Sand and sleet were mixed together in the norther that struck Cisco Sunday evening and held the city shivering with cold today. The norther struck with a dust storm at 6:15 p. m. Sunday and the mercury began sliding downward. By 8 o'clock this morning it had reached the 18 degree mark...

WHOLE STATE LOCKED IN HARD FREEZE

North Texas was covered with snow and sleet today and the temperature dropped below freezing in southernmost sections of the state as a cold wave blew in from the north. Tonight, according to the forecast of the weather bureau, all of Texas, not excepting even the lower Rio Grande Valley, will experience freezing temperatures.

Mexico's 'Red Shirts' Line Up to War on Church

Enrolled in war on religion, capital, smoking, drinking, and all social evils, Mexico's 'red shirts,' the red shirts have taken a militant attitude against Roman Catholicism and have clashed in bloody conflicts with church groups. Reverberations reached the United States Senate with Senator William E. Borah's proposal for an investigation of the persecution of all faiths in Mexico.

WORK RELIEF MOBILIZATION IS PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — A mobilization in Washington of work relief supporters "that will make the bonus army look like a boy scout parade" was threatened today by Paul Betters, director of the United States Conference of Mayors. Betters threw the support of his organization behind the administration's $4,880,000,000 work relief bill as the battle over the measure was carried to the country by both sides.

Stake Peace Upon Trip of Britisher

LONDON, Feb. 25. — Sir John Simon, foreign minister, is laying plans for a diplomatic mission which may prove one of the most important since the World War and which might conceivably turn Europe definitely toward peace or war, it was learned today by the United Press. Unless some unforeseen event changes the present aspect of negotiations centering around Nazi Germany for consolidation of European peace on the French - British proposals, Simon is expected next month to visit Berlin, Moscow, and Warsaw.

HOLDS THREE AS HOSTAGES IN ESCAPING

CELINA, Collin County, Tex., Feb. 25. — Desperado Raymond Hamilton, wounded badly in the jaw, was in flight from pursuing officers today with a wounded companion and three farm youths as hostages. Constable S. L. Betty said he learned Hamilton and his companion, with two hostages, spent the night at the house of Bill Mayes, four miles east of Celina, and left at dawn in Mayes' car, taking Mayes' son, Buster as a 3rd hostage.

ARGUMENTS IN BARROW TRIAL HEARD TODAY

DALLAS, Feb. 25. — Defense attorneys rested and closing arguments began today in the case of more than a score of defendants being tried on federal charges of conspiring to harbor Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker during their efforts to evade the law. The case was expected to reach the jury about 5 p. m.

Three miles west of Weston, 13 miles north of McKinney, a farmer saw them halt J. C. Loftus, 16-year-old son of Clarence Loftus, farmer, abandon their machine, and drive on in Loftus' car with the youth as hostage.

104 PAPERS IN HIGH SCHOOL PRESS PARLEY

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — Enrollment in the Interscholastic League Press conference has jumped from 65 last year to 104 schools this year, the highest peak in its history, according to D. C. Reddick, adjunct professor of journalism at the University of Texas and director of the conference. One group of the papers enrolled in the press conference consists of these high school papers which are published as one page in the local city papers.

G. O. P. SAID TO BE AIDING TO SPLIT DEMOS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — Faint outlines of a national third party movement are developing in congress where Pres. Roosevelt is on the defensive today after 24 months of uniformly successful political aggression. Obstacles to third party success are almost insurmountable, regardless of the leader, but are important, when they draw important support from either major party.

Prize Offered For Best History Essay

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — Some University of Texas student this year will win a $300 prize offered for the best original thesis on some incident in Texas history, according to Dr. E. C. Barker, professor of history at that institution. In 1930, an anonymous donor endowed a prize for this purpose to be known as the Burleson Texas History Prize.

More Oil Control In Substitute Bill

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — A bill to end "star chamber" proceedings against state oil regulation was substituted by the senate today for the house oil enforcement measure. Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson objected to the state's "persecution" of East Texas when billions of cubic feet of gas are being wasted in the Texas Panhandle daily.

