Caprock Canyons, Quitaque Said "Model for Entire State"

Quitaque and Caprock Canyons State Park were represented at the Texas Trails Symposium which was held in Austin last week. Park Superintendent Rusty Sargent, Mayor Elgin Conner, and Chamber President Steve Ulrey were in attendance. Over three hundred people participated in the symposium, the first such event in Texas.

The event was jointly sponsored by the Texas parks and Wildlife Department, the National Park Service, Texas A&M University, and the Austin Parks and Recreational Department. Recreational professionals and various interest groups were brought together to look at a wide spectrum of issues.

Speakers included: John Cook, Regional Director of the National Park Service, Edward Emmett, Vice Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Peter Harnik, Vice President of the Rails to Trails Conservancy, Ron Holliday, Director of Public Lands Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, James Kern, Past President of the Florida Trail Association, Patrick Noonan, President of the Conservation Fund (a national nature conservancy), Andrew Sansom, Executive Director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and others.

A highlight of the conference came during Director Sansom's banquet speech when he acknowledged Rusty Sargent. Mr. Sansom sees the cooperative work going on between Caprock Canyons State Park and the Quitaque community as being a model for the entire state.

Ambulance Service Plans Show, Sale

The Quitaque Ambulance Service met during the first week of November, for their regular meeting. Ambulance runs made during the past month were reviewed and discussed.

Those present spent the remainder of the meeting painting, cleaning and making plans in preparations for the Country Christmas December 14, 1991.

Attending this month's meeting were: Judy Barrett, Sandra Barclay, Erma Washington, Linda Turner, Albert Castillo, Kellye Nielsen, Dianne Washington and Matt Barrett.

As previously printed the Ambulance Service will be presenting a "Live Nativity Scene" with a reading of the "Christmas Story" at 10 a.m. on Main Street in front of Texas Horse Pads.

Members of the Ambulance Service will be on hand at the Fire Hall during the day to show the ambulance and equipment to interested persons. They will also be handing out candy canes and emergency phone number stickers for your telephones.

While there also be sure to register for the two door prizes that will be given away at 5 p.m. that afternoon. You do not have to be present to win.

Also, on display at the Fire Hall will be a map recently compiled by Erma, Linda, Sandra and Judy, depicting all rural residents of Quitaque and Flomot, and all city residents of Flomot. This map will enable the Ambulance Service to provide our communities with a more rapid response.

Throughout the day the EMTs will be selling homemade holiday goodies by individual servings which will be donated by volunteers to help the EMT Service, at the Fire Hall, not the community center as earlier reported.

Remember to stop by the Fire Hall. See You December 14.

VALLEY PATRIOTS

Hard-Hitting Valley Patriots Take Bi-District Win Friday, 24-21

by Coach Gilmore

The Valley Patriots used an aggressive defense and a big play offense to knock off the #4 ranked McLean Tigers from the playoffs. With the 24 to 21 win Valley moves into the Regional Finals against 7th ranked Silverton (10-1) at Silverton Friday November 22nd at 7:30 p.m.

The Bi-District game with McLean started as if Valley would end up on the short end again. McLean beat Valley by 8 points in last year's Bi-District game.

McLean took a 15-0 lead midway into the second quarter with two TDs by Daniel Harris. Valley had a hard time handling the ball and had two fumbles in the second quarter. That gave McLean the ball deep in Patriot territory, but the Patriot Defense withstood the test and kept the Tigers out of the end zone.

With only 6 seconds on the clock before half, Valley scored its first TD on a 70 yd run as time ran out. Clay Edwards took a hand off from Lawrence Hendrix and with several great blocks put the Patriots back into the game. Bradley Price added the extra points and Valley went into half trailing 15-8.

Thanksgiving Meal, Service

The annual Quitaque Thanksgiving gathering is planned for Monday, November 25, 7 p.m., at the Community Center. Some different things are planned this year. The festivities will get under way with a covered-dish supper at 7 p.m. A devotional time and time for sharing will follow the meal. The offering for the Community Thanksgiving Fund will be received.

Throughout the year persons in need are helped by this fund. The fund is only large enough to handle emergencies and transient needs, normally. The Thanksgiving service and fund is sponsored by the congregations of First Baptist Church, the Church of Christ, and the First United Methodist Church.

