THEN and NOW!

Monday is the day that has been set aside for us to show our appreciation to those who have given us this great nation to reside in. Do we really realize how wonderful it is to live in a country where we are free to choose how we live, where we live, who we live with, when we get another job, what political party that we choose to support and the right to change our minds about any and everything without being penalized for the choice we had made?

We are free to choose the mate that we want to live our life with without having to let the heads of religion make the choice for us and then us having to live with the consequences! We can work for advancement in our jobs and reap the benefits of our hard work. We can choose when and if we wish to raise a family without the government telling us when and where.

We have the right to travel and see the world without having enough red tape to strangle us. We can pick up the phone and call practically anywhere in the world in a moments notice. No other civilized country is as diversified as the United States. We have all nations represented in our great land. We have all types of weather. We have all sorts of jobs to pick from for our life's work. We have millions of acres to farm and ranch, oil to pump, beautiful parks to visit and lovely cities to live in and visit. You can choose to live in a congested city, a quiet suburb, a small country town, high on a mountain or down on the sea coast or on a small farm or a large ranch. In fact when we begin to think of the choices that we have, it really is mind boggling.

It was 109 years ago that the Statue of Liberty arrived in New York City from France. This large iron and copper statue was dedicated on October 28, 1886, over a year later. This statue has become a symbol of the United States all over the world of liberty and democracy.

The inscription on the pedestal says, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door!" Emma Lazarus is the author of these inspiring words.

We seem to accept our freedom as our God given right. Give some thought to how hard many millions struggle to be able to have the opportunity to live in this great land that we take for granted. Have you ever thought about what your life would be today if you had been born in Ireland, Russia, Mexico, Poland or Africa? Perhaps we should get out on the Fourth and salute that grand old Flag for the wonderful life of freedom that she has granted to us by just continuing to wave over the "Home of the free and the brave!"

Have a happy and safe Fourth of July.

Don't Drink A Fifth On the Fourth- While Driving

The Fourth of July is one of the most highly celebrated of all holidays throughout the United States, and rightly so. This occasion should be remembered and celebrated, because of the rights and freedoms that each of us possess.

We are also reminded this time each year that far too many will not have much to celebrate in this great state of Texas by losing a loved one in a wreck caused by an alcohol impaired driver. Trooper L. B. Snider with the Texas Department of Public Safety states, "At least 50 percent of all traffic deaths are alcohol related and during this holiday many people will celebrate by consuming alcoholic beverages". We urge those that drink to plan ahead to have a sober driver behind the wheel, or risk finding themselves behind the bars of a jail. To help us protect you, as well as others on our state streets and highways, remember, If You Drink, Don't Drive...If You Drive, Don't Drink.

Jarret's Benefit Huge Success

A miracle occurred last Friday night at Hotel Turkey when friends and neighbors from Matador, Flomot, Silverton, Quitaque and Turkey gathered for the benefit barbecue for Jarret Pigg. Pigg, who was seriously injured in a car wreck last fall, is scheduled for a kidney transplant next week.

Approximately 300 concerned people braved the intense heat to show their love for the young man and his family, and enjoyed the delicious meal and entertainment by Jimmy Burson and Connie Smith of Silverton. Not only did the crowd buy barbecue, but many gave an extra donation.

Following the meal, a drawing was held for two door prizes, won by Rex Yearo and Fish Wilson, both of Quitaque.

Scott and Jane Johnson worked diligently to organize the benefit. The owners of Hotel Turkey spent many long hours in making it a success. Roy Gene Stephens of Matador brought his chuck wagon, and with the help of Dale Smith and Warren Lee Merrill, cooked the briskets, donated by Merrell's Food store.

C.C.'s Valley Grocery donated all the paper plates, cups and ice, and Roy Pigg donated beans and potato salad. Local ladies furnished the desserts.

Mona Wheeler and Lisa Price decorated the area north of the hotel where the benefit was held.

Stacy Price was involved in moving folding chairs and tables from the Bob Wills Center, and back, and the Memphis State Bank, Turkey Branch crew were on hand to help organize and work at the dinner.

After all the festivities were over, left-over brisket sold, and donations received from the Lubbock area, following the write-up in the Lubbock paper, more than $3,000 had been collected.

