Historical Marker Ceremony Set For Gasoline Cotton Gin

Sunday, August 4, 1991 residents and ex-residents of the Gasoline Community will meet at the Quitaque Community Center for their homecoming. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the center followed by the noon meal at 12:30, catered by Roye Pigg of Quitaque. There will be a short business meeting following the noon meal. Many ex-residents are readying themselves to be present and looking forward to a big day of remembering.

At 4:00 p.m. the Historical Gasoline Cotton Gin Marker will be dedicated at the old gin site, 2 miles east of Quitaque on Highway 86 and three miles south on Farm to Market Road 599.

Glenda McCracken Francis of Silverton granddaughter of the late L. A. McCracken will dedicate the historical marker and Barry Francis also of Silverton, great grandson will unveil it.

Three progressive men, M. E. Tomson, L. A. McCracken, and J. H. Clack had a dream of building a cotton gin to take care of the rapidly increasing cotton acreage that was producing bumper crops.

The nearest gin was in Turkey, Texas ten miles away. In 1906 the dream became a reality when they purchased a gasoline engine from a Dallas firm. In April of 1907 the gin was ready for use so the 1906 cotton crop that had been piled in fields was ginned.

The fuel for the gasoline engine was freighted by wagon and team fifty miles or more from Estelline and Memphis. The people spoke of hauling their cotton to the gasoline gin. They eventually dropped the gin and just went to Gasoline. That was the name adopted by the community and was officially designated to the post office.

This gin was the first gin in Briscoe County.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend this historical occasion.

Waste Disposal Change Looms in Near Future

With the ever-present awareness of the stringent Subtitle D rules and regulations, soon to be promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency, dealing with the disposal of municipal solid waste, small cities are faced with finding alternate means of disposing of solid waste.

One option to this situation is a transfer station. Basically, a transfer station serves as a central collection point where waste from numerous collection vehicles and/or cities is transferred into a larger, specialized vehicle for hauling to a distant disposal facility.

Total transportation costs are reduced as this specialized transfer vehicle typically has a larger carrying capacity than the house-to-house collection vehicle, thus reducing the number of trips to distant regional landfills. These savings may be somewhat offset by the operation of the transfer station and the transfer vehicle.

Transfer stations can also play an important role in recycling and can do double duty when a recycling processing facility is placed at the same location. Removing recyclables reduces the amount of waste remaining for transport to the disposal site and thereby reduces hauling costs and landfill fees.

Distances to regional landfills, quantities of municipal solid waste, recycling and waste reduction capabilities, and operation and maintenance procedures are all factors that must be considered in the planning of a transfer station.

Transfer stations very well may be one alternative for cost effective handling of municipal solid waste for small cities. The Cities of Quitaque and Silverton are considering applying for a joint application with the Texas Community Development Program for a grant to construct a transfer station to serve the citizens of this area. This facility will be designed to handle household waste, large items, non-hazardous commercial waste, and provide for recycling operations.

City Council Discusses Rates For Water, Sewer

The City Council of the City of Turkey met in their regular session on July 11th. In this meeting the water and sewer rates were discussed.

Effective with the bills for the month of August, the water rate will be $7.50 for the minimum of 3,000 gallons and $1.10 for each one thousand gallons thereafter. The sewer rate will be $4.00. Turkey is very fortunate to have some of the lowest water and sewer rates in the entire Pan-handle of Texas.

THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Do we always want things to go easy for us? Is it always best when life is easy for us? Easy can refer to many things, such as being secure, peaceful, calm, simple, smooth, lenient, indulgent or easy going. Now all of us would love to feel secure of life, limb and property at all times. Most of the time we would prefer to have our life to be peaceful and calm but occasionally some excitement is nice to get us out of our daily ruts, that we tend to cling to so as to not have to learn something new.

But simple--well, we do claim to like the simple life but who are we kidding--there is simple and then there is simple--very few of us lead simple lives--Just stop and count the minutes a day that you truly can call your own--not have to answer to anyone for--simple folk we aren't anymore--too many irons in the fire!

Now smooth is a different set of ideas--It can still be quite complicated but done smoothly and therefore life is simpler for everyone.

Then comes indulgent--now to be indulgent is easy for the receiver for awhile but later on the demands will probably get so large that easy will no longer fit, either the giver or receiver. Lenient is also a word that starts off "easy" but soon gets out of control. But easy going is a fantastic word--What a wonderful way to describe someone--to be able to take whatever life dishes out with a smile, and keep going on down the road happily is to be truly--easy going in my books.

