Local 4-H'ers Excell In State Trap, Skeet Event

Over 400 4-H members participated in the 1986 State 4-H Trap & Skeet Shoot conducted at the Greater Houston Gun Club August 6-9. Fifteen competitive events in American and International Trap and Skeet were sponsored by the state 4-H office in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, according to Briscoe County 4-H leaders. Local 4-H'ers from Quitaque and Turkey participated in the Trap & Skeet event. They were accompanied by Don Gray, shooting sports 4-H leader in Briscoe County.

The 1986 State Shoot represents nine years of state level competition in the Texas 4-H Shooting Sports Program. In cooperation with the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, twelve state and national organizations, including the Texas Skeet Shooters Association, the Texas Trap Shooters Association, Texas State Rifle Association and numerous sport shooting manufacturers, contributed to the sponsorship of this 4-H Youth Shooting Sports Event.

In the 4-H competition, Chad Isbell placed fifth in the state in overall Trap and Skeet individuals. Chad Powell placed sixth and Jay Gray placed seventh, both in two-man teams Trap and Skeet sub-juniors.

In the International Invitational Trap and Skeet:

Sub-juniors: Jay Gray placed fourth and Chad Powell placed sixth.

Juniors: Chad Isbell placed

This was the first time local 4-H'ers attended the state competition, and a rarity is that all finished in the top ten in the state. Congratulations to these young men and their leaders.

Turkey to Man Jerry Lewis Telethon Pledge Center

Turkey will be one of over 30 cities taking part in the Panhandle segment of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon with a special Pledge Center located at the City Hall in Turkey.

Pat Carnes is serving as coordinator for the pledge center which will be open throughout the Telethon from 8:00 p.m. Sunday, August 31, until 6:30 p.m. Monday, September 1, Labor Day Weekend. A special number for phones, 423-1033 and 423-1100, has been assigned for the use of the people of Turkey to phone in their pledges.

Originating from Las Vegas, the 22½ hour TV marathon is held to benefit the medical services and research programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). Telephone pledges and donations made through the Turkey Pledge Center, to be manned around the clock by citizens of Turkey, will be credited to the citizens throughout the Telethon.

The Panhandle show will again be broadcast by KFDD-TV 10 in Amarillo and will feature Marcy Burchett and Don Alexander (KFDD TV personalities) as co-hosts and various radio disc jockeys as guest hosts. They will interview patients from pledge center towns, and will recognize various fund-raisers throughout the Panhandle, in addition to first-hand reports of pledge center activities.

For the third year "THE" Telethon will be aired live from Western Plaza Mall. The location should generate a lot of excitement, as well as increased dollars for the fight against muscular dystrophy. A variety of special events will take place in the mall in conjunction with the marathon show.

Children wishing to collect door to door for "Jerry's Kids" are asked to come by the pledge center location no later than noon on Labor Day to pick up an official badge and canister. Other activities planned for the Turkey area include: a fish bowl located at the city hall for all the little ones who want to bring in their dimes and nickels for Jerry's Kids. Also there will be a traffic stopper at the intersection at Allsup's. On Sunday, August 31, there will be cold drinks and cookies at "THE" Telethon.

Anyone wishing to volunteer to answer phones or help at the pledge center or with the traffic stopper, please call 423-1389 or 423-9900 or 423-1246 in Turkey as soon as possible.

Funds raised through the Telethon by Hall County citizens will be spent in the Panhandle area to assist patients with neuromuscular disease and to advance MDA's worldwide research program.

'Yard of Month' Winners Honored at Picnic Meeting

"We the Women" enjoyed a picnic together with their families at Caprock Canyons State Park last week for their regular meeting. The Jack Wellmans were special guests as "Yard of the Month" winners.

The Warren Lee Merrells were recognized as "Yard of the Month" winners for July. Their spacious yard is beautiful with numerous fruit trees emphasized by neat railroad ties and flowers. A bountiful garden is also a highlight of their landscaping.

Other yards in the south part of town which look especially nice are those of the Larry Don Prices, Charles Barretts, A. B. Ramseys and Jarrell Rices.

We can take pride, too, in our well-kept school grounds at Valley School. It is outstanding and we appreciate the efforts that have gone in through the years to make it one of the most attractive schools in the area.

