THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Happiness--now there is a relative word. We throw it around a lot but do we really know what it means or where it comes from? Mr. Webster defines it as having, showing or causing great pleasure.

How do we get happiness? Is it ours for the asking? Are we dependent on other people, places or circumstances for our happiness? Do we have to earn our happiness? Can we be happy at the expense of someone else's happiness? Well, all of these questions can be rather hard to come up with an answer. There are as many answers as there are humans I imagine.

How do we get happiness? Can we just reach out and grab it? You know what would make me happy could possibly make you sad or vice versa--so there cannot be a pat answer to how we acquire happiness but I do feel that if we gain our happiness at the expense of someone else's we cannot truly be happy. We will have a nagging feeling that something is wrong. Maybe not be able to put our finger on the cause of this feeling but it doesn't seem to go away!

Can we, like a child asking for candy, ask for happiness and expect to receive it? Sure we can ask but again what is your happiness can be a disaster for me so we must always consider the other person when we are asking for what we think will make us happy.

The next question is a tougher one--are we dependent on other people, places or circumstances for our happiness? Well, now, we would all love to blame someone else, some place or event when we wake up unhappy with our lives. Now, come on--can anyone or anything MAKE us unhappy--No, we do it to ourselves, by allowing something or someone to make us unhappy or we dwell on something that we do not like such as the cold wet weather we have been having and let it influence how we feel--thus causing our own unhappiness!

Do we earn our happiness? In a way the answer to this could be yes. If we do the right thing it will bring us more joy than if we do the wrong thing but you really cannot set out to EARN your happiness or you will get all tangled up in the end result and not be able to see the joy of the moment!

Can we be happy at someone else's expense? Never, I don't think, if we cause someone to be sad--how can we possibly be joyful about that.

Circumstances do make a difference. I have seen more smiles these past few sunny days than on the wet cold ones! So, if we can't earn it or don't just inherit it, how do we find it? Look inside yourself! This is where the true joy comes from--be satisfied with yourself and before you know it joy and contentment will dwell in your life!

Caprock Canyons State Park Receives Title To Abandoned Railroad Site

Caprock Canyons State Park has received title to the abandoned Burlington-Northern Railroad Corridor that runs from South Plains through Quitaque and Turkey and ends in Estelline. This land now carries the status of a linear state park and all rules and regulations governing state parks use are now in effect.

According to Park Superintendent Rusty Sargent "Development and construction will begin in the very near future. Meanwhile access to the corridor is limited to authorized personnel only. I have had several reports of people driving their vehicles on the abandoned corridor, and for safety reasons this will no longer be tolerated. During the construction and salvage operations, numerous hazards exist, so if you do not have a legitimate purpose on the corridor, please stay off the trail."

It should be noted that all railroad equipment, materials, crossties, signals, etc. belong to the park. Contact Caprock Canyons State Park if you wish to purchase salvage materials.

Sargent stated "In our desire to be good neighbors, adjacent landowners to the linear state park will be invited to at least two annual operations meetings, so that those with concerns can be addressed and be allowed to make suggestions as to future plans and operations."

If you own, lease, or operate land adjacent to the old railroad, please contact park staff at 806/455-1492 or write to Caprock Canyons State Park, P.O. Box 204, Quitaque, Texas 79255-0204 and ask to be placed on the park's mailing list.

Turkey Adds Slip-On Water Pumping Unit

The City of Turkey recently acquired a slip-on water pumping unit. The city purchased the unit so it could be slid onto the bed of a pickup and quickly give firefighters another water pump.

City officials purchased the slip-on unit with cost-sharing assistance from the Rural Community Fire Protection program, a cooperatively funded federal-state program administered by the Texas Forest Service. The city obtained $696 in funding aid toward the pumping unit. Previously, it had obtained a free truck through the program.

The additional firefighting unit could come in handy this winter and spring, if the weather turns dry. Lush vegetative growth, particularly in grassy fields, could fuel destructive wildfires if area residents aren't careful with their outdoor burning.

Fire prevention tips are available from local firefighters and the Texas Forest Service. Information on available cost-sharing and equipment aid are available from the Texas Forest Service, Fire Control Department, P.O. Box 310, Lufkin, Texas, 75902-0310, 409-639-8100.

