Skies Clearing Up Again After Dust Storm

FEDERAL FUND PROMISED FOR SOIL CONTROL

DALLAS, April 12.—Texans washed behind their ears today and saw skies again after a dust storm which blanketed the state from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande yesterday. The storm was believed to have wrought damage amounting to millions.
Only in south and west Texas did the finely pulverized top soil borne by the winds remain in the air.
Panhandle residents were cheered by telegrams from Congressman Marvin James and Carl Hanson, Annapolis Chamber of Commerce secretary now in Washington, informing them the federal government was releasing $500,000 for soil erosion control in the panhandle.

STORM DISAPPEARS IN MIDWEST AREA

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—Thinking as it spread, the dust blanket was rapidly disappearing today from the middle and southwest.
It appeared possible that the soil in the drifted areas of West Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, where all the dust storms have originated, might remain quiet for a while.
There was a chance, however, that a chill north wind sweeping across the Dakotas and Nebraska into northwest and central Kansas might develop sufficient velocity to send the dust soaring again.
At Gordon City the sky became visible for the first time in four days.

$750,000 TO BE USED FOR EROSION CONTROL

AUSTIN, April 12.—FERA today put $750,000 in the war chest to stop blowing land in west Texas and the Panhandle, Gov. James Allred's office announced.
The fund will be available immediately at the rate of 10 cents per acre in an anti-erosion program. Labor will be furnished from relief rolls. The project will be supervised by Texas A. and M. college and the state relief commission will have charge of expenditures.

DUST CUTS TEXAS WHEAT CROP FOR YEAR

AUSTIN, April 12.—High winds and drifting sand, lack of rainfall, and out of season breezes combined today to make the outlook of the Texas 1935 wheat crop only a part of the normal crop.
Less than one-third the 25,749,000 bushel crop of 1934 was in prospect April 1, the federal bureau of economics reported.
A 7,872,000 bushel yield in Texas, 41 per cent of the average crop, was indicated.

Allred Utility Plan Wins First Battle

AUSTIN, April 12.—Governor Allred's utility regulation plan won its first skirmish as the utility battle opened in the house of representatives today.
Speaker Coke Stevenson overruled an eight-page point of order against the utility bill, Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi had introduced it. He consented that the substitute could not legally be considered unless the original were printed and given to members for consideration. All his objections were overruled.
The bill sets up a state commission with statewide power to regulate utilities.

First Erosion Cane Seed Is Received

TEMPLE, April 12.—The first consignment of red top cane seed has been received by soil erosion service officials here to be distributed to farmers.
The cane is drought-resistant and will anchor the top soil against erosion by the wind.

Texan's Radio Gets All Five Continents

KERRVILLE, April 12.—Eugene T. Butt, amateur radio operator, attained the five-continent goal sought by every radio operator.
He recently talked with Port Elizabeth, South Africa, near the Cape of Good Hope. It was 10 p. m. here and 6 a. m. the next day in Africa.

Foundling May Win $30,000

Life is a $30,000 gamble for this foundling baby abandoned in a New York rooming house by his mother. Besides his swaddling clothes, his sole possession was a sweepstake lottery ticket, worth $30,000 if drawn on the winning horse in a race to be run May 8.

Today Is Deadline For Certifying Of Major League Softball Rosters

Today is the deadline for the certifying of teams for the softball major league. Rex Page, league committee chairman, requested that the names of all players be submitted not later than this afternoon.
At present, he said, it appears that there will be only six clubs in the league. One has indicated that it might withdraw from the original list of seven.
A schedule is being worked up by the league committee and will be published in Sunday morning's issue of the Daily News, along with rosters of the various clubs.
Only two fields will be used for major league play, it was indicated by the committee chairman today. These are the Randolph college and the Chesley Park diamonds, which will be in shape for play next week.
The season opens officially Monday, Page announced. A tentative schedule has been worked out. This is subject to revision if all seven clubs enter the league.
It calls for games to be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week. Each club will play each other only twice during the first half of the season.
The season will be divided, it was announced at a meeting held some time ago. The first half will be played in the afternoons, all games beginning at 6 o'clock. Later on, however, night play will start, with teams running off their schedules under the floodlights. Reasons given for the afternoon play for the early season games were that the lighted field is not quite ready for use and that night play would interfere with school work.

STUDENTS OF NATION STAGE PEACE STRIKE

CHICAGO, April 12.—Stench bombs, rotten eggs, and rocks were thrown today when the student body at the University of Chicago participated in an anti-war demonstration.
Police quelled the disturbance with night sticks. Rioting started when the strikers and patriotic organizations clashed.
By United Press
A student "strike" against war drew many thousands of students from their classes for one hour today with youthful leaders in charge of a participation of 150,000 in demonstrations throughout the nation.
A cold, drizzling rain in the New York area and other eastern sections forced many indoors. Police guards were provided for many of the mass meetings where there were threats of violence from opponents of the pacifist strikers.
At Columbia university leaders faced an estimated 4,000 students. New York college and school students participating were estimated close to 30,000.
In Texas, the University of Texas and Texas Christian university staged quiet "strikes". There were no oratorical demonstrations and no violence was reported.

Temple Passes Law On Littering City

TEMPLE, April 12.—City fathers were not fooling when they passed an ordinance against littering the streets of this town.
Anyone distributing hand bills, circulars, or discarding waste paper or orange peelings in the streets is subject to a fine not exceeding $100.

Mrs. Reynolds Dies

MEN SOUGHT AS CCC CAMP DRIVE OPENS

Relief headquarters at Eastland today sent out a call for young men for the Civilian Conservation Corps, it was announced today.
The announcement was made following a telephone conversation between the county relief office at Eastland and the local officer here.
Applications of Cisco youths will be taken today and Saturday, it was announced. Those accepted will not leave, however, before April 20.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Roosevelt today was informed that 300,000 more young men can be given outdoor jobs in the Civilian Conservation Corps within probably 50 days as one of the work relief moves.

Mr. Roosevelt devoted most of his time to personal direction of the $4,880,000,000 employment program CCC will be the first swing into action.
He discussed the CCC expansion program with Director Robert Fechner. Fechner said he believed the CCC could be expanded from 300,000 to 600,000 within 60 days. The army will build the necessary 4,500 camps throughout the nation.

Ralph Fults Holds Farm Boy Prisoner

McKINNEY, April 12.—Sheriff G. S. Walker said today that Ralph Fults, former Texas convict, until recently the partner in crime of Raymond Hamilton, kidnaped Cecil Howell, 21, farm youth, early today, and held him prisoner in his own car until noon.
The youth was released east of McKinney when Fults stole a new V-8 car.
Howell said Fults told him he was getting desperate and would never surrender alive.
He said Fults admitted he was with Raymond Hamilton when the latter robbed a bank in Prentiss, Miss., and disarmed a posse of 15 men pursuing them.

Silver Boost Halts Action By Senators

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Roosevelt's six-cent boost in domestic silver to slightly more than 71 cents an ounce was timed by luck or design to checkmate the senate silver bloc which wants to freeze silver to gold at the Bryan ration of 16 to one.
The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt and congress are playing their annual game of currency hide and seek. The game began two years ago when the president decided to save himself trouble by accepting the Thomas currency inflation bill which was passed as a rider to an agriculture measure.