It seems that more people are becoming aware of helping in the anti-litter campaign. If all of us do our part and help by "picking up" instead of "pitching out" it will make a big improvement in the appearance of our town.

LOVE FUND BEGUN FOR ESTELLE LANE

A love fund has been established for Mrs. Estelle Lane of Turkey at the Peoples State Bank in Turkey. Mrs. Lane is a Gillian Barre' Syndrome victim and has been in High Plains Hospital in Amarillo for seven weeks and is now at Bivins Rehabilitation Center.

This disease affects the muscles, and Mrs. Lane has now regained a little use of her hands. She still has a long way to go.

Anyone wishing to help Mrs. Lane may leave a donation at the bank.

Lottie Owens accompanied her son, Eddie Owens, on a hard and fast trip to Gallup, New Mexico Friday and Saturday where Eddie took wedding pictures. Mrs. Owens had received an invitation to the wedding and she thought she might be able to help keep Eddie awake on the return trip home. (She almost did.) His wife was unable to get off from her position at the Levelland bank to accompany him.

They had a good trip. Mrs. Owens and Eddie got to visit a short time with their granddaughter and niece, Sonya Bitner of Del Rio who was a bridesmaid in the wedding.

Williams to Japan

by Leola Hill Ne...

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams who have lived in Colorado Springs, Colorado for some 26 years, are moving to Japan.

Wayne, who has been pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church in Colorado Springs since 1959, told his church when he became pastor, "I will serve until God opens the door for us to go to the foreign mission field."

The opportunity to go to the mission field came when his wife, who has been director of the Day Care Center at Peterson Air Force Base for many years, was given the chance to assume directorship of child care centers and pre-school for Yokota Air Force Base, which is located 22 miles west of downtown Tokyo and has about 20,000 persons living on the base. Wayne will serve as interim pastor of Tokyo Baptist Church.

Lois attended Wayland until Wayne completed his degree and moved with him to Fort Worth where he attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. She graduated from Pikes Peak Community College with highest honors and as Student of the Year while she was directing the Child Care Center at Peterson Air Force Base.

She was honored as Child Care Center Director for all of the U. S. Air Force and has directed workshops throughout the country, including University of Texas and Texas Tech University. She has already assumed her duties at Yokota and Wayne will join here there the first part of March.

While in Colorado, Wayne has served on almost every committee of the Colorado Baptist Convention including member of the executive board and vice president of the convention. Bellevue Baptist Church has named him Pastor Emeritus.

While in Japan, Wayne looks forward to doing some preparatory work for an evangelism thrust during the 1988 Olympics which is scheduled for Seoul, Korea.

Wayne was pastor of the Fairmont Church south of Quitaque while he attended Wayland. Mrs. Truman Merrell says, "He was the only pastor we ever had who flew to church." He flew his plane to Fairmont each Sunday.

Mrs. Faye Cawley visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dickman and sons in Arlington the first of August.

A Town With a Funny Name

by Leola Hill Nelson

There is a Turkey, Texas. When I lived there I never thought it a strange name. Everyone I knew lived in Turkey. When I grew up and moved to a city I was hesitant to tell others where I was from because it always brought laughter and disbelief.

The town was first named Turkey Roost by cowboys who lived in the area before the ranchland was cultivated and became farms. Many wild turkeys roamed there. Later when a post office was acquired, the name was changed to Turkey. The wild turkeys disappeared as the country became populated. The high school football team was known as the Terrible Turks, and the mascot was a turkey. During the thirties, it was a peaceful, quiet town with a population around 900. Cotton was king and all the businesses depended on the production of cotton crops. There were the nice comfortable homes and there were the shacks.

There were few trees or flowers because of the scarcity of rainfall. The well water was gypsum and this mineral did not produce growth in plants. Living in the country, I often wondered about the families in those nice homes with running water and indoor bathrooms. Today, I am more grateful for running water than all other utilities. My favorite house in Turkey was a Spanish bungalow and in my dreams, this was the home I would someday have. Today when I see Spanish bungalows, I get a nostalgic feeling. I am not sure I would want one now, but I do remember those dreams of childhood.

