THEN NOW!

by Eunice McFall

I think all of us were reminded this past week about how fragile life really is. We have no guarantees of how many days we have to enjoy life on this earth. So it seems we should try to remember each day how precious each hour is to us. Yes, I know there are lots of hours we would rather not have to go through but if all our hours were sweet, pleasant or fun we would never realize how sweet, pleasant or fun they were!

Our reactions to all good is rather like our reaction to luxury—first an item such as a dish washer starts out being a luxury. Before too long we begin to think of it as a necessity!

This is the way with all good days, we begin to believe that they are our due, that we deserve the best all the time. Life does not treat us this way. We have to conquer the bad as well as enjoy the good! Sometimes to conquer the bad takes all of our fortitude but conquer it we can and must. Then we will wake up to a better day, tomorrow.

Everyone encounters sorrow, problems, troubles that seem impossible to surmount. But if we try a bit harder each day to overcome whatever is bothering us, eventually it will be better—perhaps never as it once was or as we want it to be but acceptable. This we can live with.

We need to always try to believe that tomorrow will be a better day and to live our own lives so that we do help make that tomorrow a better day not only for ourselves but for our families, friends, neighbors and just our world in general.

Officials that we talked to said that, contrary to the rumors being circulated about in our area, Mr. Timmons was not dismembered.

Not repeating malicious gossip is one way to make this a better world in which to live, not only for yourself but for others.

OTHO STUBBS

Autograph Party To Honor Artist Otho Stubbs Monday

Local artist Otho Stubbs will be honored Monday, August 31, with an autograph party at Turkey Branch of Memphis State Bank. The occasion is the release of his new book called "A Lasting Legacy."

"A Lasting Legacy" is the story of Otho's life, as dictated to his wife Dora, written in a unique style. Not only is it a history of his life, but of the world as he has perceived it in his lifetime, interspersed with his paintings of his world, glimpses of the far past, and the beauty of an era already gone.

The collection of paintings, sketches, and pictures of his museum artifacts makes an interesting book -- either for a looker or a reader.

Stubbs states that he began drawing before starting school and continues until today, with his brush and pen. The book has a variety of scenes, from buffalo and Indians, to still lifes of fruit. All are extremely detailed to be authentic to the era which they portray.

"A Lasting Legacy" has chapters on Otho's childhood, his cowboy years, his stay among the Indians, the Depression, WWII and many historic Caprock scenes. Otho's paintings accompany each of these chapters.

Stubbs has displayed his art in New Mexico, Amarillo, Oklahoma, and other studios. At present he has some on display at The Shoppe in Plainview.

Still painting today at the age of 84, he doesn't paint quite as much as in the early years. However, painting is an integral part of his life, having been an artist as far back as he can remember.

Otho and Dora, his wife of seven years, reside on his old family place west of Turkey. Otho spent many hours researching the history he put into his new book, and it truly is a "different kind" of art book.

The public is invited to come by the bank in Turkey between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. for the signing of his "A Lasting Legacy."

Briscoe County Centennial Celebrated In High Fashion

Briscoe County residents and guests enjoyed celebrating their centennial for the county in many ways. A Centennial Monument was dedicated on Saturday, August 15, 1992.

This monument was a project of Briscoe County Historical Committee. The flint rock monument is located on the north side of the courthouse near the jail museum and windmill.

Congressman Bill Sarpalius gave the dedication speech after being introduced by County Judge Jimmy Burson. Children released helium balloons at the close of the ceremony.

Spectators and participants, alike, had a grand old time at the parade. Many floats, riders, and cars brought back memories to those involved. Members of the (Memorial) Fourth Cavalry formed an honor guard for the parade. The Rev. Brad Enloe portrayed a circuit rider, dressed all in black and carrying an open bible in his hand as he rode his horse in front of the Silverton Methodist Church's float.

