Mrs. J. W. Lawrence Passes Away Here

Another one of Cisco's old settlers went to rest Thursday evening when Mrs. Lou Tisha Dow Lawrence passed away at the home of her son, C. H. Lawrence at 11:50 o'clock.

Some ten days ago she suffered a rather painful accident in a fall at her home here. Carrying her little grandson, Bobby Joe Lawrence, in her arms she started down the steps from the porch, when she fell to the ground. In some manner that has not yet been discovered she received a severe cut in one of her lower limbs. While it was impossible to locate the cause it is evident that she struck some sharp instrument in the fall, as it was necessary to take twenty-five stitches in sewing up the wound. Miraculously the baby was uninjured. Mrs. Lawrence not realizing her condition, but feeling uneasiness for the child, walked some distance to the home of her son, C. H. Lawrence carrying the baby in her arms. Medical aid was summoned at once, and it was thought she was getting along very well, but complications set up causing death.

She was born in Tennessee, near Nashville, March 20th, 1874, and came to Texas when about three years of age. She lived in Dallas until 1885, when she came with her mother, Mrs. E. N. Donovan, to Cisco and located, making her home here continuously ever since. She was married to J. W. Lawrence here February 28th, 1892. Mr. Lawrence passed away January 4th, 1926. Mrs. Lawrence has been a member of the First Methodist church here for many years. She was truly, one of God's good women, loved and honored by all who knew her.

Funeral services were held at the residence here at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. T. Edgar Neal, presiding elder of the First Methodist Church of this city conducting services. The body was placed to rest beside that of her husband in Oakwood cemetery.

Deceased leaves two sons, C. H. Lawrence, dairyman and groceryman of this place; and Jonah Mack Lawrence, now manager of the Piggly-Wiggly stores at Sweetwater; one sister, Mrs. J. P. McCanlies and one brother, Jonah Donovan, both of Cisco, also survive, besides other relatives.

Payment of School Taxes At Once Is Insisted

Attention is called to the fact that all school taxes are due and must be paid by October 15 to avoid the penalty of ten per cent additional which will be charged after that date. All knowing themselves indebted on school taxes are urged to attend to same at the earliest possible date. The funds are badly needed to carry on the school work, and in addition to saving a penalty for the tax payer it will be of material assistance to the school board at this time.

Reader Discusses Depression Remedy

To cure a patient of a serious physical ailment, it is often necessary for the physician to build up the system so that life may be nourished and sustained while the cure is being effected, so it is with our national life. There are basic and fundamental reasons for our present unemployment and poverty, which is destroying the life of our nation—the richest in the world. To educate our citizenship, so that through their will as expressed at the ballot box they will change and eliminate these objectionable features affecting our economic and spiritual life, will take time. An emergency confronts us, however, and we must use palative measures to stimulate our present business conditions to the end that no dictatorship will be established, which might suppress Free Speech and a Free Press. Provisions so necessary for the proper education and advancement of our people. The question that confronts us most keenly is, what are we going to do this winter? Some have thought that if there was little or no improvement over present conditions when Congress meets in December, that a government loan of several billion dollars would be "floated," the proceeds of which would be used to pay labor bills contracted on the prosecution of such public works as river and harbor improvements, canals, public buildings, highway construction, and other fields of operation now under government jurisdiction. If funds could not be commanded from any other source, such action might be commendable. In times of emergency, however, action may be properly taken, which at other times might not be entirely justified. As our government is now heavily in debt and is paying annually, enormous sums as interest on this indebtedness, going in debt further at this time should be a last resort. Fortunately, our government is solvent, and her credit is unquestioned. Enormous financial resources are at her command. To raise funds to meet the present emergency of unemployment and its accompanying distress, and so that work might be provided for the millions now unemployed, Congress should pass an act providing for the issuance of two or three billion dollars of emergency currency (so stamped,) based upon the credit of our government. This currency to be used in the employment of labor on public works as outlined above. To provide for the possibility of this currency interfering with business affairs under normal conditions, the act authorizing its issuance might provide for its gradual retirement. Redeeming, say 10 per cent annually. To secure the two or three hundred million dollars needed annually for this purpose, it would be necessary to increase the taxes on incomes. This burden should be adjusted to rest on those best situated to bear it—those having the largest incomes. The act providing for the issuance of this emergency currency should clearly set forth that an emergency exists, and that to meet it the cooperation of all citizens is necessary, and to that effect all financial agents or agencies will be required to accept this currency on a par with any other curren-

To Consider Aid For Our Unemployed

In response to a call made by the welfare committee of the Women's Federated Clubs, a meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to discuss the proposition of providing relief for the unemployed and needy of this city the coming winter—which from all prospects, promise to be quite a task. The meeting was attended by representatives from the various clubs and organizations of the city, and all promised a loyal and united support in this worthy endeavor. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday, October 14th to further perfect plans and organization for this purpose.

cy issued by the United States Government, and to enforce this provision of the act it is provided that any failure to comply with this provision will subject the offender to a fine of $10,000 and a sentence of 5 years in the federal penitentiary. This enforcement measure with the unquestioned resources and credit of our government would provide for any contingencies that might arise during the life of this currency. It is not to be expected that this act will meet with favor in the eyes of our big financiers (a word that rhymes ominously with bucaners,) for there would be no avenue through which they could directly control this currency and profit thereby. The public would not be required to pay any heavy and burdensome accumulative interest charges on bonds backing this currency.

