COTTON GROWERS TO DEMAND THAT PRICE INCLUDES A PROFIT

State Agricultural Department Claims That Reserve Bank Calling Loans Depressed Price of Staple—Suggestions Offered by the Market Specialist.

Special to the News. AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—The following is given out by the state agricultural department:

The price of the 1920 cotton crop along with what is left of the 1919 crop, will determine several very important things now having the attention of the people of the world.

The producers of cotton and their friends, desire a voice in the price and demand that it include a profit. The speculative and spinning interests desire to prevent this and are not asleep on their job. They generated several schemes during the harvest and sale of the 1919 crop to thwart the aims of the producers and their friends.

Some of the conditions which have been taken advantage of are: The embargo forbidding the railroads to haul cotton in West Texas last fall, the longshoremen's strike at Galveston, and the action of the federal reserve bank board.

The embargo gave an excuse for lowering the local price by saying "We cannot ship it." The claim of a conspiracy to lower the price is borne out recently by the editor of a prominent New England spinner's journal in his answer to charges of a conspiracy to depress the price.

The action of the reserve bank board caused the banks to call loans on cotton, which forced it to sell, thus aiding in the scheme to depress the price.

Propaganda is being given out and plans laid to cut the value of the 1920 crop in half. The report of car and ship shortage, which is already depressing the price of wheat, the talk of "tight money", of a big crop, which is impossible with half a stand over the principal producing sections, and a great deal got in bloom August 1, while adjoining fields have grown bolls in them and insects demanding toll.

The fact is, as we have frequently stated, more than half of the United States crop is needed by foreign countries, which are not in shape to buy in large quantities as fast as we gather. Their condition must be considered, and the sale of our cotton adjusted to their ability to pay.

gives them the whiphand in making the price next fall, if the local banks and merchants stay behind them. It is the first time in history that the farmers held the carry over. It is the first time in history that they have been absolutely masters of the situation; that is, if the reserve banks will adopt a human policy and extend loans of the member banks to the end that the crop may be sold to bring cost of production and a profit. The state department of agriculture will give out by September 10 the report of its cost-finding and price recommending committee. If our credits can be mobilized behind the farmers, the work will be done, which will make certain the prosperity of the farmers and through them of all our people.

STABLE WHEAT PRICE FOR FARMERS SEEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Stable wheat prices, for the American farmer will result in future deliveries by the Chicago Board of Trade, according to Professor James E. Boyle, of Cornell University, formerly with the Bureau of Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture, who was present recently when the pit resumed operations, after a three-year's war-time interruption.

"Renewal of trading on the open market, governed by the law of supply and demand," said Professor Boyle, "marks the passing of a war-time condition of vital importance to the grower. What impressed me was the fact that country elevators hedged their wheat as if there never had been an interruption. When there was no trading for future delivery many country elevators refused to buy from the farmers, because they had no way of knowing what wheat would bring when it reached the central markets. Now that trades may be made in the open market, I look for a constantly increasing volume of business, which will be governed for some time by the ability of the railroads to supply cars."

COX AND HARDING IN LINE FOR SUFFRAGE, BOTH SAY TO WOMEN

Senator Harding Wires Republicans in Tennessee, Asking Them to Vote for Ratification; Governor Cox Holding Conferences and Getting Ready for His Active Campaign.

DAYTON, Aug. 5.—With the presidential nomination ceremonies only two days off, Governor Cox is hard pressed with preliminary details and in closing Ohio executive and his personal affairs so as to free himself for the campaign after Saturday's notification.

Many democratic leaders, including the chairman of the national committee, White, and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, head of the speaker's bureau, are reported enroute for pre-notification conferences. The advance guard of the democratic pilgrims is also expected. Governor Cox had another conference on the Tennessee situation with Mrs. Abby Baker of the national woman's party.

MARION, Aug. 5.—Senator Harding in telegrams to the republican and suffrage leaders at Nashville, further exerted his influence for ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature.