It's not "easy" to apologize, to begin again, to admit error, to keep trying, to take advise, to be unselfish, to be charitable, to face a sneer, to avoid a mistake, to be considerate, to endure success, to profit by a mistake, to keep out of a rut, to forgive and forget, to think and then act, to make the best of little, to subdue an unruly temper or tongue, to recognize the silver lining, to shoulder a deserved blame but it ALWAYS PAYS! So let's try to take this next week EASY.

Once again I must apologize for a mistake I made in last week's paper. The Gasoline Homecoming is to be catered. It is not a potluck affair. Please forgive me once more.

Back to School

But the National Crime Prevention Council says the kids who are best prepared will also have some knowledge about crime and safety in their communities.

According to the National Crime Survey, 9 percent of violent crimes in the United States occur on school property, as well as 12.9 percent of simple assaults, 6.2 percent of robberies and 1.6 percent of rapes.

Are You Anxious?

You may be among the 20 million Americans believed to suffer from anxiety—and not even know it. While everybody becomes concerned about life's stresses, some people, perhaps because of physical disorders, find themselves anxious to the point of dread, even when there's no immediate cause.

Fortunately for these people, their families and friends, doctors can treat this problem. If it's caught early enough, it can be dealt with before harmful physical effects are felt. Treatment can include diet and other lifestyle changes and medications that can help relieve anxiety while maintaining alertness.

If you find yourself:
 *restless
 *trembling, twitching or feeling shaky
 *easily fatigued
 *worrying excessively *feeling keyed up or on edge
 *unable to sleep
 *irritable
 It might be a good idea to ask your doctor to find out why.

Briscoe County Extension News

Two popular shortcourses will again be offered at the Texas A&M University System Computer Training and Education Center at Halfway. Persons wanting to improve their computer skills with spreadsheets or learn an easy to use, cash record keeping system should sign up now, as space in the courses is limited.

A computer spreadsheet is a versatile tool for basic record keeping, financial planning and budgeting, and is something no producer using computers should be without, according to Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and management specialist at Lubbock. An introductory course will be held August 13-14 at the Computer Training Center to give producers an opportunity to learn to use the Lotus 1-2-3 spreadsheet to enhance their managerial skills. Leading computer software spreadsheet programs include Super Calc, Quattro and Excel, but the all-time best seller of such programs is Lotus.

A second important component of the computer software kit is a cash record keeping program. Computerized cash record keeping will be the subject of the second, two day shortcourse, to be offered August 15-16 at the center.

Record keeping is the highest and best use of your computer.

Several high quality, low-cost record keeping options have been commercially released in the past few years. Quicken, by Intuit, will be taught in this session. While not specifically designed for agricultural use, Quicken is flexible and easily adapted for this purpose. It is especially satisfying for those who have recently purchased a computer and are anxious to put it to use.

These courses will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The cost will be $100, which includes workshop materials and catered lunches each day. The necessary software will be provided for the duration of the course. No prior computer experience is necessary. Enrollment for each course will be limited to 14.

The Computer Training and Education Center is in the Moody Building at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station facility, 14 miles west of Plainview on Highway 70.

For more information contact the Extension office at 823-2131 or telephone Jane Green at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Lubbock, 806-746-6101.

How To "Iron" Clothes Without The Iron

Here's an interesting wrinkle in fabric care: Using your dryer as a substitute for ironing clothes!

You can do it, say Whirlpool home economists, if your dryer has a Tumble Press Cycle. This special feature tumbles items that are dry but wrinkled for about 10 minutes in heated air, then switches to room-temperature tumble for another five to 10 minutes.

It's great for washables that have been packed into a suitcase, stored for the season in a closet or simply left too long in the dryer. Another use: Toss in that tablecloth with fold creases and show off a crease-free cloth for a special dinner.

Check the care label to make sure that items to be tumble pressed are washable. Long tumbling of woens may shrink them. Fold, hang or use items as soon as the tumble cycle ends.

New Test Rules Set For Medicare Appeal

Medicare claimants may qualify for a Medicare appeal under a demonstration that Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, Inc. is performing for Congress.

The demonstration will study the effects of allowing two or more appellants to group their claims with one another to qualify for an appeal. The claims must be Medicare claims for physician services.

For demonstration, physicians may combine claims with other physicians. Also, beneficiaries may combine claims with other beneficiaries.