The Clinton Pigg family will be staying in Lubbock from 4-6 weeks following the surgery. They plan to rent an apartment.

The word clock probably comes from the French word cloche or the German word Glocke, each of which means "bell."

Homes Needed For Students

Every year, thousands of American families participate in a culturally-enlightening program called the American Intercultural Student Exchange. This non-profit program offers a terrific opportunity for Americans to learn about another culture in a fun-filled, family setting.

AISE is seeking volunteer families to host high school aged exchange students for the upcoming school year. AISE provides families with complete background information about each student, and allows the families to choose the student whom they would like to host. Students have their own health insurance and spending money, and host families provide students with room and board, and most importantly, insight into typical American life.

If you can help, please call AISE at 1-800-SIBLING.

The world is just a phone call away!

Investigation Of Price Manipulation

Recent plunges in prices of fed cattle and soybeans have led National Farmers Union to call for a Justice Department investigation into possible price manipulation and anti-trust violations by buyers in these two markets.

In a letter to Assistant Attorney General Anne Bingaman, NFU President Leland Swenson said he believes the large price drops are a "direct result of the highly-concentrated, oligopolistic structure of the marketing, transportation, processing, retailing and trading industry."

During the past four weeks, cattle futures prices dropped 13 percent, while soybean prices fell the daily 20 cent limit several days last week. In several Midwest States, farmers were unable to sell soybeans to local elevators. Some farmers believe buyers held out until prices dropped further.

"Agriculture policy makers in the U.S. have been pushing the issue of more market flexibility for farmers," said Swenson. "But, as soybean farmers have once again experienced, many times farmers have no marketing flexibility because of the lack of market competition."

Texas Farmers Union President Joe Rankin pointed out that cattle prices have fallen $20 per hundredweight since March, 1993, which comes at a time when beef exports have reportedly "surged" as a result of the North American Free Trade Agreement. Under NAFTA, traders received a 20 percent tariff reduction on beef exported to Mexico.

Swenson says "inequities" associated with the price drops results in economic hardship for producers and their families.

Today's farmers and ranchers must be competitive business managers, but the unjustifiable market manipulation results in every decision made by producers to be a make-or-break decision.

Farmers Union has called for the enforcement of anti-trust laws to limit the control over farm product marketing, processing, retailing and trading

Who Regulates Fireworks

Texas is one of 29 states that allows the sale of Class C fireworks or "common fireworks." In Texas, these fireworks are prohibited:

Certain sky rockets, also known as bottle rockets, and

Any other fireworks determined to be not acceptable by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Any person or company that sells fireworks in Texas must have a license or permit from the State Fire Marshal's Office, a division of the Texas Commission on Fire Protection.

According to state law, fireworks cannot be sold to anyone who is under 12 years old or is intoxicated

Hot Tips For Fireworks Safety

Be careful with fireworks, and you will reduce your chances of causing a fire or being injured. The Texas Commission on Fire Protection lists these guidelines for using fireworks as safely as possible:

Buy fireworks only from a licensed vendor. A fireworks vendor must obtain a license or permit from the State Fire Marshal's Office (which is a division of the Texas Commission on Fire Protection).

Know the law in your community. Many cities and communities have laws that regulate the possession and use of fireworks. Contact your local fire department, sheriff's office or police department for rules in your community.

Read and follow the directions exactly. If you don't understand the instructions on the fireworks, don't take a chance by lighting the firework.

Note: All fireworks sold in Texas must be clearly labeled that they conform to the standards of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and the U.S. Department of Transportation. Federal law says that all fireworks must have easy-to-read cautionary labels and instructions for proper use.

Use fireworks outdoors only, in a clear area away from houses and other flammable materials. Stay away from areas with grass, trees, gasoline cans, wooden decks and anything else that can catch fire.

Keep a bucket of water nearby while setting off fireworks. Pour the water on any malfunctioning fireworks ("dud") or accidental fires. Immerse minor burns in the cool water.

Never let children use fireworks. Always designate a responsible, sober adult to ignite the fireworks.

Keep everyone a safe distance away from the area where the fireworks are ignited. Watch children under 15 years old very closely.