Ranch Woman Draws Hand of 13 Spades

KERRVILLE, April 12.—Texas ranchers can play bridge as well as cattle.

KINGFISH AND DUST PLAIN REPRESENTED IN SCHOOL

Young Kingfish from Louisiana, mountaineers from Tennessee, and dust-fighting westerners from Kansas—they all come to Texas for an education.
A checkup over the Cisco school records this morning showed that there are 245 pupils attending the public schools here for the first time this year. This number, it was pointed out by Supt. R. N. Cluck in commenting on the enrollment, does not take into consideration the number of pupils who have come to Cisco from smaller school districts in the county this year for high school purposes. This extra group, he said would amount to 60 or 70 more.
The pupils in the group of 245 represent 14 states and 32 other school districts in Texas.
Following are the names of the states represented: Missouri, New Mexico, California, Colorado, Arizona, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Kansas, Tennessee, and Texas.
School districts of Texas, besides Cisco, represented in the school are the following: Stephens county, Dallas county, Stonewall county, Douthan, Sylvester, Abilene, Breckinridge, Brownwood, Central, Corpus Christi, Farwell, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Roscoe, Stacy, Texas City, Wink, Woodson, Palestine, Dallas, Robstown, Eastland, Pioneer, Ranger, Bullard, Nimrod, Morton Valley, Putnam, Cook, Ira, Winters, Hamlin, Deedemona, Champion (Nolan county), Liberty Hill, (Williamson county), Scranton, Wellington, Moran, Gladewater, Carbon.
Mineral Wells, Claude, Ballinger, Grapevine, Parks, Roaring Springs, Sweetwater, Romney, Slay (Ellis county), Harpersville, Comroe, Bremond, Reich, Cross Plains, Waco, Overton, Bluff Branch, Water Valley, Strawn, Odessa, Anton, Cottonwood, Union, (Jones county), Longview, Vernon.
Houston, Haskell, De Leon, Palestine, Colony, Lampasas, Bedford, Pleasant Hill, Shady Grove, Graham, Sandy, Friendship, Word, Dan Horn, Union (Callahan county), Rising Star.

$435,000 Dollhouse Starts Tour

Starting its world tour, funds from which will benefit crippled children everywhere, Colleen Moore's $435,000 dollhouse, a miniature fairytale castle, is shown here in New York after its dedication. A golden cornerstone was placed in the tiny edifice of Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the president, seen in the center of the group which includes, to the right Miss Moore and former Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Five hundred women are expected to attend the W. M. U. district convention of the Baptist church here Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, it was said by church leaders today. The estimate was based upon attendance at past conventions.
This will be the 27th annual meeting of district 17 of the organization, it was said.
The session will open Tuesday morning with Mrs. R. M. White, president, presiding. The opening devotional will be led by Mrs. W. Y. Pond of Breckinridge. Mrs. E. S. James of Cisco will greet the guests and the response to the welcome will be by Mrs. J. O. Bowden of Munday.
The First Baptist church, where the convention is to be held, has sent a welcome to the group, through the pastor, Rev. E. S. James, in the West Texas Baptist.

HARRY HINES FOLLOWS ELY AS ROAD HEAD

AUSTIN, April 12.—Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, oil operator, today was named chairman of the state highway commission by Gov. James Allred, succeeding Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene.
Hines will take office immediately on confirmation of his appointment by the senate.
Commissioners John Wood of Austin and H. K. Martin of San Antonio have scheduled a session April 19 to open bids on highway work estimated to cost $1,680,000.
Commissioner Ely was an appointee of former Gov. Dan Moody and is the oldest highway commissioner in point of service.
"It will be a pleasure to have a part in the work of further perfecting one of the finest systems of highways in this nation," Hines said.

Ickes Says Section 7-A Was Violated

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Oil Administrator Harold Ickes today said that the American Petroleum company of Houston had violated Section 7 A of the NIRA by refusing to bargain collectively in its refinery plant at Norworthy.
The firm, Ickes said, had not recognized the International Association of Refinery Workers of America, although a majority of its 161 employees had chosen the union.
Unless the company notifies within 20 days that it has recognized the union, the case, he said, will be transferred to the department of justice for prosecution.

Charges Filed As 14 Killed In Bus

The manslaughter charge was apprehended for questioning in the accident last night near here. Line was held in jail in lieu of $1,000 bail. Police said he was suffering so badly from shock that they had been unable to obtain little information from him.

SECRET ARMS REPORT SEEN AT MEETING

BULLETIN
STRESA, Italy, April 12.—Germany has informed the three-power Stresa conference that it is willing to enter an Eastern European pact of non-aggression, it was announced officially here today.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)
STRESA, Italy, April 12.—France brought into the allied security conference today a long secret army report on secret German armaments and demanded prompt severe punishment of future violations of the World War treaty.
Backed by Italy, France seeks action to curb Germany and prevent German and other vanquished nations from following her example.

Her first memorandum to the League of Nations council already, toned down so that Germany was not denounced individually for past violation, France wants definite automatic immediate penalties for future violations.
Arrangement Report
She took into the conference today her revised draft. With it Premier Pierre Laval and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval also took the army report on secret German armaments that there was such a report has been known for some time. It has been a magnet for hordes of spies all over Europe and the object interest of military experts.
Bit by bit it had been sent to the French general army staff by intelligence agents as Germany's secret armament proceeded—as factory after factory went on to work as a military air force matching Great Britain's came into being.

AMERICAN FREED OF ESPIONAGE CHARGE

BERLIN, April 12.—Richard Roiderer, naturalized American who has been held in a Nazi prison for 10 months on a charge of espionage, was acquitted today in the people's court.
The American defendant burst into convulsive sobs as the verdict was announced. He wrung his hands and his shoulders shook. He had been highly nervous throughout the trial. The state will pay the costs of the trial.

Chinese Attacked With Meat Cleaver

HOUSTON, April 12.—An aged Chinese groceryman, victim of an attack with a meat cleaver, today was near death in a hospital.
Yuem Lim, 60, was found unconscious by George Lim, 30, clerk, when the latter returned to work. A bloody cleaver was beside him. Officers believed the attacker walked in hiding behind a pile of boxes until Yuem Lim, who slept in the store, retired. Robbery was believed the motive. The owner of the store reported $160 missing.

WORK RELIEF MONEY TO GO TO BIG CITIES

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Major cities will receive the bulk of the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation, high administration officials said today.
More than half the $20,500,000 on relief rolls are crowded into metropolitan sections. President Roosevelt reemployment projects would be financed to local need.
"A great deal of the money will go to the big cities. Right now half the direct relief expenditure of FERA is being spent in eight industrial states," Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins said.
Hopkins pointed out that while congress earmarked a major portion of the work relief appropriation for rural projects, it gave the president a $976,000,000 leeway in spending the money.

