Balloons Take Off Saturday At Gin

A beautiful dawn Saturday saw many native Quitaque residents out to help get the hot air balloons up in the air.

A nice surprise awaited the spectators when three hot air balloons were being prepared instead of two.

Floyd Richardson and Robert Pendleton of Amarillo brought their two balloons down for demonstration. In fact late Friday afternoon the townspeople were given a treat when the men and their helpers began to fill The Cat's Meow with gas in the City Park. Many residents and visitors arrived on the scene to cheer the crew on! The demonstration had to be cut short as the wind had a sudden change of direction and the balloon began to drift towards the electric wires in the park.

Saturday Mr. Mark Riha of Canyon arrived with his hot air balloon Pulse.

With the help of local ground crews, the balloons all lifted off the gin yard with navigators and passengers. The wind drifted the balloons to the northeast.

The Sunriz II was able to land and take off a second time to the delight of two young men of Quitaque, Walt Henson and Micah Stark.

People of Quitaque enjoyed the demonstrations while the balloon crew and owners appreciated the cooperation of the local town's people and local farmers. Hard to say who had the most fun, the owners, riders, or the ground crews.

THEN and NOW!

by Eunice McFall

It seems this week that most of the Quitaque people that you meet on the street have tired looking faces. Steps are a bit slower as residents go about their daily lives.

All of those volunteer hours are beginning to catch up with everyone. The excitement is over for a while so the adrenalin has slowed down and everyone can now catch their breath and spend some time contemplating all that has been happening and has been accomplished by a town of 500 residents and their friends, families and neighbors!

Each of you are to be commended for the many hours that you labored on the many aspects of the celebration of National Trails Day, whether you were working on a float, your own yard, the barbecue, the parade, the bike races, the train display or any one of the other thousands of jobs that go unsung when a day such as Saturday is undertaken.

I would like to name all the volunteers who put the day on the map for us but that is not possible. So far all the people who worked so hard—THANK YOU. If you know of a good job that someone did, tell them how much you appreciate them when you next meet them. One such person is Ernestine Payne for painting the beautiful mural that now hangs on Main Street.

It seems summer has hit with a big bang so do remember to watch the heat and keep the children in during the hottest part of the day.

There are several funds set up to help the family of Jarret Pigg. The banks and the Sportsman can give you whatever information that you require.

Thanks again for all the many hours donated to make Saturday go! If a town pulls together, it can accomplish a lot but when it begins to fuss about how things or done or by whom they are done, you can rapidly undo all that has been built up over the years! Let's be positive about the future and not fall into the trap of undeserved criticism.

Parade Results

At 10:30 the second annual National Trails Day Parade began its slow progress down the Main Street of town. Many out of town entries were there for the people to enjoy as they passed by as well as many locals.

Local law officials led the way, Dick Roehr and Jerry Beck, the local fire department, horsemen, old tractors were a few of the over 30 entries. Pam Harmon and Sid McFall carried the Texas Flag and the United States Flag at the head of the parade.

In the Horse category, the 4th Reg. #1 Cavalry was in first place with Mr. Leon Turner of Childress and his pair of matching white mules pulling a wagon were a close second.

In the float category, first prize plaque went to the Quitaque Coon Hunters with their realistic float of coon dogs treeing a real, live coon. The First National Bank of Quitaque's float of Rails to Trails was second place with their realistic train pulled by Fred Davidson in his antique car.

Third place was shared by the Outlaws of Amarillo and the Flat Head Car Club from Plainview with their group of antique cars.

Street Music Provided

During the morning of Saturday, June 4, 1994 Quitaque was treated to the music of Mr. Paul Shannon of Amarillo who at one time was a professional performer. He is originally from Minnesota. Mr. Shannon now is a teacher at Amarillo TSTI.

Mr. Shannon played at the fire hall for a time and later under the tent set up on Second Street.

During the afternoon from 2 to 5, The Three Quarters Band from Tulia played for the enjoyment of the people roaming the streets of Quitaque who were enjoying the sites and sounds of all the many things offered.

Jarret Pigg's Family Prepares For Son's Kidney Transplant

by Valerie Ullman Avery
Avalanche Journal

Joan and Clinton Pigg are what you'd expect from a couple residing in the far reaches of Turkey.