In a telegram to John Houk, chairman of the republican state committee, Senator Harding said he believed the republicans were "in a position to serve both parties and the country by effecting ratification," and asked information as to the poll of the republican members of the legislature regarding the ratification. He telegraphed Mrs. Catt and encouraged state republicans to work for the ratification.

TEXAS WILL HAVE PLENTY OF CORN TO SELL OUTSIDE STATE

AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—Estimating the Texas corn crop this year will exceed 160,000,000 bushels, which will be more than may be disposed of at home, plans are being made for marketing by the state warehouse marketing department for handling the surplus crop. Major Sam H. Dickson, chief of the division, has announced.

The plans contemplate getting buyers from other states to buy the surplus crop and Major Dickson says he already has a list of prospective buyers so that the farmers may be assured of getting the highest market price for their corn. Reports received by the division from the corn belt of Texas strongly indicate a bumper crop this fall. The list of buyers are not all outside of Texas, as in the state there are many sections that do not produce a sufficient amount of corn for local consumption.

LEICESTER REBER IS FOUND DEAD IN ROOM, WOUND IN HIS HEART

Was Station Agent at Brek-Walker and His Body Discovered in Room This Morning—Was Native of Natchez, Miss., Where Body Will Be Sent for Burial.

Leicester Reber, 29 years of age, station agent at Brek-Walker station on the Cisco & Northeastern railway, about three miles northeast of Parks Camp, was found dead in bed in his room at the station this morning with a gun shot wound through his heart.

How the young man was killed and by whom is unknown, although five arrests have been made in connection with the death.

He leaves surviving him his mother, two sisters and a brother at Natchez, Miss., of which place deceased was a native and where the body will be sent for burial, it now being embalmed at Breckenridge.

No cause for the killing can be assigned by his friends. He was a most exemplary young man, he had no trouble, so far as known, his accounts were in perfect shape and if he had an enemy his friends were not aware of it. He came here last November and was employed by the Texas Oil company, later resigning from its employ to become agent at Brek-Walker. A representative of the Texas company said no young man ever bore better recommendations than he brought here. He had been a captain in the United States army and went overseas, serving throughout the war.

GREAT ALARM IN LONDON OVER RUSSO-POLAND SITUATION AND SECRET TREATY WITH GERMANY

Officials and Diplomats Consider It as Critical as That of August, 1914—Secret Treaty Provides That Russia Is to Conquer Poland, Take All Its Arms, Munitions, Rolling Stock and Supplies and Then Turn It Over to Germany to Be Held as Guaranty for Future Advances to Russia.

The efforts of the Poles to stem the bolshevik invasion which threatens Warsaw, seems to have been futile. Brest-Litovsk, the last bastion in the permanent defenses of the east Polish capital and the important railroad junction and strategic base to the northwest and Kovel, northwest of Brest-Litovsk, have been deserted by the Poles. The soviets have thrown forces across the Bug river and it appears will compel the Poles to retreat from the important fortress in west Brest-Litovsk. The soviets are maintaining an average progress of six miles a day in the direction of Warsaw. They have held to the south, however, and are being pushed back from the districts east of Lemberg, the objective of the present campaign. American aviators fighting with the Kosiousko squadron are battling against General Budenny's cavalry and infantry along the Serth river, where the soviets are being held. The soviets' losses in this district Wednesday were reported heavy.

ENGLAND MAY DECLARE WAR

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Statements printed in extremist newspapers here that Great Britain has threatened to declare war against soviet Russia, if the bolshevik advances into Poland are not halted, are not confirmed in authoritative quarters, while it is generally agreed that the allies are taking an emphatic stand upon the terms sent by Earl Curzon, foreign affairs secretary, recently, that if the soviet made war on the Poles, the allies would assist the Poles. Nothing reliable is known just now if the assumption of such an assurance will take form in a declaration of war.