FRISIANS MAY GO TO SOUTH AMERICA

LEEUWARDEN, Holland, Feb. 25. — Sturdy Frisian farmers from Holland's most northerly province are planning to go as colonists to South America, particularly Argentina and Brazil. More than 250 farmers from Friesland have joined the Netherlands Union for Christian Colonists, which has just founded a section for the province. Hopes are expressed here that the Netherlands government will give financial assistance to Frisian farmers who wish to settle in Argentina. These hopes have been raised by the recent announcement of the Argentine government that it will welcome farmers from Holland who desire to settle as colonists in Argentine territory.

Population of The Nation-Relief Roll

Harry Hopkins is the head of the federal government relief organization. He appears to have counted noses. He scanned the latest census estimate showing the population of the United States and all islands and possessions. He made the discovery that population has increased 4,566,505 since the 1930 census. Well, the estimated population based on the latest reports is 141,574,000, of which 15,000,000 live outside of continental United States. Director Hopkins is said to be one of the most astute and best informed of all the government heads or executives handling relief funds. He has submitted alarming figures. He is positive that one in every seven of the population accredited to the nation is living on relief at the cost of the government. However, he has sounded the warning that it will cost the government and its taxpayers $800,000,000 to supply the wants of the needy until the coming year of 1936.

There is an administration bill pending. It calls for the appropriation of millions. Director Hopkins urges its immediate passage, in order that an additional supply of relief funds may be ready for distribution before the coming of the springtime. There is an army on the relief rolls in Texas. This is in the rural as well as the urban districts of the Lone Star commonwealth. A vast number are tenant farmers or crop sharers thrown on their own by the cotton acreage control administration officials. Regardless of all this, Director Hopkins is hopeful. He has assurances that before the coming of the year 1936 millions of tenant farmers as well as industrial workers will find employment and the vast load carried by the taxpayers will be transferred to the shoulders of the workers who are idle today but who are promised jobs in coming time.

Uncle Sam has something to worry about. He financed the World War allies. Billions of dollars advanced in loans and carried by the holders of liberty bonds saved the day for the allies. They practically repudiated their obligations. They have money to spend for vast armies and navies. They have money to spend for vast air fleets. They have forgotten all about their Uncle Sam who crossed the ocean and made it possible for the twin houses of Hohenzollern and Hapsburg to be dismantled and Europe remapped by the allied statesmen and warriors who divided the spoils of war and captured the colonial possessions of that kaiser who had created the most magnificent army and a fighting navy that would control the seven seas of the world. Gen. Sherman told it all in his famous book which was a review of the contest of the sword between the soldiers of the North and the soldiers of the South in the long ago. His verdict: "War is hell." It has been held from the beginning and will be held until Mars and his field marshals have been destroyed by the sword of peace.

San Angelo Boy Makes Record

Now and then one is reminded that somebody has done the unusual in a common place vocation—Boys without funds have paid their way through college and it is a very usual occurrence for girls to cook or housekeep their way through school. Men have gone into business without fund and have made good while others with plenty of capital have failed.

It all goes to show that it is the personality—the will to do—the determination to do the job a little better than someone else has done it. Here is an item that may put some man to thinking or it may serve to stimulate some boy to achieve more than his dad has ever accomplished.

Older and more experienced farmers might be pardoned for envying the record made last season by Emmett Lehr, 17-year-old San Angelo schoolboy.

Young Lehr, an orphan, rented 100 acres of land. He rented 40 acres to the government, and on the remaining 60 produced 21 bales of cotton.

His records showed total receipts of nearly $2,000, and total expenses, including rent, of just under $850. He owns his own tractor and equipment, purchased from 1933 crop receipts.

A State Lives Within Its Income

Nebraska is advertised as being a debtless state today; as a commonwealth where the law prohibits pledging the state's credit for more than $100,000; and also as a state which has ridden through war and peace, drouth and plenty, without issuing a dollar's worth of bonds.

It built a $10,000,000 state capitol over a period of twelve years out of its annual tax levy. Its roads are paid for by a four-cent gasoline tax and motor vehicle license fees, plus the usual Federal aid.