They're quiet and reserved. Mrs. Pigg is the talker of the two, although not much more than her quiet, slim husband who looks every part the farmer raised off the rugged Caprock.

His long legs are covered with new dark blue wranglers jeans and cowboy boots, and his dark hair is topped off with a straw work hat splattered with mud.

Pigg leans against the window sill at Methodist Hospital a few feet away from his only son, not saying much except when called upon. When he does speak, it is deliberate and thoughtful, and his words are spoken with much affection toward his son, Jarret, who is lying in a hospital bed nearby awaiting a kidney transplant.

Jarret's life revolved around football, basketball and track at Valley High School and showing calves at stock shows. Then there was the cyclical farming season that beckoned him at different times of the year.

One morning before classes, 15 year old Jarret hopped into a pickup truck with two other classmates to run back to Turkey from school—a six-mile trip to pick up a friends checkbook.

Two miles out on the paved road, the driver overcompensated for a curve and the pickup rolled through a utility pole. All three were found outside the truck with serious injuries.

Jarret's collarbone was broken; his arm which already was in a cast after a football injury, was rebroken, and his left kidney was destroyed.

Physicians found the internal organ bleeding and removed the damaged kidney only to find that the other fist-sized organ had become diseased.

His remaining kidney worked at 21 percent capacity when he left the hospital.

Before he left Methodist Hospital, surgeons mentioned that a kidney transplant might be necessary. Several months later, Jarret's blood pressure shot up and his headaches increased because his kidney began failing. It was removed two weeks ago.

He has since been on dialysis, a process by which a machine takes over for the kidneys.

The kidney is the "great regulator of the body," according to Dr. Keil Kurtzman, Chairman of the Department of Internal Medicine at the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center.

The organ is responsible for cleaning waste materials from the blood and balancing the body's electrolytes, said Dr.

Baird Helfrich, Director of Renal Transplantation at University Medical Center and Methodist Hospital.

Ever since transplantation was mentioned, most of the Pigg family members have offered one of their kidneys for Jarret, as have most of the residents in their hometown.

Mr. and Mrs. Pigg are being tested to see who is the better match for their son, but the family is betting that Pigg will be a stronger match. The transplant is scheduled for early July.

The prospects of a successful transplant look good, Helfrich said.

Lubbock's transplant center is well above the national average success rate of 90 percent for living-related donors, Helfrich said. The national average success rate for transplant recipients who receive a kidney from a cadaver is 80 percent; in Lubbock, the success rate is more than 90 percent.

Since the kidney transplant programs began in Lubbock at Methodist and UMC in July 1990, Helfrich has performed 121 transplants. Unlike heart hearts and livers, kidneys are relatively easy to match, Helfrich said.

The risk to the living donor is negligible, Helfrich said. However, many times, undiagnosed diseases, such as hypertension, heart disease and kidney cancer are discovered while the donor is being evaluated. Helfrich owes the success of kidney transplantation in the region to the transplant team's attention to detail and the strong family values in the area. "Each human being is an individual person. We're not a factory, so I believe the patients get a better one-on-one here than they do in the cities."

Most patients return to normal activities and can even participate in sports after recovering from a kidney transplant.

"Quitaque Quest" Is A Success

Howell of Kennydale, who is a great grandson of Ruby King, placed second. Truman was second in the Masters.

All the participants in Quitaque Quest were complimentary and were very satisfied with the race, the course layout, the support of race workers, and the community of Quitaque. The race committee and workers deserve a pat on the back for a job well done. Many hours of preparation went into the race and that effort is appreciated. On race day, nurses and medical people, vehicle drivers, race marshals and rest stop workers did an excellent job to help make the event safe for participants. Registration and finishing results can be a nightmare in racing events by efficient handling of Quitaque came off like clockwork.

The response from the participants indicated, "Do it again next year. We'll be back and bring someone with us".

Seven riders kicked off the event at 8:am and rode a distance of 40 miles. In this event, Larry Tedder of Dallas completed the race in the event best time of 2 hours 26 minutes with an average speed of 18 MPH. Tedder out raced Chuck Spough of Lubbock to the finish line by a mere .03 seconds.