Be sure that the fireworks will not contact or land on any potentially dangerous objects. Be sure that aerial fireworks, such as rockets and roman candles, won't strike power lines or automobiles.

Never touch a firework after it has been lit. If the firework malfunctions, do not try to relight it or pick it up. Carefully cover all used fireworks with water.

Never experiment with fireworks:

Don't take fireworks apart or mix anything with the contents.

Never make fireworks at home. Don't set off fireworks in metal, glass or other type containers.

After you have finished lighting fireworks, cool the remains with water. Collect all used fireworks materials and put them in a metal container. Cover with water again to reduce the chance of an accidental fire.

Things Seen or Heard

by Ann Coker

I received a letter recently from Stella Davis of Bartlesville, Oklahoma and I appreciated it so much. She had been to DeKalb, Illinois for a visit with her granddaughter, Michelle Anderson, the daughter of Sybil Young. She reported she really enjoyed her visit there.

While visiting with Rusty Matthews, she said Travis and Marie (Barham) Chastain from Madill, Oklahoma were recent visitors in the Allen Matthews home. Mrs. Chastain was hospitalized in the Plainview hospital last week but was feeling much better.

Genie Seymour, an honor student at Texas Tech, is home for the summer. She is an employee of the Memphis State bank in Memphis, where her mother is also employed. Genie is the daughter of Mac and Brenda Seymour.

Louis and Oleta Randell were in Amarillo on business Wednesday.

Clinton Learns Of Rural Issues

President Bill Clinton learned first-hand Thursday how low farm income, caused by declining commodity prices, depopulates rural areas and threatens their future.

Texas Farmers Union President Joe Rankin was among National Farmers Union leaders from 10 states who met with the President and several of his top agricultural aides Thursday in the Roosevelt Room at the White House.

"Increasing farm income, through Farm Programs, at the market place, is a critical issue for Farmers, Union President Lee Swenson told Clinton.

President Clinton said it's important that all voices be at the table as discussions of farm policy for 1995 and beyond begins, and Farmers Union will have a place at the table.

An important part of the meeting was spent on health care reform, a subject near and dear to NFU members who have supported universal health care coverage for 60 years, according to Rankin.

Clinton said his reform package would help farm families by providing them with economies of scale once they became part of a large insurance pool under the proposed alliance systems, and by providing the self-employed with 100 percent deductibility of health care premiums.

Although NFU believes health care reform is critical to rural people, Swenson said farm incomes must improve so that farm families aren't forced to work second jobs for income.

Personally I'm always ready to learn, although I do not always like being taught.

Irwin Seymour, a former resident of Turkey, but now resides in Floydada, is a patient at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Irwin had a heart attack and had two balloon surgeries. Irwin is also diabetic so is still having some problems. His brother, Mac, has been in Lubbock visiting with him.

Lana Burson of Silverton had surgery last Friday at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock. At last report she was doing fine. Her parents, James and Wilda Fuston were present for the surgery.

A recent visitor in the home of Dovie Wheeler and the Billy Wheelers was Cliff Cogburn of Wright City, Oklahoma. Cliff came to carry an old windmill wheel home so he would have the only one in Oklahoma—even if it doesn't work. Cliff is the nephew of David Wheeler.

Visiting in Turkey last Monday was former resident, Pauline Lane. She had had some minor surgery in Plainview and was on her way back to her home in Childress.

Robert Proctor, of Childress son of Izell Proctor, recently was hospitalized in Lubbock. He is doing fine and is now back at work.

The hot weather hasn't stopped the tourist from traveling. Recently, tourists from the Dallas, Ft. Worth area, Louisiana, Temple, etc. have stopped to visit the Bob Wills Museum. These people know to turn west at Estelina to come through Turkey to the Museum and to take pictures of the monument. They also buy Bob Wills T-shirts, caps and cassettes.

Hugh Eudy of Midland called his brother, Tom Eudy, recently and told him of the death of Maurice Young who was living in Midland.

Dovie Wheeler received word Sunday of the death of her nephew, J. C. Richmond of Roswell, New Mexico. J. C. was the son of Cliffie and Ray Richmond, all former resident of Turkey.

