STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texans have just a few more days—until April 5—to register to vote in the May 6 primary elections.

Major state candidates, including Gov. Preston Smith, viewed with alarm registration totals so far. They noted that less than 3.8 million had registered as of last weekend, although there are nearly 7.7 million qualified voters in the state.

Present registrations are trailing the corresponding period in 1968 by 294,000 and the 1970 figure by more than 370,000.

In 1968, observed gubernatorial candidate Frances Farenthold, 64% of qualified voters were registered before the primaries. This year only 48% of the potentially-eligible are registered. Former U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough pointed out that 63.4% of those qualified registered in 1970, and the 1972 dropoff is reflected in many "working class" neighborhoods.

Nearly one million more should register by April 5 if previous patterns are followed, Smith said. Under the state's new voter registration system, which candidates Farenthold and Yarborough lauded as one of the nation's best citizens have until 30 days before any election to register and become eligible to vote.

The U. S. Supreme Court threw some confusion over the registration system with a ruling that 12 months' state and six months' local residency requirements for voter eligibility (like those of Texas) are unconstitutional.

ene, and will be presented by the Dorothy In. Civic Entertainment Company.

Kimberly, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Moore, was the talent winner in the contest.

"Any support given by local merchants or clubs to these young ladies will be greatly appreciated in this youth development program," Malone said. "The appearance in parades, fashion shows and other events will develop their poise, confidence, and talents and will be a delight to the community."

The World's Our Little Miss Pageant will be held in Florida August 20-25.

The High Court said 30 days' residency is sufficient for any state. Secretary of State Bob Bullock took the case under study. Special legislative attention may be necessary.

TPA POLLS NORTH AND EAST TEXAS

Editors and publishers were polled at the annual meeting of the North and East Texas Press Associations in Palestine last week.

First question was—"Who will carry your county in the primary?" In the Democratic Governor's race, the newsmen voted: Barnes, 25; Briscoe, 20; Smith, 8; and Farenthold, 3. Republican gubernatorial candidates rated were: Fay, 12; Grover and Reagan, 9 each.

In the Lieutenant Governor's race it was: Hall, 27; Connally, 14; and Hobby, 12.

The editors selected Sanders 28 to 19 over Yarborough in the U. S. Senate primary.

Asked whom they would vote for personally, the tally read: Briscoe, 19; Barnes, 14; Smith, 8; and Farenthold, 5.

They selected Hall, 26, over Hobby, 10, and Connally, 7. In the U. S. Senate primary they voted for Sanders 18 to 7 over Yarborough. In the 1972 General Election poll they voted for Tower 21 to 5 over Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Vaughan of Silverton visited his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Owens, Sunday afternoon. They had driven out to Lake Theo and reported it is looking good with the improvements made since Charles Grantham has taken over management.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Don King and children of Paducah visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Morris, Saturday. The children, Kelly, Kirk and Kristy, spent Saturday night and Sunday with the great-grandparents while their parents attended the Invitational Basketball Tournament in Amarillo.

Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Jarrell Rice and Mrs. Stubby Dossey dyed Easter eggs and hid them for the King children, the Rice children and Lonnie Dossey. They reported a good time. Mr. and Mrs. King came for the children about 11 p.m. Sunday night. They had attended the Roller Derby Sunday afternoon in Amarillo.

Corby Morris of Dimmitt visited his parents a short time Sunday, also. His wife was visiting her parents and a visiting sister in Silverton.

Mrs. Sid Bogan returned home Friday from Central Plains Hospital in Plainview after spending several weeks there. She is enjoying being home, according to reports from her family. Those visiting her from out of town Sunday were Mrs. W. E. Schott, jr., Silverton; Mrs. Roy Neff and baby, McAdoo, and Mrs. David Schott and daughter of Dimmitt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boyles of Plainview were visiting in Quitaque Monday.

Mrs. Olen Lane and Leigh Ann of Van Horn spent the weekend in Turkey. They visited her mother, Mrs. Olive Owens, and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ebbs, in Plainview. Mrs. Owens and Mrs. Ebbs came to Quitaque and Turkey with Mrs. Lane and Leigh Ann Monday. They visited with the Gaston Owens at the Valley Tribune a short time.