In the 18 mile race, Darren Jenks of Amarillo was the first finisher while Cory Speer of Amarillo finished a close second. Jenks finishing time was clocked at 55:05 minutes and Speer 56:23. This most popular race fielded 27 riders in six different age classifications.

Riders from Quitaque who participated in the 18 mile event included Manuel Ramos, Manuel Ramos, Jr., and Vance Lemons. Manuel Jr. finished 3rd in his class while Vance was 4th. There were 5 riders who finished one hour or less, including a 12 year old youngster from Dallas.

A hardy group of seven competitors completed the six mile event. Gail Eager and Adam Marshall, both of Fredericksburg, finished first in a dead heat in a time of 22:07 minutes. Gail, one of only two women in the race, was declared winner. Jeremy Taylor of Quitaque was close behind in 3rd place with a clocking of 22:27 minutes. Also, entered in this class of riders were Christopher Taylor, Amber Stark and Truman Merrell. Amber won first in the Juniors and Scott

Quitaque Senior Citizens Meet

Senior citizens met for business and the topic of discussion was what to do about our building. We considered giving it to some of our local organizations but some one made a motion that we sell it, due to the lack of interest to carry on and keep the building up. At the present time we are considering taking bids on the building, so anyone interested in the building may contact Cora Gragson or Charlie Bailey.

Turkey Residents Warned of Nitrate In Water

The Texas-natural Resource Commission has tested Turkey water samples, and found that Nitrate/Nitrite is 13.40 mg. This is high enough level to cause concern among parents of very young infants.

The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) sets drinking water standards and has determined that nitrate poses an acute health concern at certain levels of exposure. Nitrate is used in fertilizer and is found in sewage and wastes from human and/or farm animals and generally gets into drinking water from those activities. Excessive levels of nitrate in drinking water have caused serious illness and sometimes death in infants under six months of age. The serious illness in infants is caused because nitrate is converted to NITRITE in the body. Nitrite interferes with the oxygen carrying capacity of the child's blood. This is an acute disease in that symptoms can develop rapidly in infants. In most cases, health deteriorates over a period of days.

Symptoms include shortness of breath and blueness of the skin. Clearly, expert medical advice should be sought immediately if these symptoms occur.

Letters have been sent out to notify Turkey residents of the results of the nitrate test, to encourage parents and other responsible parties to provide infants with an alternate source of drinking water. Local and state health authorities are the best source for information concerning alternate sources of drinking water for infants.

TNRCC has set the drinking water standard at 10 parts per million (ppm) for nitrate to protect against the risk of these adverse effects. It has also set a drinking water standard for nitrite at 1 ppm. To allow for the fact that the toxicity of nitrate and nitrite are additive, TNRCC has also established a standard for the sum of nitrate and nitrite at 10 ppm. Drinking water that meets the TNRCC standard is associated with little to none of this risk and is considered safe with respect to nitrate.

Public Notice

On March 23, 1994, GTE and Contel ("The Companies") filed applications with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC") to restructure the Companies' Switched Transport rate category and reduce the Carrier Common Line (CCL) charge of its Switched Access Service. The tariff sheets in GTE and Contel's applications, if approved, will bring the Companies' state access tariffs into structural parity with their interstate tariffs for the Local Transport rate category, which became effective on December 30, 1993.

GTE and Contel propose to implement the new tariffs on a revenue neutral basis. The Local Transport category of GTE and Contel's Switched Access Service is primarily for interexchange carriers.

Persons who wish to intervene should file a motion for intervention with the PUC by June 17, 1994 with reference to Docket No. 12865 (GTE) and/or 12865 (Contel). Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

(NAPS)—Here's a fact to chew on: Chewing gum can actually help prevent cavities! Studies show that chewing gum increases the amount of saliva produced in your mouth, which is effective at neutralizing acids that form after eating snacks. Also, as you chew gum, it "pumps" saliva through the cavity-prone spaces between your teeth.

Many people who like to chew gum but are afraid of damaging their dental work are thrilled about a new product from the LifeSavers Division of Nabisco Foods Group called STICK*FREE gum. It's non-stick for most dental work and it's sugarless, unlike its major non-stick competitor.

