Dr. Dora Crandall Opens Family Health Center In Turkey

Dr. Dora Crandall will call her office the Family Health Center and announces her hours will be from 10:00 to 1:00 and 2:00 to 5:00 week days, and 10:00 to 12:00 on Saturdays. She is not sure yet just which afternoon during the week she will be closed. Her office phone number is 423-1411.

Dr. Crandall has a B.S. degree in medical technology from the American University in Washington, D. C.; and M. S. degree from Texas Women's University, Denton, in science education, and an M.D. from the University Autonoma de Guadalajara, Mexico. She did rotating internship at Long Island Hospital in Brooklyn, New York and practiced 15 months at Attica Clinic, Attica, Kansas. She received her Texas license in December and came home to Texas to look into various locations. She says she selected Turkey because it offered her freedom and flexibility to develop her own talents.

She has purchased the Maxwell home in Turkey. She is remodeling the clinic, which will be going on for the next few months, and is purchasing equipment. She has borrowed money from the Texas Loan Board and will work off the obligation to practice in a rural area for the next five years, she says.

Dr. Crandall is a general practitioner, an affiliate of the American Academy of Family Physicians, Christian Medical Society, American Society of Clinical Pathologists by registry as a medical technologist, and is on staff at Hall County Hospital in Memphis.

She is a widow and has a son who will be a junior on scholarship at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin in September. Her parents live in Richardson, Texas.

The City of Turkey and surrounding area of Quitaque and Flomot are proud to have a doctor serving here again.

The purpose of this meeting is to allow citizens an opportunity to comment on the City of Turkey's proposed application.

This meeting will provide citizens an opportunity to participate in the development of the application. The final application will be submitted to the Texas Department of Community Affairs by June 20, 1984, it was announced this week.

Like many other radio/TV majors, Lee Proctor balances his academic work with a job at a local broadcast station.

Proctor, a Turkey, Texas native and sophomore at Amarillo College, runs camera and videotape and switches commercial breaks at KAMR-TV. He feels this practical training will help to reach his objective to work in engineering eventually at the network level.

"Television is a real competitive market, but Amarillo College students are fortunate because this city is a real good training market," Proctor said. April 26, 1984, Chad, Manuel, Tommy, Joe Wayne, Henry, Lee Roy, Jason, David, Garrett, Bobby and Danny met in the Pinkerton home. The roping activity had to be canceled due to the high wind. Following the Scout Promise and Pledge, the boys drew for places and had a pool tournament. The tournament will be completed at a later date.

April 30, 1984, Garrett and David met at the Pinkerton home. Dens II and III are doing woodworking activities and they began a project for Mother's Day.

May 2, 1984, Danny House met and started his woodworking activity.

May 5, 1984, Chad, Tommy, Kyle, Henry, Lee Roy, Jason, David, Garrett and Danny met at the Pinkerton home. Special guests were Todd Reagan and Russell Simpson. We express a special thanks to these boys for coming and spending the time to teach us the correct way to rope and helping us complete our roping achievement.

The Scout Promise was led by Henry and the Pledge by Kyle.

The boys were served homemade chocolate ice cream. Roping is hot thirsty work and two pitchers of koolaid were consumed.

We are planning a short Mother's Day Party for May 10 from 5:00 until 5:30 p.m.

Schooler-Gordon Acquires Membership In Elite Order

Schooler-Gordon in Quitaque has been accepted for membership in the International Order of the Golden Rule. This firm is affiliated with Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors of Amarillo, which is also a member of the International Order of the Golden Rule.

The Order is comprised of funeral directors from all over the world who are dedicated to keeping in touch with the attitudes of the public. This is accomplished through regularly scheduled seminars and educational meetings at which attendance is required by all members.

Only one funeral home in a community is selected for membership. For this reason, the Order carefully screens all prospects. The decision is based on recommendations made by family members who have used the firm and other professionals in the area.

Dale L. Rollings, Executive Director of the association, stated, "To obtain membership in OGR, all prospects must provide their community with quality funeral service and merchandise at reasonable prices. As a result of the positive response we've received from the Quitaque area, Schooler-Gordon has proven its worthiness to be counted among our members."