Program funds have helped rural fire departments in Texas acquire over 2,200 trucks, slip-on pumping units and other fire apparatus. The program also has funded statewide training for volunteer firefighters in grass, brush and forest fire suppression.

New Speed Limit Signs At Valley School

by Jerry Beck

Some of you may have already noticed the new speed limit signs at Valley School. As this is something new to local residents we will try to show some consideration for a reasonable amount of time until people get used to the change.

The speed change is only when the lights are operating in the morning and again in the afternoon. Most school zones are 20 MPH, however since this is on a main highway the speed in the zone is set at 35 MPH.

Warnings have been given over the past few days and will be given to first offenders for a limited time. Please try to keep this change in mind as you travel in the area.

SCENIC GRANDEUR OF the CAPROCK CANYONS

A scenic view of the Canyons, as seen through a railroad cut on the old Burlington-Northern line. The park has received the title to the abandoned railroad corridor from Quitaque to Turkey, and it will be made a part of the Canyons Park.

It's Time To Plan Your Windbreak

by Jimmy Myers

It's time to plan that new windbreak for your farm or ranch. March is a good time to plant your trees and it's just around the corner.

There are many advantages of an effective farmstead windbreak. It provides protection from hot, dry winds of summer as well as icy wind and snow in winter. Beautification of the farmstead is a big asset of a well-planned and well-care-for windbreak. The tree row will serve as a privacy and noise reducing barrier. In addition to added comfort around the house, they can reduce heating and cooling bills, because of reduced wind velocities around your house.

Once trees are planted, some effort and management is required to get them established.

Caprock Public Library News

by Arlene Hinkle

Most of us wonder about our family history, if not for ourselves, then for our children or our grandchildren. Caprock Public Library has a book entitled The Genealogists Address Book by Elizabeth Petty Bently that has National Addresses, State Addresses, Ethnic and Religious Centers, and special resources that are beneficial to finding out historical information. It lists all the key sources of information, giving names, phone numbers, contact persons, and business hours. A great book!

More new books include: Adult Fiction--Degree of Guilt by Richard North Patterson. This is a courtroom drama involving a eminent novelist, a television journalist, and a trial lawyer--and the charge is--murder.

For Juveniles: Then Again, Maybe I Won't by Judy Blume is written from a boy's point of view. Tony Miglione's father has gotten rich from an invention and moved the family from a small house in Jersey City to a mansion in Rosemont. The family is changing--everything is changing.

6th Grade Can Really Kill You by Barthe deClements is the story of "Bad Helen" and her reading problem. A sympathetic teacher recognizes Helen's special problem and with the help of Helen's family--Helen triumphs!

Happy Researching!

Velma Lacy, Delores and Hubert Price. Generations of Lacey's have linked the chain of ownership of Lacy's Dry Goods for almost 80 years.

Three Generations Of Lacy's Have Operated Lacy Dry Goods

by Ann Coker
 For approximately 77 years, the oldest business in Turkey, "Lacy Dry Goods" has been owned and operated by members of the Lacy family.

Around the turn of the century Mr. Fred Lacy, originally from Kentucky, and Lelia (Tonk) Card were married in Hollis, Oklahoma. Mrs. Lacy was from Oklahoma. Soon after their marriage, they traveled to the Wolf Flat Community near the present town of Turkey. At that time a man by the name of Albert Love operated a post office, store combination in a half dugout, southwest of town on Turkey Creek, near where the Luke Lanes at one time made their home. This was the only business in Turkey at this time.

After the Fred Lacy's arrived in Hall County, they bought some land and I assume it was in the Wolf Flat Community. From the book "Yesterday in Hall County," Mrs. Lelia Lacy wrote, "I looked after the land while Mr. Lacy rode for the Mill Irons."

Evidently Fred Lacy was involved in several business ventures. Mrs. Lacy wrote that her husband and Frank Meacham, bought out the Turkey Mercantile Company, but no date was given.

Going through my copy of "Old Filings," I read where Fred Lacy opened a chain store by the name of "Hokus Pokus" in 1928. This was a grocery store. He sold the Hokus Pokus the same year.

Evidently, the Fred Lacy's opened "Lacy Dry Goods" in about 1916. In 1928 they moved into a new building, probably one of the three buildings that today house Lacy's Dry Goods.

In 1935, Jack and Velma Lacy bought the business from Jack's mother, Mrs. Fred Lacy as Fred Lacy had died in 1934. The Fred Lacy's had owned the store approximately 19 years.

