Valley Receives Half Inch Moisture From Snowfall

City Secretary James Brunson reports that the city proper received approximately 5/8 inch of snow and .50 of an inch of moisture last week.

The area roads have been very hazardous. The rain began to fall Tuesday, and began to freeze Wednesday, and the roads were iced over until the travel up the caprock was stopped Thursday. The editor tried to climb the caprock and got to the last curve and began to slide back to the rail. We backed around and got back to Quitaque after much difficulty. The snow began to fall Thursday evening and continued all night, breaking away Friday about noon, but still falling some all day Friday.

The Briscoe County News sent the Valley Tribune newspaper ready to print to Floydada by the Floydada mail carrier Thursday, and the Blanco Printing Company, which prints it, sent it back to Silverton by the Floydada mail carrier Friday. The Quitaque Postmaster, Jarrell Rice, called the postmaster at Silverton Friday afternoon about 3:00 o'clock and asked if the newspaper was there. He stated it was, so the Valley Tribune editor got into the little red car and drove the elements again and braved to Silverton, picked up the newspaper and brought it back and got it into the mail, thus keeping it from being delayed longer. The Amarillo Daily was not delivered in the area on Friday either.

As we go to press, it is reported two more storm systems are heading this way. Most people are hoping they miss this time.

The Valley Tribune wants to thank John David Harmon for cleaning the sidewalk in front of the Tribune, and also, to thank David Brunson for cleaning the snow in front of the businesses on the south side of the street. Everyone remembers how the snow was thrown on the south sidewalks a foot deep after the last snow and there was no way the "little old ladies" could get to the beauty shop.

With The Sick

Mrs. Bill Griffin is back in the Lockney Care Center after having surgery following a fall in which she received a broken leg. She continues treatment at the Center.

Mrs. Faye Dudley is home and recovering from a bout with pneumonia. She stayed a week in the Lockney General Hospital and has been confined to her home through three weeks. She reports she is improving.

A. C. Barrett was taken to Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Tuesday of last week by Quitaque Ambulance Service. David Brunson, Elgin Conner and Jimmy Davidson were the EMTs who answered the call.

Mr. Barrett continues to receive treatment. His wife and two daughters have been at his bedside most of the time and also his son. Mrs. Clovis Hill of Amarillo was stranded in Plainview during the snow, then her sister, Mrs. M. L. McNabb of Seminole came over the weekend. Glynn and his family have been in and out all week.

Mrs. Horace (Elizabeth) McDonald spent from Tuesday of last week until Saturday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock undergoing tests. She has an arm that has been swollen for some time and the doctors at Plainview couldn't determine what was causing the swelling. They sent her to the hospital in Lubbock and the doctors there didn't determine the cause, either, after a week of tests. She and her husband returned home Sunday.

FARMERS UNION CONVENTION HELD IN AUSTIN LAST WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Blakney and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Reed represented Hall and Briscoe counties last week at the 79th Farmers Union Convention in Austin, from Thursday through Saturday. They reported that the harmony among the elected officials in Texas was great and they think that the new administration will try their very best to get something done for the farmers and all concerned.

The main speakers were Governor Mark White, Congressman Kent Hance, Congressman Jake Pickel, Attorney General Mattox, Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower, House Speaker Gip Lewis, State Senator Loyd Dogget, Dan Kubiak, who is running for Congress and several others. They reported that each of the speakers came on strong for the family farmers.

Blakney served as chairman of the by-laws committee and three amendments were presented, two of which passed and one failed. Representative Foster Whaley and his wife, Lois, attended the Friday evening meeting and the Saturday night banquet.

Lon McKay Observes Eightieth Birthday

Lon McKay quietly observed his eightieth birthday anniversary last Thursday. All his children called to remember him. His sisters, Mrs. Ruby Folley of Wellington, Colorado, and Mrs. Mollie Chambers of Bakersfield, California, and his brother, Cecil McKay of Plainview, all called him to extend greetings.

A daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Purecell of Albuquerque, New Mexico, were here Saturday night and the two couples enjoyed 42 games until midnight, they report.

The earthworm is often known by several other names, including fishworm, angleworm or night crawler.

Snow and Ice Hinder Basketball Schedule

The basketball game between Lakeview and Valley which was postponed from Friday night of last week will be played at Lakeview Thursday (tonight), weather permitting. The Hedley game which was to have been played Tuesday night of last week was played Saturday night in the Valley Gym, with the varsity boys and girls winning both games handily.

The Lady Patriots took an easy win. The first quarter ended with the Lady Patriots on top 11-2. The halftime buzzer sounded with the Valley girls leading 27-8 and the third period score was 43-12. The Valley girls went on to win by a 47-14 margin.

Candy Jones took scoring honors with 16 points; Elaine Adams had 10; Angie Clay, nine; Lori Clay and Karen Ramsey, four each, Mary Dowd and Sheri Hendrix, two points each.

The Valley Patriots bagged more of the same. They outshone the Hedley Owls 84-28 at the final buzzer.

By quarters, the Patriots led 20-3, 48-19, 67-21 and 84-28.

Tommy Williams burned the baskets with a big 28 points; Randy Fuston, 14; Brett Cheatham, 10; Jerry McNary, 10; Tim Clardy, eight; Will Williams, five; Billy Shannon, three, and Rosendo Silva, two points.