RUSSO-GERMAN TREATY

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Soviet Russia had concluded a secret treaty with Germany, concerning Poland, a few weeks before the Polish offensive, says a correspondent of the London Times, who claims to have secured the information on "excellent authority."

The treaty is said to contain the provision that Russia, without German interference, will be allowed to appropriate all of Poland's arms, munitions, rolling stocks and foodstuffs, and after the conquest of Poland, Russia will be permitted to send commissioners there to control the export of Polish supplies.

It is declared Russia will then undertake to evacuate Poland in favor of Germany, who will hold the country as a guarantee against future credits to Russia in return for German goods and labor.

The Times correspondent adds that Russia intends to try to avoid the terms of the treaty by the creation of a Polish bolshevik army. "When Russia withdraws she will leave this Polish army, permitting Germany to take such steps as she can to face the situation. The bolsheviks are convinced that England will not materially aid Poland and will wage their next campaign against Rumania and Bessarabia," he said.

ALARM FELT IN LONDON

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Among British officials and foreign diplomats there is undisguised anxiety felt over the Russo-Polish situation. One said: "The situation is as grave as that of August, 1914."

GERMAN INGENUITY STILL ON HIGH PLANE, REPORT

LONDON, Aug. 5.—England is finding that German ingenuity in peace pursuits was not dormant during the war. An immense number of applications for patents, following re-opening of diplomatic relations, reveals the German inventive genius as active as ever. Among the patent applications from across the Rhine are ninety from Krupp for war materials and instruments. Toys run the heaviest, however.

GREAT WHEAT CROP

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 5.—The Kansas wheat crop of more than ten thousand acres is harvested, with the exception of a few fields in the extreme northeastern part of the state. It was just a month ago that the big job got under way in the southern counties and in a brief thirty days Kansas farmers have harvested enough wheat to feed for a year a third of the population of the United States. Kansas again stands the premier wheat growing state of the nation.

WATCH THE PROFITEER

The first conclusion reached in official circles at Washington following the increase in freight and passenger rates granted the railroads, was that profiteers would quickly take advantage of the increased freight charges, for the transportation of the goods they sell, to ask prices from the consumer many times in proportion to the additional freight charges paid. A dispatch from Washington says:

Warnings against general price advances based on the newly approved increases in railroad freight rates were sounded today by government officials and economists familiar with production and distribution costs. At the same time the fear was expressed that profiteers will make the rate raise a pretext for further exactions from the consumer. Experts of the department of justice have begun an investigation to determine the exact relation of the freight increase to retail prices. Prompt prosecution will follow any attempt to pass a magnified burden on to the public, it was declared.

The government has secured figures from many sources, all going to show that the increase in transportation costs is insignificant when applied to the average item in the housekeeper's daily budget of purchases. Of course, in the item of coal and other bulky and heavy articles, the increase is going to be more than noted. It is going to prove a burden, but freight charges represent only a fraction of a cent in food prices and only a few cents, at most, in clothing prices, as was pointed out at Washington.

The total increase of rates amounts to $12 to $14 per capita for the entire people. If a family is expending $1,400 per annum for its living, the increase, at $14, would be only one per cent and this is what the government is expecting it to be.

Whether the government will be able to hold the increase in prices, to anything like the actual increase in cost, to the seller, is problematical, for Attorney General Palmer, after all his proclamations and a few prosecutions, found, according to the report of the department of labor, that there has been a steady increase in the cost of living, amounting, since last January, to more than nine per cent.

A labor leader insists the retailer should absorb all this increased cost and that there should be no advance to the consumer. Perhaps this is an extreme view, but surely at prevailing prices there can be no excuse for an advance in prices such as was alleged to have been made by packing houses when they, immediately upon hearing of the labor board's award of $800,000,000 to the railroad employees and days before the increase in freight rates was made, advanced the price of hams ten cents per pound.

Evidently it is just this kind of case the government had in mind when it issued the warning above referred to. The packing houses, by the way, always offer the government something to do and all the attempts to control the packing industry and Mr. Palmer's settlement with the "Big Five," appear to have been fruitless, as the combination continues to fix, not only the price of its products, but to tell the farmer and stockman just what is the price of their cattle and hogs.