Baldwin Finds Optimism in West Texas

Frank Baldwin of the Waco News-Tribune is a former lawmaker. He accompanied 100 Waco business men on a trip through the western section of the commonwealth. These Waco trippers covered many counties. They were entertained by and they interviewed the leading citizens of the territory covered. This was the verdict returned by Baldwin: "A tour which found West Texans 100 per cent more optimistic about everything than they were a year ago; and believe the Waco boosters when they were quoted on the fact that 100 per cent increases in West Texas enthusiasm is a lot of enthusiasm." Well, the optimistic Baldwin made the cheering discovery that "the depression is passing, the crops are better," the people are happier. They are facing the future with cheery smiles instead of dismal frowns. They believe in their country. They believe in their president. They believe in their commonwealth. They look for genuine, honest-to-God prosperity in country and town when the harvests come in the fall.

"Tis well. Fear is the curse of humanity. Cowardice flouts a yellow flag but red blooded men and women believe in the glories of the starry banner and have faith in themselves and their fellows "as in the days of yore."

Cisco, along with other towns on the Katy, were glad, indeed, to welcome these boosters and have them look us over and learn more about our natural resources, our possibilities, our hopes and ambitions.

The railroads mean much to Cisco and Cisco can and may mean much to the railroads that traverse our territory. Much may be gained by a closer acquaintance with each other. We say, Welcome Boosters.

Roosevelt Will Plan Relief Work

President Roosevelt is at his desk again. He is in direct charge again. He is as full of courage and as full of hope as ever. He believes in himself. He believes in the American people. He believes that the people should rule. He believes at all times in the perpetuity of American institutions and ever the flag of constitutional democracy. He is in harness. He will supervise the task of putting 7,000,000 unemployed Americans to work. He has announced a dozen or more conferences before deciding the set-ups under which $4,000,000,000 will be spent to try to do it.

He is unafraid.
He is the captain of the ship.
His patriotism has never been questioned.
His integrity has never been doubted.
His loyalty has never been impugned.

There are many huge projects of a building nature which concern Texas and Texans. There is the natural gas pipeline bill, with a promise that construction will take place and the natural fuel wealth shall find markets in the cities of the West and the Northwest. There are rivers to harness, reservoirs to be built, basins planned to hold the flood waters. These are mighty projects in themselves. Soil erosion control is on the way. More than $150,000,000 of federal aid may be utilized in this work of rebuilding the once fertile farm lands of America.

Financial aid has been given to the livestock industry; to the railroads with depleted treasury; to workers without employment; to the women and children who would have starved had it not been for the succor given by the most generous people representing the most generous government time has known.

Man has a mission.
It is to do his best for those dependent upon him and his commonwealth and his country. All the vast projects which have come to pass since F. D. R. assumed the helm as the captain of the ship have been directed to lift up and save those who needed saving; to provide employment for the millions who are without work; to make it possible for a return of a stable prosperity which existed in other days before the coming of the World War and the most profligate and costly gambling era any nation has ever known.

There is work for the builders and the planners.
They should be on the firing line at all times. There should be work for the toilers who are willing to work and earn with their hands and their brain the wage which is necessary to support a high order of civilization, education for all the children of all the people, homes fit to live in and a country that for more than 150 years has been the freest and fairest and most progressive that all the civilization have known.

Like Frogs In The Well

Economic recovery in the United States is evidently progressing in a series of waves. The hollows between the crests represent retrogressions from temporary high points; but they also represent slow but definite advances over the extreme low of the winter of 1932-33.

Just now, business is in its third New Deal slump.
One business advance began with President Roosevelt's inauguration in the spring of 1933, and collapsed in July of that year. The next began in November, 1933, and lasted six months, to be followed by another decline. Last September a third advance began; and now it, too, is shading off.

The encouraging point, however, is that each decline seems to be less precipitous than those before. The federal reserve index of industrial production stood at 59 in the spring of 1933. At the start of last September's advance, it was 71; today, we find that the average for the first eight months of the current fiscal year is 79.

All this may be rather cold comfort. But it does reveal a slow, steady progress toward economic health.

Getting The Group Picture

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, April 12. — Quibbling criticisms by lawyers for gas monopolies that the state pipeline project, opening a market for Texas gas owners at treble the price paid by the monopolists, giving the state four times as much revenue from the one project alone as paid by the five gas pipeline exporters from the Panhandle altogether creating work in five states for thousands of men, that it was "unconstitutional" for the state to engage in an enterprise of this sort asked the legislature in effect to take sides in favor of the monopoly and exploitation as it exists now and against this remedy. They ask the legislature to endorse the taunt of the monopolists' lawyers that they are beyond the reach of Texas taxation, engaged in the sacred business of interstate commerce, and that they, and they alone, shall drain the property of Texas citizens, that they shall pay two cents a thousand for the gas and sell it for 75 cents a thousand.

They ask the legislature to consider as something sinister the efforts of public-spirited officials to do something that gives the state some share in this Texas resource, that gives the treasury some relief from the failure to collect taxes on the monopoly exports, that gives work to thousands of Texans.

The legislature has worked hard to remedy known injustices in the exploitation of Texas natural gas. The monopolists went to the wrong source when they asked this legislature to protect them in a continuation of the huge profits and escape from any reasonable taxation.

It will begin its work after dozens of desirable proposals, such as the Brazos river development, and other conservation, irrigation and power projects, have already been carried far toward final action.

The board is hedged lightly in the law against adverse reports without notice on existing projects, but will be governed only by the disposition of its members against putting Texas in competition with itself by broaching new projects in excess of the total the state can have, and thus subjecting those already matured to possible backset. The board will need to give attentive thought to those undertakings already developed.

Federal bureaucracy is a fearful thing, according to Karl Crowley, Fort Worth democrat who is solicitor for the post office department. Mr. Crowley is a warm advocate of old-line states rights democracy and though he is serving as an important member of the New Deal, he looks forward to a time when all those emergency federal bureaus may be disbanded, and control of local matters be restored to the local communities and the states. That was the gist of a talk he made at a dinner given in his honor in Austin by Chm. Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission, and attended by Gov. James V. Allred

—two officials who next week will be in Washington to protest against federal encroachments in the control of the business of oil production in Texas.

The prosaic session this week of the Texas highway commission with Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene in his accustomed seat, gave a hint that Ely may stay on for quite a while, though his term expired two months ago.

His eight years' unbroken service on the commission, and his best knowledge of anyone save the highway engineers, of Texas road needs and hopes and plans.

