Hearing To Be Held on Herbicide Regulations

The Texas Department of Agriculture will be available at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, January 14, at the County Courthouse, to receive public response on the proposed changes in the Herbicide Regulations for Briscoe County, says Dirk Aaron, County Extension Agent.

The Briscoe County Commissioners Court recommended changes in December 1986 to Commissioner Jim Hightower on the following items:

1. The aerial application of any regulated herbicides is prohibited in Precincts 1, 3 and 4 from April 25 through September 20 of each year, and in Precinct 2 from May 10 through October 15 of each year.
2. The aerial application for brush control may be permitted under the direct supervision of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

3. The application of regulated herbicides by ground equipment is banned except for Dicamba products and 2, 4-D amine. Permits must be obtained from the Texas Department of Agriculture for ground application prior to the application of these herbicides during the regulated period.

4. No permit is required for the application of regulated herbicides from September 21 through April 24 of each year. This will be defined as the unregulated period.

All interested producers are urged to give their viewpoints on the changes.

Briscoe County Receives Crop Disaster Designation

The ASCS office was officially notified Monday, January 5, that Briscoe County was one of several counties on the South Plains designated as a natural disaster area.

This designation makes farm producers eligible to receive some disaster pay if they produced less than 50% of the farm yield for a specific commodity on a farm.

Crops must have been adversely affected by drought, excessive heat, excessive moisture or hail. Yield adjustments will be made for any other events and farming practices that were not conducive to producing the farm yield.

Producers must bring in production records AND records of all insurance receipts so that the processing of the red tape and other paperwork can begin. It is thought that all the payment computations must be made and the total amount of money needed for disaster payments transmitted to Washington by January 30.

The Texas Department of health has begun to charge money to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. The amount of money charged will be based on family income and size, and the ability to pay.

Registration will begin at 1:00 p.m. with the program promptly following at 1:15 with Dr. Roland Roberts presenting a discussion on alternative crops to produce, production costs and cultural practices. At 2:00 p.m., Cobb Adams will explain how non-program crops will affect you in the farm program.

A break will follow, and at 2:45 p.m., Dr. Michael Hickey will present a program on soil tests and requirements on vegetable crops. Immediately following, Jimmy McClendon will give an overview of peppers grown in Swisher County in 1986.

A response period has been scheduled for 4:00 p.m. during which time those attending may ask questions and give their responses to what has been discussed.

Caprock SWCD Is Ordering Windbreak Trees

Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District is taking orders for windbreak trees through Friday, March 6. The Soil Conservation Service is available to design windbreaks and drip irrigation systems.

Species available include Caragana, cotoneaster, honeysuckle, lilac, plum, sumac, sand cherry, nanking cherry, cottonwood, golden willow, hackberry, honeylocust, Russian olive, poplar, Austrian pine, Colorado blue spruce, eastern red cedar, rocky mountain juniper and Scotch pine.

Please decide what varieties you would like to order and don't forget the March 6 deadline. Call 823-2320 or go by the SCS office and ask for Cletus to order your trees.

A farmstead windbreak makes your home more attractive and aids in the fight against wind erosion. It protects your home, saves fuel and makes life more enjoyable. Windbreaks do best when they are installed with a good watering system.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mathews were their daughter, Barbara and Danny Holland and children of Plainview.

This past Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mathews were visitors in her sister's home at Flomot with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Starkey.

'We the Women' to Meet on Tuesday

"We the Women" will meet Tuesday, January 13, for a noon luncheon at the Senior Citizens Building in Quitaque.

Among business to be discussed will be a dual project with the Lions Club to raise money for new carpet at the Quitaque Community Center.

Everyone in the community benefits from the nice Community Center at one time or another. It is used for family reunions, showers, banquets, parties, EMS training and many group meetings. One of the most-needed things at this time for the building is new carpet.

Our community needs all women in Quitaque to participate in this worthwhile endeavor. "We the Women" is the only women's service organization in Quitaque and we can make our community as good as we want it to be if we are willing to become involved and to put forth the effort it takes to make it a better place in which to live.

This meeting will be very important. We urge each woman to be present to discuss this project. A free nursery is provided by "We the Women" at the First Baptist Church.

NEWS OF HEALTH

A Pioneering Approach To Catastrophic Problems

A single catastrophic illness or injury such as a severe stroke or major head injury, can easily cost upwards of $100,000 in medical expenses, not to mention its immense emotional impact upon the victim and family. But health insurance is coming to the rescue in a new way.

In an effort to promote more comprehensive care, some health insurance plans are becoming increasingly involved in certain cases, by contributing more than just money to pay the bills. The idea is called Medical Case Management (MCM).