Valley came out fired up the third quarter and held the Tigers scoreless and put 2 points on the Board with a safety. When the 4th quarter started Valley trailed 15-10. A 51 yard interception by Chad Calvert gave Valley the lead for good. Cory Pointer hit McLean's quarter back who then tried to pitch it and Calvert stepped in. The extra point by Price gave Valley a 18-15 lead.

On McLean's next series. Chad Powell jumped on a McLean fumble to give Valley another chance to score. Clay Edwards took it in from two yards out to give Valley a 24-15 lead with 3:15 left. McLean was not finished as they drove the field to score on a 1 yard run by Tuffy Sanders. The kick failed and Valley's lead was cut to 3.

With 1:04 left McLean tried an onside kick and was successful to give themselves one more chance. The first play was a screen that was stopped hard by a crushing hit by Bradley Price. Three incomplete passes later, Valley won its first Bi-District Championship since 1986. Leading the charge on defense was Chad Calvert with 19 tackles,

New Library Sets Book Sale During Country Christmas

by Arlene Hinkle

December 14--Caprock Country Christmas--that is also the date of our book sale. We will have a large selection of hardback and paperback books at nominal prices. Make plans to stop by the Library on that day. Check out our book sale--and pick up your Library card. We will need your name and address and your first card is free.

We have been receiving new book selections weekly, including several childrens books from the Newberry, Caldecott, and Texas Bluebonnet Books. We have also received part of our core collection of reference books.

The Library received a letter from Eula Merrell Dewitz of Kennewick, WA., expressing her interest in our progress. She is also donating several craft and quilting books when she visits her mother, Vivian Merrell in April.

We hope to have the cataloging finished by Thanksgiving so that the next four weeks can be devoted to typing cards, attaching spines, book pockets, and transparent covers, any volunteers will be most welcome.

Early Press Date Thanksgiving Week

The Valley Tribune will have an early Press Date on Thanksgiving Week. News and Ads deadline will be 4 p.m. on Monday November 25, 1991.

THEN & NOW!

Support--what a word--it always makes me think of huge boards supporting a large building or stadium--But the word has many more meanings than this. Stop and think how many ways we give support and receive support. We give support when we give of our time to a person needing someone to talk to. We give support when we help some one less fortunate than us a hand, whether it be to cross the street or to paint their house. We gave support last year to our Military when the war was going on in the Middle East. We give support when we give our time, money or talents to help a worthy cause, no matter if it is money or time or energy to the local library, cemetery fund or Cancer drive.

Where am I leading with all these words about support--Well have you supported a child lately--whoa hold on! I don't mean money wise--Have you given a child near and dear to you or a friend down the street's child a word of encouragement lately?

The young people of today are our leaders of tomorrow. What they learn in today world is what they will replace in their adult world--What are we teaching them? Are we teaching them that rules really do count? A world without rules would be utter chaos. Are we teaching them the joy of a job well done with a pat on the back?

Our school has played hard in football this year to reach the regional playoffs. How many ways can we show these young men that we support them? See how many you can dream up and not only dream about but carry through! Next time you meet a young person on the street let them know you support them in their quest for adulthood, knowledge and worthwhile activities! Not only will that young person feel better as he walks on down the street but you will walk away with a warm glow in your heart just knowing that you have added a bit of joy in someone's life!

KKAP Radio Station, 900 AM or 95.3 FM, Floydada will be broadcasting the Valley-Silverton regional play-off game live on Friday, November 22, 1991 and also on Saturday morning, November 23, 1991.

WTU Honors Employees For Service

Twenty nine employees were honored Monday, November 18, for service to West Texas Utilities Co. and its customers during the company's annual service and safety awards dinner held at the Elk's Lodge in Childress.

This is one of six dinners the electric utility will hold throughout its 52,000 square mile service area. Attending the event were employees and spouses from WTU's Northern Division.

Presentations to the honorees were made by Glen Churchill, president and chief executive officer of the electric utility.

Receiving awards from the local area were Jesse Turner, 25 years, service, and Glenda Williams, 5 years, service, both of Matador; Tamara Lucero, 10 years, service, Turkey; and Keith Edwards, service and safety, 10 years, Quitaque.