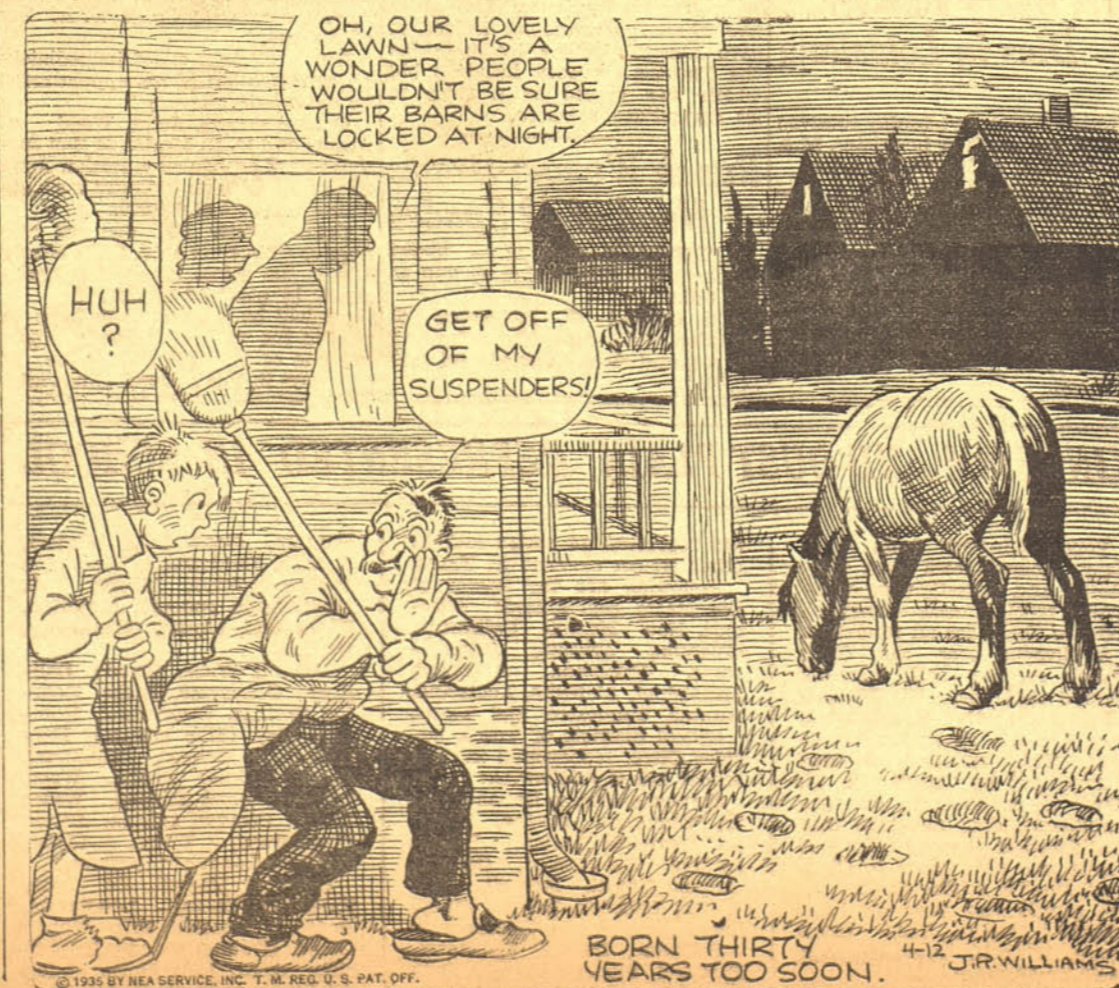

So far as he had anything to do as a citizen with politics last year he was consulted by and gave counsel to the Allred campaign organization which was followed by that group.

Though he is serving on from day to day past his term, Ely apparently is giving the same painstaking, consistent attention to the work of the highway commission as during past years.

WOOD HIDES SHED
LYMAN, Me. — George Moulton never has seen the inside walls of his wood shed, in which wood more than 100 years old is stored. George's grandfather, Jefferson, built the shed and filled it with about 50 cords. George's father kept it filled after the grandfather died. Now, George is the present one to replenish it. The original wood never has been removed from the walls.

DISMISSES GUESTS
BERGEN, Norway — Guests at old-fashioned Norwegian weddings, often celebrated for a week, have to receive more than a hint to send them home. When the hostess wishes them to leave, she stops preparing meals. Even this measure is not effective sometimes, for the guests will bind the cook until they are promised just one more dinner.

OUT OUR WAY

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON & WAITE
Shawnee Okla.

The most effective support for a city is organized support.
The difference between success and failure in making a better city and in making better business is the difference between organization on one hand and lack of it on the other.
Too often business men do not understand and appreciate the value of organized cooperation.
Cities that want to keep their proper place in the March of Progress and Development must keep awake.
Home city boosters always have the same object in view, and that is making the home city a better bigger brighter and busier city.
When home city boosters have the support of the entire citizenship there is little question about the growth of the city. The only question could be, "how fast will it grow?"

Paris Seeks Lamp Posts of Concrete

PARIS, April 12. — The mortality rate of lamp posts here is mounting. Since motoring became general they have proved unequal to the struggle.
In 12 months, 400 lamp posts and 502 electric "candles" rd signals erected as warnings to drivers and as protection for pedestrians, have been knocked over. Consequently the council is rather tired of replacing them.
It probably is for this reason that artists are being asked to take part in a competition for the best "candle" made of concrete. The use of concrete in the place of cast iron would put a stop to the game which at present goes on nearly every day. It also would save the city a good deal of expense.

The DARK BLOND

By CARLETON KENDRAKE © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MILICENT GRABES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMSDOLL, finds her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunette, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets HAPP's son, NORMAN, his stepson, ROBERT CALISE, MISS HAPP, and VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. Happ's maid.
That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The somnolent sees the woman, tries to follow, but loses her. Millicent returns to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound."
Next morning SERGEANT MAHONEY takes charge of the case. Fingerprints are found on the whiskey bottle in the chauffeur's room. By means of a trick SERGEANT MAHONEY secures Millicent's fingerprints.

"You entered his room?"
"You have tricked me," Millicent said, fighting back a desire to burst into tears. "I am not going to answer another one of your questions."
"You'll be called to sooner or later. You'll be called before the coroner's jury and perhaps the grand jury."
"I'll have an attorney to represent me, then," Millicent said with a show of courage she did not feel.
Sergeant Mahoney lit a cigarette.
"I don't think you did it," he told her. "I wish you'd come clean with me. It would simplify things enormously. If you don't tell me the whole truth, things are going to go hard with you. If you do, there's a chance I can save you."
"I'm telling you nothing," Millicent said.
"Who were you following?"
She ignored his question.
Sergeant Mahoney took a notebook from his pocket.
"Well, anyway," he said, "we'll get the license number of that automobile you were following. What did you say it was—943201?"
She started to correct him and give him the right number, then changed her mind and clamped her lips tightly together.
Sergeant Mahoney started to say something else, but was interrupted, as ruffling feet sounded in the corridor. The door of Millicent's room banged open without a preliminary knock, and Detective Buchanan, his face flushed with anger and mortification, stood in the doorway.
"My God," he said, "that flask . . . !"
Sergeant Mahoney made a quick motion. He raised his hand, palm outward, but Detective Buchanan failed to interpret the gesture.
"That flask," Buchanan said, "it's been smashed into a million pieces. Someone around it into powder with a bronze book-end."