Nebraska's government, aside from road building, is supported by a general property tax and it has no income or sales tax.

These facts seem to prove that a great state can be operated on a business basis and stay within its income.

Nebraska should be an object lesson for every state in the union, many of which are staggering today under bond issues to pay for political experiments and inefficiency which the coming generations will struggle to pay if they are ever wiped out. The taxpayers should rise up in arms, as it were, against practically every proposal that is made to further burden the people with taxes.

The lawmaker today who suggests tax increases as a way to meet state problems, is in most cases simply showing his inability as a business man to balance the public's business budget.

'Do You Believe in Fairies? If So, Clap Your Hands'

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 25—After weeks of search, Texas senators still are looking for the administration leader in the senate. For a time it seemed that the title would be given to Tom DeBerry of Bogota. But DeBerry's power is principally as a guard, and Governor Allred's aggressive program needs a forward.

His friends say in cloak room conversations. The title of administration leader then seemed likely to fall on Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls, one-time law partner of the governor, and his political godfather. But the mantle fell from O'Neal's shoulders when he retreated and accepted a compromise during the senate attack on Governor Allred's appointive power in the state planning board bill.

"Where in the name of high heaven is the administration leader?" Sen. John Hornsby of Austin scolded. "Why don't you stand up and fight?"

When Edgar E. Witt convened the senate last January, there were no more capable men anywhere to guide the "new deal" in the upper house than Welly Hopkins of Gonzales and John Redditt of Lufkin most of the senators believed. Governor Allred may have thought so too. At any rate, within two weeks Hopkins and Redditt were handling the administration's nine housing bills. Then one of the bills snagged in committee.

A former assistant attorney general under Allred revised it with the aid of building and loan association attorneys. The revised bill came back to the senators. They were informed the governor approved it.

The senate decidedly didn't approve it. Senators decided it gave a much more substantial financial menu for building and loan associations than the housing program crumbs originally intended for them.

Senator Hopkins threw up his hands. "I'm in favor of sending this bill back to its source," he said. "Hereafter the governor's office can handle its own bills. I'll never do that again."

Redditt read a letter to show his good faith and believe that the bill had been approved by the governor, and accomplished the original purposes and no more. Alienation of Hopkins and Redditt will prove a greater loss to the administration than defeat of any one bill, most observers believe.

Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann in attempting to collect pictures of all the Texans who have preceded him as secretary of state. So far he has two. His collection starts with an excellent autographed picture of Stephen F. Austin. The second is a photograph of Dr. Robert A. Irion. Both were secretaries of state under President Sam Houston.

State departments display on their walls pictures of many past department heads. No office that has been existent for many years has a complete set.

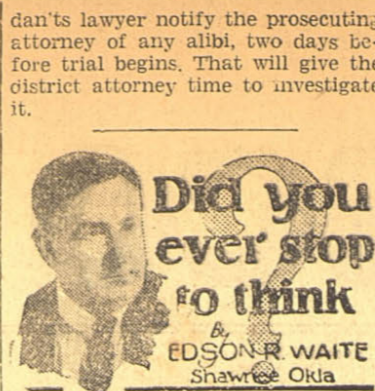

Attorneys general for the past 30 years are pictured in that department. The state comptroller's office has a big collection of pictures of past comptrollers. It includes an enlarged portrait of a handsome gentleman whom no one now in the office can identify. Governors' portraits are painted in oil and hung in the capitol rotunda.

to keep his feet off his desk. Rep. R. H. Holland of Houston was asked to muffle his unusually loud voice. "Perhaps we had better go to Nordheim and see the school," commented Rep. Joe Greathouse of Ft. Worth. "We might learn more from them than they from us."

An alibi, the last resort of many guilty criminals, is due for hard sledding if Sen. Wilbourne Collie of Eastland gets enough other legislators to see with him. Collie has a bill that will make the defen-dan's lawyer notify the prosecuting attorney of any alibi, two days before trial begins. That will give the district attorney time to investigate it.

Success is often the difference between good roads and the lack of them. "Part time" roads don't do much for a community.

