and other nondenominated items is available at the Quitaque post office to help customers make a smooth transition after the February 17 postal rate change.

Postmaster Jarrell Rice says that the nondenominated "D" stamps in sheet, coil and booklet formats represent the new 22-cent first-class rate. There are also nondenominated postal cards and plenty of two-cent stamps that, when added to 20-cent stamps, make up the new first-class letter rate.

"The nondenominated items are available because we estimate that stamp inventories in post offices at present will fall short of public demand and, we want to avoid customer inconvenience," Rice said.

Commemorative stamps, beginning with the Jerome Kern stamp, and other 22-cent stamps, are expected to replace the "D" stamps by the end of March, the Postmaster said.

Avoid Consumption Of Excess Minerals

"Excess mineral intake can reduce your ability to perform physical tasks and can contribute to health problems such as anemia, bone demineralization and breakage, neurological disease and fetal abnormalities," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

The risks are greatest for very young, pregnant or lactating women, the elderly and those with inadequate diet or chronic disease, she explains.

Since minerals can be stored in the body and become toxic if too much accumulates, taking mineral supplements can be risky, Dr. Hunt remarks.

by Wilburn Leeper

About ten years ago there was a push in Texas to force consolidation of small school districts. At that time, the promoters thought the ideal school size should be 1600 or more students. The effort went to the stage of actually drawing up boundary lines for perceived districts, but that was dropped when the opposition became organized.

Just recently, Senator Uribe of Harlingen introduced new legislation (S.B. 263) concerning forced school consolidation. Senator Uribe's bill provides for annexing adjacent districts which have less than 500 students to create enlarged districts of 500 or more students. His bill also provides or implies that each county should have at least one school but sparse rural areas of the state were not addressed in the wording of the bill.

Closely related to the new legislation is some money-saving suggestions released by State Comptroller Bob Bullock. Among the ideas submitted last December was the suggestion that consolidating 209 small school districts (500 or fewer ADA) would result in considerable savings to the state. There are something like 450 districts in the state this size so the big question is—whether 209 schools are being considered most for forced consolidation?

Just how much money could be saved by reducing the number of schools in Texas by 209? According to sources in the Comptroller's office, the actual cost savings would amount to more than $66 million. These figures were compiled on the basis of 1982-83 figures and therefore are "very rough" estimates. Considered in the estimates for reduction of potential costs are: state aid, small district adjustments, superintendents, transportation, teachers, special teachers, principals and coaches.

Sixty-six million dollars is a lot of money but is only a drop in the bucket when the total cost of education in Texas is considered. Granted, there probably are some small districts which need to be consolidated but such an issue should be decided by local people on local issues—not strictly on statewide economics. Bigger is not better when it comes to educating children.

Senator Uribe's bill is already stirring up a political hot potato among the small communities statewide. Small schools and communities have struggled before for survival and are gearing for yet another fight. We cannot ignore this issue and hope that it will go away, for certainly it will not. The people of Turkey and Quitaque have always supported their school and may continue with that support by contacting our state representative, senator and governor. All efforts will be appreciated. The addresses of these key offices are listed at the end of this article.

Favorable actions concerning forced school consolidation have been introduced in the House. This action, House Joint Resolution 33, would amend the Texas Constitution by prohibiting the consolidation of school districts without written approval of the boards of trustees of each district to be consolidated. This is the best direction for the legislature to go.

SWEET TOOTH

Do your children seem to "live" on candy, cookies, pop-sicles, sugared cereal and cola? Like many parents, you may be worried that too much refined sugar is leading to tooth decay and reducing the quality of your children's diets.

You may be able to do something about the problem, especially if your children are still young. But it could require changing some of your habits and attitudes as well as theirs.

Children come by their desire for sweets honestly. Studies have shown that infants are born with a preference for sweetened liquids over plain liquids. This preference will continue, especially if children have continued positive experiences with sweets.

As parents and grandparents we create many of these positive experiences by offering sweets to comfort or reward children, to express affection, and to celebrate special occasions. We sometimes use sweets to compensate when we're busy or tired, or to keep the children distracted or quiet.

This doesn't mean we need to give up birthday cakes or put carrots in their Christmas stockings. Recent research shows that giving children sweets in "positive contexts," is not the only reason for their attraction to sugared foods. Far more important is how often children actually eat sweets. This is determined mostly by the parents' own consumption of sweets, and how much television the family watches.