After Jack and Velma purchased the store they lived in the back of the store for several years. Velma reported that it wasn't unusual for them to stay open until midnight or later on Saturday night.

Under the Jack Lacy's management, they enlarged their store by buying out the Elmer Christian Dry Goods that was next door to Lacy's.

Jack and Velma Lacy owned and operated the store for 45 years. In 1981, they sold it to their daughter and son-in-law, Delores (Lacy) and Hubert Price.

The children of the Fred Lacy's were Telia Gilmore, Hoy Lacy, Reona Holcomb, Mary Lou (Tiny) Gibson, Jack Lacy, Jake Lacy and Dot Arnold. All are deceased but Telia and Dot who both still live in Turkey.

Some of the employees of the Lacy Store under Fred Lacy were Bill Card, a brother of Lelia Lacy, Bill Greer and Reona Holcomb. Just a few of the clerks that were employed by Jack and Velma were Ermine Bray, Aileen Young, Reona Holcomb, Lillian Mullin, Ola B. (Mullin) Stubbs, Arlie Williams, Helen Chandler, Babe Lacy, Cleo Ham, Dona Browning and Dot Christian worked on Saturdays till it was time for her to sell tickets at the show.

The Hubert Prices not only operate a top notch store, but both are actively involved in civic activities and their church.

It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has plenty of work to do. —Jerome Klapka Jerome

Good weed control and available moisture are essential during the first few years. Young trees need approximately eight gallons of water per week the first growing season, 15 gallons per week the second year and 30 gallons the third year for ideal conditions. The easiest and most economical way to water your trees is with a drip irrigation system.

This system is easy to install and hooks up to your water faucet. It places small amounts of water by the tree with no runoff or waste. We can help you design and install your drip system.

The Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District is currently taking orders for trees and sells drip irrigation supplies. Come by the SCS office to order trees and plan your new windbreak.

Programs and services of the Soil Conservation are offered on a nondiscriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

The United States has more than 4,000 college and university libraries, which together own more than 514 million books and other items.

When You Can't Breathe, Nothing Else Matters

Struggling for breath is a terrifying feeling. People with lung disease know this all too well. That is why the American Lung Association of Texas, the leading fighter of lung disease, has taken on a new slogan, "When you can't breathe, nothing else matters." This slogan will replace the nearly 20-year-old tagline, "It's a matter of life and breath."

With the launch of its new public service campaign this month, the American Lung Association of Texas is introducing its new slogan through television, radio, and print ads, to educate the public about the horror of not being able to catch another breath. Lung disease, which includes asthma, tuberculosis, pneumonia, lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, and emphysema, is the third leading cause of death in America. The spots are intended to be as frightening as lung disease itself.

"The new slogan is designed to instill in the public mind the urgency and relevance on lung disease," said Edward Carter, Executive Director. "It's message is simple yet challenging. It doesn't matter who you are, where you were born, who you know, or how much money you make. When you can't breathe, the only thing that matter is your next breath."

The American Lung Association of Texas is dedicated to the fight against lung disease. Along with its medical section, the American Thoracic Society, the association provides programs of education, community service, advocacy, and research. Its activities are supported by donations to Christmas Seals and other voluntary contributions. Founded in 1904 to fight tuberculosis the American Lung Association is the oldest nationwide voluntary health agency in the United States.

Road Safety Tips For Winter

In the northern reaches of our continent, some travelers still take shelter in igloos when a winter storm catches them by surprise.

Winter in Texas seldom calls for extreme measures. But we do see our share of sleet, snow, fog, and heavy rain, which can make for dangerous driving conditions. Texas Safety Association offers the following tips to keep you and your family safe until spring rolls around.

1. Start with a vehicle that's ready for weather. Check the wipers, defroster and rear window defogger. Make sure you have plenty of wiper fluid, and don't use plain water! It can freeze on your windshield and make driving more hazardous.

2. Check your battery, ignition system, wiring, hoses, fan belts, filters and spark plugs. When the car won't start on a cold morning, corroded battery clamps are most of the cause.

3. During cold spells, check your tires often. The air pressure inside can drop one pound per square inch for every ten-degree drop in the temperature.