Roger Manning is the manager of the Quitaque branch of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

The Superintendent's Corner

by Wilburn Leeper

Pearse High School of Richardson, Texas is to be congratulated for winning the United States Academic Decathlon competition on April 25 in Los Angeles. A team from California placed second, followed by Kentucky, Ohio and Missouri. A total of 39 teams representing 33 states,

New Zealand and Mexico participated in the competition.

Richardson was the winner of the Texas competition in which 20 schools participated. A team consists of six students from the eleventh and twelfth grades and each team must be made up of A, B, and C students. These students compete in a variety of subject areas and must be proficient in speech, interviews, and essay. The culminating activity is the Super Quiz—a team event held before a large audience.

The win by a Texas school is refreshing in light of the fact that so much has been said of late about the sub-par educational condition in Texas. Richardson is not the only school in Texas which has students of this high caliber. Surely, one can travel to all parts of the state and find similar examples where schools are doing an outstanding job of educating youngsters.

The State Board of Education will hold public hearings across the state to receive citizen input on public education in Texas. The hearings will focus on a number of issues, including the recent recommendations adopted by the Select Committee on Public Education. Some recommendations adopted by the Committee have to do with lengthening the school year, extending the school day two hours, career ladder and limiting the class size of grades 1-4. Mrs. Marge West, State Board member from this 13th District, will conduct the hearing. The hearings will be held at Childress High School on May 14 from 5:00 until 8:00 p.m. and in Amarillo on May 17 at the Region 16 Education Service Center, all day.

SAVE TEN PERCENT ON PAPER TOWELS OR GET $1,000

A major U.S. company pledges to save business, industry and institutions ten percent on the cost of their paper towels within three months—or pay $1,000 if they can't.

The challenge also applies to cloth roll towels, when replaced by paper towels.

According to the commercial Products Division of Scott Paper Co.—which has mounted the challenge—the offer is good until Dec. 31, 1984. If that ten percent savings is not realized Scott will pay the user $1,000 in cash or the equivalent in paper towels.

"It's no risk, really," said a Scott spokesman. "By installing the right towels and dispensers, time and time again we have helped our customers cut costs. It's simply that many otherwise money-smart people see washroom products as 'petty cash' items when in fact substantial savings can be realized by really looking into their needs."

NEWS For Motorists

By the year 1990, some of the gasoline in your tank may come from beneath ocean waters that are a mile deep.

Oil is already being produced from beneath 1,000 feet of water in the Gulf of Mexico. It is the world's deepest-water production and, according to petroleum engineers, probably the deepest practical with current technology.

Meanwhile, Conoco has discovered oil beneath 2,000 feet of water in the Gulf. Production from such depths will require a whole new generation of technology.

Conoco engineers are confident that technical advances will make it possible to produce in 6,000 feet of water by the year 1990 and 10,000 feet by the turn of the century. A big technological step in that direction is the tension-leg platform (TLP), conceived by Conoco. The TLP is designed to float and maintain position over the wellsite by steel tethers anchored into the seabed. The world's first TLP is scheduled to bring the Hutton field, in the United Kingdom sector of the North Sea, into production later this year.

The costs of operating offshore are vastly higher than on land (Hutton field development will cost more than $1.5 billion), but oilmen say they must venture into increasingly deeper waters to search for and develop petroleum supplies for the future.

Grass Shows Effect Of Poor And Ill-Timed Rainfall In County

Area ranchers the last two years have had some hard times with rainfall not coming at the right times and grass production shows it in Briscoe County.

"Since we haven't had these badly-needed rains when needed, a lot of our grass pastures need a good rest this summer," says Mike Delano, who is with the Soil Conservation Service headquartered in Silverton. Grasses that are continually grazed year after year will eventually lose their vigor and ability to reproduce and can eventually be grazed out, Delano added.

Now is the time for area ranchers to look at their grazing programs. They need to take a close look and see what pastures need rest the worst and rest them 60-90 days this summer to allow them to re-establish themselves and aid the rancher in producing more pounds of grass to get more pounds of beef and

Biologist studies ways to eliminate deadly snail fever

COLLEGE STATION— Conquering snail fever, one of the few major tropical diseases currently on the increase, is the goal of a Texas A&M University biologist studying how the parasitic infection evades man's immune response.