The Valley teams went to Silverton Tuesday night for three games, the varsity boys and the JV boys and girls.

The Valley Varsity boys and girls and the JV girls drove to Silverton Tuesday night and came away losers in two of the three games. The varsity girls won their game by ten points.

The Lady Patriots were ahead 10-8 at the end of the first period, and behind one point, 22-23 at the halftime bell. At the end of three quarters, the Valley girls had built a 44-33 lead, and they held the ten point lead until the final buzzer, winning 61-51.

Candy Jones hit for 17 points; Sherri Hendrix, 16; Angie Clay,

13; Mary Dowd, nine, and Elaine Adams, six points. (The reporter didn't see the game, but it was reported there was some unsportsmanlike conduct during the game. The Valley girls are to be commended.)

The JV girls lost their game to Silverton. This was a close game all the way. The young Lady Patriots were behind 6-8 at the first bell, lagged behind by two points, 15-17, at halftime, and were ahead 25-20 at the third period stop. The Owlettes outplayed them in the last quarter and the final buzzer sounded with the Patriots behind 29-32.

Tammy Clay made eight points; Devonna Smith, seven; D'Anna Smith, six; June Johnson and Wanda Brittan, four points each.

The Valley Patriots entered into a barnburner, it is reported. The Patriots went into the game thinking it was already won, probably, and they came away losers after TWO OVERTIMES.

The Valley boys were behind by only one goal, 11-13, at the end of the first period, and were behind two goals, 26-30, at halftime. At the end of three quarters, the Patriots trailed 40-43, but were able to tie it up at the final buzzer, 53-53. The teams went into overtime and at the end of the three minute period, the teams were tied 57-57. In the second overtime, the Owls showed they had come to play and this period ended with the Owls winners at 68-62. Coach Adams said the Owls deserved to win; they came to play.

Tommy Williams was high scorer with 20 points; Jerry McNary dropped in 14; Brett Cheatham, 13; Randy Fuston, nine; Kraig Cox, five, and Billy Shannon got a free shot to drop in for a single point.

This was a costly error for the Valley Patriots but it may be the game they needed to show them they can't become complacent.

Friday night is an open date.

Drug traffickers are robbing our kids of their future. Over 17,000 Texas high school seniors are daily drug users . . . an alarming statistic that merely scratches the surface.

Kids from age 12 to 17 are the victims. Their innocence earns these criminals easy money. Now is the time to shut down this business in Texas. It won't be easy. Dealers are just the bottom of the drug dealing pyramid. These pushers get their drugs from the kingpins . . . those at the top of the network . . . the drug traffickers.

Drug dealing to minors is a hideous crime and those criminals must be stopped. A joint effort by law enforcement and concerned citizens is necessary in declaring war on drug traffickers.

There are no absolute answers but a major step has been taken. A statewide anti-crime hotline is answered 24-hours a day. This hotline is designed to aid law enforcement in a crackdown on drug traffickers.

For the month of February, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on drug trafficking. Any citizen having information about major drug trafficking is asked to call Texas Crime Stoppers at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of criminals. Citizens do not have to reveal their names, just their information, and they will be given a unique code number for identification purposes.

Call 1-800-252-TIPS today with any information on major drug trafficking in Texas. Help stop this growing menace to young people of our state.

FUTURE OF VOLUNTEERING

The strongest motivation for volunteering, according to a 1981 Gallup Poll, is the desire to help others. But the second most important popular motivation is "interest in work," says an organization specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Today most volunteers are employed full-time and thus select jobs that they consider important both to the community and for self-improvement. They want to put their limited time into projects they really care about and want to develop skills that might qualify them for a better paying position.

The author of the book, Virginia Browder, writes about what she knows best . . . Hall County and its people. You will meet these people and share their lives in the pages of her book. Ms. Browder spent several months in gathering material and pictures for the book.

Townsend Collecting

Material For New Book

Dr. Charles R. Townsend has just returned from a research trip to the Dallas and Austin areas where he collected material for his book-in-progress, "A History of Western Swing."

The material included interviews with surviving members of the original Light Crust Doughboys, the radio band that helped put a flour salesman named W. Lee O'Daniel in the Texas statehouse in the late 1930s.

Townsend, who has taught history at West Texas State University since 1967, obtained the original Light Crust Doughboy shirts, as well as the last musical jug used by the band, for inclusion in the Bob Wills Memorial Archives at Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

One of the Doughboys, Kenneth Pitts, supplied Townsend with the complete original files containing the lyrics to all Light Crust Doughboy songs.

With his wife, Mary, Townsend has established a Bob Wills Scholarship Endowment Fund at WTSU.

He is the author of "San Antonio Rose: The Life and Music of Bob Wills," a biography of the king of western swing, who grew up in Turkey, in Hall County. He won a Grammy Award for album notes he wrote for "Bob Wills and His Texas Playboys: For the Last Time."

Movie rights to "San Antonio Rose" are in the hands of Hollywood producer James Nelson, who reported to Townsend a few weeks ago that Jack Nicholson and Debra Winger have expressed interest in the roles of Wills and his wife, Betty. Nelson has produced several movies starring Charles Bronson and was associate producer of "Star Wars."