4. When possible, avoid traveling in bad weather. Check forecasts and traffic reports on radio and TV. Plan alternative routes

Surprise Birthday Party For Wellman

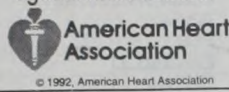

Harvey Wellman of Guthrie was honored with a surprise "50" birthday party last Wednesday night, and a surprise it definitely was! His wife, Marlene, was the hostess for the birthday roast. Many friends and relatives were there for the occasion.

Among those attending were Harvey's sister, Fay Cawley, Keith and Bettie Green of Turkey, Carol Weatherly of Memphis, the Wellman's daughter and husband, Karen and Collie Wynn of Petrolia, their son, Kregg Wellman of Plainview, and Marlene's parents, Johnnie and Juana Williams of Lubbock.

Harvey and Marlene are graduates of Turkey High School. After graduating from college, they returned to Turkey where they taught and Harvey also coached. They are presently employed by the Guthrie School system, Marlene as a teacher and Harvey as a coach.

Things Seen Or Heard

by Ann Coker
Ever since Wade Phillips, son of Coach Bum Phillips, was hired as the new coach of the Denver Broncos, I recalled a visit that Coach Bum Phillips once made to Turkey to hunt.

Accepting an invitation from Lorán Denton and U. F. Coker, Coach Bum Phillips, then coach of the Amarillo Sandies, accompanied by Supt. of Amarillo Schools, Bob Ashworth, Dee Walker, Amarillo Schools Athletic Director, and Vance Hall, owner of an Amarillo sporting goods store, arrived in Turkey to enjoy some quail hunting.

The group were enjoying a hunt in the Bridle Bit Community. About middle of the afternoon the hunters realized that none of them had seen Dee Walker for quite some time. A search was begun for the missing athletic director.

After their search proved futile, one of the hunters returned to Turkey to sound the alarm to enlist more hunters. Later that afternoon, Jack Case found the lost hunter. Needless to say, Mr. Walker was quite thrilled to meet Jack Case.

Lisa Price and her father, Bill Carson of Clint, made a trip up into Kansas to a bull sale. The pair left in the wee hours of Saturday morning and returned home last Sunday afternoon.

Walt, Karen and Taylee Rice of Howardwick were guests in the home of Karen's parents last weekend, the Melvin Clintons.

A guest speaker in the First Baptist Church of Turkey last Sunday was Carl Elder. Mr. Elder is a representative of the Church Achievement Plan of Dallas.

Flying to Paragould, Arkansas last Saturday was Clema Johnson. She went to visit her son and wife, the Gary Johnsons. She also wanted to see her new great granddaughter.

Rita and Tracy Guest drove Clema to the Lubbock airport. Close to Floydada they experienced a flat tire. As they were trying to figure out the working of the jack, a young couple stopped to assist the trio. The good samaritans were Colvin and Tish Morrison of Lubbock. They were on their way to visit Colvin's grandmother, Ella Colvin.

After Colvin changed the tire, Rita, Tracy and Clema returned to Floydada where Clema's nephew, Willie Royce Bradshaw, helped them find someone to replace the spare "doughnut" with a new tire. They arrived at the air port in ample time for Clema to make her flight.

KFC Features D.A.R.E. Hotline

This new year, Kentucky Fried Chicken has resolved to create even more awareness and funds for D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education). To accomplish this, the D.A.R.E. logo and toll-free consumer hotline number (800-TALK-KFC-DARE) will appear on KFC packaging over 400 million times throughout 1993.

D.A.R.E. is the nationally-recognized drug abuse prevention program that is taught by specially-trained police officers to elementary school children in over 250,000 classrooms. During the 17-week course, students learn skills that enable them to stay drug and alcohol-free. A sponsor of the D.A.R.E. program since 1988, KFC works to raise funds for and awareness of the D.A.R.E. program nationwide.

The KFC/D.A.R.E. toll-free hotline provides callers with information on D.A.R.E. and other drug-related issues. Over the years, the KFC/D.A.R.E. hotline has featured the voices of several celebrities--Tempestt Bledsoe from "The Cosby Show," Gabrielle Carteris from "Beverly Hills, 90210," and, most recently, superstar Hammer.

"I am a huge supporter of educating children early about the dangers of drugs. Now, with the KFC/D.A.R.E. hotline number on KFC packaging, parents and children alike will have the opportunity to learn about preventing drug abuse before it's too late," Gabrielle Carteris said.