Under a grant from the National Institutes of Health and the Edna McConnell Clark Foundation, Dr. Michael Kemp is investigating how blood flukes called schistosomes live in the bloodstream of humans for decades without being destroyed by the body's natural defenses.

"The parasite mimicks the normal white blood cells of the host," Kemp explained. "They actually borrow antigens from humans and the body can't recognize them as an enemy."

NEWS OF HEALTH

A tone-emitting drug delivery system for asthma patients has been announced by Key Pharmaceuticals of Miami, Florida. The new prescription device, InspirEase, is for use with the metered dose spray inhaler. The device is designed to make it easier for patients with asthma, emphysema or chronic bronchitis to take their medication correctly.

Until now a major problem was managing to simultaneously activate the aerosol spray canister and breathe in the medication slowly. The new device consists of a vibrating reed fitted in a mouthpiece attached to a compact, portable collapsible bag. The bag functions as a reservoir for the aerosol particles dispensed by metered dose inhalers. By breathing in from the reservoir mouthpiece, rather than the drug canister mouthpiece, InspirEase allows patients more time to inhale the medication in a slow and more efficient manner.

A warning tone is sounded from the reed-fitted mouthpiece if the patient breathes in too rapidly. When the patient breathes in slowly and correctly, the bag quietly collapses.

VALLEY TRACK TEAM PLACES FOURTH, TENTH AT STATE MEET

Coach Robert Phelps and his track team, the girls 400 meter relay and the 800 meter relay, participated in the State Meet at Austin last weekend. The 400 meter relay brought back a fourth place and the 800 meter relay placed tenth, according to Coach Phelps.

Cindy Fulbright was eliminated by default, Coach Phelps states, for starting too soon. That is all right, Cindy, you had a good season.

The alternates for the relays are D'Anna Smith and Renett Brittain.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Woods drove to Lubbock to spend the weekend and Mrs. Woods was delightfully surprised Saturday when she arrived and found her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Corgill, her sister, Mrs. Aline Zumwalt of Kermit and her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Farley, present in the home of the Woods' son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Woods, Ashley and Trevor. The occasion was the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Woods and her grandson, Trevor, who was born on his grandmother's birthday. They report a good time together.

Mrs. Glynn Barrett and daughter, Judy, and Eloise Walker were in Amarillo Saturday.

Danny Barrett, Miller Walker, Troy Jackson and nephew, Shan, were in Amarillo to attend the Tractor Pull Saturday night.

Members brought bread, cakes, pies, cookies, fried pies and candy to sell, and also sandwiches, chips, tea, coffee and cookies were served there for a price.

A big thank-you to everyone who participated and to those who supported the enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. James May attended the Newlin Reunion in Memphis Sunday, April 29. There were 63 present. Ten had deceased since the last reunion. A delicious meal was spread in the community room at Memphis and a lot of good visiting was reported. A program was given and new officers were elected for the ensuing year.

A reunion will be held the last Sunday in April next year.

GREEN NOW!

A love of an idea is in the air. A romance retrospective at New York's Tavern on the Green celebrated Harlequin's 35th anniversary with a display of the company's book covers spanning the years 1949 to 1984.

THEN: In 1949, the idyllic "Honeymoon Mountain" featured two lovers, arms chaste-ly around each other's waist. "Deborah loses her innocence," the cover proclaims.

NOW: Today, Harlequin's "Temptation" line presents more explicit sensuality in the context of a loving relationship. Sales of the firm's romance novels soared from 19 million in 1970 to over 218 million in 1983. Now they are translated into 15 languages and sold in over 90 countries.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

America's bridges, dams, waterlines and sewers are falling apart. Years of neglect have brought us to the brink of catastrophe.

According to William Mulligan, president of Ingersoll-Rand Company's Construction Equipment Group, last year's 5-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax imposed to repair our aging public works system will produce only about 10 percent of the revenue needed.

"We must help people realize the vital importance of rebuilding our roads, bridges and other systems," Mulligan says. "When people become interested and excited about the seriousness of the situation, they will become involved."