New industries seeking a location are always greatly influenced by the evidences of support and encouragement shown by good roads. Most communities can be thankful for the character of their business men.

They have men of the type that make a community better; men of high ideals who are willing at all times to labor for the good of the entire community; men who believe in a square deal for all, who believe in their community and its future.

These men do all in their power to encourage and develop all-year-round roads.

Communities that have good roads will get somewhere.

DETROIT LIONS SIGN GRIDMEN OF MICHIGAN

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 25—Signing of Edward Klewicki, former Michigan State end, and Doug Nott, former University of Detroit halfback, by the Detroit Lions' football team may give the Motor City eleven one of the leading pass combinations in professional football today.

The former Michigan State star hails from Hamtramck, Mich., and the Detroit halfback from Ann Arbor.

Outstanding Stars
Klewicki and Nott, two of the outstanding football stars of Michigan in recent years, are adept in their departments of the game and under the guidance of Coach Patsy Clark, Lions' mentor, should develop into crack combination.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There's some talk of sending a search party after the president's take-profit-out-of-war commission appointed several weeks ago with great ballyhoo. But the search probably would be hopeless.

The epitaph was spoken one recent evening when Bernard M. Baruch, the financier, telephoned Senator Vandenberg of the Nye munitions committee and is said to have confessed:

"Well, that's about the last you're going to hear from the president's commission, I guess."

Baruch and Gen. Hugh Johnson, the committee's key men, had just endorsed the McSwain war mobilization bill before the House military affairs committee. The commission itself included many high government officials, especially those of the War and Navy departments.

It was widely considered a means of stopping further Nye committee revelations. It was charged with making a survey and recommendation as to war profits. But the Nye committee rebelled and the commission hasn't been heard of since its appointment.

ITS ghost, however, seems to hover approvingly over the McSwain bill, which seems to be one of those administration measures often introduced to head off threatened legislation of more drastic nature.

The bill would permit the president to peg prices in wartime or on congressional declaration of a war emergency and to commandeer and control material resources and industry.

The Nye committee scoffs at the measure as a "blank check" which guarantees high war profits and seems to represent only some ideas Baruch and Johnson had after the last war.

Prices usually skyrocket in advance of war, it is pointed out, and the McSwain bill doesn't even pretend to curb peacetime profiteering by shipbuilders and munitions makers in collusion with navy and war departments.

The committee feels it has shown the army's GHQ to be at the du Pont offices in Delaware and the navy's to be wherever officers of the "big three" shipbuilders go into a huddle.

THE probable reason Jim Farley didn't send any of those valuable imperforate stamps to Secretary Frances Perkins was that Miss Perkins greets gift horses with an inspection of their adenoids and tonsils.

No one else in the government has rejected any of Harry Hopkins' gifts of exhibition pictures painted by CWA artists. But Miss Perkins' office has been turning them back almost as fast as Hopkins can send them to decorate her magnificent new Labor building. Besides rejecting a painting of Steinmetz, the inventor, because "people would think it was Trotsky," and another painting because of a bit of female nudity, Miss Perkins has had removed:

Painting of Lincoln writing Gettysburg address. . . . "Because it might offend visitors from the south."

Propaganda painting featuring the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Bronze sculpture of Negro mother and child. . . . Because "people might say she was more partial to Negro labor than to white labor."

college careers last fall, recently affixed their signatures to Detroit Lion contracts after three years of varsity play. Klewicki was one of the best ends, if not the best, ever turned out at the East Lansing institution while Nott's passes brought many victories to the Detroit team.

Aerial Attack

Presence of a strong aerial attack, which is contemplated with the addition of the two Michigan players to the roster, might have brought victory over the Chicago Bears, who defeated the Lions twice during the last pro season. Should these two develop as expected the Motor City eleven's offense will be bolstered materially.

The Big Michigan State end who weighs in the vicinity of 200 pounds enjoyed his greatest season at the East Lansing institution last fall while injuries hampered the Titan halfback, somewhat.