spring lock on the door. I pulled it shut and the lock clicked into position. The key was in my pocket."
"Keys to that study," Sergeant Mahoney said slowly, "are in the possession of virtually everyone in this house, with the exception of Miss Grabes. That is, almost every one of the servants can get into the study if they want to nady enough. A key is accessible to them."
"If we'll hurry," Detective Buchanan said, "we can make inquiries immediately."
Sergeant Mahoney walked slowly toward the door, opened it, peered at one side for Buchanan to leave the room, then turned and stared steadily at Millicent.
"You understand, Miss Grabes," he said, "that you're under a grave cloud of suspicion. Under no circumstances are you to attempt to leave this house without my permission."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI
DETECTIVE ANAN, observ- ing what had happened, stepped forward and said "Make her roll her fingers over the pad."
Sergeant Mahoney shook his head, stared at the ink imprints on the pad of paper. "These," he said, "are sufficient. That's the type of print you'd find on a flask. You wouldn't find a rolled print on a glass bottle."
Millicent, having jerked her hand free, regarded the inked tips of her fingers indignantly. Then she glanced, with something of panic in her eyes, over to the pad of white paper which Sergeant Mahoney was holding. She saw that the tips of her fingers had left very legible prints on the specially prepared paper.
"Would you," asked Sergeant Mahoney, "mind giving us your rolled fingerprints, Miss Grabes? That is, take your fingers one at a time, roll them over the inked pad, and then roll them over the paper."
"I most certainly will not give them to you," Millicent said. "You tricked me. You've got no right to take my fingerprints, as though I were some common criminal."
"We're investigating a crime," Sergeant Mahoney told her "and we'd like to have the fingerprints of everyone on the premises."
"I don't care what you're doing," she said.
Mahoney nodded meaningly to Detective Buchanan. "We could hold her on suspicion and take them when we . . ."
"No," Sergeant Mahoney interrupted. "I think you'll find we've got sufficient for what we need. Take these prints with you, Buchanan. Go into the study and check the fingerprints with the ones on the bottle. I think probably you'll find you won't have to search any farther."
Buchanan nodded, took the sheet of paper containing Millicent's fingerprints, and almost ran through the door.
Sergeant Mahoney stared across at Millicent and said accusingly "Why didn't you tell me you were in Harry Felding's room?"
Millicent sat silent.

"Who were you following?"
She ignored his question.
Sergeant Mahoney took a notebook from his pocket.
"Well, anyway," he said, "we'll get the license number of that automobile you were following. What did you say it was—943201?"
She started to correct him and give him the right number, then changed her mind and clamped her lips tightly together.
Sergeant Mahoney started to say something else, but was interrupted, as ruffling feet sounded in the corridor. The door of Millicent's room banged open without a preliminary knock, and Detective Buchanan, his face flushed with anger and mortification, stood in the doorway.
"My God," he said, "that flask . . . !"
Sergeant Mahoney made a quick motion. He raised his hand, palm outward, but Detective Buchanan failed to interpret the gesture.
"That flask," Buchanan said, "it's been smashed into a million pieces. Someone around it into powder with a bronze book-end."

HE pulled the door shut behind him with the ominous finality of one who clangs the door of a cell upon an unfortunate prisoner.
Millicent got to her feet, her heart pounding. She stared at the door through which the men had gone.
So someone had smashed that tell-tale whiskey flask! Her fingerprints were stamped on it. Now they could never be identified. If she kept her head, it could never be proven that she had been in Harry Felding's room . . . except for that handkerchief. She must do something about that handkerchief.
Suddenly she realized that if she told Mr. Hupp frankly that she had tried to follow the woman in the black ermine coat he would understand. In fact, Millicent realized that she only needed to tell the entire truth, up to the time she returned to the house and sat in that wicker chair on the front porch. She could tell Jarvis Hupp that she had used the borrowed front door key just as soon as she returned to the house. Hupp would believe her.
She regarded her ink-stained fingers, stepped into her bathroom to wash the ink stains from her hands. The ink came off readily enough with the aid of soap and a scrubbing brush. She dried her hands, surveyed herself in the mirror, made up her mind that she would go directly to Mr. Hupp and explain to him just why she had borrowed Bob Calise's automobile.
She stepped from her bathroom, opened the door to her room, and suddenly recoiled.
A masked man, wearing an overcoat with the collar turned up around his neck, was ransacking the drawers of her dresser. He heard the sound of the door from the bathroom opening and swung around to face Millicent. She could see his eyes gleaming through the holes in the mask.
Millicent gave a half-stifled scream.
The masked figure extended his hands as though about to throttle her and slowly advanced, teeth bared, eyes glittering.
"If you scream," he announced in a hoarse voice, "I'll kill you. If you don't . . ."
He broke off and chuckled meaningly.
That chuckle told Millicent more than words.
(To Be Continued)

MARONEY went on, thoughtfully.
"You were trying to shadow someone last night. That means, of course, that someone else was out. That someone might have been the one who committed the murder. were it not for the incriminating evidence which now indicates that you went to Harry Felding's room."
Millicent continued to say nothing.
"Was Harry Felding there when

SERGEANT MAHONEY sighed, shrugged his shoulders, and said very softly, "When you get to be a better detective, Buchanan, you will know better than to leave valuable bits of evidence around where suspects can get hold of them. You'll also know better than to tell other suspects when that evidence has been destroyed. If you'd had sense enough to tell Miss Grabes her fingerprints checked identically with the fingerprints on that flask I think she'd have made a statement. As it is, she'll take advantage of the situation by keeping quiet."
Buchanan stared at Sergeant Mahoney with a crestfallen expression.
"I'm sorry," he blurted. "I didn't think I was so interested in setting you know what had happened I think we should concentrate every effort on finding out who smashed that whiskey flask."
Sergeant Mahoney got to his feet, nodded slowly. "Did you say that Jarvis Hupp gave you his key to the study?" he asked.
"Yes, I told him I had to have an absolutely safe place in which I could leave a valuable piece of evidence."
"You didn't leave him in the study with the flask?"
"Certainly not. I put the flask in the study where it would be available for the fingerprint specialist and saw that Mr. Hupp left it locked the door and put the key in my pocket—that is, there's a

Crime Is Lowered By Sunday Schools

OKMULGEE, Okla., April 12.—C. E. B. Cutler, former state pardon and parole officer, believe that if more children would attend Sunday school there would be much less crime.

Cutler, of Oklahoma City, in an address here, recalled the difficulty of children to attend Sunday school during the territorial days of Oklahoma.

"When I was a boy I was forced many times to stay at home because of bad weather, or impassable roads. Even in bad weather we had to wear great boots which had fresh tallow on them and heavy brass caps on the toes.

"No matter how urgent the farm duties were on Sunday, if we could get away from the farm at all, we went to Sunday school, not because our parents wanted us to, but because it was a part of our weekly life.

"The source of culture were the home, the church, and the district school and these institutions molded the character for the population of the early cities," Cutler said.

He pointed out that less than two per cent of the people of the world are attending Sunday school, and that less than 30 per cent of all Oklahomans are members of any religious denomination.

Customs Rule Will Be Aid To Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., April 12.—The Canadian government is relaxing its customs regulations affecting tourists entering Canada in an effort to attract more visitors.

In future, the government will allow free entry to a number of articles, such as camping outfits, wearing apparel and other personal effects, heretofore admitted subject to deposit. It has extended the time limit during which tourists from abroad may stay in Canada without a permit from 24 to 48 hours.

Household furniture and other effects brought in by non-resident for the temporary equipment of a summer residence and to be exported within the season, will be admitted upon reporting them to the customs office and depositing a sum of money equal to the duty and taxes on the articles. The deposit will be refunded if the articles are identified and exported within eight months from the time of entry.

Wearing apparel and other personal effects are passed free without entry at customs.