Eudy Reunion

Families of the late J.M. and Ethel Eudy met at the Anderson Room of Holiday Inn Northwest in Austin, Tx., June 17. After greeting and visiting all had dinner at Luby's Restaurant. Later both children and adults enjoyed the swimming pool and game room.

Several of the group attended the arts and crafts centers, then there was picture making, swimming and other games and more visiting. Saturday night all had dinner at the "Cracker Barrel". The manager said it was their first family reunion to serve and it was a delicious meal. The senior citizens, teen-agers and children all enjoyed the rocking chairs outside on their porch.

Sunday morning after breakfast, several families visited Kay and Ronnie in their home.

Those attending the reunion were Bob and Lola Eudy of Joshua, TX., Oscar and Angie Jakebson, Blake, Brianna and Luke, Austin; Myra and Sam Law, and April and Marin of Burleson; Hugh and Juanita Eudy, Larry, Jeanie and Lindsey, and Ida Clements of Midland, TX., Tracey Lewis of Abilene; Dannie and Linda Eudy, Midland; James and Jana of Artesia, New Mexico, Barry and Katrina Hillmer of Carlsbad, New Mexico; Bill and Cleo Green, Slaton, Tx; Joni and Courtney Willer, Conrose, TX; and Katy Moe of Conroe, TX, and a guest Traci Ham of Crosbyton, TX.

Glenna Rummel greeted by M.S. Fantasy Captain Renato Piovano, during reception on the cruise ship.

Rummel Enjoys Bahama Cruise

by Glenna Rummel

I recently had the opportunity to go on a four-day Bahama cruise aboard Carnival Cruise Lines' M.S. Fantasy. The Texas Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States had their annual state convention aboard ship. Postmasters who chose to attend the convention took earned vacation time from their jobs and were responsible for their own expenses.

Postmasters from all across the state of Texas attended. I was among several Panhandle area Postmasters who left Amarillo on Sunday, June 5 at 6:24 am and flew to Dallas and then on to Orlando, Florida. A bus met us at the Orlando airport and transported us to Port Canaveral to board the ship, which was to sail at 4:30 pm.

I haven't flown since I was sixteen years old and have never been on a ship, so this was quite an experience for me. I definitely had some reservations about this trip...I can't even swim, and the first thing they had every passenger do after we were out to sea was go to our cabin for our life jackets. Everyone had to attend a mandatory lifeboat drill wearing their life jackets.

Thank goodness, that was the only time we had to wear them!

The M.S. Fantasy accommodates over 2600 passengers and over 900 crewmembers, and we were told that it was fully booked for our cruise. I was amazed at the number of things to do aboard ship. There were shops of all kinds, different variety shows, bands, a spa, beauty shop, casino, restaurants, lounges, exercise equipment, five swimming pools, a jogging deck, and bingo...just to name a few.

There was food available in various places on the ship at all times of the day. Formal meals were served in the dining room in two shifts, and everyone had a table assigned to them, so we ate at the same time each evening. Our waiter and busboy were responsible for only two tables (16 people), so we received a lot of personal attention during meals. The service was superb. By the time the trip was over, everyone at our table felt like they knew our waiter and busboy and each other.

Each evening, all of the dining room staff put on some kind of spectacular performance for our entertainment. One night we had cherries jubilee for dessert, and they came out with trays of flaming cherries balanced on their heads, dancing and singing "Hot, Hot, Hot!" Our last night, they came out wearing red, white and blue, carrying the United States flag and singing patriotic songs. On Monday morning, we docked in Freeport at 7 am and were required to be back on ship at 3:30 pm. Tours were available for those who wanted to take them (and brought enough money). Our group didn't have a lot of time after our meetings, so a group of us elected to take a taxi into town and look around. They drive on the left side of the road in the Bahamas, which took some getting used to. Intersections didn't seem to bother the taxi drivers. For that matter, neither did pedestrians! Taxi companies must keep the service stations busy working on horns and brakes. Needless to say, I was not impressed with their driving.

Monday there was a Captain's reception for all passengers prior to the evening meal, and then the Captain joined us for dinner. The Captain's table was directly across the aisle from our table, so we had an excellent view of the evening's entertainment.

