Just

'Round About As we walked up and down the street * * * The walking was more like slipping and sliding than anything else. Sleet, pure and white and deep, leveled the sidewalk with the street. Cars and trucks stalled in the middle of the street. It was the most severe cold weather Baird has seen in many a winter * * * Will Boydstun filled a water bucket with sleet and when it melted on his wood stove at the rear of his store, the bucket was three-fourths full of water. This gives us an idea as to the amount of moisture the land has received through all of the cold waves of the past month ' Ranchmen are all smiles, although feeding of livestock continues * * * Farmers predict bumper crop of grasshoppers this spring, and are getting ready to exterminate them at the proper time * * Crowds were weathering the cold blast to attend the showing of the new Chevrolet at Ray Motor Company and they report the largest attendance in many past years * * * Ray Black hailed up to report a successful day when he held the formal opening of the new Black's Food Store last Saturday. Everything was cheap in the store on that big day except standing room. Bob Warren was cutting up in the meat department like a colt in a new stall. Judge Bob Black was meeting friends . . . Over at the bank Bob Norrell and Howard patronage. Farmer were discussing the new service of money orders now available. Forks can really save by using these bank money orders rather than using the regular money orders issued at the post office * * * Les Bryant is looking for the arrival of the new 1949 Pontiac. The new car will be shown at his show room next week as soon as the new car arrives * * * We listened to Will Boydstun tell about the cold weather that hit this section back in 1894. C. C. Seale removed the wheels from his buggy and put on sleigh runners which enabled him to come to town over the snow-clad roads. Otis Bowyer strapped on his ice skates and played around on the railroad lake near town, which candelabra. The only other lighthad been frozen over for three weeks. Mr. Boydtsun, Jim Gray, lighted Christmas tree. Otis Bowyer and some of the other boys made a sleigh out of a wagon and had a lot of fun sliding around town * * * Freezing weather, such as we have had during the past month, does not come to this section often, but when it comes it really does it up in real winter fashion. Some of the old timers tell that these conditions usually are followed by several years of prosperity for the farmers and ranchers * * Severe weather conditions are still giving public utilities considerable trouble. Telephone lines are down all around us. High tension electric lines have been broken by heavy ice and service has been cut off causing quite a lot of hardship * * * The city crowd has been feeling pretty good over the fact that Municipal Light Plant has been able to render unbroken service through all this severe weather. The fellows at the plant were reporting that one of the 3-phase lines that serves the refinery was broken, with one end in a lake of water and the THIRD HIGH IN DISTRICT other 100 feet away hanging on a barbed wire fence. The wire had been broken for two days before it was discovered. Conley plant superintendent, called Eldon Dunlap, superintendent at the refinery, to learn that the refinery was operating as usual. Pruitt scratched his head and said, "It's impossible, but it happened." The wire was spliced back together and the city juice is still feeding the big motors that operate the re-finery * * Just because the local plant is able to render unbroken service through these winter days and nights is not to be used as a "good joke" on the utilities companies that have suffered tremendously in their effort to give service, neither should their customers be laughed at. It is simply not a laughing matter. There is an old adage that says "He who laughs last, laughs best." Although it is more reasonable to believe the

HUMBLE TO BROADCAST "STOP THE MUSIC" SHOW

A popular favorite returns to the airwaves on January 31st, when the 1949 edition of "Stop The Music" gets under way, featuring Kern Tips, well-known commentator and sportscaster. The program, sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, will be heard each Mon-day, Wednesday and Friday morning at 7:15 a. m. over a 15-station network.

Tips, who is perhaps best known as ace announcer of the Humble Company's regular fall Southwest Conference football broadcasts, acts as commentator extraordinary on "Stop The Music." In this role he culls the interesting and unusual sidelight of the news that is bypassed by ordinary newscasters and weaves them into a unique program of exceptional interest to a wide audience. As its title implies, music of the easy-to-listen-to variety forms the background for Tips' tips on the extras in the news.

"Stop The Music" will be heard over the following sta- Miss Bulah Johnson.