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Purcell and his mother, Mrs. Otis Purcell, all of Albuquerque, New Mexico, left home Thursday of last week to come to the Quitaque area. Mrs. Lon McKay, mother of Mrs. Dean Purcell, reports that when they got to Clovis, the snow was falling, but they decided to come on anyway. The Purcells had a monument erected at the grave of Otis Purcell and they were enroute to Quitaque to see it.

They got to Lockney where Mrs. Otis Purcell's daughter, Mrs. Violet Cooper, met her and took her to her home. Dean and Margie drove back to Plainview and spent the night at the Cecil McKay home. They were all stranded until Saturday when they finally got to Quitaque. The Dean Purcells spent the night with the Lon McKays Saturday and went out to the Cemetery Sunday morning, then began their trip home. Mrs. Cooper brought her mother to Quitaque.

Mrs. Bill Lane came over Sunday morning to see her sister and got a short visit. She stayed and attended church services and spent the afternoon with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor were in Amarillo Thursday of last week to be with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley of Dalhart while Mrs. Bradley's daughter, Sam-

DR. CHARLES R. TOWNSEND

Also developed from Townsend's current research is an article on western swing music to appear in a late spring issue of the Journal of Southern Culture published at the University of Mississippi. He also has written two articles, one on Bob Wills and one on western swing, to be published in the Encyclopedia of Southern Culture, put out by the University of North Carolina Press.

In addition to his interviews with surviving members of the Light Crust Doughboys, Townsend also talked with all remaining musicians from Milton Brown's Musical Brownies, and last spring he spent 10 days interviewing Leon McAuliffe, the "take it away, Leon" steel guitar player from Bob Wills' band.

As evidence of increasing interest in western swing music, Townsend points to a segment in Clint Eastwood's current "Honky Tonk Man," in which Bob Wills is played by Johnny Gimble, a TV and movie performer who is a veteran of the Wills band.

Townsend last year completed his 37th summer of announcing rodeos and roundups in the Rocky Mountain region. He also serves as sponsor of the WTSU Herdsmen, a spirit group whose members care for and train the university's buffalo mascot.

mie Stiener of Amarillo, underwent major surgery at High Plains Baptist Hospital. They report Mrs. Stiener came through the surgery in fine condition.

The Valley Tribune received a renewal from Doreen and Jiggs Turner of Borger. They state they enjoy reading about the people of the area very much, although they moved from Quitaque a long time ago. It is good when you enclose a note with your renewal.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Taylor of Canyon spent Monday night and Tuesday of last week visiting his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor, in Quitaque. Mrs. Eula Merrell of Clarendon ate lunch with them on Tuesday.

The 68th Legislative Session convened on Tuesday, January 11, 1983. The House of Representatives elected Gib Lewis, Fort Worth, as its Speaker. I was an early supporter of Gib's and I believe he will make a good and very fair Speaker. I personally asked Gib, at the time I signed his pledge card, if he would seek more than two terms. He told me "no" at that time and he has repeated recently to reporters that he would serve no longer than two terms.

There are 150 State Representatives in Texas. Each serves about 95,000 people. The Legislature convenes once every two years on the odd year—the second Tuesday in January. The Session runs 140 days which means it will end in early June of the odd year. Special 30-day sessions can be called by the Governor at his will.

The first order of business is approving a set of rules under which the House will operate. This was done and some major changes were made. All members of the Appropriations Committee will be selected by the Speaker. Each member of the Appropriations Committee will serve as Vice-Chairman of Budget and Oversight from a Substantive Committee.

Comptroller Bob Bullock reduced his projected revenue of the ensuing two years by $1.5 billion. There will still be $4.1 billion more money on hand in the State Treasury than was available for the past two years.

As of today (January 17) I see no need for a general tax increase. Inflation is down below the four percent figure.

Unemployment is high; there is one business failure after another.

Farmers are in a crisis worse than the thirties. This is a time to make do on what one has and learn how to use bailing wire to patch things. Oklahoma recently froze all State salaries because of their financial status. Texas can give a reasonable salary increase to teachers and other State employees and still stay within present revenue projections.

According to a recent study done by the Houston Independent School District, the average salary of a Texas teacher with a

B.A. degree working on a ten-month basis is $20,317.00 annually. This is $823.00 more than the national average salary of $19,494.00. The H.I.S.D. pays $21,344.00 or $1850.00 more than the average for the Nation.

Don't forget our Pampa toll-free WATT line number: 1-800-692-1389. Our Pampa Secretary will notify us in Austin if she cannot answer your question.

Also important: if you need information on any particular bill in the Legislature you can call toll-free 1-800-252-9693.

Very little happening in the House of Representatives. Committee assignments were announced on January 20. I was re-appointed to the House Appropriations Committee. I will also serve as the chairman of the Budget and Oversight Committee for the County Affairs Committee. I was extremely pleased with these appointments. My district and three others are the only ones having 12 or more counties. This makes it extremely important for me to be a member of this committee.

The lame duck appointments of former Governor Clements are being returned to Governor Mark White. Such well knowns as Bill Clayton and John Connally head the list. Governor White will submit emergency legislation ending this abuse of power started by former Governor John Connally a number of years ago. This will also curtail Governor White's authority to make lame duck appointments when he is in his final term as governor.