The demonstration includes Medicare claim appeals for which the claimant submits a carrier fair hearing request or an administrative law judge hearing request between August 1, 1991 and January 31, 1992, inclusive.

To qualify for a carrier fair hearing, the claimant's dispute must involve at least $100. To qualify for an administrative law judge hearing, they must be contesting $500. For court review, the amount is $1,000.

If the claimant cannot qualify for an appeal by combining their own claims, they may be able to qualify under the study rules.

If the claimant asks for an appeal under the study rules, but does not qualify under them, we will process the request under the existing rules.

If you want more information or you think you qualify under the demonstration, contact us. Our address and telephone number is: Fair Hearings, Aggregation Study, P.O. Box 833849, Richardson, Texas 75083-3849. Phone-(214) 669-7384 or 669-7322.

CAPROCK COMMENTS

By Dochum Hutchison

The month of July is gone and whatever you had to do, you don't have much time left to do it. If you were planning to take a vacation, you've probably already missed it. Be thankful for the money you've saved and double-up next year you probably won't know the difference anyway, and if you do, go ahead and go then.

You can watch the average movie today, and if you can identify with the hero, you're sick.

The Town Loafer says that women are responsible for most of the lying that men do. They insist on asking questions!

If you're palm itches, it's a sign you're going to get something. If you're head itches, you've got it!

A local businessman says he has several devices that let him know when it's quitting time. They are called employees!

If things ever get back to normal, we'll probably wonder what's wrong!

"Quick," said the expectant father to nurse; "Tell me it's a boy." "Yes," she said, "The one in the middle is!"

Asked if he enjoyed his vacation, the father said, "Have you ever spent four-days in a car with those you love the best?"

The honeymoon is over when baby talk starts coming from the nursery!

A community garden is one where housewife gets more dirt in her ear than on her hand.

Economy is a way of spending money without getting any fun out of it!

It's ok to be a self-made person so long as you don't try to give everybody the recipe.

Conversation between Adam and Eve must have been very hard without anybody else to talk about!

Hear about the absent-minded professor who was visiting and when he started to leave, it was raining cats and dogs and the hostess offered to put him up for the night. He then vanished and couldn't be found. After awhile he returned, drenched from top to bottom. He had gone home and got his pajamas!

That's -30- for this time, remember, horsepower was much safer when only horses had it.

Eternity is hard to imagine unless you've sit thru a long opera!

That's -30- for this time, remember, let someone else blow your horn...it will carry three times as far!

People who complain about taxes can be easily placed in two categories—men and women!

Have always admired those little road signs—years ago put up by Burma-Shave. They were readable—a funny verse scattered along on poles beside the highway. Didn't look like some of the monstrosities you see today which obstructs half the farm. Understand they are coming out with a book giving all the verses used in their ads. I remember one in Nebraska, "The cautious Miss to her reckless dear, a little less bull, and a little more steer!" Seems we've lost something over the years with our fancy technology!

It's less than a month until school starts and it seems only a few weeks since it was over. Maybe we ought to turn out on Thanksgiving and stay out until Washington's birthday. That way, we could have Christmas, New Years, Superbowl, Martin Luther King, State basketball playoffs, ground hog day, early spring and then get back for the summer months for school and keep the ball rolling all-year-round. Seems like everything goes bloois when school is not in session!

Being willing is a lot better than being able!

There's a lot of howl about the 1990 census. Seems they left a lot of people out and now they are crying foul because they didn't get counted. One way to eliminate this would be for everybody to make sure they are counted. If they realized that it was taking Federal dollars out of their pockets for the next 10-years, they would run over the Census Taker to get their name in the pot.

The Census also makes a lot of local changes. Our county precincts, our judicial districts, or state and national representative districts must all be changed. We may fool around until we're combined with the Dallas, Fort Worth area. Wouldn't we cut a big swath down there? Remember if you dodge the census taker, there's not telling where you will end up.

It takes less time to do it right than to try to explain why you did it wrong.

If you want to have the last word in an argument, try saying, "I guess you're right!"

They say that the word "obey" is now being omitted from the marriage ceremony. A lot of men are asking that it be made retroactive!

Sign in a department store: "God may help those who help themselves, we prosecute!"

Some old time sounds bring back memories. Train whistles, jackhammers, ragtime piano, change jingling in your pocket!

The difference between a taxidermist and a tax collector is that a taxidermist keeps the hide intact!

Know what the word listen means? It means silent, they contain exactly the same letters!

Are You Addicted to Smoking?