Saturday afternoons brought farm families to town for their necessities plus it was a social gathering time. Each tried to get there first to get the best parking spot, which was in front of the theater. There was more drama in front of the theater because so many people passed in and out attending the matinee. For those who parked on the back streets, there was usually someone to share their car. We wore our best clothes on Saturday afternoons and it was considered proper to walk down the street once or twice. If a girl walked up and down the street too many times, it was thought she was looking for boys. Cruising is not only a modern pastime. Those who were allowed to drive family cars would fill up with young friends and cruise up and down the streets.

Farmers brought their produce into town to be sold. They milked cows during the week, saving the cream to be sold on Saturday to the creamery, gathered eggs from hens, and sometimes brought chickens and turkeys to be sold. Few food stuff was raised and usually it was just enough to provide for a family's use. In the fall, streets would be filled with farmers in wagons pulled by horses who had brought their cotton to the gin, and rows upon rows of compressed bales would be sitting in the depot area to be shipped away to market. Cowboys from ranches in the area would be seen purchasing their supplies and it was fascinating to see them walk with their bowed legs. Their legs were bowed because of many years of horseback riding, and many times they were described as having been born in the saddle. They would wear boots, jeans with chaps, big hats and gloves.

There were three grocery stores, namely the M System, Meacham's and John Young's. Flour was purchased in 100 lbs. with the sack of a printed material which would later be used to make a dress or blouse. Sugar was bought in 25 lbs. We ate many dried apples and apricots, as they were an inexpensive food. Fresh fruits were bought at Christmas time as a treat. My family shopped at the M System because it was the least expensive. My friend's family shopped at John Young's because he gave credit all year to the farmers and they paid him at harvest time. His house was at the beginning of Main Street. If you have driven into town at milking time, you would have seen Mr. Young on one side of the cow and Mrs. Young on the other side sitting on their stools milking the cow from each side. This was a funny sight!

The drug store was next to the theater. On a hot summer day it was a welcome relief to walk into the store cooled by a big whirling fan. If we had a nickel, we could buy a Coca-Cola in a small glass or one dip of ice cream. There was vanilla, chocolate and strawberry. If we had no money, we could ask for a drink of water which was served cold in a Coca-Cola glass. That cold water tasted mighty good to a farm girl. We must have tested the clerk's patience many times for that cold drink of water.

The ice house was at the end of the street. If there was money, Papa sometimes bought ice and we made ice cream at home with a hand-cranked freezer. In the summertime, the ice man would travel throughout the countryside twice each week. If we wanted to buy ice, we had a chart which we would set in a window with the amount of pounds we wanted at the top.

I remember the fear when Al Amith ran for president. There were no Catholics in Turkey, so we feared the unknown. My parents discussed what would happen if he became President. The general feeling was that religious freedom would be abolished; that we would all have to be Catholics. One day my father came home and said there was talk in town we would all have to be branded as Catholics should Al Smith be elected. This sounds like strange talk now. As we know, Herbert Hoover was elected and was later blamed for the great depression.

There were no blacks in Turkey during the thirties. My parents never told us why except that something bad happened once and the townspeople would not let them come there. One black man worked on a farm, but he never went into town, not even with his boss.

Neither Catholics nor blacks lived in Turkey, but there was prejudice, and I learned it hurts. Those of us living in the country went to the country schools until we reached high school grades. We then rode a bus into town for school. We were called "country kids" or "country hicks" by the "town kids". Perhaps we looked different, or perhaps the children did not accept us since we had not gone to school with them in earlier grades. Some of us may not have been as clean as those who had running water. Some of us may have gone to school with cow manure on our shoes. It is sad to say we were not accepted by all the teachers who tended to grade according to the social status of a student's family. I longed to move away and live in a city where I would have nice things and many friends.

Entertainment consisted mostly of movies and church. There were the Baptist, Methodist, Holiness and Church of Christ.

My family were Baptists. On Saturday afternoons, the movies were Westerns with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson and Wild Bill Hickok being the favorites. Romantic and musical movies showed on other nights and Sunday afternoons. There were dances and square dances in some homes. In autumn, a mobile skating rink would come to town and stay a few weeks. In the summertime medicine shows came with Tate Lax being one of the medicines I remember. There would be a fiddler and a banjo player to entertain the crowds, and then the salesman would make his pitch. The medicine was to cure all ills and many bottles were sold. Carnivals and a rodeo came occasionally in the summertime.

There is much to be said for small town life. I would not trade my experiences for any other. These were the worst of times and the best of times. These are my memories and I treasure them.