Hundreds of involved citizens are writing to Ingersoll-Rand at Dept. M2, 200 Chestnut Ridge Road, Woodcliff Lake, NJ 07675 for a free action kit. The kit provides information and assistance needed to successfully contact elected officials and make your voice heard. It also includes a digest of pertinent articles, a legislative status report, a questionnaire and additional source material.

HESSTON The PRIME LINE

May Is American Bike Month

For the past twenty-five years, May has been designated American Bike Month. And this year more Americans than ever are expected to take to the road for this annual celebration of the joys of bicycling.

Bicycling, in today's fitness oriented society, is an efficient and fun form of exercise, as well as a way to commute to work, sightsee or compete in cross-country racing.

And this year, bicycling is of even greater interest as the 23rd Olympiad, scheduled to be held in Los Angeles this summer, offers an opportunity for American gold medals. For the first time ever, women cyclists will be competing—in a 70-kilometer road race.

Bicycling For Exercise

Bicycling fits perfectly into a well-balanced exercise program with an efficiency that is hard to beat. When you bicycle regularly, the pulse rate slows, the functional capacity of the lungs, heart, joints, and muscles is improved, and blood fat and cholesterol levels fall. In effect, bicycling reduces your chances of heart attack, increases your endurance, and provides an outlet for tension. Bicycling is also just plain fun. It provides a personal sense of accomplishment, a way for you and your family to enjoy the outdoors together, and leads to exciting recreational opportunities.

The ten-speed style bicycle has contributed greatly to the popularity of bicycles during the 1970's and 80's as a form of exercise. Ten-speeds come in many sizes and price ranges, and with many different features to suit riders. But before you rush out and buy a ten-speed, consider your needs carefully. One of the newest style, all-terrain bikes may appeal to you more, or it may be that a trusty single-speed, three-speed, or five-speed bicycle may prove adequate. Whether your needs can best be met by a single-speed or multi-gear bicycle is something only you can decide.

Interesting Bicycling Facts

If you haven't started bicycling yet this year, hurry. Here's some bicycle trivia that should help raise your interest:

- There are 95 million bicycles in the U.S. and 19 million daily bicycle trips.
- Since 1972, more bicycles have been sold than automobiles.
- Current use of bicycles saves more than 300 million gallons of gasoline a year.
- The bicycle speed record is 138.67 mph.
- The League of American Wheelmen, responsible for the first bicycle road maps at the beginning of this century, now boasts nearly 20,000 members.
- Henry Ford and the Wright Brothers both began in the bicycle business.
- Bicycles played a major role in women's liberation when bloomers were first designed to allow women to ride two-wheelers in comfort.
- Major Taylor was one of the first black American athletes to break the color barrier in any sport when he was recognized as the national cycling champion in 1900.

• The bicycle industry was the first to use the assembly line for production of vehicles.

FACTS & FIGURES

Nearly 100 million ounces of silver bullion have been accumulated in this country during the past year, reports the Bureau of Mines.

For the third consecutive year, silver available in the U.S. has been surplus to domestic industrial needs, totaling some 150 million ounces over the three years.

For silver to remain $3.50 above the average for 1982, experts report that more than 100 million ounces had to be stashed away by speculators and investors.

Industrial demand for silver is down. During the fourth quarter, 1983, consumption of silver at 27.7 million ounces was down 6.4 percent from the third quarter, according to the Bureau of Mines.

It's also reported that to meet the extraordinary investor demand, net imports of silver reached a record level of 148 ounces, or some 23 million ounces above the previous high of 125 million ounces in 1974.

Check Homecoming Addresses For Changes Advised

In checking through the mailing list of the Ex-Students of Quitaque Schools, it has been noticed there are several names with old addresses. If your son or daughter has moved or changed address within the last three years, please call Rice Dry Goods, 455-1450, and Melba Merrell will check the files and get the address corrected.

The cards of Homecoming reminders have been mailed, but if an address is to be corrected, there are enough cards left to make the correction.

Looking Your BEST

Today, the radiant look of good health is in vogue. Beauty and health are inseparable. With this new outlook, many Americans are enhancing their health and appearance by maintaining a balanced diet, exercising, and seeking the help of medical science.