WILL CRY FOR BREAD

Wheat growers of three northwestern states claim there is more than 650,000,000 bushels of wheat awaiting shipment from that section and that unless cars are obtainable for its shipment that the east will be bread hungry next winter.

Growers of wheat, as well as producers of all other commodities, are so anxious to secure cars that they are not backward in putting forth any kind of claim as to the dire results to follow their inability to get the cars, but this is one case in which they may be absolutely correct.

It is not the northwest alone that demands cars. West Texas is, perhaps, as great a sufferer from this cause as is any section. In the newspapers appear pictures of thousands of bushels of wheat piled in the open, exposed to the weather and with excellent prospects of it being destroyed by the fall rains.

With millions of bushels of wheat rotting at the place of its production and a scarcity of bread, or even with sufficient supply and the price placed beyond the reach of the poor, a great responsibility is resting upon the management of the railroads.

They invariably report they are doing the best they can. It is just possible they can do better. But they should be given every assistance by the shippers. Stories come of men ordering cars and then not loading them, thus denying others the use of the cars for that time and others are slow about unloading cars. The people can aid in keeping the cars moving and in this rests the only possibility of preventing bread, coal and other famine in many sections next winter.

UNAMERICAN

There is something wrong when it becomes necessary for Americans to resort to such methods as were introduced by the German armies in the world war for the maintenance of law and order in this country.

The fact that strike-breakers in Denver resorted to the use of "gas" as a weapon against the strikers on the street car lines of that city, does not appeal to the fair American. It reaches a degree of not only unfairness, but of brutality.

If the official force of Denver is incapable of combatting crime and wrongdoing and lawbreaking in that city, without recourse to such methods, it is only meet that a dozen policemen, as they did, should become the victims of the first discharge of the poisonous gas which, it is claimed, was used only to temporarily render incapable of action, but not to kill those against whom it was directed.

The employment of this "hunger" weapon brings upon Denver and its official force, a disgrace that will be lasting. Better allow the street cars to stand idle for weeks than have this stigma cast upon a city.

CLEARING ENOCH ARDEN

We have no quarrel with the fellow who writes headlines. We have to write them ourselves, and we know the difficulties of sense and space that confront the man who would put the essence of an article in large type and small area.

But let headlines please hereafter let "Enoch Arden" alone. Every time a wanderer returns to find that his wife has construed his absence to be one due to demise, and has secured another husband on the theory that she ought to have a man about the place, the headliner sobs forth something about another "Enoch Arden."

We are writing this in behalf of the memory of the late "Enoch Arden," and we protest against these divorce court lizards being permitted to take a place beside the old mariner in the niche which Tennyson, with the assistance of millions of readers, carved out for him. After his return from far off lands, Enoch stood for the moment on the outside looking in at his wife and Philip. Then he walked away and kept his secret, until just before he died. There was no case of Arden against Arden. And there were no headlines. That's the reason there was a poem by the laureate.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

ROSES

Everybody worships the rose. If a man or woman has anything at all growing out of the ground, he or she is pretty sure to have begun with a rose-bush. The walk of the multimillionaire's palace is lined with roses, and the poor negro squatter's shack is embowered in them. The noblest of flowers is also the emblem of the most sacred thing in the world, which is womanhood. The Irish peasant, yearning toward his peasant sweetheart, sings "Rose o' the world, I love ye" and the poet says, "Love is like a lovely rose, the world's delight." The budding rose is the type and embodiment, too, of life, of youth, of hope, yet when the loved one is dead, what then?

Strew on her roses, roses, And never a spray of yew! That we are companioned from birth to death by the rose, and by it followed to the grave, is after all the finest proof that we have that the world is good. In bereavement the "white rose of weary leaf" comforts us, and in joy the red rose is the spirit of a blessed infinity made flesh and laid upon our cheek. There is a rose for every sorrow, every joy, every mood, every passion known to the human soul.—Boston Transcript.