If you're a smoker, try taking the quiz in the box at right. If you score four points or more, you might be seriously addicted to nicotine—which is why you're likely to find it hard to quit smoking without a doctor's assistance despite all your best efforts.

Nicotine, a drug that occurs naturally in the tobacco leaf, is six to 10 times more addictive than heroin. It has a powerful effect on the brain and the central nervous system. In fact, people who are addicted to nicotine have a difficult time functioning without it.

The quiz on the right provides a simple, yet accurate way of telling how great your addiction to nicotine may be. The higher your score, the more severe the addiction and thus the more intense your withdrawal symptoms are likely to be. Experience has shown that smokers whom the quiz indicates are probably addicted (score of four or above) are likely to have difficulty remaining smoke-free for any significant period. Yet these individuals, perhaps even more than others, need to free their lungs and bodies from the effects of tar and nicotine.

When people try to "kick the habit" and withdraw from nicotine, they often experience such physically and psychologically painful symptoms as cravings for tobacco, anxiety, mood changes, difficulty concentrating, difficulty sleeping, headaches, light-headedness, gastrointestinal discomfort and tremors. That's why so many "stop-smoking" attempts can be unsuccessful—about 70 percent of smokers who quit are likely to relapse in the first three months.

NICOTINE ADDICTION QUIZ
	0 points	1 point	2 points
1. How soon after you wake do you smoke your first cigarette?	After 30 min.	Within 30 min.
2. Do you find it difficult to refrain from smoking in places where it is forbidden, such as the library, theater, airplane or doctor's office?	No	Yes
3. Which of all the cigarettes you smoke in a day is the most satisfying?	Any other than the first one	The first one in the morning
4. How many cigarettes a day do you smoke?	1-15	16-25	More than 25
5. Do you smoke more during the morning than during the rest of the day?	No	Yes
6. Do you smoke when you are so ill that you are in bed most of the day?	No	Yes
7. Does the brand that you smoke have a low, medium or high nicotine content?	Low 0.4 mg	Medium 0.5 to 0.9 mg	High 1.0 mg
8. How often do you inhale the smoke from your cigarette?	Never	Sometimes	Always

Fortunately, there is help. If you'd like to quit smoking, consult your doctor. He or she can prescribe a special nicotine chewing gum called Nicorette that releases small amounts of nicotine into the mouth when it's chewed. This will help relieve most of the withdrawal symptoms usually experienced when an addicted smoker stops smoking "cold turkey." Gradually, smokers are weaned off the gum and can be free of both cigarettes and the nicotine gum within three to six months.

Nicotine gum works most successfully when used in conjunction with smoking cessation programs that also emphasize behavior change. For free brochures that can tell you more, write: Stop Smoking, 211 E. Ontario, Suite 1300, Chicago, IL 60611.

Medicine for the Public

Early Treatment Prolongs Life for People with HIV

People infected with the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) who receive early treatment can greatly improve the quality and length of their lives, experts agree. They can delay the onset of AIDS and may do well long after those who ignored their health have serious illnesses or early death. When people first acquire HIV, they often feel healthy and are unaware that they have been infected until they have a blood test.

Getting tested for HIV may mean more hope and better health.

When patients are first diagnosed with HIV, doctors begin monitoring their ability to ward off infections. If HIV patients who have not developed symptoms begin taking anti-retroviral drugs such as zidovudine (AZT) when their white blood cell count drops, they can delay the onset of AIDS complications. HIV-infected people also need counseling and information so they can take precautions against spreading the virus.

Fashion FORECAST

Fall Silhouettes

SWINGING INTO FALL: Big tops over close fitting skirts and stirrups—as shown in these Forenza fashions.

Here's big news: The big top is coming this fall! Swing tops, tunic tops, big sweaters and long jackets that is. They'll be worn over body-hugging bottoms such as leggings, stirrups or short, straight skirts.

That's the word from Sara Morris, Fashion Director of Lerner/New York. Other hot trends to be on the lookout for, according to Ms. Morris are:

• Mixtures that don't match—new ways of mixing prints and patterns—dashing combinations of—checks with paisley, florals with plaid, houndstooth with stripes.

• Bright colors—vibrant accents of violet, kiwi, sunflower, strategically placed on cuffs, collars, buttons and pockets.

• Details that make a difference—tunica with side slits; shirts in new prints; sweaters lavished with blocks of color or lacy open crochets.

These and other great new looks by Forenza are available for Fall at all Lerner/New York stores.