What and how parents eat has a powerful effect on children. Children learn to be sweet-eaters from their parents, just as they learn many other food preferences, like disliking milk or vegetables.

Research also suggests that children who watch more television tend to eat sweet foods more often because they are bombarded with commercials for highly sweetened foods, especially during Saturday morning cartoons.

If you really want to change some of the sweet-eating habits of your children, you will probably need to cut back yourself. (Me, too.) You may also need to talk with them about the differences in the variety of foods we eat for good health in "real life" and what they see in the make-believe world of television.

Some people once believed that they could make it rain by getting a black cat to swim across a stream.

Local Young People Enter Stock In 1985 Houston Show

Twenty-nine 4-H Club and FFA members from Briscoe County have entered stock in the 1985 Houston Livestock Show February 16 - March 3. Animals exhibited by these competitors are a part of the 16,313 junior show entries expected for this year's show. Additionally, 8,960 open show entries and 3,011 horse show entries are expected for exhibition at the 1985 Show.

The Houston Livestock Show, considered the world's largest, holds competition on two levels: for professional breeders and ranchers throughout the world and for FFA and 4-H members, representing 788 clubs and chapters, from throughout Texas.

Market lambs have been entered by 4-H'ers Kori Baird, Bradley Brunson, Keeley Burson, Kim Burson, Krista Garrison, David Lane, Mary Lane, Clay Merrell, Warren Merrell, Chad Powell, Bradley Price, Todd Reagan, Clay Schott, David Schott and Lance Smith.

The county's 4-H'ers have also entered 12 barrows, owned by Bradley Brunson, Josh Brooks, Keeley Burson, Kim Burson, Kristy Fogerson, Penni Fogerson, Warren Merrell, DeLyn Patton, Langdon Reagan, Todd Reagan, Clay Schott and David Schott.

FFA members who entered market lambs are Russell Bingham, Renee' Curry, Shavonne Lowrey. Market barrows were entered by FFA members Kori Baird, Russell Bingham, Renee' Curry, Sloan Grabbe, Serena Layland, Shavonne Lowrey, Robbie McWaters, Jeannita Stephens and Stephen Stephens.

"We take a tremendous amount of pride in knowing that the Houston Livestock Show attracts entries in the junior show that are more than just animals," noted Don Jobs, jr., assistant general manager.

"They represent continuous, hard work by Texas youngsters who've committed themselves to a livestock project. These junior show exhibitors are a rare breed in themselves," he added.

Premium monies available for open and junior show exhibitors top more than half a million dollars in prize money and in premium auction prices paid in excess of market value. Prior to the show, volunteer committee members contact auction buyers to guarantee that each market animal sold in the four junior auctions brings a price above the current market value of the animal.

Junior livestock competition includes beef heifers, dairy cattle, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers, breeding rabbits, market lambs, poultry, swine and steers. For the second year, there will be carcass contests for the market lamb, swine and steer shows.

Beginning with the 1985 show, all junior market turkeys must be purchased from Texas A&M University as poults from the same hatch. Weight limits are then eliminated in the market turkey show due to the standardization and control this rule imposes on potential entries.

The show this year will be the site of the Texas Beef-Cook-Off, a contest to determine the Texas representative to the National Beef Cook-off. Sponsored by the Texas CowBelles, it will be held in the Astorhall on Monday, February 18, and Tuesday, February 19. Five Texas finalists will prepare their beef recipes for judging.

Once again, in the market lamb, barrow and steer shows, the three-judge system will be used. This system helps insure selection of an animal based on production, feeding and carcass merit.

Junior market barrows will again be sifted at the Washington County Fairgrounds in Brenham February 23-24. Sifted barrows are then loaded directly for sale through normal livestock auction consignment. Non-sifted barrows proceed to Houston and the livestock show competition.

In addition to its position as the world's largest livestock show, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo is also the largest donor of agricultural scholarships in the nation. A total charity benefiting youth and education, the show currently has 885 students on scholarships and annually commits $1.9 million to its regular scholarship program.

Also, research project money and scholarship endowment funds are given by the show to colleges and universities throughout Texas.

The first definite route of travel was established in Texas in 1691 when Domingo Teran de los Rios blazed El Camino Real from Monclova to the Spanish missions established among the Indians in East Texas.
