THEN and NOW!

by Eunice McFall

In the good old summertime! Well it looks like the "good old summertime" has arrived with a vengeance. In some of our area there has been enough rain to bring up the crops and keep them on the upswing. In other parts of the area it is quite dry and rain is beginning to be needed badly. Farmers and ranchers are now looking to the sky each day to see if there are rain clouds in the making.

The heat is fun for those who like to get out to camp, hike or swim but they should also be aware that the heat when it is humid as it has been the past few weeks is very dangerous! Heat stroke is not something that you want to fool around with! Try to do your working and playing when it is cooler, such as early in the morning and late in the evening, especially if you are not used to being out in the hot sun during the middle of the day.

Someone mentioned fall yesterday—I can hardly believe that fall is almost here but it soon will be. School will begin in the middle of August. So all you school kids need to get to enjoying your summer for it will soon be over and you will be like the rest of us and wonder where the summer went. Do take advantage of your leisure hours and read a good book, visit a friend, help your parents do that job that you always try to put off. Just dive in and do it and then you can be free to do those things that you like to do.

If what you like to do does include being in the outdoors, be aware of the heat of the sun during the hours from 10 a.m. through 2 p.m. Try to cover up so that you will not blister—often in later years you will pay with skin cancers for the burns you got as a child. If you can't cover-up, try to put sun screen on to help prevent the burn. Do take care of your skin, after all it is the only one that you own and once it is damaged, you can never get it back to what it was originally.

Take care but do get out and enjoy the rest of the summer! After all, summer is the time for fun!

ice cream and cake for dessert. After dark the fireworks presentation was a very colorful way to end a July Fourth celebration.

The cookout was a community effort. Many of the members of the Fire Department were out fighting grassfires on the Smith and OxBow Ranches all afternoon, so as local citizens arrived to enjoy the delicious hamburgers, they were put to work cooking. These "volunteers" were much appreciated.

The TV giveaway was won by Bob Myers of Quitauque.

"Moments In Time" Renewed Memories At 1993 Tri-Annual Flomot Homecoming

by Earlyne Jameson

Moments In Time renewed many memories for former students, teachers and residents who returned for the 1993 Tri-Annual Flomot Homecoming and program held at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, July 3 at the Community Center.

Wilburn Martin recalled some of these treasured memories when attending Flomot Schools for eleven years and then returning to teach in the Flomot Schools. Those adding to the nostalgia, relating past events were Carolyn Tanner Ewing of Matador and M.C. "Salty" Jones of Flomot.

Mrs. Bobbie Morris of Manteca, California was recognized for traveling the farthest to attend the homecoming. Mrs. Doris Morris, 89 of the Lockney Care Center, the oldest woman attending and H. G. Hunter, 91, of Quitauque the oldest man attending were presented plaques.

M. C. Jones presented Mrs. Viola Calvert of Flomot as the 1993 Flomot Homecoming Queen and escorted her to the dias. Kayla Johnson of Floydada, former queen, placed the crown on the newly elected queen, who was then presented a bouquet of roses.

The first Flomot Homecoming was held in 1954. Continuing Moments In Time, past presidents of the Association attending were introduced: Louis Amick of Plainview, Wilburn Martin, Ikie Gilbert, M. C. Jones, Doyle Calvert, Bill Washington, Herb Martin, Donnie Turner, Seab Washington and Johnny Turner. They did not have a Homecoming Queen in 1990, but past queens attending who were recognized were Bernice Bond,

Independence Day Cause For Celebration

by Phil Gramm, United States Senator

It was July 4, 1776 when America's Founding Fathers gathered in Philadelphia to pledge "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor" in order to secure liberty for themselves and posterity. The signing of the American Declaration of Independence was a pivotal moment in history for anyone who has ever yearned to live free from tyranny, oppression and the rule of dictators.

On Sunday, Americans celebrated, with significant fanfare, the 217th anniversary of this bold and courageous action made by these patriots who initiated the American experiment. It was an effort which not only gave birth to what has become the most powerful, prosperous, and benevolent nation the world has ever known, but also redefined the very concept of freedom.

America is not an empire of conquest and possession, it is, has been, and will always be a nation of vision and ideas. The ideas of economic and political freedom, born in ancient Greece and Rome, refined and perfected in England, took a deeper root in America than anywhere else on earth and thus the American free enterprise system was born. This concept has proven beyond doubt that in a free society people are better able to utilize their God-given talents to advance themselves, their family, and the community.

America is not a great and powerful country because the most brilliant and talented people in the world came to live here. America is a great and powerful country because it is here that ordinary people like you and me have had more opportunity and more freedom than any other people who have ever lived on the face of the earth. It is with this opportunity and with this freedom, that ordinary people like us have been able to accomplish extraordinary things.