HOLIDAY DECKING

Instead of decking the halls this Christmas, many wives may feel like "decking" their husbands, according to a psychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Couples should plan the holidays together so that no one feels overwhelmed or left out," said Dr. Nancy J. Warren, clinical associate professor of psychiatry and director of the Family Transition Program at Baylor.

Women traditionally coordinate the family festivities during Thanksgiving and Christmas, while husbands often stay in the background and wait to be called upon. This apparent lack of interest can cause marital tension.

Between their careers, making the gift list, buying the gifts, addressing and mailing cards, baking goodies and decorating the house, wives usually have little time left over for their husbands. This too can put a strain on a marriage.

Warren suggests that couples make a list of what needs to be done, but set priorities. Determine who will do what and equally share the chores, even those that may be unpleasant. Time management and a firm budget are especially important to get through Thanksgiving preparations and hectic shopping days.

Stress levels differ from family to family. To limit stress, Warren advises developing realistic holiday expectations.

"For example, many families anticipate a closeness during the holidays that they do not have during the year and become disappointed when it does not happen," Warren said.

Families that recently experienced a loss through death or divorce may want to create new holiday traditions if the old ones do not feel "right" anymore.

The basic strategies for coping with stress are: eat and drink moderately, exercise, manage time and make certain that you find time for yourself and if necessary, find a support group.

"A support group can be helpful," said Warren. "The holidays bring more referrals for depression than any other time of year."

So decorate that tree, send out those cards, buy those presents, attend those parties, cook that turkey, but relax—there are 35 more days until Christmas.

Water Board Initiates Study Of Ground-Water

The Texas Water Development Board has initiated a detailed study of the ground-water resources of the North Central Plains of Texas which focuses on the North Texas Alluviums and Paleozoic Formations.

The Study area includes all or parts of the following counties: Briscoe, Childress, Cottle, Donley, Floyd, Hall, Motley, and Swisher along with other counties.

The study is in response to the 1985 passage of H.B. 2 by the Sixty-ninth Texas Legislature which called for the identification of critical ground-water areas in the State. A critical ground-water area is one that is either currently experiencing critical ground-water problems or that is expected to experience critical problems within the next 20 years.

Major topics to be addressed in the study include the occurrence and availability of ground water, identification of present and potential water resource problems, and estimation of future demands that will be placed on those resources. Of special interest will be the determination of the occurrence of water-quality deterioration, its extent, and the natural or man-induced cause of the change.

At the conclusion of the study, a report containing the Board's findings will be submitted to the Texas Water Commission. The report will be used by the Commission in its consideration of the creation of an underground water conservation district for the area. Such districts provide locally-controlled management of the ground-water resources of the area.

Information about this study or other ground-water related topics is available by writing the Texas Water Development Board, P.O. Box 13231, Austin, Texas 78711-3231.

TDPS Urges Driver Safety On Holidays

One of the most heavily travelled periods we encounter is during the Thanksgiving holiday. This increased traffic has area and statewide law enforcement officials pondering what can be done to raise traffic safety awareness during this critical driving period.

Major V. J. Cawthon, Regional Commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety stated, "We know that the potential for injury and loss of life is greater during holiday periods, especially a high volume holiday like Thanksgiving. We are asking people to drive defensively."

Many motorists have heard the term "defensive driving", however, it seems few know what it involves. "Most of the art of defensive driving comes from common sense and your own instinct. Training and knowledge of the proper procedures make these senses more effective," Cawthon explained.

Defensive driving can and should become a way of life for all drivers regardless of age or experience according to safety experts. Don't assume the other driver will make the right move. Be prepared for anything. Defensive drivers are in tune with their minds and bodies as well as the road. They are ready for any situation the road might hand them.

But, some drivers are out of tune. They give in to distractions; daydreams, fatigue, anger, stress, frustration or perhaps alcohol. They are not prepared to react when a dangerous situation arises.

Defensive drivers also make fewer mistakes. Drivers on the average make one error for every two miles they travel. While not every mistake leads to an accident, about 85% of all collisions are the result of driver error. "The most common mistake is speeding. Most people don't match an appropriate speed with driving conditions," Major Cawthon added.