LONGHORNS TO PLAY HOUSTON BUFFALO NINE

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—A two-game series with the Houston Buffalos in Austin, another pair on home-and-home basis with the San Antonio Missions and a third double bill with the Oklahoma Sooners in Austin completes the pre-conference schedule arranged for the University of Texas baseball team by Coach "Uncle Billy" Dishch to date.

Others may be slated in the near future, but this half dozen games are the only certain ones at present, according to business manager Ed Olle.

No big league clubs are on the Longhorn early schedule, and it is not likely that any will be secured. Since not a single club from either the American or National Leagues will train in Texas this spring, none of them will be passing through Texas on their homeward trek and Austin fans will be cheated out of their annual showing of big league clubs.

Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston Buffs, has agreed to bring his Texas Leaguers here on March 22 and 23. Immediately after that series the Longhorns will meet Coach Jap Haskell's University of Oklahoma nine here on March 25 and 26, and on March 29 the San Antonio Padres will be here for a game. Uncle Billy will take his nine over to San Antonio on April 8 for a return game with the Texas League club. The latter two dates are only tentative, but will probably be certain within a few days.

To date the conference schedule has not been completed, but Ed Olle said that final arrangements will be made early next week.

While the business office is at work with these arrangements, "Uncle Billy" is watching his men gradually shaping into a typical Longhorn baseball team. The thirty odd candidates are beginning to hit the ball lustily and the infield, which three weeks ago was a source of worry, is beginning to take shape. The pitching staff too, is beginning to look promising, with Miskiff and Branch, a pair of right-handed speed merchants leading the pack.

More Employment Is Seen At Temple

TEMPLE, Feb. 25.—Increase in employment in this section is indicated by a declining number of relief clients reporting for work on city projects.

According to City Manager N. A. Enzor the full quota of men allowed on the city municipal trade square project under way here was only half supplied. This situation has existed for the past several weeks, he said.

FLOWER MAY GET LAND
OWATONNA, Minn., Feb. 25 — The moccasin, Minnesota's state flower now practically extinct, may have a large area set aside for its exclusive production, it was learned recently. The Izaak Walton Chapter here has inaugurated a movement to have delinquent tax lands in this area set aside by the state for propagation of the flower.

RELIC OF OLD CIVILIZATION IS UNEARTHED

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — Remnants of a civilization, albeit crude, which existed on the North American continent a full twenty thousand years ago, has been unearthed by University of Texas archaeologists at a site near here, it has been announced. This discovery, which proves to the satisfaction of those scientists that man inhabited this continent ten thousand years earlier than science has previously indicated, was made on Brushy creek, near Round Rock, by J. E. Pearce, professor of archaeology at the university. Professor Pearce was accompanied by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the university bureau of economic geology.

Relics of human habitation—flint dart points, burnt-out earth fires, and kitchen refuse—have been found in profusion buried eighteen feet underground, a depth which places their origin back in time perhaps as far as the ice age. At any rate, their presence at certain strata in the river bank indicates quite clearly that they were deposited there at some time in the history of the country when the natural flow of the streams was cutting valleys in the earth, or at least 20,000 years ago. Dr. Sellards declared. Furthermore, according to both Dr. Sellards and Professor Pearce, it is evident that man inhabited the region not sparsely but in considerable numbers, to judge from the abundance of artifacts which exist at the site.

The discovery not only possesses significance for its own sake, but its character has the effect of extending the age of Texas man further back in prehistoric days than the era they themselves represent, Professor Pearce said. Old as these artifacts are, others previously discovered, whose age has hitherto been estimated at 8,000 to 10,000 years, are known to represent a still earlier, cruder civilization, and consequently must be given a new status of antiquity.