Battle lines are being drawn on the de-regulation of the trucking industry. Farmers, ranchers, and all of the farm organizations have joined hands with people shipping freight in the urban areas. They want permits and rates totally de-regulated and dropped from the authority of the Railroad Commission. The 800-plus trucking companies that haul cattle, farm products, and the massive amounts of freight to business and industry want the rates and permits regulated as they have been for decades by the Railroad Commission. The trucking industry has a political action committee that has donated over $225,000.00 to various legislators' campaigns over the state. Shippers political action committees have only made token contributions to legislators' campaigns. This will be a tough battle. Let me know how you personally feel about this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey enjoyed having their children home for lunch Sunday. Those present were Mrs. Johnny Chadwick and children, Shane and Bradley, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jameson, Kevin and Michelle, Claytonville; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ramsey, Bryan, Amy, Kayla and Dara, Silvertown; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ramsey, Russell and Kristin, Quitaque, and Jana Boyles, Turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Woods drove to Plainview Friday of last week to be with the family of Joe McWaters of Silvertown while Joe underwent surgery. He came through fine and Mrs. Woods reports she talked with him one day this week and he is improving.

Notice to Hall County Farmers

The Commissioners Court of Hall County has received several complaints on the conditions of our county roads. Many miles of roadway have been turned into waterways after each rain, destroying the roadbeds. This problem has been several years in the making. Landowners and/or their renters have opened terraces, causing the water to flow into the roadway, while others have built diversion dams to divert water from its natural flow. The practice of using the roadway as a turnrow or filling in a ditch so it can be used to turn in has added to the erosion of the roadbeds.

The commissioners court, having duly noted that these practices are a violation of the law, is asking the voluntary cooperation of all landowners and/or their renters in stopping these illegal practices. The court is currently looking into the various ways available to it in solving this problem.

This soil conservation district has offered technical assistance to anyone needing information on repairing or maintaining blocks on terrace systems.

These are several statutes covering the flow of water in Texas; One of these statutes states:

#1 TEXAS CIVIL STATUTE 5.085 Interwatershed Transfers

(a) No person may take or divert any of the water of the ordinary flow, underflow, or storm flow of any stream, watercourse, or watershed in this state into any other natural stream, watercourse, or watershed to the prejudice of any person or property situated within the watershed from which the water is proposed to be taken or diverted.

(b) No person may transfer water from one watershed to another without first applying for and receiving a permit from the commission to do so. Before issuing such a permit, the commission shall hold a hearing to determine the rights that might be affected by the transfer. The commission shall notice and hold the hearing in the manner prescribed by its rules.

(c) A person who takes or diverts water in violation of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 or by confinement in the county jail for not more than six months.

(d) a person commits a separate offense each day he continues to take or divert water in violation of this section.

#2 THE TEXAS PENAL CODE SEC 28.04 States: Reckless Damage or Destruction

(a) A person commits an offense if, without the effective consent of the owner, he recklessly damages or destroys property of the owner.

(b) An offense under this section is a Class C misdemeanor.

These and other statutes may be brought into use in solving this problem when it becomes necessary. The county road administrator has been instructed to report to the court and the county attorney anyone causing water to be turned into the roadway and to file charges on anyone who deliberately damages the roadway.

Energas To Expand Efforts To Aid Low-Income People

Responding to a request by the chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, Energas Company announced January 12 that the company will expand its efforts to aid low-income people in paying their energy bills this winter. Last month, TRC chairman Mack Wallace wrote to all natural gas utility companies in Texas, urging them to create winter energy assistance programs for the disadvantaged in Texas, similar to some pilot programs instigated by utility companies in other states.

The Railroad Commission is the state agency that regulates the oil and gas industry in Texas. Energas is establishing a program to supplement existing programs of financial aid to people in its service territory who would otherwise not be able to pay their heating bills this winter. Energas representatives have been involved on national industry committees studying the results of the pilot energy assistance programs. "The new program is an extension of procedures Energas already has for helping our customers pay their gas bills," Charles K. Vaughan, Energas president, said. "For years, Energas has offered an individualized deferred payment plan to customers who need help. Now, on Commissioner Wallace's recommendation, we are adding a program of financial assistance for this heating season." The program that Energas is devising will rely on seven charitable organizations throughout the company's service territory to receive and distribute money for heating assistance. Energas will contribute money itself to those organizations for use in the program and will encourage its employees, its customers and the general public to make contributions. Energas officials are working with representatives of the seven regional charitable organizations to establish agreements for the operation of the program. When those agreements have been made, Energas will give a donation to each non-profit organization, based on the number of customers the company has in the region served by the organization. The company will then publicize the details of the program, so that those needing help will know how the program operates and others will know how to make contributions. Energas provides natural gas service to a 30,000-square-mile area of West Texas, extending from the Panhandle to south of Odessa. The gas utility company is a division of Pioneer Corporation, an energy resources corporation headquartered in Amarillo.