Says 'Idiot Fringe' Not Movie Judges

CINCINNATI, April 12.—The giggles and "belly laughs" of the "idiot fringe" form a poor basis on which to judge a motion picture, said Dr. Fred Eastman, professor of drama at Chicago Theological Seminary, in a talk here.

He said that Catholics, Protestants and Jews alike are striving for honesty, sincerity and greatness in the films in their drive against unclean motion pictures.

"Honesty, sincerity, greatness—these qualities will not be attained," he said, "so long as producers think only of quick profits. Even on the basis of profits, however, the producers misjudge their market if they think the majority of the American people want dirt."

BELMONT, Mass., April 12.—Friends told John C. Fohn, Boston manufacturer, that flowers wouldn't grow if he built his conservatory on the north side of his home here. That was 10 years ago.

Today everything from lemon trees to cactus plants thrives in his "north side" conservatory, and he is famed in this section as a grower of fine flowers.

Though his golf score is usually in the lower 80s, he doesn't play much nowadays, preferring to devote his time to his other hobby.

SALTPETER AND PROSPERITY
The expansive mines in the barren deserts of northern Chile does this country owe its prosperity? Out here come the vast amounts of saltpeter, or sodium nitrate, used throughout the world in the manufacture of matches, fireworks, gunpowder, and other explosives. Saltpeter also is used as a medical antiseptic, a food preservative and fertilizer.

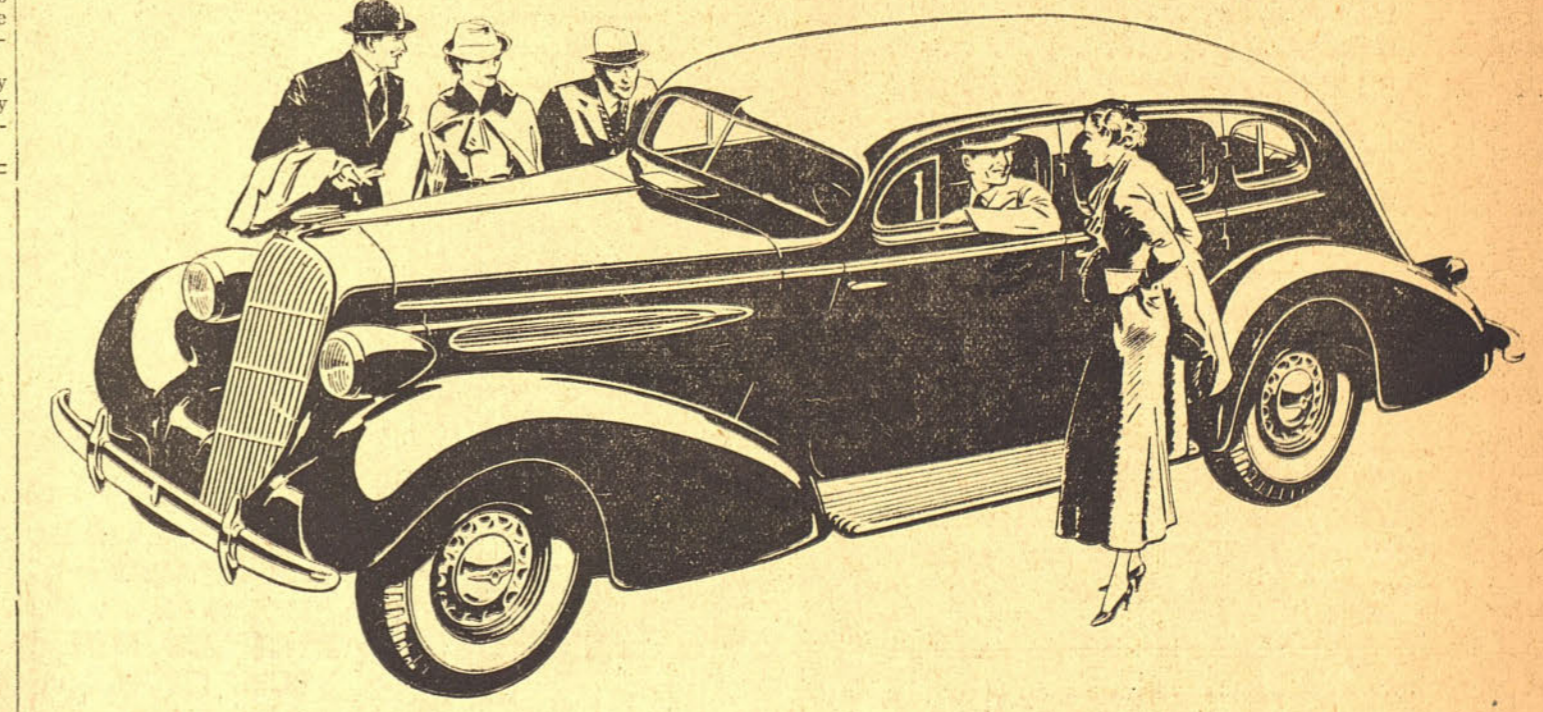

Accounting for more than three-fourths of Chile's revenue, this mineral has brought prosperity to the South American country despite growing competition in the United States and other countries using modern nitrate processes.

In 1930 Chile issued a stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of its saltpeter industry.

Improved Condition of Agriculture Is Revealed by Impressive Figures

8-Tube Standard Radio	15 90 lb. Lams	21 90 lb. Lams
Farm Tractor	59 300 lb. Hogs	131 300 lb. Hogs

The improved condition and increased buying power of the farmer are strikingly revealed in figures just made public by a large agricultural publication. For example, a certain popular sedan, streamlined, costs 626 bushels of wheat today. The same make, not nearly so good, sold two years ago for 1,455 bushels, the yield from two and one-thirds as much acreage. Today the farmer pays fifty-nine 200-pound hogs for a tractor that would have cost him 131 such hogs in 1933.

Trapper Is Pushing Highway To Alaska

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 12.—"Slim" Williams, trapper and trail blazer, still is diligent in his campaign for a highway from the United States to Alaska.

"The president favors it," he told a civic club here, "and the important committees do, too. But the trouble is a lot of Congressmen and Senators who don't even know the United States owns Alaska, have to vote on it."

Williams publicized his mission by pushing his dog team from the Alaska snow country to the nation's capitol at Washington to make a personal plea to the president for the highway into Alaska.

The Alaskan coast, he pointed out, is 1,400 miles near to Japan than the Oregon or California coasts, and is a strategic defensive point.

Alaska, Williams explained, has paid for itself 70 times since it was purchased by the United States.

Williams' trip to the state necessitated five months of travel, during which he was forced to overcome numerous hazards. Completion of the journey was due "90 per cent to the dogs and 10 per cent to luck," he explained.

Keeping Up With The Boy Scouts

Meet William J. Jessop, new scoutmaster for Troop 6 of Eastland.

Meet R. J. Powell, who is taking over the scoutmastership of Troop 34 of Richland Springs.

Mr. Oswald Brightman is the new scoutmaster for Troop 19, Comanche. His assistant is Gilmore Durham.

Ward Mullins, who was a charter member of Troop 3 of Eastland, back in 1927, is at present Radio Operator of S. S.—City of Joliet, now anchored at Galveston, which will soon sail for Tampico, Mexico—then to Le Havre, France; Antwerp, Belgium, and Rotterdam, Holland.