A human being is born with 305 bones, but during childhood a number of them fuse, so that an adult has only about 206.

A single silkworm egg only weighs 1/100,000 of an ounce, but in the first four weeks of its life, the worm increases its birth weight 9,500 times.

Miss Nadine Rice of Quitaque became the bride of Jerry Cargill in a candlelight ceremony at the First United Methodist Church in Quitaque Saturday evening, August 16, at 7:00 o'clock. The Rev. Dennis Flaughter, pastor, read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Rice of Quitaque, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cargill of Canyon.

Providing selected music was Mrs. Ross Herrington, organist, and Cindy Venable, pianist, accompanying vocalists, George Price and Iva June Johnson. They sang "To Me," "That's What Friends Are" and "With This Ring, I Thee Wed."

The altar area was decorated with a gold arched candelabra holding navy tapers and flanked by gold baskets filled with blue and white roses. The unity candle matched the candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown designed by San Martin. It was of white satin featuring a V-neckline accented with a satin ruffle. The basque waistline and bodice were embellished with seed pearls and sequins on Italian Milano lace. The elegant court sleeves featured a satin ruffle and cutwork designs of English net and Milano lace accented with seed pearls and sequins. Her veil of illusion was attached to a heart-shaped band of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white roses with a touch of midnight blue.

Maid of honor was Miss Angie Eudy of Tyler, Texas. She wore a formal gown by Mr. Walter of Chicago. It was white chiffon over taffeta trimmed in scallops edged in midnight blue. Her bouquet was white with navy roses.

Bridesmaids were Delane Proctor, Mary Peery, Michelle Shafer and Gay Myers. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor, and they carried bouquets of navy and white roses.

Mandy Aaron was flower girl, and her dress was designed like the bridal attendants. Melissa Aaron carried a basket of rice bags. Her attire and accessories were identical to those of the flower girl. The two young ladies are nieces of the groom. Ring-bearer was James Lee Potts, cousin of the bride.

Kirby Chandler of Quitaque was best man. Groomsmen were Mike Rice, brother of the bride, Rodney Carpenter and Brit Mayberry. All the groom's attendants wore midnight blue tuxedos from The Dynasty Collection.

The groom wore the white full-dress from The Dynasty Collection.

The candlelighters were Dora Bonsal and Dean Teykl. They were attired in garments designed like the bridal attendants and the groom's attendants.

Ushers were Walt Rice, brother of the bride, Bret Maxfield and Keith Beasley. They wore navy tuxedos from The Dynasty Collection.

RECEPTION

A reception followed the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church with Lisa Herrington registering the guests.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth featuring a skirt of crystalline drawn into scallops with navy bows. Serving the three-tiered cake, nuts and mints were Christie Springs and Dianna Hanna. The cake featured a fountain under the bottom tier with scattered navy roses.

The groom's table was covered with a tailored white satin cloth and the chocolate cake was topped with a softball design. An arrangement of tropical fruit was featured on the groom's table. Mellessia Carpenter and Patti Roach served the cake, coffee, nuts and mints.

After a short trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home in Hereford after September 1, where he will be employed part-time and will attend West Texas State University to complete his degree.

The bride is a graduate of West Texas State University in Canyon where she received a degree in elementary education. She will teach first grade in Hereford.

PRENUPTIAL COURTESIES

Prenuptial courtesies for Miss Rice included a bridal luncheon held Saturday, August 16, in the home of the grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Pete Rice. A colorful chef salad was served with crackers, a fresh fruit dish and a cream cheese dip.

Nadine Rice Is Brunch Honoree

Nadine Rice, bride-elect of Jerry Cargill, and her attendants were honored by Angie Eudy, bridesmaid, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eudy Saturday, August 23, at 9:30 a.m.

The bride's chosen colors of navy and white complimented the home. The dining table was covered with a white cloth and held a large white basket of ivy interspersed with white daisies. Crystal bowls and platters were used to serve Sausage Brunch Casserole, cheese crackers, fresh fruits, Bridesmaids Tarts, orange juice and coffee. In the living room, card tables were covered with white cloths and set with navy napkins with white napkin rings, each holding two white daisies for each attendant.