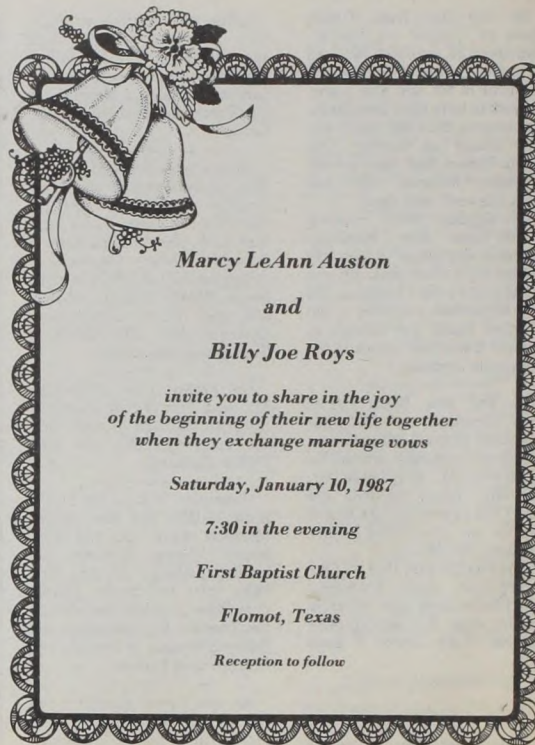

When a person suffers a specified catastrophic illness or injury, an MCM coordinator gets involved right away. A healthcare professional with experience in case management and insurance practices, the coordinator helps develop a range of medical and rehabilitative options for the victim. For example, the coordinator can identify specialized alternate care facilities like rehabilitation centers or burn units of which the attending physician may not be aware.

The coordinator can also provide a plan of needed support services for the family. These could include special counseling, home care training, or local support groups. The coordinator is the central link uniting the patient, family, attending physicians, employer, and specialized providers into a single, coordinated timely effort to help the patient and family.

Medical Case Management is part of The Equitable's new group health insurance program designed to provide the utmost in care and cost-effective health insurance coverage and services. ☐

LET'S TALK TURKEY

Tips from the United States Department of Agriculture

Keep your turkey cold while thawing—the key to preventing excessive bacterial growth.

Take your turkey out of the deep freeze with ease. Whether you have four days or 12 hours, you can safely thaw your frozen turkey without risking bacterial growth. Thawing in the refrigerator is the preferred method for safety reasons, but thawing can also be done in cold water.

Cook the turkey promptly after thawing.

Thawing in the refrigerator: Place turkey in original wrap on tray in refrigerator.

Thawing Time in Refrigerator (Whole Turkey)

8 to 12 lbs.	1 to 2 days
12 to 16 lbs.	2 to 3 days
16 to 20 lbs.	3 to 4 days
20 to 24 lbs.	4 to 5 days

Thawing in cold water: simply place the bird in its unopened bag in the sink or in a large container and cover it with cold water. You will need to change water frequently to assure safe but effective thawing.

Thawing Time in Cold Water (Whole Turkey)

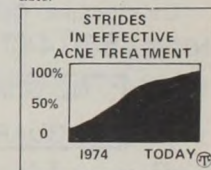

8 to 12 lbs. ...	4 to 6 hrs.
12 to 16 lbs. ...	6 to 9 hrs.
16 to 20 lbs. ...	9 to 11 hrs.
20 to 24 lbs. ...	11 to 12 hrs.

THEN NOW!

In recent years, the science of dermatology has made gigantic strides in the treatment of acne. A decade ago, some of the most common methods used for treating acne patients were not available.

Only about 11 percent of teenagers with acne consult a physician for treatment. One reason many teenage acne sufferers are not seeking medical treatment may be that they don't know about these new and effective methods for controlling the skin disease.

information about the items you ordered.

- Write down the date of the order, whether you ordered by phone or by mail, the check, money order or charge card number. According to the Federal Trade Commission, mail order businesses must let you know if your prepaid order can't be shipped within 30 days.

- When you get your merchandise, check your credit card bill against these records.

- If the merchandise is never received, or is not in good working order, you should not be charged.

- If the merchandise is incorrect, promptly refer to the return policies stated in the offer.

Ordering by mail or phone can be easy and convenient, especially when you keep accurate records of what you order.

YOUR FLOWERS AND PLANTS Helpful Hints

By Merlin Olsen

The cactus, unlike many other plants, likes strong sunlight, extreme heat, and very little water. In fact, it's been called the plant that "thrives on neglect."

FTD florists recommend watering cacti only about once every seven to ten days, and even less during the winter when they're not actively growing. The soil should be allowed to dry out between waterings.

Their native climate forced cacti to find ways of surviving desert temperatures and scanty rainfall. They can store water in their stems, which often are covered with wax, bristles or silky hair to further lessen water evaporation.