Teeth that are healthy and cavity-free can give you something to smile about. For good dental health, the dental industry says it's important to brush and floss regularly, eat a well-balanced diet and see your dentist twice a year. Regular exams are crucial for early detection of dental disease and the earlier dental problems are treated, the better.

STICK*FREE is available in three varieties: a peppermint 15-stick pack, a spearmint 15-stick pack and a spearmint eight-pack.

A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read.

His honors also included a number of athletic awards throughout high school, and he was awarded the U.S. Army Scholarship for his achievements. He was named Midland High Outstanding Athlete of the Year for leading his soccer team to the State Final Four.

Ross was also active in his church youth group, and other civic organizations.

Parents' Responsibilities Outlined by County Agent

by Ronda Alexander

Parents, have you wished for the opportunity to change your style of parenting? Do you wonder what your children would be like if you had done some things differently? Few parents would be willing to go to the lengths that Robin Williams did as Mrs. Doubtfire.

As the father, he fell into the trap that many parents do. He tried to be their children's best friend, rather than their parent. These parents have become too permissive. Because of busy lifestyles and careers, parents succumb to feelings of guilt when it comes to their children. To ease these guilty feelings, they give their children much more than they really need. Children learn quickly that the farther they can push their parents, the more they can get away with. Today's parents are not ready to deal with that. Rather than taking the time to train and discipline their children they take the easy way out and give in.

According to Dr. Kevin Leman, "What kids really need today is lots of Vitamin N for 'NO'S' and Vitamin R for 'responsibility'". As Mrs. Doubtfire, Mr. Williams character was able to see how children can still love and respect their parents.

Children need and want guidelines and discipline. It is up to each of you as parents, to set limits and enforce them. It may be an adjustment at first, but at least you won't be changing into "Mrs. Doubtfire's" body everyday.

FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Just For You

(NAPS)—For many older Americans, there's now a more convenient and economical way to:

- Take your grandchildren on an unforgettable vacation.
- Enjoy the cruise you've been promising yourself.
- Dine someplace special—even if it's not a special occasion.
- Buy the perfect gift.

It's all thanks to "Just for You," a new and exclusive package of travel, dining and shopping benefits for American Express® Senior Members.

"Just for You" was developed in partnership with 19 different American Express merchants, including leading cruise lines, hotels, restaurants, retail businesses, resorts and car rental companies.

"We designed 'Just for You' for Senior Members, who now may have more time to enjoy the benefits of an active lifestyle," said Belinda Lang, Vice President, Mature Market Services, American Express Travel Related Services Co., Inc. "The complete package makes travel, shopping and dining more convenient and economical for Senior Members, and ultimately more enjoyable."

The program differs from the typical values that seniors may find elsewhere in that most offers are valid until June, 1995. Almost all the offers can be used over and over again, and some can even be combined with other discounts or benefits offered by "Just for You" partners.

American Express launched Senior Membership in 1993 as a special status of membership specifically designed to meet the unique needs and lifestyle of mature Cardmembers.

Senior Membership provides

Spend less money and more time doing what you love.

all of the benefits and services associated with American Express Cardmembership, plus:

- Senior Membership HORIZONS, a quarterly publication containing articles on topics of interest to mature Cardmembers.
- Toll-free access to Ask the Pharmacist™, a 24-hour hotline to licensed pharmacists who can answer questions about prescriptions and other medications.
- Senior Global Assist™, a 24-hour hotline Senior Members may call while traveling to send urgent messages home, for referrals to doctors or lawyers, or to rush replacements of prescriptions or eyeglasses.
- A lower annual fee for Senior Members age 62 and over.

For more information about Senior Membership and the "Just for You" program, please call 1-800-323-8300.

Heartburn Breakthrough

(NAPS)—Doctors can now treat severe heartburn with a new surgical procedure that offers many patients an alternative to a lifetime of taking medication.

Until recently, severe cases of chronic heartburn were treated with either extensive—and expensive—drug therapy or a surgical procedure involving a large incision, lengthy hospital stay and up to eight weeks of recovery time.

Now, thanks to a breakthrough minimally invasive surgical procedure, most patients can be out of the hospital in two to three days and back to work within a week.