Once, again, all available Troopers will be on the highways this holiday as they have in the past to try to make the roads as safe as possible for all of us. This holiday give safety a second thought.

Processors Feed Hungry

Hunters can provide thousands of meals to hungry people across the state by sharing their deer and antelope with the Hunters for the Hungry program. With the help of several public and charitable organizations, including the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, hunters can donate freshly killed deer and antelope that will be delivered to one of 18 food banks in the state.

The program is sponsored for the second year by the End Hunger Network-Houston. "This program gives Texas hunters an opportunity to participate in their sport while not wasting food, and provide the hungry in Texas with an excellent source of low-fat red meat," said Mary Keegan, president of End Hunger Network-Houston.

Hunters will be asked to contribute $15 (tax deductible) to the meat processor to pay for processing and packaging. Two-pound frozen packages of meat will be picked up by representatives of the food banks around the state and distributed to the needy. More than 170 meat processors have volunteered to accept meat donations this year, up from 70 last year.

Although a late start in 1990 led to only 70 processors participating, 212 deer were donated, providing 7,411 pounds of meat for the program. This meat provided an estimated 22,233 meals for the hungry.

"We hope to do several times that this year," said Sister Francis Klinger, executive director of the End Hunger Network-Houston.

Do Gooders Club Learns Of Microwave Party Treats

The Do Gooders' Club of Flomot met Tuesday afternoon, November 12, at the Community Center with Ms. Beverly Thomas, Home Extension Agent of Vernon, giving dexterous instructions for Microwave Party Treats and decorative Christmas gift wrapping.

The delicious microwave treats included Tiger Butter, Velveta Cheese Fudge, Caramel Corn and a Radish and Creamed Cheese Dip. She gave demonstrations on ways to spread holiday cheer using colored Saran Wrap inside gift baskets, for holiday bows and wrapping fruit cakes. She displayed the art of sponge painting to decorate brown paper sacks to enclose gifts, and gave holiday brochures to each one attending.

Mesdames D. M. Gilbert, Coy Franks and Doyle Calvert presided at a Thanksgiving motif service. The table was draped with an orange cloth with imprinted turkeys on the scalloped edge. The centerpiece was a cascading ivy plant in an eucalyptus basket. Refreshments of crackers, chips and dip and the microwave party treats were served with cranberry punch and coffee.

Mrs. Calvert, president, conducted the business meeting. It was voted to take baked goods to be sold at the Quitaque EMT booth at Country Christmas in Quitaque, December 14. The money earned will help defray expenses for needed medical equipment and supplies. Four Flomot women are active members of the Quitaque EMT. For the convenience of those furnishing baked goods to sell, you can bring them to the Do Gooders' Club meeting at the Flomot Community Center, December 10. Mrs. Bill Washington, EMT member, will take them to Quitaque.

We The Women Entertained

Sixteen people were present last Tuesday, November 12, for the noon luncheon for "We The Women."

Entertainment was presented by John and Maebelle Francis with a "Singing Hat Show" featuring musical numbers and costumes from several decades.

From the early 1900's they performed "When You Wore a Tulip" and the "Flapper Years" in the 1920's featured "Five Foot Two." John played a medley of patriotic songs from the 1940's and in 1950 "Put Another Nickle In" was popular. Maebelle sang the song "My Way" translated into "God's Way" from the 1960's and the program closed with the musical number from the 1990's "I Am Proud To Be An American." The program was outstanding and enjoyed by everyone present.

Several of the ladies from "We The Women" traveled to Silverton to meet with the Century of Progress Study Club. The two organizations are joining together in presenting a Historical Program in February.

THIRD GRADE NEWS

by Mary Elizabeth Pigg

A new day has begun in third grade. Last week we had a pep rally. It was Jr. High's. All the third grade girls did two yells.

We have all been making graphs in social studies. Also we learned pie graphs, diagrams and line graphs. We made graphs of the students in K-5. The third grade made a Thanksgiving bulletin board.