Attention to one's appearance is a sign of self-esteem. According to San Francisco psychologist Dr. Louise Atcheson, "a healthy person wants to look as good as he or she feels." Caring about your looks isn't frivolous. It can make you feel happier and even healthier.

A growing number of healthy men and women are seeking medical options from plastic surgeons and dermatologists to enhance their appearance. Neck, face, or eye lifts can soften the effects of gravity. The skin can be resurfaced with dermabrasion or a chemical peel.

Certain expression lines, acne scars, and minor skin depressions can be filled in with a nonsurgical procedure using Zyderm® Collagen injections. Of course, only a qualified physician can determine which procedure is appropriate.

"At first, patients are troubled by wanting to change how they look," says Dr. Atcheson. "They feel they're vain." Dr. Atcheson finds the incongruence common among patients. But not to fret, she says. "The person who cares about appearance reflects an attitude of healthy narcissism. If you feel good about yourself on the inside, you want the outside to match."

The Briscoe County News will be open all the days mentioned above except Friday, May 18.

CARDS OF THANKS

Last week, when our school was destroyed by a tornado, help of every kind poured into our community. The faculty, administration, and school board of the Motley County School would like to say a special thanks to all of those from surrounding communities who helped us salvage textbooks, teaching supplies, and furniture and move them to shelter. Many of them brought us loads of boxes so that we could box up our books and supplies;
many of them volunteered the use of their pickups and trailers;
and many of them just donated lost of hard work and good will.
No donation was insignificant,
and we sincerely appreciate each and every one of them.
Haden Moore

We want to thank all our friends and relatives for the kind letters and flowers while my husband was in the hospital
when he had his gall bladder removed, and also the beautiful flowers sent. A special "hello" to my brother, Doc Conner, and his family in Turkey and Quitaque.
My husband is doing fine.

WIDENING THE SUPPLY GAP

AUSTIN — Discussions
concerning cutting back the vocational training in public schools center on transferring the bulk of job skills training from the schools to the employer.

Most small businesses cannot afford training programs, which would only widen an already broad gap between demand for and supply of trained workers.

Of the employers who can afford to provide in-house training, most will pass the added costs on to the consumer in the way of higher prices for their goods and services.

Nearly one-half of all 16-19 year-olds in Texas
enter the labor force upon or soon after they graduate from or leave high school.
Public school vocational education is the only opportunity for many of these young people to receive job skills training.
Vocational education is one of the most economical approaches to providing job skills training.

When Britain recently underwent an unemployment rise from two to thirteen percent during the recent recession, among the most significant factors discovered was that the unemployment rate among youth finishing secondary schools was as high as 85 percent. The reasons for their unemployment were:
1. wages for youth were high and they had no job
skills to offer employers;
and 2. vocational education
had been abolished for Britain's secondary schools in the early 1960's.

The country is presently reintroducing vocational education into its secondary schools. Britain's productivity levels have suffered and it is 25-30 years behind the United States by not having vocational training available to secondary students.

There are those who call vocational education antiquated. They said classes are small and that special privileges are granted. They also say that training costs
twice as much as academics and that all special funding should be cut. Finally, they say that job placement rates for graduates in the fields in which they are trained are low, making it a waste of taxpayers' dollars.

Much of this criticism is unjustified. Low numbers in laboratory programs are not uncommon. Chemistry laboratories, for example,
will have small classes comparable to many vocational labs. Because of safety hazards, especially in working with power equipment
such as saws and lathes, small classes are sometimes necessary.

Vocational education does
cost more than academics.
This in itself is not a criticism, but a fact. Efforts are under way to reduce costs somewhat by combining many classes and improving the teacher/pupil ratio. Eliminating vocational education altogether would only serve to increase the unemployment of teens,
resulting in higher welfare and rehabilitation costs for the future.

Finally, of all vocational education graduates who entered the work force after high school, sixty-seven percent were employed in a field for which they were trained. Thus, nearly seven out of every ten graduates who seek jobs do get employment related to their high school training.

Just as in any other segment of education there are problems with vocational education. Some of the criticisms are justified and others are not. But, it is not fair to single out vocational education as the scapegoat for the decline in academic levels.