The surgeon uses special instruments to operate through five tiny openings while viewing the patient's internal organs on a video monitor. Since there's no long incision, there's no long, painful recovery. The procedure is called laparoscopic Nissen fundoplication.

For a free brochure about it, call 800-423-USSC.

Things Seen or Heard

by Ann Coker

Bob and Lola Eudy of Joshua, son Jimmy and his sons, Joel and Jon, were visitors in the home of Lewis and Mozelle Eudy last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eudy and Vera Guest spent the day in Plainview, Tuesday of last week. Vera and Lewis had doctor's appointments.

On Friday, Lewis and Mozelle returned to Plainview last Friday for Lewis to have a bone scan, which was in his favor.

Kay Eudy, of Austin, is a patient in Saint David's Hospital in Austin.

Last Thursday, Allen and Rusty Matthews traveled to Amarillo to visit with Allen's brother and wife, Aubry (Dutch) and Neta Matthews. They also visited with Allen's sister, Lola Andrews.

Billy and Janice Wheeler drove to Oklahoma last Thursday to return Dovie Wheeler to her home. The group returned on Friday.

While Dovie was visiting her sister she became ill. The doctor she saw was Dr. Jon Maxwell. She is feeling better now.

Betty Thrasher, a resident of the of the Turner Nursing Home, has a birthday June 9th, Thursday. If any of you would like to send Betty a belated birthday card, it would be appreciated.

Tink and Estelle Lane returned home last week after a ten day visit in Greeley, Colorado with Keith and Jan Lane. While there, Tink cut the hay for Keith but was unable to bale it as the weather was too damp and rainy.

Tanya Bolt of Hamlin spent last week in the home of her mother, Mary Loury. Allen Bolt and children, Courtney and Clayton, joined the ladies last week-end.

Allen and Tanya returned home on Monday. Courtney and Clayton remained for a longer visit with their grandmother.

Visiting with Virginia Degan last week-end was her daughter and husband, Betty and Don Kissinger of Amarillo.

On Sunday Totsy Bain and Jenna Turner of Lockney visited in the Degan home. Jenna Turner's husband, Billy Joe is in Alaska on a fishing trip. He was quite excited about this fishing trip.

A visitor in town last week-end was Nita Pucket of Memphis. She was a visitor in her mother's home, Foy Lane.

While in Lubbock one day last week, we met Lacy Shannon and Mrs. Larry Bob (Angie) Clay doing some shopping. They assured us they were there not to shop but to get Billy Neal Shannon's pick-up repaired.

Gary Johnson of Paragould, Arkansas was in town recently. He came to make some pictures of the Quitaque Celebration and to help his mother, Clema Johnson, celebrate her birthday on Monday.

Louis and Oleta Randell were in Plainview Monday.

Gary and Theresa Clinton and family joined by Jim Owens enjoyed a week in the mountains. They spent their time sight seeing, fishing and visiting with Truman Young. Truman is in good health and is planning a trip to Turkey soon.

Pookin Thrasher, Louis and Oleta Randell were in Childress Wednesday visiting Betty Thrasher. Louis kept a dental appointment.

Bonnie Hill and Carol Weatherly visited in Baytown and Friendswood Thursday through Sunday with Ron and Sheri McClenney, Lori, Josh and Shane of Baytown and Bob and Cathy Hill of Friendswood.

On Saturday afternoon and evening all gathered at Ron and Sheri's home for a delicious buffet dinner. Joining the group there was David and Michelle Wooten of Bellaire and Neil and Denee Payne, Jared and twins, Emily and Evan of Katy. It was a wonderful get-together for all.

Enroute home, Bonnie and Carol had Sunday lunch and a visit in Claude with Rod and Diana Hill, Bobby and Chris.

Bonnie dropped Carol off at Memphis on Sunday evening arriving at home in Turkey minutes ahead of the stormy weather on Sunday evening.

Guests of Bryon Young on Monday and Tuesday were his granddaughter, Audrey Beth and her husband, Mark Miller of Houston.

Tommy Beck has returned to his home in Turkey following surgery to a shoulder on Monday. He is progressing well.