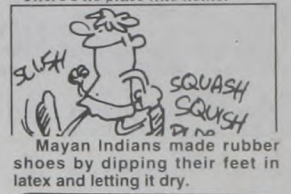

Tuesday morning at 7 am found us docking in Nassau. The downtown area of Nassau is only about a block from the dock. After our meetings, we walked to shops and did some sightseeing in the area. We had heard that prices on various items were a lot cheaper in the Bahamas than in the United States, but I couldn't tell much difference. It is definitely a tourist area. Souvenirs are everywhere—caps, t-shirts, straw items, etc. Every female you see wants to know if she can braid your hair. Men swarm you as you leave the ship, asking if you need a taxi, and children want to sell you little yarn or beaded bracelets or wooden flutes.

That evening a group of us did take a taxi to Crystal Palace Casino. It didn't take us long to decide that we hadn't enough money and that it was time to go back to the ship. Of course, that meant another taxi ride!

We arrived back at the ship in one piece and got there in time to catch the end of the lip sync contest and to listen to 50's and 60's music on the deck.

The Fantasy was at sea all day on Wednesday. Our meetings were over by noon, and we had the rest of the day to visit, tour the ship, relax and have fun. All of our luggage that we didn't want to carry had to get outside of our cabin before we went to bed Wednesday night. Everyone was to meet at an assigned location on ship at 8:45 am Thursday to await U.S. Customs. It was noon before we were allowed to leave the ship, and after clearing customs, we were on our way back to Orlando by bus to catch our flight.

There was a delay at the airport in Dallas, so it was about 8:30 pm before we arrived in Amarillo. It was a great feeling to see the canyons and patchwork quilt effect of the fields below us as we crossed the Texas Panhandle. It's always nice to get away for awhile, but I agree with Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz—"There's no place like home!"

Mayan Indians made rubber shoes by dipping their feet in latex and letting it dry.

60th Anniversary Party Surprises Carters-

You will never see a more surprised couple than Ralph and Hattie Lois Carter when their children Mozelle and Larry Hedrick of Canyon, Melvin and Donna Carter, Melanie and Melissa of Lubbock and Todd Hedrick of Dallas honored their parents and grandparents with a reception Sunday afternoon in observance of their 60th Anniversary. The occasion was held at the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall.

The first surprise of the day was when the children arrived for church. They had lunch at the cafe. After lunch, grand-daughter Melissa insisted on going out to the park. After much "we don't need to go out there" they finally gave in. When they arrived back in town someone found an excuse to go by the church. When they opened the door there has never been a more surprised couple.

The table was laid with a lace tablecloth over a red underskirt. The centerpiece was 60 red roses, a gift from Todd. Cake and punch was served from crystal appointments by Donna and Melanie. Melissa secured names for registering.

After the shock, the couple settled down to greet the guests that began arriving.

Those attending: Hazel Marshall, Francis Hackney, Judy and Murry Wayne Morrison of Lubbock, Leon and U. Z. Barham, Sue and Gene Berry, Lavada McCracken of Tulia, Linda West of Snyder, Birt and Pat Lane, Lawrence Bedwell, Dale and Hubert Setliff of Plainview, Jack Broxson, Sue and Don Tindall of Borger, Angus and Bernice Davis, V. G. and Audie Mae Wood of Olton, Stella Conner, Bryon Young of Turkey, J. D. and Lois Nance, Glenda and Alvie Francis of Rock Creek, Ferrell and Doris Edwards of Anton and Joy Lacy of Amarillo. Many local residents attended.

YOUR FAITH BRINGS NEW HARMONY TO DISPEL FAMILY DISCORD

In today's world, the definition of a "family" can vary considerably. We live in an age where single parents and multiple marriages are quite common, and where one may acquire a mixture of children and step-children living under one roof. Such a m'engage often produces many problems and a less-than-harmonious atmosphere around the house, with areas of friction between step-parents and children notably teenagers; and among the children themselves. The fact that life has assembled a group of people in this manner is no guarantee that they will get along with one another. However, here is where the House of Worship can offer some real help and guidance. By attending the services together family members learn that we all belong to God and receive His blessings, for He is the Father of us all. We can enjoy a happier family life if we will just remember that and forget everything else.