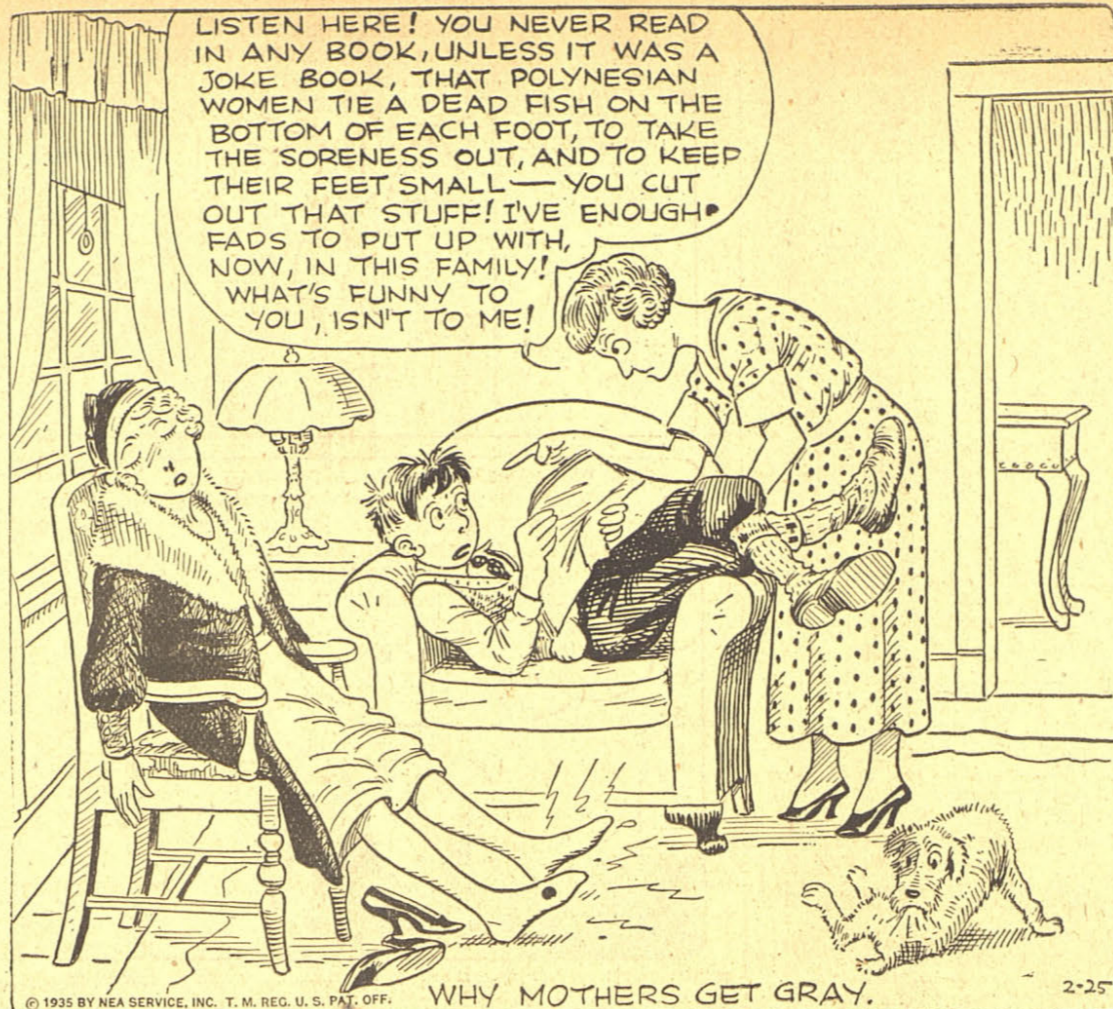

Will Make Study Of Texas Architecture

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — A study of pioneer East and Northeast Texas architecture has been started by Miss Fannie Ratchford of the University of Texas.

On her first tour of the section Miss Ratchford listed houses which will be included in a more extensive investigation.

Among those which probably will be re-visited are the homes of Colin McKinney and son of McKinney; the Coffey Porter house at Denison; the Latimer home, Clarksville; the McClutcheon place at Old Boston.

VILLAGES OF BRITAIN WILL HAVE JUBILEE

By H. L. PERCY

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, Feb. 25. — Plans for the King's Silver Jubilee celebrations in May are gradually taking shape.

Their size and scope is beyond anything that ever has occurred here before. Apart from the actual celebrations, starting May 6, the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the throne, innumerable social and sporting functions have been arranged. They run from a special silver jubilee horse race.