Two Turkey Vets Featured In Special D-Day Newspaper

Kerry Haglund, Amarillo Globe News Correspondent, was in Turkey recently to interview two veterans, Tom Eudy and Otho Stubbs, who were both involved in the D-Day Invasion. Their interview was published in the Sunday Amarillo Paper, June 5 which contained three sections on the D-Day Invasion.

Eudy reported "The planes circled like buzzards over the 82nd General Hospital in Whitechurch, England." This was where Tom Eudy was stationed.

It was a sign of something big was about to happen.

Eudy and other hospital workers had spent the previous three months preparing for the day the Allies would invade Europe.

"We had everything in working order. We were just waiting. There was nothing left to do but complete our readiness."

All that changed on June 6, 1944. The English Countryside was dotted with airfields and Tom remembers bombers blackening the sky over the hospital as they gained altitude.

Eudy said, "On D-Day there was a tremendous gathering—a solid mass of planes in the air. We knew something was happening but it was later before we actually got the word that the Allies had landed in France. We knew that we would be quite busy soon."

Eudy, a medical non-commissioned officer, supervised personnel in a dispensary ward of the hospital. His job was administering medicine, dressing wounds and performing pre-operative and post-operative care of patients.

Casualties were transported by train during the night because of the fear of air raids.

Eudy and other hospital personnel met the trains, unloaded patients into ambulances to take them to the hospital where they were unloaded and placed in beds.

Tom recalled one episode, "One young man was walking under a tree and a sniper shot him in the shoulder but didn't hit any bones."

"Within a week he was begging to be sent back. He said, 'I'm OK. I can fight. I'm ready to go. My outfit needs me. I'll know next time to look up to see if there is anybody in the tree.'"

Otho Stubbs remembers the quietness. Few talked. Those who did used hushed voices.

Stubbs crossed the English Channel with a group of men about to enter the D-Day invasion on the shores of Normandy.

He was a supply sergeant for the 46th armored Infantry Battalion, 5th Armored Division.

"Some of the group were writing letters to their folks, friends, girl friends. They were a very quiet bunch of men because they knew they were going into a hell trap."

"You didn't hear any loud talking. A lot of them weren't saying anything at all."

"Our company didn't go in on D-Day but several days later after the beachhead was made, but I was attached to an infantry outfit that went over on D-Day as a supply man to furnish food and seasick pills."

The ship waited for low tide before landing.

"We'd just go up as far as we could—they'd drop the front end of these landing ships, drop 'em down and all the infantry personnel would hit the beaches," Stubbs said.

Stubbs was among a skeleton crew that remained on the ship.

"The craft's landing gear was raised again and the ship had to wait for high tide to return to South Hampton," he said.

"As we were going over, as far as you could see there was a solid line of these landing crafts. When you got up closer to the French coast, they got in a big circle, or rendezvous. When each one's time came to hit the beach, there would be one here, one there. Just as fast as they could get in there."

Stubbs, who served in a motorized infantry company, later returned for the fighting and was under combat fire for more than nine months, he said.

Today, Otho Stubbs is quite a well known artist. Tom Eudy owns and operates the Two J's Ceramic Shop with his wife, Wilma Jewel. Both men reside in Turkey.

Simply Sensational

(NAPS)—Here's a dessert that will sweeten the heart of chocolate lovers everywhere. It's easy as pie to prepare, yet a delectable dessert. Developed and tested in the C&H Sugar Kitchen, it teams two popular ingredients, chocolate and oatmeal, in a three-step recipe likely to impress family and guests. Shaved coconut and chocolate pieces make an attractive garnish on top of this simply sensational dessert.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL PIE

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup C & H Granulated Sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup light corn syrup

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup each flaked coconut, quick cooking oats and semisweet chocolate pieces
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Heat oven to 350 F. In large bowl, beat eggs until creamy and pale yellow in color, about 5 minutes. Beat in sugar, salt, corn syrup, butter and vanilla. Stir in coconut, oats and chocolate. Pour into pie shell. Bake 40 to 50 minutes until nutty brown. Cool on rack; chill before serving. Makes 1 pie.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to everyone who helped make our National Trails Day Parade a success. Without your help it would not have happened.