We listened to three books of Hank the Cowdog in reading. In computer class we wrote our own stories of him. Mrs. Pigg hung them out in the hall so everyone could see them. Valley had a poster contest. Ours was strip the tigers.

The Counselor's Corner....

AM I EXPECTING TOO MUCH

by Rhonda Cochran

Many parents are concerned that they are expecting too much from their child or not enough. All too often parents are seeing one of two things happening: a child who struggles because of unrealistically high goals or a child who becomes a chronic underachiever because of low goals.

Most children are keenly aware of their parents' expectations, and they tend to believe they must live up to those expectations in order to be worthy of love. A major portion of a child's perception of self worth is a direct interpretation of how he believes his parents see him. For this reason, it is important for you as a parent to examine the expectations you have for your child.

During the next few days, make an effort to observe your behavior toward your child. Try to identify your expectations. You may even want to write each one down and look at it in the light of the following thoughts:

Why do I have this expectation? Where did it come from? What's in it for me?

Is it based on my need or my child's? What purpose does it serve?

Does it realistically fit my child at this age and with his temperament and background?

By looking inside yourself, you may uncover one of the various beliefs that affect your behavior toward your child, i.e., "People will think less of me if my child isn't good at....." By recognizing this, you can deal with it rather than blindly reacting with expectations that meet your needs alone.

The primary issue in this concern is that every parent wants his child to reach his full potential. The focus falls on how can I, as a parent, help. Offering encouragement is a key.

Encouragement Essential To Child's Performance

Encouragement implies faith in the child as he is, not in his potential. Rather than saying "You'd better do better next week!" parents should say, "I believe you will try harder next week." The latter statement carries encouragement and guidance and it supports the child's self esteem.

The following statements by Dr. Clint Reimer, are intended to be of help to parents in nurturing success in their children. Whether these suggested remarks will in fact be encouraging will depend on the attitude of the parent using them. Is the feeling one of belief in the child? Does it imply trust, confidence, and acceptance sometimes mixed with humor, or is the feeling one of moralizing, lecturing and impatience, which implies lack of acceptance, lack of confidence and distrust?

"I can understand why you feel (angry, upset, disappointed), but I'm sure you'll be able to handle it." (not sympathy, but empathy)

Sympathizing with another person seldom helps him, rather it conveys that life has been unfair to him. Understanding the situation and believing in the child's ability to adjust to it are of much greater help to him.

"You do a good job of...." Children should be encouraged when they do not expect it, when they are not asking for it. It is possible to point out some useful act or contribution in each child. Even a comment about something small and insignificant to us, may have great importance to a child.

"You have improved in...." Growth and improvement are something we should expect from all children. They may not be where we would like them to be, but if there is progress, there is less chance for discouragement. Children will usually continue to try if they can see some improvement.

"Let's try it together." Children who think they have to do things perfectly are often afraid to attempt something new for fear of making a mistake or failing.

FIRST GRADE NEWS

by Celia Johnson

This weeks spelling champs are: Sara Fierro, Ava Jo Sargent, Natalie Wheeler, and Danielle Price. Way to go!

Last weeks First grade won the trophy for most spirited. We had lots of fun making our sign for the pep rally, doing chants for elementary and high school, and painting our hearts to show that we love the Patriots.

Kindergarten and First grade did a mini-walk for Cystic Fibrosis that was very successful. We had to walk indoors due to the weather. We followed the walk with a coke party.

Please encourage your child to write letters, cards, and stories. Have a fun THANKSGIVING.

GTE Utilizes High Tech Test System

GTE is presently utilizing two computer based testing systems that operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The first system analyzes the circuitry of the main telephone switching system in all of their serving locations. The primary target for the system is to identify weak areas before they become service affecting. The system has proved to be a valuable tool for telephone company personnel because of its ability to seek out potential problems. Ideally, it will isolate a problem and give enough statistics about the situation that repairs can be made long before the customer is aware of the potential problem.

The second system utilized by GTE is designed to test local and long distance circuitry in the switching equipment. It actually performs an in depth analysis identical to that of a long distance call being processed. It will also isolate a particular problem associated with long distance calling so that necessary adjustments can be made before the customers actually experience a problem.

Both systems provide repair personnel with in depth details as soon as it isolates a potential problem.