AMERICA ALL RIGHT

Where are we in the United States at the present time? How do we stand industrially, commercially, financially, economically?

Figures won't lie, though liars may figure. So let's do a little figuring—and a little philosophizing. At the close of the Civil war, we estimated our national wealth at about seven billion dollars.

We estimate it today at about 225 billion. Doesn't look as if we were in much danger of becoming bankrupt does it? We are by far the wealthiest people in the whole world.

England approaches us most closely in national wealth. She is worth about 80 billion dollars. This country produces in any single year agricultural and manufactured products of greater value than the whole national wealth of France. We're very wealthy.

But we mustn't squander. We produce 22 per cent of the world's supply of wheat, 35 per cent of the oats, 50 per cent of the corn, 27 per cent of the cattle, 40 per cent of the hogs, 25 per cent of the dairy supplies. So we're in no danger of starving.

But we've got to work—and save. We produce 60 per cent of the world's supply of cotton, 22 per cent of the woollens, 25 per cent of the linens, 36 per cent of the shoes. Consequently we're not in intimate danger of having to go naked or cold.

Still we must work—and save. We have an abundance of raw materials for all building purposes. Therefore we shan't have to go shelterless.

Nevertheless we must work—and save. And—we can't wiggle out of work by wallowing in waste. We can't lower the cost of living by raising the standard. We can't pay our debts by adding to them. We can't add to our savings accounts by subtracting from our endeavors. We can't lengthen our bank rolls by shortening our work day.

These things can't be done! We're all right, but if we would stay right, we must stay right on the job.—Marion (O.) Star.

TO FORM CANADIAN LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE

International News Service. WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 5.—A Canadian national livestock exchange, to consolidate and centralize the activities of the seven exchanges now operating in cities throughout the Dominion, will be organized next January. Plans are now being formulated by the convention of livestock men held here recently. The committee will submit a complete organization scheme at a general convention of livestock men to be called next January.

"The new central exchange," said George L. Armstrong, president of the Winnipeg Livestock Exchange, "will be a clearing house for all problems of the livestock industry. Freight congestion, traffic routes and rates, practical methods of economical marketing and questions of livestock brokerage will be worked out in detail."

Gold Medal coffee is served at the Liberty Cafe.

Why Not An Optimist?

Whatever increase in prices there may be as a result of the increase in freight rates will only be temporary and will be more than made up quickly if the railroad executives make the most of the situation and lose no time in providing news cars and equipment.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Vote in Same Ratio?

We suppose that it has no bearing upon the presidential campaign, but the Dayton News has a daily circulation of 36,661 as compared with 9,498 for the Marion Star, according to 1919 circulation figures.—Temple Telegram.

In Bryan's Own State

America is worse than heathen Japan in the matter of divorces. We are told there is one divorce for every six marriages in this country, and in the heathen state of Nebraska the divorces and marriages run fifty-fifty. The holy bonds of matrimony apparently are made of rotten substance.—Abilene Reporter.

He's No Chesterfield

The chairman of the "large north Texas society," who maliciously left Miss Annie Webb Bianton's name off the official ticket and placed thereon the name of her opponent, has evidently forgotten the courtesy axiom of Lord Chesterfield, "The ladies first—always."—Waco News-Tribune.

Oil Blessings

The prayer which was suggested some years ago for John D. Rockefeller might well be voiced by Texas: "Praise God from whom oil blessings flow."—Waco News-Tribune.

The Farmers Are "It"

Farmers of Williamson county have agreed to pay $1.50 a hundred to cotton pickers during the season and to hold cotton seed for better prices. Farmers produce the cotton. Why shouldn't they fix the price of the lint and the seed? They are the owners of the staple.—Fort Worth Record.

The Parson Speaks

— ON EQUALITY —

International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—"Men are not born free and equal. Equality is not a natural thing. It is not found in life. Inequality is the law of life and progress."