General Plan
The general plan of the celebrations already is known. It includes a royal thanksgiving service; reviews of the navy, army and air force; state drives through London; state banquets at Buckingham Palace, and a special honors list. Additions to it, however are being made almost daily. One of the latest is the announcement by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the House of Commons that all government offices will be closed May 6. This day already has been declared an official "bank" or national holiday. Road sweepers, postmen, and all other government employees are to be given the day off, "with full pay," as MacDonald expressed it.

Public Funds Used
The government also has informed local authorities in every town in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, that a reasonable expenditure on celebrations may be made from public funds. These will be augmented by local subscriptions.

Most of Britain's local governments are now contributed by the Labor Party, yet, if anything, the response from even the most ardent of them is tremendous. Fulham, whose town council has been in some disgrace because it neglected to fly a Union Jack from the town hall on the wedding day of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina, has taken the initiative.

The programs are expected to follow the general lines of a pageant or street parade depicting local history plus decorations and illuminations.

This is one election that should interest all the people. . . Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Winston visited at Ranger Sunday and Monday. . . Miss Effie Moore has returned from a visit to Sylvester. . . Miss Theresa Lee left Thursday night for a visit in Sweetwater and Roby. . . Mrs. Hall Chambliss of West, and Claude Strickland of Weatherford, are with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Strickland.

KANGAROO JUMPY

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25. — Max is jumpy these days. The pain in his tooth jumps and every time the pain jumps, he jumps, too. Max is a kangaroo in Brookside Park zoo here. Dr. Harry Roberts, veterinarian, plans to give Max twilight sleep and jerk the aching molar—that is, if a Chicago dog concern here is consulting says it's all right to give twilight sleep to kangaroos.

SNOWBALL OUST HENS

ELUSANTIC, Mass., Feb. 25. — William Osterhout has discovered a sure cure for persistent setting hens. He merely fashions snowballs the size of eggs and puts them in the nest. The hen doesn't set long before she decides to move elsewhere and resume her egg-laying.

INCONSIDERATE FIRE

STONEHAM, Mass., Feb. 25. — Faces of local firemen were as red as their shirts when Frank Peterson, a passerby, dropped in and announced that the stationhouse was in flames. The blaze was confined to the basement.

WHITES LEAD STATE ROLLS OF AGED POOR

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — There are more than 40,000 persons 65 years old or older on the relief rolls of the state, results of a survey conducted by relief authorities have revealed. A study of relief cases for the month of December, 1934, showed 41,787 persons in that age classification receiving public aid.

More than half, or 24,697, were white persons; 12,303 were negroes; 4,787 were Mexicans. Of the total, 23,856 were men, 17,931 were women. There were 9,499 single men and 9,579 single women reported. Married couples, both 65 years old or older, on the relief rolls totaled 6,358, while there were 9,693 married couples recorded in which either the man or woman had reached the age of 65.

Similar statistics were compiled on relief clients 70 years old and older. There were 24,832 such clients in December.

Bexar county had the greater number of clients in the 65-year-old classification, 2,357. Harris county had 2,348, but Dallas county had the surprisingly low total of 813.

Relief funds required to care for these more than 40,000 relief clients in December amounted to $328,078.50, administrators reported. Results of the survey will be presented to the state board of control and will be available to legislators interested in grafting social security legislation. Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, said.

PINOCHLE FEAT CLAIMED

BARABOO, Wis., Feb. 25.—Pinochle players here claimed the feat of a companion, Conrad Huhnstock, who held 1,000 aces in a recent four-handed game and made a bid of 1,000 by only five points, surpassed that of an Ohio man reported to have made his bid on 1,000 aces in a three-handed game.

TIRED FROM SHOPPING?...

get a Lift with a Camel!

"A LONG MORNING spent in a crowded store is a dreadfully tiring job for any woman," says Mrs. Van Brunt Timpson. "I have found a good way to make it more pleasant. When I begin to feel a little tired, I slip away for a Camel. 'Somehow, smoking a Camel makes the job less tedious! My spirits revive. I can continue shopping with more energy.' Camels are wonderfully mild. I smoke quite a lot. They never affect my nerves."