REVISED, UPDATED BRUCellosIS REGULATIONS NOW IN EFFECT

Revised and updated federal brucellosis regulations became effective January 12, 1983, Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, announced today. "The present Texas brucellosis program will remain in effect until Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission act upon proposals before them. However, Texas livestock producers need to be aware now of the new federal changes," Dr. Holcombe said. Under the federal regulations, Texas will continue its two-area classification, and as of January 12, the present Class A area and Class B area will become known as Class B area and Class C area. The Class B area (formerly Class A area) contains 140 counties in the western half of the state. The Class C area (formerly Class B area) contains 114 counties in the eastern half of the state. The most significant change for movement of cattle for Texas livestock producers will be those non-vaccinated test eligible females of breeding age in the Class C area which are to be shipped out of that area. Under the new federal regulations, a non-vaccinated test eligible female will require two negative tests at least 60 days apart, with the second test within 30 days prior to movement and retest at destination.

DAVIS RETIRES AFTER 45 YEARS OF SERVICE

Jimmy H. Davis, Memphis Area Operations Manager for General Telephone Company, officially retired after 45 years of dedicated service. Retirement activities were held at the Branding Iron Restaurant in Memphis December 18, 1982. Approximately 85 area telephone employees attended the dinner for Davis. During the ceremonies, Lucien White, manager of the service department, presented Davis with a "money tree" from the service department personnel. Davis was responsible for the supervision of 28 exchanges in the Memphis operation. Davis began his career with GTE in Gonzales, Texas as a Storekeeper for the Southern Plant Division. Military service during World War II interrupted his career in 1942, but after service he returned to GTE as a Senior Plant Supervisor in Robstown. Davis' retirement marks the end of an era of excellent service. Davis and his wife, Dolores, plan to continue making their home in Memphis and expect to remain active in civic affairs. Davis' initial plans are to travel, fish, hunt and spend time with his three children and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Willie Gragson of Wellington and her daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Raines and daughter, Sasha, of McLean visited Mrs. Cora Gragson in Quitaque Saturday afternoon. The ladies had attended the birthday anniversary of their grandmother, great-grandmother and great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Faulkner, in Turkey, before coming to Quitaque. The celebration was held in the Bill Farley home in Turkey.

State Rural Road System In Need Of Repair

The battle cry, "Get the farmer out of the mud," that brought Texas a great Farm to Market Road system may be heard again.

The state's rural roads in some areas are literally being pounded into unpaved routes by heavy equipment serving oil fields, timber stands and lignite and uranium diggings.

Engineers of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) have become increasingly dismayed by the rapid destruction of roads built to serve low-volume, lightweight traffic.

"You don't have to be a student of economics or transportation to realize that we have a problem that will affect every Texan," DHT Engineer-Director Mark Goode said. "Without adequate roads, it won't take long for increased costs of transportation to hit everyone's pocketbook."

DHT diverted $12.5 million from this year's budget for emergency repair of the most critically affected roads but DHT maintenance engineers believe the funds are only a fraction of the total needed.

Most of the routes on the state's FM system were built in the 1950s and 1960s in a massive construction program to provide better roads for farmers. The Colson-Briscoe Act, passed in 1951, provided $15 million annually for FM roads, and was the Legislature's answer to farmers' complaints about muddy, rutted roads that had to be traveled before agricultural products could get to market.

The department built 41,000 miles of FM roads, getting more miles to the dollar by designing roads for the rural traffic that needed to be served. With that design, DHT provided a network of secondary routes that carried school buses, postmen, farmers' trucks and indispensable farm equipment.

The boom in oil production, mining and timber, with many locations in remote areas, required a drastic change in DHT plans for periodically resurfacing the rural roads.

Despite the fact that many FM roads are more than 20 years old—considered the design life by engineers—seal-coat work at a cost of about $8,600 a mile kept the system in excellent shape.

Now the department is faced with completely rebuilding the roads pounded by the heavy equipment—at a cost of $61,000 per mile.

A Texas Transportation Institute study at new drilling sites in the Austin Chalk oil field in East Texas verified the rural road deterioration observed by DHT engineers.

At one site, TTI research engineers found a rapid deterioration of the FM road's surface and base occurred—even though only one oil well was being drilled in the area. In many locales, a road serves several drilling sites with a resulting increase in the depth of damage and the speed at which it occurs.

The TTI study, coupled with other studies, determined that the average FM road carrying such traffic would have to be rebuilt in slightly more than three years.

"The department's funding limits do not allow much flexibility for increases in operational costs other than for inflation," Goode said.

"The funds we are using to try to handle the problem are inadequate but they are all we can divert from other maintenance functions."

SOIL EROSION CAN BE PROBLEM OF THE PAST

Soil erosion may be an expensive problem of the past in some places.

"Conservation tillage costs $3 or so less per acre to farm than conventional tillage on many soils and the reduction in soil erosion is phenomenal—50 to 90 percent. In combination with other practices, it can do even better."

So says Peter C. Myers, Chief of the USDA's Soil Conservation Service in the October "Soil and

He said the diverted funds came from flood- and bridge-damage repair monies. DHT, Goode said, also is concentrating much of its normal FM maintenance money on those roads most critically affected.

The Sunday drive in the country has become a thing of the past in these energy-conscious days.

And holiday visits to grandmother's house often end up at her condominium instead of her farmhouse—so most Texas motorists are spared the bumpy, car-rattling rides on the state's rural roads.

But those Texas motorists, and all Texans, will have to pay for the deterioration of FM roads—the total transportation system is greatly affected by any weak or missing links.

Water Conservation News.