This declaration was made by the Rev. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, local Baptist clergyman, sermonizing on "The impossibility of Equality."

"There is only one basis for any kind of equality, and that is a spiritual basis," continued Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse.

"There are thousands of people in America today shaking their fists in the faces of people of achievement and saying under their breath: 'I am just as good as you, and unless you accord me the same rights that you have I will cut off your head, destroy your home, or upset your form of government.' These people are free to make accomplishments, but they are not equal in talent."

"There are only two places where there is perfect equality. One is the cemetery and the other the seashore. Dead men are equal, and the sands of the sea are equal."

"Socialism would limit men in their development, while the great American republic stands for the growth and development of its people to the highest degree."

BITS OF HUMOR

What a Knockout of a Joke!

"Every time I have an argument with my wife I enter it in a small diary."
 "Ah—I see. You keep a little scrap book."—Columbia Jester.

One Enough

The ex-goth now the father of trip-lets, proudly displayed his offspring to his bashful buddy.

"What do you think of them?" he phorted.
 "Well," replied his buddy doubtfully, "if I was you I think I'd keep that one there."—American Legion Weekly.

His Army

"There's one thing I've wanted to ask you about your life in France," she said.

"Yes?" prompted the ex-buck tremulously.
 "What did you and the colonel usually talk about at meal times?"—The Home Sector.

"The brawny corporal who stood beside the stretcher gave her a grim laugh and said: 'Well, lady, he ain't no officer, but he's been hit twice in the innards, both legs busted, he's got two bullets in both arms, and we dropped him three times without his lettin' out a squeak, so I guess ye can call him a man.'"—National Republican.

Idle Embellishment

"The farmer is no longer depicted with hayseed in his hair."
 "I should say not!" said Mr. Corn-tassel. "Hayseed is too valuable a necessity just now to be used merely as an article of personal adornment."—Washington Star.

Not for Him

"Now, I wouldn't like living in New York."

"Why not, Uncle Heck?"
 "I don't see no place to pitch horse-shoes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Helpful Elimination

"Well," said Farmer Corn-tassel, "I reckon I've done a pretty good afternoon's work."

"But all you did," commented Jud Tunkins contemptuously, "was to sit on the fence and whittle."
 "Yes, but what I whittled up was the family outa bread."—Washington Star.

GRAIN HOSPITAL IS BIG MONEY SAVER FOR CANADIAN FARMERS

MOOSE JAW, Sask., August 5.—Erected in 1913 at a cost slightly in excess of $1,250,000, the hospital grain elevator here, the first to be erected in Western Canada, has saved for the farmers of this province more than three times what it cost.

Prior to its construction all grain that got damp and tough, or in any way required attention and treatment at a grain hospital had to be taken half across the continent to Fort William.

With a present normal capacity of 3,500,000 bushels, the elevator is so arranged that additional accommodations for a total capacity of 10,000,000 bushels can be built at small cost, merely by the erection of additional storage tanks.

The drying plant has a capacity of 1,000 bushels of damp grain per hour or more than 750,000 bushels per month. Since it began operations it has handled, dried, cleaned and distributed more than 5,000,000 bushels for seed purposes.

WESTERN UNION NOT TO LAND CABLE UNTIL PERMIT IS OBTAINED

WASHINGTON, August 5.—President Wilson is understood to have issued orders to both army and navy departments not to permit the Western Union Telegraph company to land on American soil a cable line from the Barbadoes until permission is obtained from the state department.

Construction from the Barbadoes end is said to have started on the proposed cable, which it is said would extend to Miami, Florida, and establish direct communication between the United States and South America, eliminating the present relay at Barbadoes station in British territory.

Complaints of unnecessary delay of messages passing through Barbadoes are reported made by American firms dealing with South Americans.