Those attending the brunch were the honoree, Nadine Rice, bridesmaids Delane Proctor, Mary Peery, Michelle Shafer, Dora Bonsal, and the hostess, Angie Eudy, Mrs. Jarrell Rice, the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Ronald Eudy and Mrs. Lewis Eudy.

Mrs. Taylor Hosts Residents of E. J. Bivins Home

Mrs. Jim (Feam) Taylor of Quitaque was host to a group from Elizabeth Jane Bivins Retirement Home in Amarillo Wednesday, August 13. The administrator, Mrs. Cleo Cox, a nurse, Nona Elkins, and two activity directors, Wanda Goldsmith and Bea Powers, brought ten residents to Quitaque to eat lunch and visit with Jim and Feam.

Lillian White of Quitaque went to Feam's rescue and helped her with the last-minute details, while Feam was talking and playing Arts and Crafts. This was what Feam did at E.J.B. for many years.

Mary Ellen Gowin, a resident, came to Quitaque and her cousin, Velma Moseley of Flomot, picked her up at Allsup's and took her home with her. Mrs. Taylor says if Mrs. Gowin will eat with them next time around, she will take her to see Velma when the group returns home.

Mrs. Taylor says they had such a good time talking and eating, then they took a tour around Caprock Canyons State Park. The residents who came were Lorine Haskins, Hazel McKinney, Irene Veazey, Angie Clower, Tressie Thompson, Vernon Brand, Evelyn Orlds, Edna May, Mae Maxwell and Buela Judson. Miss Frankie Hawkins, a former Quitaque resident, was unable to attend. Mrs. Taylor says the group really missed her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor live north of Quitaque in the house formerly owned and occupied by the Bud Bailey family. The Taylors were childhood and youth friends and after many years, they met again and married. Mrs. Taylor worked for years at the Elizabeth Bivins Home in Amarillo. She still works very hard in her garden, canning and cooking for relatives and friends. The Taylors have a houseful of company nearly every weekend, and if not, they are gone visiting. Mrs. Taylor told the editor Monday that they are planning a trip to Alaska to visit his daughter soon. (Maybe we will get another story.)

On Friday of last week, Gail and Sam Robertson and children, Miranda and Little Sam of Springtown, Texas, arrived. On Saturday morning, Julie Bingham and son, Jason, and Drew Cummins of Amarillo arrived. Doris and Cecil Holloway and James of Amarillo arrived on Friday.

All of this group returned to their homes Sunday.

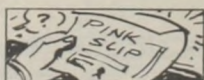

Sunday, Jeanie Parker and three children, Chip, Monday and Zack, and Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. Lucille Stanford, all of Amarillo came and stayed for a visit until Tuesday.

Mrs. Taylor takes it all in stride and really enjoys company, even though she is a Senior Citizen.

Mrs. Clara Nell Sanders of Sunnyvale, California arrived in Quitaque August 3 to visit her sister, Opal Hamilton, other relatives and friends. A family picnic was held during the time she visited here and it has been in a previous issue of the Valley Tribune. Mrs. Hamilton took her to Lubbock Thursday, August 14, to emplane for her home.

Gauze, the thin, open cloth made of cotton and other fibers, probably takes its name from the ancient city of Gaza where this type of cloth was first made.

Sinclair Lewis, the first American to win the Nobel Prize for Literature, was once fired from his job because his boss felt he was an incompetent writer.

Andrea and Ruben proudly display their certificates which they obtained in their promotion test to get their 9th Keub yellow/Sp. belt when tested in Lubbock Saturday by Master Sang Ju Cho of Cho's Institute of Tae Kwon Do. Andrea and Ruben have been in training with their dad, Tomas Hinojosa, the instructor, and the rest of the class.

NEW ARRIVALS

Randy and M'Liss Fraser of Claude are the proud parents of a new baby daughter, Britt Nicole. She arrived Thursday, August 7, weighing 7 lbs. 13 ozs., and measured 19 inches in length.

She is welcomed into the home by a brother, Matt, who is six years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Meyer of Turkey and Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser of Groom. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Bill Meyer of Quitaque, Mr. and Mrs. Max Schuch of Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fraser of Groom.

Tommy and Melody Ross would like to announce the birth of their daughter, Aleda Elaine, at 4:33 p.m. on August 7, 1986.

The little miss was born at St. Paul Hospital in Dallas. She weighed 7 lbs. 9 1/2 ozs. and measured 20 1/2 inches long.