First place for riding clubs went to the Lamb County Riding Club. "Going back to Grandma's House since 1896" by the Patton family won first prize in the float category. The Francis Family float was second place winner, while the L.O.A. Study Club's float, "Plum-Nelly Cafe" (Plum out of town and Nelly in the Country) came in third.

Feud Reportedly Over Family Land Turkey Man Charged In Connection With Slaying of Brother-In-Law

by Patti Whittington

A Turkey man has been charged with murder in connection with the death of his brother-in-law, 49 year old Eddie Dale Timmons of Northfield.

Weldon Paul Cruse, 62, was arraigned by Hall County Justice of the Peace Ruby Roden on Thursday, August 20, 1992, and released on $20,000 bond.

Timmons was reported missing when he failed to return home after checking his lease land east of Turkey on Wednesday, August 19. When he didn't come home after about three hours, his wife drove to the farm where she found her husband's pick-up and his cap. She then contacted local authorities.

Hall County Sheriff Kenny Schull and other law officers began searching for Timmons on the leased land around midnight. An aerial search of the property was conducted by DPS helicopter Thursday morning but found no further sign of the farmer.

Following a lead, Schull and Texas Ranger Leo Hickman questioned Cruse at his home in Turkey early Thursday morning. Denying any knowledge of Timmons's whereabouts, Cruse consented to have his property searched, and officials found blood in an old army ambulance he kept for farm use. Cruse told the officers that the blood came from a cut on his arm, although no cuts or scratches were apparent. Sheriff officials also discovered that the tire tread pattern matched those of tracks found hours earlier on Timmon's farm.

A short time later, Cruse confessed to the murder of his brother-in-law and led officials to where the victim's partially burned body was found stuffed in a trash can in the alley behind Cruse's house on Childress Street in Turkey. Timmons had been shot once in the head at close range with a 12-gauge shotgun.

According to District Attorney David McCoy, Cruse had him write at least two letters to Timmons about six months ago in an effort to settle a feud over land rights.

Cruse and Timmons had inherited adjacent parcels of land from the estate of Timmons' late father, Pete Timmons.

The case will be presented to a Hall County grand jury on September 8.

Breast Cancer...

Program of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital of Amarillo will continue community outreach clinics for early detection of breast cancer.

Funding is available through the Texas Department of Health for screening mammography for Texas residents qualifying for financial assistance.

Early detection of breast cancer is the major goal of cancer control for each woman seen in the clinic. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a Registered Nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination, and a mammogram.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer. The guidelines are: 1. Learn and perform breast self examination every month. 2. Have a physical examination every year. 3. Have a mammogram according to the recommendations by age.

Age, 35-40, One baseline mammogram. Age 40-50, a mammogram every 1 to 2 years. Over 50, Yearly mammograms.

Treat Sprains, Strains With RICE Approach

Sprains and strains-although they're two of the more common injuries, many people don't realize when they occur or how to treat them.

A sprain is a stretching or tearing of a ligament-a tough band of elastic-like tissue which attaches muscle to bone. "Sprains frequently occur in the ankles and can range from mild, in which tiny microtears are found within the ligaments, to severe where one or more ligaments are severely torn," said Debbie Thornton, director of Physical Medicine at Methodist Hospital.

A strain involves the stretching or partial tear of a muscle. Strains often result when muscles contract suddenly and powerfully. Some factors which contribute to strains include improper warm-up before exercise, poor conditioning and fatigue. Strains can be mild, causing pain when the muscle is moved, or severe, involving swelling, muscle spasms and bruising.

For severe sprains or strains a physician should be consulted. However, until a doctor can be reached or for mild to moderate injuries, Thornton suggest the RICE approach. "This treatment helps promote a speedy recovery and minimizes the risk of re-injury," she said.

Rest-avoid any activities that cause pain or discomfort. Ice-apply an ice pack and cover the pack with towels or blankets for insulation. Apply ice several times a day for no more than 20 minutes at a time.