Roger Ferguson of B&F Farms in Memphis is a firm believer in conservation tillage. According to Bill Finch, Soil Conservationist, one system they have installed is seeding wheat directly into milo stubble that was shredded and baled. When the wheat is harvested, stubble will be chiseled and milo planted.

According to Ferguson, this system has reduced fuel consumption by fewer number of trips across the field as well as lowering the amount of water required to make a crop by increasing the organic matter content of the soil.

New data from the Department of Agriculture shows that conservation farming is not only less expensive but feasible in more places than expected. "Soil and water conservation thus becomes more than just a good idea for the future and the folks downstream," Myers said. "It can save farmers money right now, as well as their soil and production."

Excessive soil erosion caused by water and wind hurt productivity on one of every three cropland acres in the United States.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE

AUSTIN - The efficiency of an emergency medical service (EMS) ambulance can mean the difference between life and death for you and your loved ones. We are lucky to have in the Panhandle some of the most advanced emergency treatment systems in the state. We feel that this fact is due to the general dedication and excellence of the people providing the service and not due to proper regulation and supervision by the state.

There are areas in Texas where this life saving service is second rate. We feel that EMS should be more closely regulated to protect the ones being aided. This service is too crucial to be allowed to ever become sub-standard in any area of our state.

One big change that we wish to see enacted is in the area of training for the ambulance operators. Currently, to become a licensed ambulance operator, one needs only have eight hours training in first aid. This level was established forty years ago to correspond with the medical technology of the day. We feel that today's medical technology is advanced to the point where only eight hours training is grossly inadequate. Therefore, we recommend the upgrading of staffing standards over a five year period. These new standards would be set by the EMS division of the Texas Health Department.

As you know there are many fine people in our area that volunteer their time to provide EMS. Unfortunately, many of these people do not possess all the training needed. It is felt by some that the higher standards we are suggesting will serve to eliminate EMS in many rural areas where highly qualified personnel cannot be found. To alleviate this problem, we are recommending the Health Department be required to go to rural areas periodically to conduct training programs. These will upgrade the qualifications of the people involved. Additionally, if a local EMS absolutely cannot raise its quality to that level recommended, we would allow them to apply for a variance from these standards. In this way, no EMS units will be shut down by this law, only improved.

We are also recommending other improvements to Texas' EMS laws. These include the provision for two people in an ambulance, establishing penalties for people who claim to be paramedics but are not, and providing for limited immunity from civil liability for local governments.

We feel all these measures are sorely needed to improve the vital EMS provided in Texas. As always, we would like to hear your opinions on this or any subject that we can assist you in. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, Texas Senate, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711 or call (512) 475-3222.

OUR MOBILE OFFICE

AUSTIN - Before we took office in 1981, we made a promise to operate a mobile office. We could see even then how beneficial this would be to establishing a close, working relationship with the individuals of the large 31st district. We were not disappointed. Throughout the last session, and the interim that followed, the mobile office effectively provided our office with the vital information we needed to act responsibly on your behalf.

Since that time, re-districting has served to make our district even larger: larger in fact than 10 of our states. This not only increased our number of constituents and counties served, but also the need for a grass roots approach to communication. Therefore, since December 1, the mobile office has been back on the road to bring state government a little bit closer to home. This time to 29 counties and over 100 cities.

The mobile office is staffed, as it was in the past, by Henry Honea. Henry has lived and worked in the Panhandle for many years and is familiar with the current problems facing it. He takes the mobile office to every major town in the 31st district once a month. The mobile office usually stops, depending on the town, at a courthouse, school, or bank. To find the exact time and place that we will be in your town, if it is not listed in this paper or posted in your local courthouse, bank or school, contact our office in Austin.

While in your town, Henry is available to hear and deal with any area of concern you may have relating to state government. These comments can consist of your opinions on any of the 5,000 bills put before the Legislature each session or perhaps a problem that you require specific help with, such as dealing with a state agency. We realize the complexity of state government and are available and willing to help you in any way we can.

Additionally, we realize the distance and expense of a trip to Austin. Many of our constituents can reach 5 other state capitols in a shorter time. Therefore we hope you use our mobile office as your personal link to the Capitol.

We appreciate and value any comment you may have. The mobile office continues to be one of our best methods of obtaining these comments and we hope that you will use it to its full potential. In this way, we can do a much better job at representing you in the Texas Senate and you can obtain a much more responsive state government.

The mobile office is only one way that you can contact us. If you prefer, you can call us at (512) 475-3222 or write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711. We look forward to hearing from you and working for you in the Texas Senate.

REMAINS OF OLDEST KNOWN MAN IN TEXAS DISCOVERED

The remains of the oldest known man in Texas and possibly North America have been discovered by archaeologists at a burial site north of Austin.

Dr. Frank Weir, head of the archaeology section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), is certain the skeletal remains are older than 7,000 B. C. Exact dating for the burial remains will have to await radio-carbon testing which will take about a month.

What is possibly more significant about the site is the abundance of artifacts that have been found to depths of 12 feet or more. Typical sites in Texas yield three to seven artifacts such as dart points and scrapers but this site, in continuous use for at least 7,000 years, has already yielded over 100.