Mrs. Bryan Buchanan

Mullin- Buchanan Vows Exchanged

Shadi K'Lynn Mullin and Bryan Heath Buchanan exchanged wedding vows Saturday night, August 13, at the Church of Christ in Turkey with Stuart Smith, minister, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Ronald and Ginger Mullin of Turkey and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Mullin and Farris Martin and the late Jean Martin, all of Turkey and the great-granddaughter of Bernice Robison of Floydada.

Buchanan is the son of Mike and Jean Buchanan, the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Thurmon Thomas and the great-grandson of Grace Neel, all of Plainview.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white satin gown designed with an oval scooped neckline edged with pearls. Satin cording and pearls highlighted the fitted bodice and cathedral train. She wore a veil attached to a ruffled pouf accented with pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and lilies.

Samantha Stark of Tulia was Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Robyn Lane of Canyon, Amy Compton of Denton, Teena Bradshaw of Brady, Amy Smith of Waxahachie, the brides cousin; Mandee Buchanan of Lubbock, the groom's sister; and Macee Thompson of Copper Canyon, the groom's cousin.

Vacationing in cool Colorado last week were Keith and Bettie Green and their son and family, James, Debbie and Zach Green of Wichita Falls.

They spent their first night in Raton and drove on to the home of Trumas and Cozette (Green) Price in Center, Colorado. The group enjoyed riding the train from Antonio, Colorado. They also fished at the Santa Maria Reservoir and reported the fishing was quite good.

They all returned home at the end of the last week.

Our brother-in-law, Steve Stevens of Farmington, New Mexico, works for the Government in higher education. It is his job to visit every college campus in the state to assess their needs and what the government can provide.

Steve discovered that two of the college presidents were quite impressed when they discovered Steve's wife, Maurice, was a Turkey native. The two presidents were avid Bob Wills fans.

When Steve received their Valley Tribune with write-ups about Bob Wills, he clipped them out and mailed them to one of the men. When he finished reading them, he mailed them to the other college president. Both presidents expressed a desire to attend a Bob Wills Celebration. One of the men has recently died, but the other still maintains he is coming to Bob Wills Day.

Most golden anniversary couples meet that milestone for one good reason -- practicing the Golden Rule.

ATTEND REUNIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ross and Aleda Elaine recently attended the Henry Prairie Church and Community Reunion near Franklin. This is where the Ross family lived before moving to the Crowell area. After church services, a lunch was held on the beautiful grounds. Following lunch, they had a song fest led by cousin James Ross of Bryan. They were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Morgan and Mrs. Ruth Ross, and toured local graves of ancestors. Jim Ross of Dallas also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ross and Aleda Elaine attended the Willow School and Community reunion held in Willow, OK during the weekend, June 24-26. Aleda Elaine and Tom performed songs for entertainment following the evening banquet, Saturday. Tom is a graduate of Willow School and is the historian for the reunion association. Joining them there for activities were Mr. Ross's brother, Jim, of Dallas, and sister Mrs. Elizabeth Anestad of El Paso.

SCORCHING WEATHER

A rage of high pressure dominated the Flomot and Whitelake area and generated high temperatures this week. The scorching weather registered official temperatures of 102 to 114 degrees, June 23-27. The oppressive temperatures are expected to continue. If we didn't have air conditioners you would think the world was coming to an end!

Yea-a-a! The Dallas Cowboys won the National Football Championship and the Houston Rockets the National Basketball Championship. Texas sport fans will remember 1994!

Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy

The following article was given to the Valley Tribune for publication by Bonnie Hill. Mrs. Hill is quite interested in informing the general public about Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy as her sister, GERAL DANIELS, has suffered with this disease for quite sometime. Many doctors do not know what it is and cannot diagnose it.

Geral Daniels has known Carolyn Brey Meyer for sometime. The two stay in contact with each other discussing their very painful ailment and new treatments and methods of helping a RSD patient.

Intense Pain Fails To Stop Brey Meyer

by Valerie Avery

Certain words that Carolyn Brey Meyer's friends have inscribed on a keepsake gray T-shirt come to mind time and time again. Words such as courage and determination, and phrases, such as "You made a difference," are how people choose to remember their friend from Illinois.