The cacti family includes approximately 2,000 species varying in size, shape and form. All have areoles, cushion-like structures on the stems from which leaves, spines and bell-shaped flowers grow in a variety of colors.

TRIUMPHS OF SCIENCE

Making use of medical data from various areas of research is helping doctors come closer to a cure for one of the most mystifying diseases of all time—Parkinson's.

Doctors know certain brain cells die when a patient develops Parkinson's Disease, but they don't know why. Now they may be on their way to answering that question, thanks to studies done on people who abuse "designer drugs"—drugs greatly resembling illegal drugs such as heroin or speed, with a few minor ingredients changed to make them "legal highs." Some people who abuse designer drugs rapidly develop symptoms much like those in people with advanced Parkinson's. The reason may be that the same brain cells die in each case.

The Parkinson's Disease Foundation continues to do a lot of research. For free brochures on how to help Parkinsonians with their disease, call 1-800-457-6676. In New York State, people call 1-212-923-4700 collect. Or you can write to the Foundation at 650 West 168th St., New York, NY 10032.

Understanding Yourself

Are there times when you'd like to reach someone with a warm, friendly, funny message but don't know how?

If there is someone you want to be in touch with today, don't wait months for a holiday or birthday. Act on the playfulness within you and share that feeling today.

No special-occasion cards from American Greetings rise to any occasion for fun. Sending them may make you and the recipient feel good.

One effective way is to send a greeting card. Specifically, a no-special-occasion card such as "Something Else," a new contemporary line from American Greetings.

Your impulse can get the desired results when you send cards with a message such as: "Just a card to let you know that if there's any favor you need or anything you want done, I'm always ready to be by your side." "God, I'm a nice person." "or "Thanks for being there when I needed a hug!"

You may also make that special someone's day by sending a "Something Else" card wishing a "Happy Whatday"... a WHAT-DAY is whatever you want it to be! You can have one as often as you need it! Sending such a card may make your day, too.

Pointers For Parents

Many smokers—especially smokers who are parents as well—want to quit. They know that smoking sets a bad example for their children. It costs a lot of money that could be better spent on the family. Here are some tips that could help you break the cigarette habit.

•Decide that you want to quit smoking and set a Quit Day—sometime within the next two weeks. Ask for your physician's guidance in starting a formal smoking cessation program.

A new gum is helping many parents successfully kick the smoking habit.

•Many smokers develop a physical dependence on nicotine. If this dependence is unrecognized and untreated when you try to stop smoking, it can result in physical discomfort that can undermine your willpower and cause your quit-smoking effort to fail. That's why many physicians are making Nicorette® (nicotine resin complex), a prescription drug from Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals Inc., a part of a stop-smoking program.

•Nicorette is not for every patient and is available only by prescription. Nicorette gum helps control the craving for nicotine by releasing small amounts of nicotine in the mouth as you chew. You can stop smoking immediately, using Nicorette to satisfy and steadily reduce your need for nicotine.

MONEY MYTHS

By Dr. Oswald Hoffmann
Lutheran Hour Speaker

To talk about all the myths about money would probably fill a whole library shelf, so let's concentrate on some of the more prevalent myths we all have heard.

Money talks — but not always in the way people think.

You've no doubt heard people say that "Money is the root of all evil." People who circulate that myth have actually misquoted the Bible. What the Bible actually says is recorded in 1 Timothy 6:10 "The Love of money is a root of all evil." That's quite a different story. Having or not having money is not the source of evil. The problem comes when money becomes something you love.

Another myth worth examining is "Lack of money is a virtue." This is a common myth you rarely hear spoken out loud. There really is no virtue in being poor...or in being rich. What's important is priorities. Virtue comes neither from a lack of money nor from having an abundance of it.

health hints

If you are a "weekend athlete," you may push your body too hard too soon and wind up getting hurt. In case you do, sports medicine specialists in cooperation with The BUFFERIN® Sports Injuries Education Program have developed a five-point post-injury program for treating minor sprains and strains as soon as possible after the injury.

1. Rest. If you feel pain, stop exercising. Do not aggravate the injury by continuing to work out.

2. Ice. Wrap ice in a towel or plastic bag and apply it to the injured area for 30 minutes to reduce pain and swelling. Move it every five minutes to avoid frostbite.

3. Compression. To limit swelling further, wrap an elastic bandage, not too tightly, around the injured area for 30 minutes. Then remove it for 15 minutes to ease circulation.

4. Elevation. Raise the injured area above the heart level to help drain excess fluid.

5. Aspirin or Buffered Aspirin. Take aspirin or buffered aspirin such as BUFFERIN® to relieve the pain of inflammation.

Follow these five steps to speed your recovery time, but if pain persists for several days, if you are unable to move the injured part of your body, or if it does not appear to be healing, see your doctor.