Scout Jack Brown, Troop 103, was elected the most popular boy of his class in a recent contest.

Fifteen boys were invested with their tenderfoot badges in Stephenville at a joint meeting of the two troops there last Friday night.

Scoutmaster's pow-wow for the central district, will be held in Rising Star April 15. Officers of Troop 115 are acting as hosts with a barbecue supper.

The scout office wants to urge all—who are to be applicants for the national jamboree to send their applications in as soon as possible.

Troop 12 reports a successful all-night hike, under the leadership of its assistant scoutmaster, Stuart Painter. This is the hiking season. Scouting is an outdoor program. Boys want to be scouts in a troop that will carry out this part of the program. Put the "out" in scouting.

The Billy Gibbons Memorial committee met recently at the camp, and decided definitely where the memorial is to be built. All eagle scouts in the council will be invited to help construct it the last week in May or the first week in June.

PITCHER PRIVILEGED

JOLIET, Ill. — There's one rule that Warden George Schring insists upon for the penitentiary baseball team — only the pitcher can chew tobacco. Swearing and arguments with the umpire also are taboo.

LIGHTNING DISROBES BOY

GALLIPOLIS, O. — Lightning which struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deilley near here ripped part of the clothing off John Deilley, a son, and ignited it. The boy escaped serious injury.

DESDEMONA

The Methodist Missionary Society met Thursday afternoon at the church for the monthly business meeting and program from the Missionary Bulletin. The main feature of the meeting was the report which Mrs. W. E. Barron gave of the meeting in St. Louis of the Council of the Missionary Societies of the Southern Methodist churches. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles Lee and Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass filled her place as secretary. The first one on the program was Mrs. W. H. Whitworth who read a poem "Calvary." Mrs. Gifford Acrea as leader of the Bulletin program gave some items of Missionary news and had other items given by Mrs. Bruce, Miss Mollie O'Rear and Mrs. Barron. Those present were Mimes Ed Parks, H. H. Nance, G. S. Bruce, W. H. Whitworth, Charles Lee, W. E. Barron, Gifford Acrea, S. E. Snodgrass, W. C. Bedford, and Miss Mollie O'Rear. During the business session the committee in charge of the rummage sale reported that $6 had been made and there were still a number of things to be sold. Sale of Betty Britz Cleaners was reported in progress. Mr. and Mrs. Max Williams of Ranger visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Williams, Sunday. They will likely come down here to live soon.

Lon Quinn came in from Fisher county Monday to visit with his brother, J. P. Quinn, and also to see his many old friends. He still owns his home here and his friends trust that his health may improve enough that he and his wife will be able to come back here to live.

A. C. Robert, O. A. Kountze and C. A. Skipping drove down to Austin on business Thursday.

Miss Nell Robert and Miss Ronnie Wright, students at John Tarleton college, Stephenville spent the weekend here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robert and Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright.

A very delightful birthday party was given Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parks in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Miss Edna Parks and also that of her chum, Miss Lavelle McGuire. Many games were played and all present had a most enjoyable evening. Delicious fruit punch and cake were served at the close of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Stark visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Everett at Olden for a few hours Friday night.

Monroe Glass returned Saturday night from West Texas where he had gone on business. While at Coahoma, near Big Spring, he accepted a good job with one of the oil companies. His wife and son,

Donald will not move out there for some time as there are no vacant houses.

Coach E. E. Mullins has been seriously ill for several days suffering from rheumatism.

Mrs. Walter Henry left Saturday morning for Lannis, Oklahoma, to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. W. M. Ford.

Mrs. W. E. Barron and Mrs. Charles Lee left Monday afternoon for Breckenridge to attend the annual Missionary Conference of the Central Texas Conference. Mrs. Barron went as a conference officer, having served very efficiently as secretary for the Cisco district the past four years. Mrs. Lee went as the delegate from the Desdemona Society.

Mrs. G. W. Hicks and her daughter, Miss Delma Hicks, and Mrs. S. T. Stover were shopping at Ranger Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ashburn drove over to Gorman on business Wednesday.

Howard Brewer, of Coleman, was the guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, Sunday.

Mrs. C. E. Ribbelett, nee Mrs. Enoch Hensieck, and daughter, Lorene, and son, Jabbe, came Friday night from Longview, to visit her sister, Mrs. A. B. Hensieck and family for a few days.

Saturday night at the high school the "21" Study club presented a 3 act comedy entitled, "Wedding Cake." Preceding the play there was a varied program of music and readings by the expression pupils of Mrs. J. C. Brewer who comes over from Gorman and teaches expression in the high school. Another very enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of three numbers by Miss Ruth Crenshaw who is studying voice at John Tarleton college. The scene of the play was a railroad station at a country town, with the station man off duty and a girl telegraph operator taking his place. A storm causes a delay of the train and the several waiting passengers react to the enforced wait in various ways. Those taking part in the play were, Mrs. A. C. Robert as ticket agent, Miss Adell Malby as Susie Smith, a girl visiting the agent; Mrs. Clarence Ragland, as Edith Eaves, a detective; Mrs. Roy Ashburn as Peggy Porter, college girl on her way to a wedding; Mrs. W. H. Davis as Elizabeth Lowry, a lecturer; Mrs. David Uarks as Rosemary Ross of the films; Mrs. W. C. Bedford, as Mrs. Carey who has hysterics over the loss of her pearls; Mrs. Mattie Henry as Ruth Reed, a private secretary, who aids the secret service; and Mrs. J. E. Heeter as Editha Everson, a real detective. The play was directed by Mrs. C. W. Malby who not only coached the players but arranged the stage setting so it looked very much like a country station. Due to the fact there had been several school plays within the past three weeks the attendance was not as large as desired but the house was fairly well filled. Mrs. Malby deserves much credit for her work in directing the play. The "21" Study club gave the play in order to have money to make a donation to the furnishing of the 6th District room at permanent headquarters at Austin.

Tuesday morning of last week funeral services were held at the Methodist church over the remains of Mrs. Sarah Jane Andrews Key, who passed away Monday morning at the home of her son, T. H. Key, one of our leading business men. Her death was caused by old age and a serious affliction from which she suffered for several months. She was 65 years of age, born at Prairie View, Arkansas, and coming in an ox wagon with her husband to Texas in the year of 1866. They suffered many hardships in the early days but helped in the development of the state. She was the mother of ten children, six of whom survive her. For 16 years she had made her home with her son, T. H. Key, who came here two years ago to lease the gin and later opened a grocery store. Services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. H. Nance who was assisted by Rev. J. J. Gilley. After the funeral, interment took place at Mt. Zion Cemetery, four miles north of Lingleville. Sincere sympathy is being extended to Mr. Key and the other relatives.

CIRCLE SPONSORS WOMANLESS STYLE SHOW

Under the auspices of Circle One, W. M. S., First Methodist church, a very successful womanless style show was held in the basement of the church Thursday evening.