Russ Beeler, Lake Edna KFC restaurant owner, agreed by saying, "D.A.R.E. is a highly successful and broad-reaching program that KFC is very proud to help support. By providing the KFC/D.A.R.E.

hotline number on our packaging, we will remind our customers about the importance of drug abuse education, and in turn, D.A.R.E. will continue to grow nationwide."

Carol Weatherly of Memphis and the Rod Hills of Amarillo were guests in the home of E. L. and Bonnie Hill last week-end.

The Hills returned home last Thursday after an extended stay in Houston where E. L. is receiving treatments at M. D. Anderson Cancer Center. He will return to Houston on February 9 for further treatments. Monday, E. L. wasn't feeling up to par so he went to Amarillo to see his doctor there.

General Daniels entered University Medical Center Hospital last Monday. She is still suffering from extreme pain and hopefully, she will be able to obtain some relief.

Visiting in the home of Mary Beth Adamson this past week-end was her son and family, the Rex Adamsons and children, Ashley and Aaron of Lubbock.

A new subscriber to the Valley Tribune lives in Phoenix, Arizona. He is Roy Eldon Coker whose father was Harrison Coker (brother of Garland and U. F. Coker, Sr.) and his mother was Agnes Degan Coker (sister of Bert and Joe Degan.) It has been many years since Roy called Turkey home.

On one of these warm, sunny days we have had recently, Bob Russell killed a big rattlesnake, a Diamondback. Bob saw the snake crawl out of his hole near his workshop on the old Russell homelace, where the Hills now live.

Get ready for six more weeks of cold winter weather. The groundhog definitely saw his shadow on Tuesday, February 2!

Patriot Men's Basketball

by Patti Whittington

The Valley Patriots won their first two district games playing host to Patton Springs on Tuesday night of last week and Lakeview on Friday night. Both games had 4 Valley players scoring in double figures.

The Tuesday night game ended with a final score of 86-34 after several very physical minutes of action.

Bubba Powell led all scorers with 19 points followed closely by Bradley Price with 18, Josh Scoggins scored 12 points, Donnie Calvert 10, Joe David Valdez 7 and DeWayne Davis scored 6 points. Jason Smith returned to action after missing most of the season with a knee injury and scored 5 points as did Alfie Clardy. Clay Merrell rounded out the scoring with 4 points.

Friday night's win against Lakeview moved the Patriots to 2-0 in district play as they scored 96 points to Lakeview's 31.

Bradley Price had a good night for Valley, scoring 17 points. Josh Scoggins and Donnie Calvert added 16 points each. Other scoring was by Dewayne Davis, 11; Alfie Clardy, 9; Bubba Powell, 8; Jason Smith and Joe David Valdez, 6 each; Danny House, 4; and Clay Merrell, 3 points.

The boys have increased their shooting percentages, reduced their turnovers and are playing good basketball going into the last half of district play.

They travelled to Silverton this past Tuesday night and will play at Patton Springs on Friday night, the 5th.

The Lady Patriots have also won games against Patton Springs and Lakeview and reached the halfway mark in district against Silverton. Unfortunately, their stats were unavailable at press time.

THROUGH THIS NEWSPAPER YOU HOLD THE WORLD IN YOUR HANDS

Whether you hold you newspaper upright or spread it out on the dining room table doesn't matter. The important thing is that you are reading it; and that although it may consist of the most inexpensive grade of paper obtainable, it's value other wise is priceless. You are quite literally looking at the whole world and the day's happenings all over it, fairly and honestly reported. This includes the events of your own community, which could have a direct effect on you and your future. Moreover you are aided in forming your own conclusions about all these occurrences by means of editorial comments and the opposing views of noted columnists, who show you all sides of an issue. You are also aided in your choice of a religious service to attend by a convenient House of Worship directory. All things considered, your newspaper is truly your passport to the world and everything that goes on in it.

The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty.

Going To Work

by Ronda Alexander

This is something most of us must face on a daily basis. However, in order to go to work, we must first get that job. There are several steps one must take in the job-seeking process. The most important step though, is to be prepared.

The first step is to determine what skills you have which qualify you for any available jobs. These skills can include any volunteer experience that you have done, such as working in a concession stand, organizing a committee to help beautify your community or even working in your own garden. Just don't sell yourself short on what you have to offer.

