THEN and NOW!
by Walter Wayne Taylor

I know I'm not old enough to have had that much experience with death, at the same time it is not something that comes at a certain age like a driver's license. Several things lately have caused this article. (The deaths of) J. P. Taylor, Don Ewing, Jan Merrell, and Jeff Piper: my uncle, my principal, a schoolmate's wife, a fellow teacher and several things I have read lately.

I know after Fat's death for awhile I wondered, how can people around me keep acting like things are still the same. They aren't. The same was true when Mr. Ewing died. This time the feeling was stronger because I went to school every day and that was a reminder. I still think of Mr. Ewing most everyday. Something unrelated to education triggers the thought. I don't think it matters what triggers the thought, the important thing is the thought. I think Mr. Ewing, rather than Don, because that is what I called him during school hours.

I did not know Jan Merrell very well. Her death effected me because she was the wife of a schoolmate, she had children in the same grades as mine. I could not help but think how this would have affected me if Kathy had died. This went through my mind a lot. And---

A week and a half later Jeff died. I was the first adult to get to his classroom. After deciding to give CPR, and that not working, I was and still am, affected greatly. I miss him a lot. I feel like he was a teacher that CARED for his students. We would talk about ways to improve things for the student's benefit. I also looked up to his relationship with the students. I do not think this relationship hurt what he wanted to accomplish in the class, if anything it helped. I feel a great loss.

Soon after Jeff's death, I read something in the paper. The person writing did not want people to avoid talking of the dead. The writer wanted to know that you hadn't forgotten their loved one. Then, right after this, our church newsletter talked of grief training.

Now, to what I want to ask with this article. Is it true? To those of you that have had people close to you die, do/did you want others to speak of them? Or at the very least, want others not to try to speak of them? Did that make sense? Do/did you get the idea that your friends are/were trying not to speak of your (spouse, parents, child, etc). Does/did this make you feel better, or does/did this make you feel that your friends are/were trying to forget them, deny their existence?

I have no idea how I would feel under those circumstances. I do know that I speak of Jeff often. And now that I think of it, I don't recall hearing anyone else using his name. I would think that if my (wife, parent, etc.) died, I would want to talk of them. And perhaps, if no one would bring up their name, I would not either.

Help me out here. How do/did you want your friends to act around you at the time and after time has passed?

Thanks for the help. I think Eunice can make a good column out of your replies.

A planning meeting was held Monday night for activities slated for June 5th in Quitaque. The events are planned in conjunction with the grand opening of the Caprock Canyons State Park Trailway.

About 20 Chamber members, individuals and organization representatives met to discuss ideas and make suggestions for the day's activities. Some events already planned include a craft show sponsored by Friends of the Library, an antique car display, a quilt show and refreshment stand serving pie, iced tea and lemonade sponsored by We the Women, homemade ice cream for sale from the Baptist Youth, A Mexican food booth with drinks chalupas, burritos and tacos sponsored by the Quitaque Catholic Community and cokes sold by the Valley 4-H Club. The Buffalo Soldiers from Abilene are scheduled to perform, along with other groups, riding clubs, hikers and entertainers from throughout Texas.

Many other activities are still in the planning stages. The Quitaque Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the noon barbecue lunch and the dance slated for Saturday night, along with the

by Ann Coker

It was so good to see Delores Price back at work in Lacy's last Saturday. A week ago Friday, noon, Delores suddenly became quite ill while at work. Velma Lacy and Lacy Shannon filled in for Delores while she went home. Late Friday afternoon Delores' husband, Hubert Price, took her to Amarillo and entered her in the hospital.

Mrs. Price's doctors released her to return home late Sunday, a week ago. She recuperated at home and as of last week-end she was nearly back to par.

Saw some very happy grandparents last week--Ricky and Sandy Fuston. They had their little granddaughter with them for a few days. The little girl is Danielle Fuston, daughter of the Randy Fustons of Amarillo.

I have wondered why I never see Mrs. Johnny D. (Lindy) Mullin. Discovered she is attending Beauty School in Clarendon College. Good luck, Lindy!

Rita Guest received a phone call recently from her brother, Olen Lane of Midland. Olen told Rita his wife, Margaret, had gone to Amarillo last week-end to be with her sister, Willadean (Owens) Ebbs. Mrs. Ebbs is at the bed-side of her husband, Bill Ebbs who is critically ill in an Amarillo Hospital. Mr. Ebbs recently had lung surgery. Margaret Lane, Bill and Willadean Ebbs are all Quitaque ex-residents.

Mrs. R.C. Green was quite excited last Sunday as she was looking forward to a trip to El Paso to visit her daughter, Anita Kay. Mrs. Green had flown out of Lubbock.

Received an interesting phone call the other day from Mrs. Greene. She said that last Wednesday night while watching the show "Nashville Now" on channel TV the master of ceremonies, Johnny Russell, did a special on Bob Wills. A lot of Bob Wills music was played, but also pictures of Turkey were shown of a Bob Wills Week-end. Of course we missed it as we don't have cable.

Mary and Wayne had an exciting week-end. They traveled to Hamlin to visit with their daughter and family, Tanya, Allen, Courtney and Clayton. While there they attended a Jr. High Track meet in which their granddaughter participated.

It was good to see Mary Hogue back in town last week. She was back to attend to some business. She spent the night with her friend, Izell Proctor.

Louis and Oleta Randall made a trip to Amarillo last Sunday to pick up some needed supplies for their new home. Mrs. Randall also informed me that she had a tremendous garage sale last Saturday. It does pay to advertise in the Valley Tribune.

While visiting with Tom Eudy last Thursday, which was, supposedly, the last day of winter, I commented that now that winter is over we can put our winter clothes in storage. "Yes," he agreed, "If we stand in front of the stove."

Visitors and long-time friends of Burl and Vida Pierce last Wednesday night in their home were, Jack and Nola Pipkin from Andrews, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Done of Modesta, California.

Valley FFA Enters Judging Contests

Valley FFA will be on the road for the coming few days. Tuesday March 23, 1993, 10 Valley FFA Students will travel to Tarleton to enter judging contests on Wednesday.

Friday, March 26, 1993, Valley FFA Students will enter judging contests at West Texas State University. On Saturday the students will be in competition at Clarendon Junior College in Clarendon.