Dr. Dave Dibble, director of the Texas Archaeological Survey based at The University of Texas at Austin, has termed it "the best Plainview site in the Western Hemisphere." Plainview is the term archaeologists give to prehistoric artifacts of a certain type, generally the oldest in North America.

Another significant finding which the unusual quantity of artifacts yielded is that certain cultural groups thought previously to have existed in separate historic periods were found to have inhabited the site at the same time.

Dart points of the Gower and Angostura types were found mixed

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Patterson and their baby granddaughter, Brenda Aubuchon, visited in Lubbock in the home of Mrs. Patterson's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Castle. Two other sisters were also there, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Morgan of Perryton and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Collins of Lubbock; also a nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Morgan, Rachel and Jim of Lubbock, and a niece, Carol Reeve, also of Lubbock. The group enjoyed a delicious meal together, visited and took pictures.

during an historic period tentatively estimated at 3,000 - 6,000 B. C. This finding leads Weir to conclude the site was cohabited by the two groups. There also appears to possibly have been some cultural "borrowing" between the two groups of inhabitants as evidenced by certain dart points that exhibit a combination of techniques.

DHT archaeologists are continuing to work at removing the skeletal remains. Since previous North American finds of this period have been of cremated bodies, the fact that the skeletal remains are intact means new data concerning physiological features of early North American man may be found.

Because the burial site is at the bottom of a very large excavation site, DHT's archaeological team is working rapidly to remove the skeletal material before new rains flood the site.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

(Editor's Note: Since many of you have sent letters to Senator Lloyd Bentsen and your Congressman, The Valley Tribune is printing the following letter for your benefit. Senator Bentsen had not been informed of the death of Mr. Owens at the time.) Dear Mr. and Mrs. Owens:

Thank you for your recent correspondence.

I share your concern about the ten percent withholding on dividends and interest that becomes effective July 1, 1983. I voted against this provision when it was considered by the Senate last summer. As you may know, several measures have been introduced in this session of Congress to repeal the withholding on interest and dividends.

I opposed the withholding provision for two reasons. First, this proposal discourages savings. We must promote savings to expand our base of available capital for economic growth and investment. However, this withholding will be disincentive to many individuals who normally would deposit their earnings in savings accounts or buy stock. Now they will not receive a full return on their investment. Secondly, it is not a cost-effective proposal. Banks, savings and loans, and other financial institutions—which already report dividends and interest to the Internal Revenue Service for tax purposes—will absorb additional paperwork burdens and operating costs in withholding and transferring these funds to the IRS.

Although our efforts to defeat the withholding provision in last summer's tax bill failed, several amendments which passed with my strong support will ease the withholding requirements for many taxpayers. For example, any individual whose tax liability in the prior year was $600 or less ($1000 for a joint return) is exempt from the withholding requirements. Elderly persons with prior year income tax of $1500 or less ($2500 on a joint return) are exempt, too. Under this exemption, individuals at least 65 years old with an approximate annual gross income of $22,000, based on 1984 tax tables, are not subject to the new law. It was especially important to me to include this exemption, because I know how important interest and dividend income is to elderly persons who rely heavily on the income from fixed investments for their financial needs.

Finally, withholding is not required on any interest payment that does not exceed $150 annually. To become eligible for any of these exceptions to the withholding measure, qualified persons can obtain exemption claims from the financial institutions that service their accounts. I share your opposition to the overall provision, and I appreciate having this opportunity to explain several of the exemptions that are available to taxpayers.

Again, I appreciate having the benefit of your views.

Sincerely,
/s/ Lloyd Bentsen

WHAT ABOUT HEAT PUMPS?

The heat pump is a refrigeration device that can be used for both heating and cooling. Heat pumps have received increased attention in the Southwest as heating energy costs increase, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Heat pumps may remove heat from air or other fluid such as well water. Heating efficiency varies with the temperature of the air or fluid, increasing as the temperature increases. When winter temperatures are above 30 degrees F., a typical heat pump can provide two-and-a-half or more times as much heat energy per kilowatt of electric power consumed as an electric resistance furnace.

EMERGENCY LOANS AVAILABLE FROM FARMERS HOME

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through county officers of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Briscoe County Supervisor George H. James, jr., said today.

James asked that those who need farm credit as a result of adverse weather conditions make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at the Briscoe County Courthouse in Silvertown from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon each Wednesday, or the Tulia FmHA office, 219 NW Second Street, Tulia, Texas 79088.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home until October 20, 1983 for physical and production losses.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment or buildings (including homes) lost through

TFU HEAD SAYS CROP-SWAP PLAN NEEDS MORE WORK

Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller said today that President Reagan's recently announced payment in kind program represents both good news and bad news for Texas farmers. "The good news," said Moeller, "is that the Reagan Administration in announcing this very radical departure from its earlier program now admits that its 1981 Farm Bill has been a failure. This, of course, comes as small consolation to the farmers who were driven out of business under the Administration's 1981 plan."

On the other hand, Moeller said, "The bad news is that if the President fails to make some significant changes in his recently announced payment in kind crop-swap program, farmers won't be much better off under this program than they were under his earlier one."

Most important, Moeller said, was the need to provide for a floor price for raw agricultural commodities. "Without such a minimum price guarantee," Moeller said, "Most farmers probably won't be able to participate in the new program, and those who do might still end up in the red in 1983." Moeller further explained that without some kind of price protection for the farmer, the new program might depress agricultural prices to the point that the overhead from just planting fifty percent of the previous year's acreage could easily eat up all the income from 1983's crop and the farmer's Payment in Kind from the government.

this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," James said.