Compression-carefully wrap the affected area with a supportive bandage. The wrap should be snug but not tight. Loosen the wrap if pain increases or numbness is present.

Elevation-whenver possible, elevate the injured area above heart level to help prevent further swelling.

The RICE treatments should be continued for about two days-then gradual use of the injured area is recommended. Mild to moderate sprains and strains usually improve with one or two weeks. If pain

NOTICE OF COMPARABLE TAX RATES AND REVENUES

The legislature has enacted a statute on school funding to comply with a court mandate enforcing the state constitution. Under prior statutes (SB 1) the tax rate for last year provides $ 5,439 per student in state and local revenues. Under this statute (SB 351) that same rate now provides $ 5,679 per student in state and local revenues.

State law only requires a minimum tax rate of $.826 for county education districts. State law does not require a school district to adopt additional taxes. Neither does state law require a school district to adopt a tax rate that maximizes the receipt of state funds.

The board of trustees of the Turkey-Quitaque ISD School District hereby gives notice that it is considering the adoption of a tax rate of .14191 that will provide $ 5,342 per student in state and local revenues.

Three Generations Of Baker Family Visit "Old Stomping Grounds"

by John T Baker

On September 19, 1992, Dr. James Obed Baker, DDS, age 94, Dr. John T. Baker DDS, age 62 and John T. Baker Jr., age 20 visited in the Turkey and Quitaque area.

J.O. Baker is the oldest person to register to spend the night at Hotel Turkey since the Johnsons acquired the hotel.

The Bakers were revisiting Dr. J.O. Bakers' old "stomping grounds" this past weekend. He had taught school at Quitaque with his brother Henry Baker back in 1919-20. He also taught school at Sunset School on the plains in 1920-21. Henry married Cleo Grundy whose relatives still reside in the Quitaque area.

Obed remembers in 1919-1920 going lion hunting with local ranchers on horseback and following the dogs around the area that now makes up the Caprock Canyons State Park. He also hunted around Quitaque Falls, Los Lingos Falls and the surrounding canyons.

J.O. and his brother Henry ran coyotes in the canyon bottoms. Up until 1960 Henry was president of the Old West Texas-Oklahoma Wolf Hunter Association.

Obed started at WTSTC in 1916. He remembers camping at the Palo Duro Canyon's "lighthouse," back when the area was a true wilderness. On such campouts, they would shoot rabbits and make sausage. This was their only meat while in college at that time. They would go back to the Palo Duro for more rabbits when they ran out of sausage.

During the 13 years Obed worked his way through college, alternating years teaching school and going to school, he remembers goose and duck hunts with 50-100 geese or ducks killed per day.

He also recalls rabbit drives where the ranchers would form a square 5 miles to a side and drive (walk) to the middle to kill the varmints.

Even now, Obed carries a load of birdshot in his knee from being shot in 1929 by a hunter on a prairie chicken hunt at Darrousett.

Among highlights of Obed's visit to Turkey were a visit to the Bob Wills Museum and a tour of the town of Quitaque.

PEP SQUAD

by Amy Payne

The Valley High School Pep Squad met and elected officers Wednesday, August 19.

Kacey Fuston, a senior, was elected president; Lori Conner, sophomore, Vice president; Mandy Adams, sophomore, treasurer; Amy Payne, sophomore, reporter. The squad also discussed upcoming events, planned for Homecoming and the selling of Patriot Pride shirts. The short and long sleeve T-shirts and sweatshirts will be sold until Friday, August 21, by the Pep Squad.

Activity Takes A Toll On Senior Feet

Today's 63 million older adults are more active than ever. Most exercise routinely, but may not realize how much aging and physical activity take a toll on their feet. In fact, the incidence and severity of these problems generally increase with age, until after the age of 65, three out of four individuals complain of foot pain.