We need not be historians to understand that Americans owe a huge debt to the courage of past generations for freedom was purchased and has been preserved at an enormous cost. One cannot celebrate the joys of liberty without pausing to commemorate the gallantry of those who laid upon the altar of sacrifice their life on behalf of liberty's cause. I humbly join you in thanking God for the special blessing of liberty. May we be exceptionally good stewards of this privilege.

Fellow Employee's:

Rusty Sargent is my hero. Nona and I went up to Quitauque in June to open our first State Trailway with Speaker Laney, Commissioners Garza and Clymer and several thousand more who came to the tiny town through the weekend to celebrate the event. Rusty, of course, is superintendent of Caprock Canyons State Park and he has spearheaded efforts during the past three years to bring this exciting new outdoor recreation resource on line. He is also an entrepreneur and a tireless innovator in the conservation business, which promises to be a big part of our future throughout Texas.

This spring a couple visiting Quitauque became so infected by the town's excitement over the new trail that they bought a long-abandoned hotel and are restoring it for reopening. New businesses are springing up throughout the town and old-timers say no project has ever motivated citizens to a higher level of volunteerism and community spirit.

The good work of everyone who played a part in the trail project is a model of enterprise which is worth everyone's attention as we begin to put in place a new entrepreneurial budgeting system. Public Lands is leading the rest of us toward a way of doing business that will define government by the end of this century.

If you do nothing else this summer, learn about entrepreneurial budgeting. It will be the pathway that allows the Department to rise above these lean years and maintain the standards of excellence in conservation of which we are all so proud. It is the vehicle through which we will provide our customers with more and better service in spite of the difficulties... and it will truly provide the professional context for each of us to individually fly as high as we want to go... Ask Rusty.

We do enjoy the paper very much. Henry and I are planning on being there for Homecoming. Your informative and colorful descriptions of the Caprock Canyons Park and Quitaque area are delightful. The Caprock Canyons State Park sketch at the top of the paper is good.

$880,400 Awarded in 4-H Scholarships

by Ronda Alexander
 County Extension Agent

State 4-H Roundup is a time for many events. It is when 4-Hers who have placed 1st or 2nd in their District competitions exhibit their skills and compete for the honors of being the state champions and it is also the time for 4-Hers to compete for scholarships.

This year has definitely pushed Texas 4-H over the top as the largest, single scholarship donor in the United States. $880,400 worth of scholarships were awarded to 123 Texas 4-Hers. These scholarships ranged from $500 to $15,000. Getting one of these scholarships involves a variety of things. Of course, the first step is having good/excellent grades and SAT/ACT scores; next is 4-H involvement. These two factors are considered and all of the 4-Hers applying are then ranked. The top ranking group then qualifies for an interview at State 4-H Roundup. Once a 4-Her has qualified for an interview, they are guaranteed some of type of scholarship. The interview then makes the difference according to their rank on how much of a scholarship they get.

The key to getting all of these factors together is a 4-H Recordbook. The 4-Her who has put out the required effort to make a good recordbook, will have an excellent chance at one of these scholarships. At the very least, this 4-Her will have become a well-rounded individual in learning about record keeping, leadership, citizenship and life. County 4-H recordbooks will be due on July 9th to the Extension Office, if you would like more information about scholarships or recordbooks, please come by the Extension Office.

Students Attend Summer School

Valley School began its Summer School program for the 1993 school year on Monday, May 31, 1993, with a total of 47 students enrolled. These student ranged in ages from those going to begin kindergarten to those preparing to be in the fifth grade next year.

Summer drew to a close on Friday, June 25, 1993 after spending four fun-filled weeks learning about various Indian Tribes. Each student was assigned a tribe, however they spent their time learning about many different tribes.

Teachers for this year's Summer School program were: Mrs. McBee, Miss Johnson, Mrs. Lemons and Mrs. Hinojosa. Teacher's Aides were: Judy Barrett, Belinda Barrett and Sylvia Castillo. The kindergarten helper was Jamie Wellman.

During the past month each student spent numerous hours working in areas of reading, writing, math, language and history. The students prepared journals where they enter Indian writings almost daily. They learned about the importance of the Indian's headdresses and the meaning of the different feathers used in decoration. They discussed the different tribes and each of their tribal cultures, food, homes, clothes, beliefs, religions, rituals, tools, weapons and alphabet.

The Indians caste system and money was taught through the students earning wampum (beads). Students were awarded wampum for their behavioral and working efforts and then in turn each child was allowed to spend their earned money at the Trading Post. The students were allowed to purchase special items such as books, pencils or erasers.