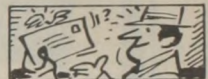

Maternal grandparents are Herbert and Celeste Barnes of Flint, Michigan.

Paternal grandparents are Tom and Aleda Ross of Flomot.

Mrs. Fern Gerov of Flint, Michigan is the maternal great-grandmother.

Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Hoyte Paschal of Olton.

The first air mail stamps were issued May 13, 1918 and consisted of three denominations, six-cent orange, 16-cent green and 24-cent carmine rose and blue, all with airplanes depicted on them.

Even if you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there.

in previous years. The control cost has been generally around $10.00, depending on the amount of chemical used, etc. At this price, if cotton sells for 40c/lb., then a threshold of 10,000-12,000 larvae per acre should be used.

We must also begin to watch our grain sorghum crop for sorghum midge. Most area reports have been in the 2-3 midge/20 heads range, but two fields in Swisher and Hale counties average 2-3 midge/head.

With all the late-planted sorghum, we need to be aware of the possibility of midge problems developing in blooming fields. Scouting should be done daily between 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. during bloom. Sorghum should also be scouted for headworms as grain fill begins.

Hightower Getting Used To Being State's No. 2 Lawyer

It's an election year, the crowd of Democrats has a couple of standing ovations just ready to bust out, and though Jack Hightower is giving a political speech, he isn't running for office.

He admits the sensation is a little strange for a man who spent more than three decades in public office, culminating with 10 years as the U. S. Representative from the 13th District, which includes much of the Panhandle.

By the time 1984 rolled around, he was a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee as well as its defense subcommittee. The power and experience didn't mean, however, that he couldn't be beat.

His then relatively unknown Republican opponent took advantage of the Reagan sweep and surprising support in Wichita Falls to edge Hightower by six percentage points.

After leaving office, Hightower worked for a time as an attorney with a big Dallas-area firm, and he toyed with the idea of running again, possibly for his old office or maybe one of the lower-level statewide races.

"I was so bored after I left Congress," he said.

He surprised everybody, however, by foregoing another campaign and accepting Attorney General Jim Mattox's offer to become first assistant, the No. 2 spot in what is probably Texas' largest law firm.

Hightower can joke now about his defeat, something that wasn't much in him in the days after that nasty surprise.

"Despite the fact that some folks in the Congressional District tried to get me unemployed," he told a crowd of mostly Amarillo Democrats on Friday, "I have a job."

He spent much of the 20-minute speech saying good things about his boss and the office he now works in, though he said such campaigning will not be a frequent job of his.

As he pointed out, somebody's got to mind the store while Mattox goes about another kind of business: trying to get re-elected.

Hightower said he was surprised eight months ago when Mattox contacted him about the job. Though he had been friends with Mattox while they both were in Congress and before that in the Texas Senate, they had never been "buddies."

Now his job description can be described as busy but loose.

"I'm really not anybody's boss," he said.

Among his duties, though, are reviewing all the AG opinions before Mattox finally gets them, participating in policy and litigation strategy sessions and overseeing the 254 attorneys in the AG's office.

Making the switch from legislator to lawyer has entailed a big mental shift as well, he said.

"I had not been active in the practice of law for many years," he said. "This has brought me back into the mainstream. It's a different mindset. I was concerned with making laws. I have to get away from that because I'm now just a law enforcer."

Hightower told the Democrats he wouldn't absolutely rule out running for office again, and later explained that though it is unlikely, he just can't make blanket statements against another campaign.

The office that would most interest him, should he decide to run again, would be for the Texas Supreme Court, which is the state's highest civil court. He admitted that his current job is a perfect prep school for that job, but he added that wasn't why he took the job.

He also admits that he doesn't particularly miss being Congressman. Though he liked always being busy—something his current job also gives him—he didn't miss having to campaign every two years, trying to cover the vast district and the constant travel between Texas and Washington. His favorite office, he said, was when he was in the Texas Senate.

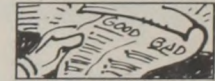

Now, though, he's busy enjoying a new job and some major changes in his life.

"I enjoy this," he said of the speech to the Democrats, "but this is nostalgia."

Add Some Mexican S

The third flag to fly in the state of Texas was the Mexican flag. The Mexican flag dates from 1821-1836. The dishes that we have know today are descended from the Aztecs. This Mexican makes for a very special language.