Mrs. J. W. Kimbell returned home Saturday from St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock where she had spent 34 days. She went into the hospital for surgery on her knee. After surgery, she got an infection in the knee and she has spent all this time in getting it under control. She says she is feeling better, but she will be confined to her home for two or three months longer. Her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wallace and grandchildren from Lubbock, are spending this week here helping take care of her.

Those visiting in the Kimbell home were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Brunson and children of Kress. Mr. and Mrs. David Setliff and boys and Mr. and Mrs. James Lynn Kimbell and children, Quitaque.

CONTRACTING COTTON

by Charles K. Baker
Extension Economist

Texas Agricultural Extension Ser.
Texas A&M University

To contract or not to contract? This is the question with Texas cotton producers at this time. Short supply and higher than usual prices have led to the popularity of forward contracting in 1971 and 1972.

Cotton producers traditionally have sold in the spot market. The options of forward selling and selling in the futures market have been less popular.

Some evidence of importance of forward contracts is the increase from 11% of the U. S. Department of Agriculture early contracting of the 1972 crop was 31% of the anticipated crop. The percentage is expected to increase sharply as planting season arrives. Contracting has been wide spread in the Texas Rio Grande Valley, during the first quarter of 1972.

The advantages of forward contracting are simply stated, assured supply of quality needed by the buyer at time of harvest and a "locked in" price to the grower against which he can make farm management decisions.

Since buyers and growers are relatively inexperienced in this marketing option they should give careful consideration to certain questions in order to avoid possible pitfalls.

The first question facing both buyer and seller is the domestic and foreign supply and demand situation for the foreseeable future. Adequate supply of acceptable quality will influence the buyer's action in covering fiber needs. Anticipated price movement as a result of supply and demand coupled with the growers ability to accept risk will influence his consideration of forward contracts.

The cotton producer should ask himself the following questions before he contracts his crop:

What does it cost me to produce, harvest, and gin cotton? What quality can I reasonably expect to harvest this year? What are the terms of the contract regarding quality factors such as carity, grade, staple, "mike," and "below grades"? What about other contract terms such as date of harvest, cut-off date and mutual performance bonds or escrow accounts?

Contracts are only as good as the people who make them, and no contract could be written which would give complete protection from an unscrupulous party. If the grower or buyer lacks personal knowledge of the reputation and financial standing of the other party, banks or persons with whom he has dealt can often provide information.

A Tribute To Mrs. J. W. Harlan

She was only 91 but oddly enough, two men of letters seemed to know her back in the early years of the 18th century because they wrote of her. John Keats had a line that said "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and Thoreau came along a little later and wrote that "Goodness is the only investment that never fails."

She would have put it much simpler. Her life revolved around the four simple words of faith, family, friends and food. Out of the four came a simple goodness that radiated beauty and warmth and many were the ones who drew near to nurture at the fountain of her warmth, strength, courage and goodness.

Her faith was childlike in its simplicity yet it provided her gentle being with tempered steel in times of depression, wars, tragedy, poverty, grief, sickness, frustration, death, and an all encompassing, seemingly endless bone-weariness.

Her faith in God was a daily, practical, down-to-earth relationship that taught kindness and tolerance long before it became politically fashionable. Her faith permitted her to view all, saint and sinner alike, as God's children and bid them welcome to her table.

She was born of the soil, toiled on its bosom, and until her last breath, secretly longed for the simple pleasures to be found in a garden in the back. Blessed be the Tie That Binds had to be written to describe her relationship with her family. And she never tried to separate faith from family—it was one and the same thing. Dante probably said it best when he wrote in Canto III "So wide arms hath goodness infinite, that it receives all who turn to it," and her happiest hours were those when family was under the roof, filling every nook and cranny of the house, and food was on the table. She showered them all with love, kindness, understanding and a full stomach.

Being of and from the soil, she knew the value of friends and the treasure they provided. As with all true friends, she suffered with them through their frailties and weaknesses and experienced genuine rejoicing over their triumphs and victories.

But if faith was her guiding star, family her mission, and friends her occupation, food was the fuel she used to stir it all together into the good life. She set a good table.

A cook of the old school, she was a past marvel at taking a dab of this, a touch of that, and whipping up a meal that would send friend and family from the table reeling with gorged satisfaction. During those long depression years when she and poverty were on intimate daily terms, she could take lamb's quarter from the roadside ditch, a pot of beans, old Jersey's milk and butter, a smidgen of