Applicants that certify that other credit is not available may receive loans covering actual losses at an interest rate of eight percent and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's ability to pay. Applicants who certify that other credit is available may also receive these loans at a higher interest rate.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster.

Hutson-Setliff Vows Exchanged In Olton

Wedding vows were solemnized in Olton Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church for Miss Sherri Lynne Hutson and Barry Scott Setliff.

Officiating the double ring ceremony was Dr. Travis Hart, pastor. Vows were recited before an altar adorned with an arch candelabra flanked by spiral candelabra. Baskets of white gladioli and apricot colored carnations also graced the setting. A unity candle completed the decor. Pews were marked with silk flowers.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wandie Hutson of Olton and Mr. and Mrs. Arville Setliff of Turkey.

Nuptial selections were presented by Relda Setliff, sister-in-law of the groom. She accompanied Kim Kinnison as she sang, "Let It Be Me," and Gail Greenhaw who sang "Evergreen."

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted by her father. She wore a formal gown of ivory chiffon fashioned with Victorian bib featuring embroidered yoke outlined with ruffled lace. It also featured long bishop sleeves. Her sunburst pleated skirt was fashioned with ruffles forming a chapel length train.

A Venise lace caplet held her chapel length veil adorned with Venise lace trim. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids atop a Bible "borrowed" from her sister, Cynthia Blackmon.

Keeping tradition, the bride wore a locket belonging to her great-great aunt for "something old." Her gown was "new" and she wore the traditional touch of blue. In her shoe she placed a penny coined in the year of her birth.

Mrs. Blackmon of Atlanta, Georgia, was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Lisa Coker of Sugarland, Nancy Schilling of Lubbock and Mary Lee Brooks of Abilene. Little miss Shelby Blackmon of Atlanta, Georgia, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Ronnie Burton of Lubbock was best man. Groomsmen were brothers of the groom, Kenny Setliff, Alton Setliff and Ron Setliff. Guests were seated by Jonny Hutson, brother of the bride, Leo Rice of Levelland and Brian Wheeler of Turkey.

The groom was attired in a white tux with white ruffle shirt. His attendants wore brown tuxedos with white ruffled shirts.

Connie Rankin of Miami registered the guests.

Candlelighters were Penny Hutson of Tulsa, cousin of the bride, and Aaron Setliff of El Paso, nephew of the bridegroom. A reception was held in fellowship hall.

Laid with a white lace cloth, the bride's table was adorned with an arrangement of silk flowers in apricot hues in a crystal holder. The four tiered wedding cake was accented with touches of apricot. Donice Johnson and Pam McFadden served cake, fruit punch, nuts and apricot colored mints.

An ecru lace cloth over brown was used at the groom's table where coffee and chocolate heart shaped cakes were served by Janet Pyle, Gail Greenhaw, Relda Setliff and Sylvia Ingram.

Members of the houseparty were Janie Hart, Laura Maxey, Lois Brimhall, Junett Noack, Louise Clark, Glenda Moore, Barbara Kinnison, Renee Williams and Bonnie Bryan.

For travel, the bride chose a dark rust pantsuit with rust and aqua striped blouse.

The newlyweds will be at home in Quitaque following a wedding trip to Purgatory, Colorado.

A graduate of Olton High School, the bride earned a degree in marketing from Texas Tech University. She is employed by Monty Stephens Agency in Quitaque.

The groom graduated from Valley High School. He is a parks administration major at Texas Tech University. He is employed as a park ranger at Caprock Canyons State Park north of Quitaque.

Mrs. Rex Johnson and Mrs. Bobby Clay are attending Wayland Baptist College in Plainview two days each week. They are both taking courses in business management, finance and speech.

Service/Rehabilitation Chairman. "And all that is required in most cases is written permission from the patient's physician."

Loan equipment such as hospital beds, wheel chairs, commode chairs and walkers are available as well as expendable items including dressings, hospital gowns, bed pads, pillows and other items.

"These are all in addition to our basic information and referral services," said Robertson. "And, depending on location, we also have several rehabilitation programs including Reach to Recovery for mastectomees, esophageal speech lessons for laryngectomees, ostomy rehabilitation and related patient and family support groups."

The concept for these rehabilitation programs is the volunteer-to-patient relationship," added Robertson. "We have many volunteers who are themselves former patients and who are specifically trained by the Society to help other patients and even their families adjust to living with cancer."

Robertson cited that when most people think of the American Cancer Society, they relate the name to cancer research. "While it is true the ACS funds millions of dollars for cancer research, we are also a community-based organization providing many local services. These patient services as well as education materials of all types are just a few of the ways we can help."

Anyone needing more information on these services may call Robertson at 823-2416 or 823-2182, or they may call Sandy St. John at 353-4306 in Amarillo.

"Whatever your advice, make it brief." Horace

LOCAL ACS SERVICES ARE AVAILABLE

The American Cancer Society in Briscoe County announced today that it has a variety of services available to cancer patients without charge.

"Many people are unaware of all the services we can provide right here in this town," said Jack Robertson of Silverton,