"A lot of the foot problems that we develop over the years result from compounded activity and simple aging. As our skin and body age, so do our feet and it becomes more important to pay attention to them just as we do with other parts of our body," said Dr. Rosario LaBarbera, past president of the American Podiatric Medical Association.

The most common foot problems among older Americans are corns, calluses and bunions, which can be debilitating if ignored or improperly treated. People rely on some dangerous and ineffective home remedies to treat these problems, according to a recent Dr. Scholl's survey of foot experts. Although seniors naturally are more vulnerable to foot problems, giving up exercise is not the answer. Better foot care is.

"A daily foot inspection is an excellent way to prevent small problems from becoming major catastrophes," said LaBarbera. "Properly fitting shoes with plenty of cushioning and proper attention to changes in the feet really do go a long way in keeping older people on their feet and enjoying activity."

LaBarbera says that individuals who identify signs of corns, calluses or bunions, should consider turning to effective, yet inexpensive over-the-counter treatments. He also recommends consulting a physician or podiatrist if foot pain or problems persist. ***

"Tis a maxim of the wise to leave things before things leave them."

Allergies And Air Pollution: What You Should Know

When it comes to indoor air pollution, what you can't see can hurt you. Unfortunately, 99 percent of the airborne pollutants in your home are invisible to the naked eye.

What are they? Dust mites, their carcasses and waste products. Pollen and spores from plants, molds and mildew. Tobacco and wood smoke from fireplaces or wood burning stoves. Cooking grease. Bacteria and viruses. Pet dander. Insecticide dusts...and more.

These airborne particles "trigger" many of the most common allergies.

The results of a recent survey on the benefits of using an electronic air cleaner is making many allergy sufferers breathe a sigh of relief. Almost all the people who responded to the survey said they had allergic reactions to one or more of the most common indoor air pollutants.

Forty percent said they felt better "within a day."

Another 35 percent felt relief "within weeks."

A brochure about the survey with some informative facts about indoor air pollution, allergies and your health is available free by writing to: Honeywell, Honeywell Plaza, Minneapolis, MN 55408 or by calling 1-800-345-6770, ext. 7171, toll free.

The Boss

by Sam Walton

There is only one boss and whether a person shines shoes for a living or heads up the biggest corporation in the world, the boss remains the same. It's the customer.

The customer is the person who pays everyone's salary and who decides whether a business is going to succeed or fail. And he doesn't care if a business has been around 100 years. The minute it starts treating him badly, he'll start to put it out of business.

The boss-the customer has bought and will buy everything you have or will have. He's bought all your clothes, your home, your car. He pays your bills and for your children's education, and he pays exact proportion to the way you treat him.

The man who works deep inside a big warehouse or in a retail store might think he is working for the company that writes his paycheck, but he's not. He's working for the person who buys the products offered in Wal-Mart's stores.

In fact, the customer can fire everybody in the company from the chairman on down, and he can do it simply by spending his money somewhere else.

Some of the largest companies that had flourishing businesses a few years ago are no longer in business. They couldn't or didn't satisfy the customer. They forgot who their real boss was.

The greatest measurement of our success is how well we please the customer, "our boss." Let's all support "aggressive hospitality" and have our customers leave 100 percent satisfied every day.

Get to know the boss

I highly recommend getting to know your boss. The more you know about the customers you serve, the better you will be able to serve them.

If you work for someone else, this lesson still applies. Your job is dependent on company profits. Long-term profits come from satisfied customers.

If you work for a non-profit organization, your job security is still dependent on serving your customers. With the possible exception of the federal government, funding for non-profits is reduced if fewer services are rendered.

Get close to your customers and clients. Learn about their needs and wants, but also go beyond that. Learn about their families, hobbies, backgrounds and traditions. When you get close enough to your customers to be their friend, you may have a relationship that will last for life.

The only reason your business exists is to serve your boss, the customer. When every effort expended is to satisfy your customers, your odds of success are very, very favorable.