Many, if not all of those who have met Brey Meyer, have done so because of her unusual and painful condition, Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy.

The condition is caused by disruption of the sympathetic nerves, which are part of a massive nerve network that controls things such as the diameter of local blood vessels.

Pain from RSD is so intense that patients often consider committing suicide, therapists say, and Brey Meyer said she was no exception.

"I was ready to kill myself," the 31 year old said.

Nerve blocks can provide tem-

Mail Fraud Alert--$.02 Scam

The Postal Inspection Service is warning consumers today not to fall prey to a nation wide mail order scam that is encouraging the underpayment of First Class postage. Promoters of the mail order scam are selling an information package at a cost ranging from $5 to $100 that describes how to mail First-Class letters for $.02 rather than the current rate. The scheme is designed to bilk the postal customer out of their money using inaccurate and out-of-date information.

The information packages cite Title 39, U.S. Code, Section 4253, as a legal basis for the $.02 First-Class rate. This section was eliminated in August 1970 under the Postal Reorganization Act.

Postal Inspectors investigating this scheme have filed administrative and criminal complaints against the promoters. It is their goal to protect the Postal Service from loss of revenue and to stop this fraudulent promotion.

Postal employees have been alerted to the scam and are being instructed to check First-Class mail for appropriate postage. Any mail carrying less than the current First-Class rate will be delivered with a charge for the amount due as required by postal regulations.

The penalty for mail fraud is a fine of not more than $250,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both. Postal customers who receive this package are asked to forward all the material to their local postmaster or to the Postal Inspector, P.O. Box 162929, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-2929; phone (817) 625-3411 (available 24 hours a day.)

State Issues Warning Concerning Credit Scams

Consumers should be alert to claims by some credit repair companies that they can legally and permanently remove bad credit information from a credit report at the credit bureau, according to a state agency.

"There are laws that govern credit bureaus which prohibit their reporting obsolete information about a person," said Leslie Pettijohn, assistant commissioner of the Office of Consumer Credit Commissioner.

Normally, credit reports are limited to credit information less than seven years old. Bankruptcies may be reported for 10 years. Older information may be reported when consumers apply for loans or life insurance of $50,000 or more, or for certain jobs.

"There are also laws which protect consumers from having incorrect information reported about them," she said.

Those laws permit a consumer to challenge incorrect information and have it deleted or corrected at no charge to the consumer.

According to Pettijohn, some credit repair companies try to use the procedures for correcting mistakes to erase bad but accurate details also.

The companies may try to convince unwary consumers that only their company can help, charging fees of $900 or more.

"That is just not so," Pettijohn said. "There is nothing any company can do for a person that the person cannot do alone and for free."

"The only way to improve bad credit is to re-build, and there are several reputable organizations which will help people for free, such as Consumer Credit Counseling Service."

For free information about credit reports, call the toll-free Consumer Help Line at 800/538-1579.

Boaters: Leave Alcohol At Home

A day on a boat with the sun shining, a breeze blowing and the boat gently rocking in the water sounds like pure relaxation. Add a few alcoholic drinks to the scene, though, and this ideal Fourth of July celebration can come crashing down in a hurry.

A few hours of small boat operation can be more stressful than the same amount of time spent driving on the highway.

Carlos Vaca, boating law administrator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said studies have shown that exposure to the sun, wind engine noise, vibration and constant motion can slow reaction time significantly.

Boat operators tested on specifically designed courses have shown a decreasing ability to deal with obstacles and to control their vessels in tight maneuvering situations as the day progressed.

"Consuming alcoholic beverages while boating can make the situation worse," he said. "Peripheral vision is reduced and hearing is made less acute. Many boat operators who've been drinking don't feel the effects, so they feel fine until they hit the dock or something else."

Boating accidents and overall water fatalities during the Memorial Day holiday weekend increased from the previous year, Vaca said.

The 14 boating accidents during Memorial Day weekend doubled last year's seven accidents. The average for that weekend is 12 accidents with four water fatalities (which includes deaths from the accidents as well as other water related drownings etc). This year, the state had 12 water fatalities as well as with the 14 boating accidents.