The second step is to begin looking for a job. There are several ways to begin this process, they include word-of-mouth, searching through the newspaper "help-wanted" ads, using an employment agency and contacting the Texas Employment Commission.

The third step is to fill out an application at the available job sources. Keeping pertinent information such as former employers and their addresses, references and their addresses, and any other "special" information needed, will save you time and help you be more prepared for the application process.

The next step is to participate in the job interview. Job interviews can be extremely complicated, if you are not properly prepared. You will need all of your skills for this, including: personal skills, self-esteem, personality, personal hygiene, goals, dress and attitude. Other ways to prepare yourself for this process include knowing your personal strengths, examining the responsibilities required by the job and learning more about the company. A "follow-up" phone call to the company, after your interview is also suggested. This might give you the extra advantage to get that job.

Don't depend on luck alone, to help you get that job. Be as prepared as you can possibly be. Following these suggested steps may mean the difference between the unemployment line and the pay check. Get busy and good luck!

The party is over, and this the day
When the holiday trappings are all put away.
We are happy the old year is over, and yet
We recall with a certain amount of regret
All those firm resolutions we wrote on a list
That included temptations we ought to resist,
And a number of projects we meant to complete;
So our noble ambitions thus met with defeat.
No it's time to look forward and bury the past,
And adopt some reforms we'll adhere to at last.
If we follow our faith and intend to succeed,
Only one resolution is all we will need:
Let us worship the Lord, our infallible Guide,
While aware of the blessings He's sure to provide;
For by knowing His love will forever be near.
There is no better way we can start the new year.

The Difference Between Medicare and Medicaid

by Mary Jane Shanes
You've heard of Medicare. And you've probably heard the term Medicaid. Is there a difference? The answer is yes....and although there also are similarities between the two programs, many people use the two words interchangeably and this can lead to problems.

Both Medicare and Medicaid are government sponsored programs and both help pay medical bills. But there aren't many other similarities after that and the eligibility rules for each are very different.

Medicare is the health insurance program that's tied into the Social Security Program (although it is possible to get Medicare without being on Social Security). Most people know it by the terms Part A and Part B, which refer to what are commonly called the hospital (A) and doctor's (B) parts of Medicare.

Part A is paid for by a portion of the Social Security taxes you pay while working. Part B is paid for by the monthly premiums of those who enroll. You can get Medicare if you're 65 or older or if you've been getting Social Security disability benefits for two years. Some people with permanent kidney disease also qualify for Medicare. People getting Social Security are automatically enrolled in Medicare when they turn 65 or 24 months after they started getting disability benefits. Those not already getting Social Security benefits need to contact the Social Security office before their birthday to sign up for Medicare.

Medicaid is a health care program that's tied into a person's economic circumstances. Generally, you qualify for Medicaid if you have a low income and few assets. For example, most people who get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) usually qualify for Medicaid. Medicaid is financed through general tax revenues-not through Social Security taxes. To apply for Medicaid, you should contact Texas Department of Human Services. Some people qualify for both Medicare and Medicaid. But sometimes, people who have only Medicare confuse Part B of that program with Medicaid coverage. For example, a woman visiting our office recently told me she had "Medicare Part A and Medicaid Part B." I knew she really meant she had both Parts A and B of Medicare, but if she were to tell the same thing to a doctor's billing clerk, it could lead to problems.

One way to tell which program you have is by the identification card you were issued. The Medicare card is white with a red and blue stripe running across the top.

Bone Marrow Transplantation
New treatments may mean new hope for the many people who need bone marrow transplants.

Bone marrow transplantation is a relatively new procedure that offers hope for some patients with terminal cancer.

Research into bone marrow transplantation began at the start of the "Atomic Era," when it was discovered one of the primary effects of radiation injury is the development of bone marrow failure. Bone marrow transplants were also found useful in treating such diseases as leukemia and aplastic anemia.

Up until the mid-1980s, bone marrow transplants were done only when a close relative could donate the marrow. Since then, doctors have developed techniques that let them use closely matched tissue from an unrelated donor for bone marrow transplants.

Some 12,000 allogeneic bone marrow transplants-transplants from a donor that is not a perfect genetic match to the recipient-have taken place to date and they are going on now at a rate of some 2,000 a year. There are more than 420,000 donors registered with the National Bone Marrow Registry and some 40 transplantation centers successfully carry out bone marrow transplants from tissue-matched but unrelated donors.