C. L. Hawkins 51 1tc
Words cannot express our deep felt appreciation for all your prayers, calls, cards, flowers and expressions of sympathy upon the loss of our beloved mother and grandmother.

We try to grasp and hold on to all the precious memories we can at times like this. So many of you have shared sorrow with us in such a warm and caring way, it will be impossible to forget. May God's love be with you all.

Thank you,
Susan, Guy and Lauren Young

Thank you so much for all the kindness I received after my surgery. The food, flowers, visits, phone calls and cards were deeply appreciated. God bless you.

Debbie Cagle 51 1tc

We will never be able to tell each of you just how much it meant to us for you to be there for us. When we needed you the most, all of the loving acts of kindness, the comforting words, cards, memorials, flowers, food and especially the prayers.

Thanks so much to the ladies who helped serve all the delicious food everyone prepared. Thanks to Barry for his help and thanks to those who sang in the choir.

A special thanks to Bro. Clinton, he was there with words of comfort during the surgery and again in the dark hours of death.

May God Bless each of you and continue to lift us in your prayers. The family of Wayne D. Loury, Mary, Tanya, Allen Bolt, Clayton and Courtney 51 1tc

Lights, Camera, Action...

(NAPS)—Are you a "reel" film buff? If the answer is yes, then test your knowledge with the following trivia quiz based on some of the movie-themed rides and attractions featured on the new Nestle Crunch Universal Studios chocolate bars. All rides and attractions can be experienced firsthand at Universal Studios Hollywood and Florida.

Questions

1. What did Alfred Hitchcock use in place of blood in the famous shower scene in the movie "Psycho"?
2. How many times has the movie "King Kong" been filmed?
3. What village (which is actually a film set) was home to the great-white, man-eating shark in the movie "Jaws"?
4. What type of car transported Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) to the past in the movie "Back To The Future"?
5. Which popular cartoon characters are featured at Universal Studios?

Answers

1. Chocolate syrup.
2. Twice, once in 1933 starring Fay Wray and again in 1976 with Jessica Lange as the heroine.
3. The sleepy New England town of Amity.
4. McFly sped through time in a super-charged DeLorean.
5. Woody Woodpecker and Fievel from "An American Tail."

Now count up your correct answers and see how you rate as a movie expert.

Scoring

All 5 correct answers. Academy Award Winner! You win the industry's top prize as a movie expert. Your knowledge of movie trivia gets you an "Oscar." Congratulations!

3-4 correct answers. Starring player. Although you let one or two answers slip by, you still know your movie trivia. With practice, you too can win an "Oscar!"

1-2 correct answers. Movie extra. Continue to rehearse your movie trivia and one day you'll be discovered and catapulted into movie trivia stardom!

0 correct answers. Waiter/waitress. You might not be a movie expert yet...but keep trying and one day you'll be able to stop waiting tables.

BUILDING YOUR BUSINESS

Tips From The Private Companies Practice Section, American Institute of CPAs

Working With Bankers

(NAPS)—If you own a small business and want to borrow money from a bank, it's a good idea to "know before you go." Here are some questions you might want to ask your CPA, suggested by the Private Companies Practice Section of the American Institute of CPAs, a voluntary association of more than 6,500 CPA firms serving private companies:

1. What kind of questions can I expect from bankers as they review my company's financial ratios and percentages?
2. Should I do all of my borrowing with the same bank or should I cultivate relationships with several institutions?
3. If my company is facing a cash crunch, how do I know if I should cut costs, borrow money or do both?
4. What is the difference between a loan and a line of credit? When does it make sense to obtain a line of credit?

You can find additional questions in a free brochure: "101 Questions To Ask Your CPA." For a copy, send a self-addressed, stamped business envelope to the Private Companies Practice Section, American Institute of CPAs, 1211 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10036-8775, or ask a local PCPS member firm.

Independence Day was first observed in Philadelphia on July 8, 1776—four days after the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress.

The first laundromat, called a "washateria," opened in Fort Worth, Texas in 1934.

The first known English dictionary was compiled in 1604 by Robert Cawdrey.

The stars and stripes design for the U.S. flag was adopted by Congress on June 14, 1777.

Your CPA can provide assistance when you need to borrow money for your business.