Game wardens also handed out 21 boating while intoxicated citations and 1,125 citations for water safety violations during the 1994 Memorial Day weekend. Twenty-four BWI citations were given during the 1993 holiday. "Its going to be a long summer for game wardens," he said, adding that boating fatalities and accidents are running ahead of last year's pace.

porary relief in some cases, but they didn't for Brey Meyer. She had 50 nerve blocks in 10 months and the pain continued to feel similar to the moment after people fracture their bones.

"I felt that (pain) day and night," she said from her hotel room in Lubbock recently.

Farm Girl Begins To Fight

Brey Meyer is a farm girl from Illinois who was the first female in her small school to buck the trend of taking home economics for a course in agriculture.

She said she feels more comfortable with pigs than people because they always cheer her. "I'd just sit on the fence and watch them. They'd all gather around and listen to me when I had problems."

She started feeling poorly in 1989, soon after undergoing surgery for carpal tunnel syndrome, a crippling condition involving the hands and wrist joints. When she told her physician of the extreme post-operative pain, he took one look at the shininess of her arm and its coolness to the touch and diagnosed her with RSD.

In the first stage, symptoms of the disease are burning pain, muscle cramping and a swelling greater and much longer lasting than with most injuries. In the second stage, the area becomes emaciated, and as pain subsides, a stiffness develops. Finally, the skin turns paper-thin, becomes cool to the touch and turns pale.

Several clinics and hospitals in Indiana and Illinois were unable to adequately treat her pain.

Doctors Help Find Solution

Brey Meyer's only solution, her doctors agreed, was a peripheral nerve stimulator placed in her upper left arm where the pain was the greatest.

Small electrodes are implanted in the peripheral nerves underneath the skin. The stimulator is similar to a pacemaker in that it sends little impulses to the nerves. The impulses interfere with the pain signal going to the brain, confusing it and this blocking it.

Blocking the signals allows Brey Meyer to function, although the pain's still there. She later had another nerve stimulator placed in her right arm and two more in her back.

Brey Meyer comes to Lubbock for the surgeries and therapy. She then returns home to live by herself. "It (living by myself) made me get out of bed and make myself something to eat. If I lived with someone else it would be too easy to get them to do it."

That independent streak - the "I can do it" attitude - helps others, friend say. All around her hotel room are gifts of chocolates and photos of people she's inspired.

"She wants to help others in her situation," said Janet Barrett, a friend who wrote a letter detailing Brey Meyer's courage. "She cares deeply for others who are hurting."

Brey Meyer said: "I wish I could take all the RSD and put it on me. I feel like I'm stubborn enough that I can fight it more than they can."

Her University Medical Center physical therapist, Jean-Michel Brismee, said he has never seen anybody like her in all his years of therapy.

"I've never seen a person fight like this. She keeps going forward," he said. "She is somebody everybody admires. The attitude she has is really different. People with this disease lose everything in their lives, but she keeps fighting with whatever she has left."

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- the value placed on your property
- any exemptions that may apply to you
- the cancellation of an agricultural appraisal
- the taxable status of your property
- the local governments which should be taxing your property
- any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review. Many Problems can be worked out informally with the appraisal office staff.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board
If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date, and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office in the basement of the Briscoe County Courthouse.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court
After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More Information
You can get more information by contacting the appraisal district in the basement of the Briscoe County Courthouse, 415 Main Street in Silverton Phone (806) 823-2161. You also can get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at P.O. Box 13528, Ain, Texas 78711-3528.

Deadline for Filing Protests with the ARB*

Usual Deadline
On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadlines
For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

*The deadline is postponed to the next business day if it falls on a weekend or holiday.

Heavy rains hit the Turkey Area Tuesday afternoon and evening. Two inches fell in Turkey in less than an hour leaving water running down main street from curb to curb. Heavier amounts fell just west of Turkey and south west. Alga Turner reported 3 1/2 inches on his farm and Gilbert Wedge reported four inches out at his place. Some hail fell in that area and also to the south of Turkey some cotton was damaged on the Jack Lacy place.

The official rain gage in Turkey registered 2 in. and .02.