The Mexican people influenced the style of cooking, particularly in the use of seasonings. The seasonings have been used in Texas since the days of the Texas Revolution. Among the touches that are in today's cooking are the use of fresh parsley and cilantro.

The major Mexican spices have become a basic part of our cooking. Chili powder and chili peppers are used when adding the spices to our favorite dishes. How much should be added to a dish is a matter of taste. Here are a few helpful hints.

When measuring herbs there are several things to remember. For small amounts, use a dash or sprinkle. For larger amounts, use a heaping spoonful. Spices can lose their flavor if stored too long. Store spices in a cool, dry place away from direct sunlight.

Whole spices can be used as needed. The more aromatic the ground spice you can buy. About one whole spice will give you the same amount of flavor as one pre-ground spice.

Dried herbs should be stored between your fingers. Rub the palm of your hand between your fingers. Body heat will intensify the flavor. Be careful not to use too much powder and juices; the longer stored, the stronger the flavor.

Fresh herbs are more flavorful than dried herbs. When using a fresh herb in your recipe, you will need 3-4 times as much as dried herbs. Supermarkets are beginning to provide a greater variety of fresh herbs. Fresh or dried herbs add extra spice to your cooking. Try out some new herbs. Give the salt shaker a rest. Add Some Mexican Spice

The third flag to fly over the state of Texas was the Mexican flag. The Mexican rule lasted from 1821-1836. The Mexican dishes that we have come to know today are descended from the Aztecs. This Mexican flair makes for a very special culinary language.

The Mexican people have influenced the style of Texas cooking, particularly in the method of seasonings. The Mexican seasonings have become THE seasonings of Texas-style cooking today. Among the Mexican touches that are important in today's cooking are the generous use of fresh parsley as an ingredient.

The major Mexican spices that have become a basic in today's cooking are chili powder, cumin and chili peppers. These are potent spices and care must be used when adding these to your favorite dish. How much spice should be added to a recipe? Here are a few helpful tips.

When measuring spices or herbs there are several classifications for small amounts. Pinch, dash or sprinkle are ways to refer to small amounts. A dash refers to less than 1/8 teaspoon of an ingredient. A pinch is as much substance as can be taken between the finger and thumb. A sprinkle generally refers to the method of scattering a small amount.

When trying out a new spice, especially a potent Mexican spice, it is best to start small. After all, it is easier to add more flavor than it is to subtract.

When purchasing spices try to buy in small amounts, about what you would use in a year's time. Spices can lose flavor if stored too long. Store spices tightly capped in a cool dry place, away from direct sunlight.

Whole spices can be ground or grated as needed. They are more aromatic than the ground forms you can buy. About 1 1/2 times more whole spice will be needed when they are substituted for pre-ground spice.

Dried herbs should be crushed between your fingers or in the palm of your hand before using. Body heat will intensify the flavor. Be careful with garlic powder and juices; they get stronger the longer they are stored.

Fresh herbs are more fragrant than dried herbs. When substituting a fresh herb into a recipe you will need 3-4 times as much. Supermarkets are beginning to provide a greater variety of fresh herbs. Fresh or dried herbs can add extra spice to your recipes. Try out some new spices and give the salt shaker a rest. Burleson Roping Held At Flomot Recently

Despite temperatures which rose above 100°, the three-day Burleson Memorial Roping at Flomot drew a crowd of over 850 dedicated fans on July 25-27. The heat did not deter either the contestants or their hardy mounts from capturing prizes worth over $3,000.

While spectators scurried for the shade, Jo Goen, June Keltz, Terry Keltz, Jack Robertson, Robert Pyle, Christeen Gilbert, Tony Shipley, Otho Stubbs, Effie Sherman and Joe Taylor, area artists, displayed their work in an art show at the headquarters barn.

Under the airy hay barn, Morris Burkes and Dickie Garrison coolly pitched their way to the Washer Pitching Championship over 19 other teams.

Proceeds of the events benefited the Scholarship Fund of Clarendon College in memory of Dusty Burleson.

Division winners in Western Pleasure in the Youth Division who took home Alvin Durham halters were Kristi Smith of Plainview, Russ Baird of Silverton and Kelly Smith of Plainview.