A booklet on preventing and treating sports injuries is available for $1, by writing to: Sports Injuries Booklet, Box 537, Dept. MF, Coventry, CT 06238.

Milk has been routinely packaged in plastic bottles for twenty years with the approval of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Dr. John Bruhn, food scientist at the University of California, Davis, finds that milk sold in plastic containers is just as nutritious as ever. Today, the use of modern plastics has increased until 90 percent of all milk sold in gallons comes in plastic containers.

Moreover, according to experts at Hoover Universal, a leading supplier to the dairy industry, the growing acceptance of milk in plastic containers has never wavered and an increasing proportion of milk sold in half-gallon containers is sold in plastic.

Municipal governments are seeking to attract the best and brightest citizens to public service.

Sally Ride, the first woman in space, is a Federal employee. So is Philip Habib, our former peace negotiator in the Middle East. Behind them are public employees in less glamorous jobs who provide skill and dedication to support America's leadership position in the world.

Career government workers provide the nation's defense, law and order, environmental protection, transportation systems, social security, health programs and countless other crucial public services.

As President Gerald Ford said, "It is a work environment for which top-notch people are selected on the basis of ability."

Competition for jobs is keen and the government is increasingly concerned with selecting the most qualified applicants. If you think you have the "right stuff," check your phone book for the number of the nearest Federal Job Information Center or write for a copy of "Working for the USA," the Office of Personnel Management, Washington, D.C. 20415.

IT'S A FACT!

In order for skin to remain smooth and supple, say dermatologists, the top layer of skin must contain water, along with sufficient lubricants to trap and hold that moisture.

Skin can become dehydrated for many reasons. These include excessive sun, overheated rooms, cold winter air, low humidity, and even too much soap and water!

To help prevent and soothe dry skin, follow these simple tips:

- Drink several glasses of water every day. This keeps the skin moist on the inside as well as the outside.

- Wear rubber or vinyl gloves when using detergents. Regular hand soap, as well as household cleansers, can dry out and irritate the skin.

- Use a 100% soap-free cleansing bar like Aveeno®, which is recommended by dermatologists.

Packaging People

Know why we build skyscrapers? In order to have many more people working in a limited area. We package people vertically!

Among the skyscrapers our photographer has discovered a church. It too has a vertical element — a steeple pointing heavenward.

Church architecture with its traditional spires expresses our beliefs. People today are packaged too tightly. Pressure, custom, conformity crowd in upon our souls. Christ teaches that every person is important . . . each one of us is loved by our Lord.

As we worship God each week side by side, our beliefs point us heavenward.

When Souls Communicate

When souls communicate — it's like prayer. There may never be a word spoken . . . just a sigh, a wish, a hope, a longing. A child trying to express some simple feeling to its Mother. Mother trying to express her devotion to her child.

All prayer is founded on the idea that God loves us and cares about the things that affect us. Jesus taught us to pray "Our Father . . ." He wanted men to see God's love on the parental level.

When you feel the need to pray, reach out with your heart to God. You may not be able to find words. Yet He hears, He understands those deep feelings we find hard to express.

In church our efforts to communicate with Him are strengthened by the fact that many others are praying with us. They need Him just as much as we do. And we need their longings, their hopes and wishes and feelings to help us express our own. Join us in prayer at your local church or synagogue.

CARDS OF THANKS

We gratefully express our appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us at the time of our loss. Thanks for the flowers, food and donations to various organizations. A special thanks to Elgin and to the ladies who prepared the delicious meal. May God's richest blessings be yours. The nieces and nephews of Euna Bradshaw

I would like to thank the Turkey Fire Department on behalf of one four-year-old boy for their visit.

The unselfish time these men spent on Christmas Eve away from their own families is undoubtedly the true spirit of Christmas.

I'm sure the big eyes and opened mouths were rewarding, but I would like to say a great Big Thank You.

Briscoe County
Extension Agent

I would like to take this opportunity to remind all 4-H'ers that the Briscoe County Stock Show entries are due in the Extension Office Friday, January 9, at 5:00 p.m. Any entries received after this time will be assessed a late charge!

The County Stock Show Board of Directors is currently soliciting donations for the annual Junior Stock Show to be held Saturday, January 24, at the county show barn.

I urge all businesses and individuals who support our FFA and 4-H Club programs to donate what you can. I realize that times are extremely tight, but a $5.00 or more donation can go a long way toward making the show a success. For example, last year's donations hit an all-time high of $7,000 over the previous high of $5,500. Again, please support our 1987 Briscoe County Junior Livestock Show.