The children spent time learning about the many Indian Chiefs and Heros, such as the well known Cynthia Ann and Quanah Parker. Others of much interest to the children were: John Smith, Sequayah, Pochantas, Squanto and Sacajawea.

Students watched educational films entitled "The Great Indian Wars" and "Stories at Sundown."

Interesting books read were: Dragonfly's Tale, Legend of the Bluebonnets, Brother Earth-Sister Sky, Legends from Keepers of the Animals and Legends from Keepers of the Earth.

In keeping with customs of the times the students made Indian masks, drums, patterns, vests, teepees, maracos, waterbags, concho belts, headbands, blankets and village shadow boxes. Each student was allowed to decorate and design their own t-shirt, and to help with the decorating and designing of a beautiful Indian Blanket Quilt.

The highlight of each week was the field trip taken each Friday. The first week the students enjoyed a tour of the Caprock southwest of Quitaque, where they saw sights of The Valley of the Tears, Historical Landmarkers, Gray Mule Cemetery and the Quitaque and Los Linguis Rivers. Their wonderful Tour Guide was Steve Urey from the Quitaque Chamber of Commerce.

The following Friday the group enjoyed touring the home of Otho Stubbs, well known artist. The students enjoyed his tour and program where they viewed many of his paintings and saw sights such as, diamondback rattlesnakes, siamese calves, skunks, badgers, antique guns and his enormous collection of arrowheads, dating back hundreds of years.

The final field trip was a tour up the new Caprock Canyon Trailway. Everyone enjoyed the beautiful scenery and were captivated by the sight of the tunnel. The group hiked approximately 1 mile through the tunnel and back to the big bridge gathering mementoes of railroad spikes for souvenirs. State Park Superintendent Rusty Sargent was tour guide for the exciting trip.

Briscoe County 4-H Leaders

by Rondia Alexander
County Extension Agent

There is one thing besides land, that Briscoe County has. It is wonderful and devoted 4-H leaders. We are very privileged to have had one of these leaders honored during State 4-H Roundup. At State 4-H Roundup, Janinne Brooks received the Salute to Excellence Award, which is awarded annually to 2 outstanding 4-H leaders in each of the 14 Districts in Texas.

Janinne has a daily pace which would be very difficult for the majority of us to keep up with. 4-H is just one of the many activities that she is involved in. As a County Extension agent, I feel very privileged to work with all of the Briscoe County 4-H Leaders, such as Janinne, who do so much for others.

We have various levels of leadership that parents or other adults may assist with. These range from providing transportation to an event, bringing refreshments, serving as a Project Leader or serving as a Club Manager. Take your pick, we have the level that is just right for you. All you need to do is call the Extension Office to let us know what you are interested in doing. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

The group returned to their homes on Monday.

Spending last week-end in Houston was Paulette Lipscomb. She visited in the home of her daughter, Paula and family.

Wasn't the hamburger cookout hosted by the Turkey Fire Department fun? We saw and visited with several ex-Turkey residents and know we didn't see near all of them. Some of them we did see were: the Russell Barnhills of Houston, visiting with his parents, the Jack Barnhills; also a guest of the Jack Barnhills was their grandson, Ken Crump, Sunray; Bobby Hanna of Vernon and Dolan Hana visiting with their parents, the Buster Hannas. We also saw Kenneth Lane of Houston and his daughter Suzanne Lane of Arlington visiting with Kenneth's parents, the Tink Lanes; Lavern Mullin of Tulia, visiting with Dot Arnold; Kevin and Sherice Bench of Austin, visiting with Sherice's parents, the Hubert Princes; David Paul and Glo Majors and children, Zane and Maril of Idalou visiting with his parents, the Jim Majors; Brandon and Courtney Gearn, children of Belinda Gern of Hereford visiting their grandparents, the Jim Majors. Also Kayo Lyles, visiting with his father, Royce Lyles.

Lorene and Arville Setliff received a phone call recently that made them extremely happy. Their son, Rod, who just lately left the states to return to his home in Dubai, called to happily report he would be transferred to Dallas, Texas within three weeks. So, Rod, Millie and daughters, Robyn and Taylor will become Texans quite soon.

Bridgett Johnson of Idalou and Kelly Kelly of Clarendon arrived at Arlie Williams home last Sunday afternoon. The two had been to Joplin, Missouri to return Bridgett's son, Richie, home. Richie had been visiting with his father.

Clarene Geisler of New Mexico was a visitor in town over the Fourth. She was a house guest of Ella Colvin. Janice Wheeler received a phone call from Winnie Gonca recently. Winnie said Adrian Gonca was recovering quite well from triple bypass surgery. At this time Adrian didn't know when he would be able to return to work.

Winnie also said she is to have hand surgery next Monday. She is to have some arteries in her hand opened.