With musical strains of "Alice Blue Gown", the "mistress" of ceremonies, Horace Condit, introduced the charming mannikins. Each model represented some widely known feminine character. Those on parade were: Lillian Gish Revue, Frank L. Turner; Amelia Earhart, W. J. Foxworth; Shirley Temple, Bead Parish; Minnie the Moocher, Nell Lane; Bessie Love, C. C. Clark-son; Fay Wray, Gerald Merkett; Kate Smith, Ed Huestis; Mae West, Robert Sanford; Zasu Pitts, L. E. Vaughn; Jeanette McDonald, Joe Hughes; Irene Dunne, C. E. Hickman; and Bobby Anderson and Jerry Loftin, two vamping young flappers.

Solos were sung by "Fay Wray" and "Jeanette McDonald" to add entertainment and the lovely "Beads" received a big hand from the audience during the grand finale.

A delicious angel food cake in pink and white was auctioned off to the last bidder, W. J. Foxworth was the proud owner although Andy Anderson ran a close second for the possession.

The women of the Circle served punch to the entire audience and models.

Constipation Relief
While its long record of usefulness runs back to 1840, Theford's Black-Draught is right up to date. Modern medical opinion holds that the plant leaves which give Black-Draught most of its active principle are among the best laxatives in all the acceptable materials of medicine.
"When constipated, I feel dull and stupid," writes Mr. O. C. Green of Andrews, N. C. "I have taken Black-Draught several years for constipation and find it gives me immediate relief."
Costs less than other laxatives.

HAPPY KITCHEN CHATS

By MRS. MARTHA McDONALD

One of the most vital things in the family life of any community is a good supply of milk. But constant vigilance is necessary to protect this supply. It is also necessary that you know and realize just what an important part milk as a food plays in your life.

As a food, milk contains all the nutritive compounds necessary for a growing child in the correct proportion of a scientific diet. It is one of the most digestible of all animal foods and, with other dairy products forms over 22 per cent of the great American diet.

Milk constituents, as with other food material, may be classified as fat — carbohydrates — proteins, vitamins and mineral content. It is especially valuable as a food for under-nourished children and invalids. Health authorities everywhere recommend a liberal use of milk, urging the consumption of at least a quart a day per person.

And of course, there is no age limit for drinking milk. Because it is as good for children, many have the notion that it is just "kid's food". Nothing could be farther from the truth. Recent medical discoveries by the foremost nutritionists have established the fact that milk is perhaps the finest food that an adult can have. They have learned that milk is Nature's most complete food, containing 34 of the 36 food elements which we need to keep healthy — proteins to build and repair tissue — the right fat for fuel — sugar for energy — vitamins and mineral salts.

Continued lack of any of these essentials often forms the starting point for many middle age diseases. Milk brings balance to meals by supplying things that so many diets lack. It promotes a clear mind in a healthy body.

Plenty of pure country milk with meals is one of the safest health habits that can be formed.

For many of us these are times when we must make an effort if we are to balance the family budget. We must remember one thing. More than at any other time perhaps we must keep health as our first consideration — particularly the health of our children.

We urge mothers especially to study the way in which milk can help them to do this. For every cent we spend, milk gives more vital food value than any other article of diet. It makes certain that the building of bone and muscle will go on. It is a safeguard against illness — a source of energy. It is possible to cut our total food bills and actually increase the health value of our meals by increasing our use of milk.

GUARDS RELICS
AVIGNON, France — The ancient monuments and castles of Provence, visited by thousands every summer, are watched over by a golden goat, legend says. If any one harms the buildings or attempts to have the treasures supposed to be buried under them, the goat butts him away and so acts as a protecting deity.

LAND BANK TO CUT INTEREST ON NEW LOANS

A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, announced today that new loans made by the Federal Land Bank on and after April 10, through National Farm Loan associations will bear interest at the rate of four-and-one-quarter per cent per annum. Williams pointed out that this is the lowest rate at which the Federal Land Bank has ever made loans.

For about two years, the bank has been making loans through National Farm Loan associations at five per cent with a temporary reduction to four-and-one-half per cent until July 12, 1938, as provided by the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933. After July 12, 1938, such loans again will bear interest at the rate of five per cent. The four and one-quarter per cent rate on new loans made on or after April 10, 1935, will be effective for the entire period of the loans, which will be made on an amortization basis ranging from 20 to 30 odd years, as in the past. Federal land bank loans are made on the basis of first mortgage security on farms and ranches for amounts that may not exceed 50 per cent of the appraised normal value of the land mortgaged, and twenty per cent of the appraised value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon.

No changes have been made, Williams said, in the interest rate on new loans by the Land Bank Commissioner, which rate is five per cent per annum. Claude Strickland, Cisco, is secretary-treasurer of the Cisco National Farm Loan association. "We make land loans through Federal Land Bank, Houston."

Aid To Ginners Is Invented by Texan

TAYLOR, April 12 — An invention which it is believed will be a great aid to cotton ginners, has been perfected by R. W. Koneschik of Taylor. The machine was designed to remove all trash, dirt and foreign matter from the cotton ball before it reaches the "vacuum discharge." The cotton is spread out over a 64-foot screen and air currents force the lighter particles through an upper channel. Weightier objects fall through a dead air space and are collected at the bottom of the machine. The invention was demonstrated at the annual ginner's convention in Dallas recently.

BY MARY E. DAGUE

USED to be told that fish built brains. But it seems that was just because both brain tissue and fish are rich in phosphorus.

Brains don't depend on how much fish we eat, but teeth may, to a certain extent, anyway. For the amount of phosphorus we take in daily is a vital factor in the prevention of tooth decay.

Halibut is a good family fish because it has no troublesome small bones. Also it's delicately flavored and easy to handle in cooking.

If you have no small children to consider the steak may be fried instead of broiled, sauted in butter as chefs do it. Arrange vegetables, each cooked separately, and seasoned with salt and pepper, around the fish and pour browned butter over all.

Halibut a la Lady Duveen
One slice halibut cut 1 inch thick, 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup cooked carrots, 1 cup cooked shredded green beans, 1 cup cooked turnips, 4 tablespoons browned butter, paprika, parsley, lemon juice.

Sprinkle fish with lemon juice and brush with melted butter. Broil under a moderate flame, first on one side and then on the other, allowing ten to fifteen minutes to a side. Then put the fish on the bias in the center of a hot platter with a slice of lemon right in the center and a sprinkling of minced parsley. Put carrots and peas in neat mounds on one side.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, codded eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Cheese fondue, new cabbage in cream, springtime salad, shredded pineapple, milk, tea.
DINNER: Halibut a la Lady Duveen, stuffed tomato salad, strawberry cream puffs, milk, coffee.

of the fish and green beans and turnips on the other side. Pour the batter, which has been melted over a low fire until a golden brown, over and around vegetables and fish. Garnish and serve. When I cook turnips I always add lemon juice to the water in which they are cooking. One tea spoon lemon juice to two cup water are the proportions I use.

How about continuing this meal with a tomato stuffed with cucumber and celery on a bed of curly endive and cream puffs filled with strawberry cream? The puffs are made according to the usual rule.

Strawberry Cream
One cup whipping cream, 1-1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1 egg white, 1-2 cup finely cut strawberries. Whip cream until firm. Beat white of egg until stiff, beating in sugar. Stir in berries and beat until very fluffy. Fold in whipped cream and use to fill puff shells. Garnish each puff with a fine large berry when served.