HISTORIC ESTATE ON SALE; PRINCESS' COFFIN AND ALL

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Any American with surplus cash who wishes to add a historic estate, including a princess's coffin used as a watering trough, to his collection has the offering of Baron Hill estate, Isle of Anglesey. It includes 5,000 acres and the town of Beaumaris.

A royal coffin of stone in the grounds connects the estate with the tragedy of an English princess—Joan, daughter of King John, of England, and wife of Prince Llywelyn ab Iorwerth.

At the siege of Montgomery Llywelyn took prisoner a knight named William de Brees and lodged him in his own castle. Princess Joan fell in love with the captive, and when, after de Brees had been liberated by ransom, her husband discovered her unfaithfulness he enticed de Brees back and killed him.

Joan died many years later. For 250 years her coffin was used as a watering trough for cattle until in 1868, Lord Bulkeley removed it to Baron Hill.

"YOU CAN HAVE HIM, I DON'T WANT HIM"

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 5.—Faced by two wives, each waving a marriage certificate, J. J. Clackum, of Smyrna, pleaded guilty to charges of bigamy.

Considerable speculation in the court was caused as to the correct procedure when Wife No. 1 declared she was through with Clackum, and Wife No. 2 said she loved him and wanted him.

"You can have him," snapped Wife No. 1. "I've had him twenty years and I'm tired of him."

"I've got him," retorted No. 2. "You didn't treat him right or you could have kept him."

"I didn't want to keep him, he was no good," shouted No. 1. Clackum, it was charged, married Mrs. Caroline Clackum twenty years ago, reared a family of four children, and two years ago abandoned her and married Mrs. Oma Clackum.

Clackum told the judge he wanted to be tried and get it over with. He did not intimate which, if either, of the wives he would take.

Compares Bolshevism to French Revolution

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lord Grey, former foreign minister and ambassador to the United States, has come to the conclusion that bolshevism represents a phase of social history, comparable to the French revolution.

Britain and the allies, he concludes, should adopt a policy of non-interference. The stand is one that is far from the beliefs of certain sections of the British government, but one that parallels the view adopted widely in America.

Speaking to the League of Nations Union, Lord Grey said:

"I am not a bolshevist. I regard bolshevism as the outcome of tsarism. Bolshevism means the dictatorship of the proletariat. It is a revolution to which arbitrary and inefficient government gave rise. In my opinion the real analogy between bolshevism and history is the French revolution. That is the stage through which countries pass. If that be so, it is somewhat misleading to raise the point at this moment of the permanent admission of the Russian government if that means that it will be admitted to the League of Nations in its present condition. It must agree that just as other nations do not interfere with its internal affairs, it will not interfere with the affairs of other nations. You cannot have that second condition in Russia until Russia has had, at any rate, a few months of peace; but do not understand that I wish to criticize what is going on between this government and Russia.

"What I want to point out is this: The allies are now dealing with the de facto bolshevist government of Russia, which a few months ago they announced it was their object to destroy. That could have been avoided, in my opinion. In a country like Russia after a revolution takes place should at once declare a policy of non-interference. I believe, if that policy had been pursued after the armistice, Russia would today have made some progress through a stage of revolution to a stage of evolution. The result of that policy has been to produce in Russia a national sentiment for bolshevism. How could it have been avoided? I think by, at the proper time, making use of the League of Nations. That was before the last Polish offensive took place. The time when the bolshevists wanted peace was the time when we might have had an inquiry by the League of Nations. You must not, first of all, queer the pitch by a policy of interference."

LESSON IN TRAINING CHILDREN TO POINT OF PERFECTION NEW

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—How to train the "perfect child" has been explained in essays to the Association of Infant Welfare and Maternity Centres by 1,000 working mothers.

A child should be taught to be self-controlled, obedient, kind, willing and gentle, but "parents cannot make their children any of these unless they themselves set the example," wrote Mrs. Bladen Greet. "Parents should take the children always into good company and read nothing but the best of literature."

Mrs. Hibbert, of Chesterfields, believes parents should try to see things from the child's viewpoint.

"Children," she says, "should be encouraged to make playmates whose friendship will help them toward strength of character and real fun and happiness in what is the business of life to them—their play."

Mrs. Appleby, of Canning Town, thinks babies should be taught self-control, because "it prevents illness in after life, punctuality in feeding prevents greediness and a regular time for sleeping prevents sleepiness."

EDUCATION SLOWS UP; SCHOOL HOUSES SCARCE

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The war has slowed up education in the British Isles. Thousands of children are prevented from obtaining such education as is legally provided, because of the lack of buildings.

The Scottish education act, which raises the school-age limit by one year, cannot be put into operation this year as intended, owing to lack of facilities.

The labor organizations point out that if money spent on swollen army and navy estimates were put into new school buildings and luxury building stopped until schools and dwellings are provided, the whole situation would be remedied in a few years.

AEROPLANES TO HERD CROP KILLING DUCKS

International News Service.

WILLOWS, Cal., Aug. 5.—The aeroplane has solved the problem for Glenn county rice growers. Annually huge losses are sustained by the rice growers, when thousands of migratory wild ducks settle down to feed on the rice plantations. This year a fleet of planes will be used to herd the ducks from their feeding grounds.

Church a Luxury

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A church is a "luxury" by ruling of the Northwood council. Catholics applied for permission to build a church and the council ruled that labor was needed for house building. They then applied for permission to erect a corrugated iron structure and the council ruled this out also under the "luxury building" ban provided under the housing scheme.

STATE TAKES A HAND IN THE ENFORCEMENT OF SANITARY LAWS

Dr. Joseph W. Gregory, city health officer, is in receipt of the following admonition to all residents, from the state board of health, bureau of sanitary engineering, at Austin:

"Clean up your own premises. Keep all garbage covered in metal cans. Keep covers closed. This will starve the rat. Don't allow garbage to be thrown on vacant lots around your premises. Admit any authorized health inspector to your premises. He is there for your benefit. Watch and report for your own protection unsanitary conditions in your neighborhood. Tell your neighbors to do the same."

Dr. Gregory said today that the legal sanitary officials are filing complaints every day against citizens who fail to keep garbage in regulation metal receptacles with tight fitting covers and who persist in throwing garbage in alleys and on vacant lots.

HARRY JUST ESCAPED A SURE 'NUF FUNERAL

International News Service. WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 5.—Buried in a sand pile, in a wooden box, four-year-old Harry Hoffman narrowly escaped death.

The lad and a number of playmates were playing "funeral." Little Harry was the "corpse."

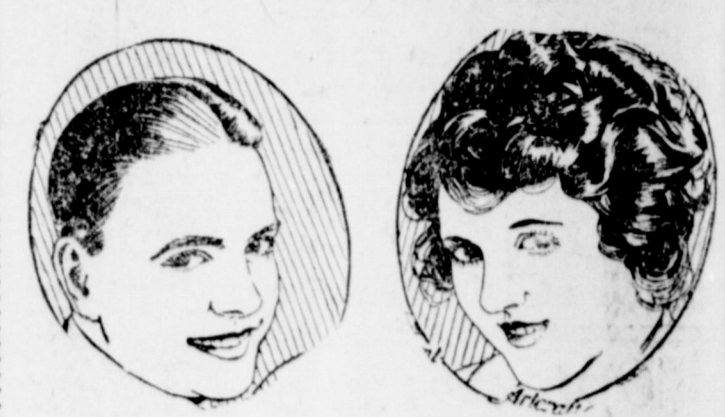

Harry was nailed in a box, which his playmates dragged to a sandpile. Then the youngsters made merry, as they heaped sand upon the "casket."

The noise of the children attracted Mrs. J. Warnickie, who went to the sandpile to find out what the little folks were doing.

Scoping the sand from the box she tore off the lid and found little Harry unconscious.

The lad soon was revived, however. Gold Medal coffee is served at the Liberty Cafe. 264