Each individual bill of the various denominations issued would be a non-interest bearing government note to be redeemed sometime within the 10 years following its issuance. Such notes would be backed by the entire credit of the United States, and through them would be solved the problem of securing funds and means to end our present wave of unemployment. Through the prosperity following such action even those who would be required to redeem these notes through the payment of the income taxes, would feel the burden very lightly, for their position enables them to reap a major portion of any prosperity that this country might enjoy. We would rest assured that they and their children would not go hungry and unclothed. In Congress today, there is a number of independent and intelligent members, whose cooperative efforts can secure the passage of this bill, but they will need the backing of the "common people," the people that Lincoln said that God must like, because He made so many of them.

In connection with the rehabilitation of our present financial system, there is an amendment to the Federal Reserve Act, which Congress should pass but space compels me to defer the presentation of this matter until a later date.

This is a time that friends as individuals and as a religious association should exercise their intelligence as well as their sympathies. Let us get behind some constructive legislation and give to our people the God-given right to earn their daily bread by the sweat of their brow.

Ordinance Will Reduce Gas Rate

After some prolonged discussion of this subject from time to time, the city commission, in their meeting Monday afternoon passed an ordinance lowering the gas rate for Cisco consumers from 75c to 50c per thousand. Commissioner J. R. Burnett made the motion and it was seconded by Commissioner J. T. Elliott. The commission in their meeting a week previous had set last Monday as a time for further taking up this subject, and had invited representatives from both the West Texas Utilities Co. and the Lone Star Gas Co. to be present at this meeting. Neither company was represented at the meeting. One reason for this was attributed to the deal which is now being made in which the West Texas Utilities Co. makes a sale of the gas distributing system both here and at Abilene to the Community Natural Gas Co., a subsidiary of the Lone Star.

The ordinance was ordered prepared at once, and is to go into effect November 1st.

Presbyterians Here Call New Pastor

Dr. J. Stuart Pearce of El Paso has been called by the First Presbyterian church of Cisco as pastor here. This conclusion was reached at a meeting of the church officials and members last Sunday morning. Rev. Pearce preached here recently. He has been serving as pastor of the Westminster church at El Paso for several years, going to that place from San Antonio. He is a very able minister, an excellent speaker, and a man of some twenty years' experience in his chosen work.

Rev. Pearce succeeds Rev. B. C. Boney, who resigned as pastor here to accept a call to the First Presbyterian church of Warren, Arkansas, in August. The new pastor is expected to preach here next Sunday.

President Busy On Bank Relief

According to a dispatch from Washington, bankers there have completed an organization of the $500,000,000 credit corporation recommended by President Hoover as a means of relieving the strain on the banks of this country.

The name of the huge organization is to be the National Credit Corporation. How much of the capital has been subscribed was not announced, but it was said the response from the country's banks, which have been asked to participate, had been satisfactory and articles of incorporation would be filed at Dover, Delaware.

Announcement of the final details was made by Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the New York clearing house and chairman of the organization committee, appointed yesterday by Governor G. L. Harrison of the New York federal reserve bank.

The plan has been mailed to 391 clearing house associations throughout the country. These associations will serve as local units in the administration of the corporation's activities.

The corporation is to be authorized to issue up to $1,000,000,000 in debentures to sub-

Topping Finished On Highway 23

The paving on highway 23, from Cisco northwest to the line of Shackelford county was completed last week. This is a project the completion of which has been looked forward to for the past ten years. The base was put down by the county, and the topping by the state, according to their agreement on such basis some time ago. Highway 23 is a federally designated highway, and besides adding materially to Cisco's convenient trade territory, it will also be a much used route for tourists.

The topping was done by the Jagoe Construction Co., and it is an excellent piece of work. While this company was here, they also put the topping on the overpass on highway No. 1 west of this city at Harrell's crossing.

The Lions Roared, But Were Not Dangerous

The roaring of the Brownwood Lions did not seem to intimidate the Cisco Lobo pack last night when the two teams met on Chesley field here for battle. The Loboes carried off the honors to the tune of 32 to 0, and at no time during the game was the Lobo goal in real danger from the invaders. This was Cisco's first conference game of the season, and the first real opportunity to ascertain just what material went into the makings of our team this season. Cisco scored once in each of the first, second and fourth quarters, and in the third quarter put two to her credit. Some excellent plunging and passing work characterized the game. The Lions put up a good fight, but could not cope with the heavier Loboes, who had the visitors outclassed in several respects.

CLUB TRIPS TO STATE FAIR

Six boys and four girls members of 4-H clubs will be awarded free trips to the Educational Encampment during the State Fair. Dates for the boys will be October 13, 14 and 15 and for the girls October 20, 21 and 22. Last year transportation for these trips was provided by the T. & P. Railway. Room and board while there was provided free by the State Fair management. The County Fair took care of other incidental expenses. Club members winning these trips were those with outstanding exhibits at the county fair and excellent records in their club work. This will be the basis of awards this year.

scribing banks, which are being asked to participate to the extent of 2 per cent of their net demand and time deposits. Interest on the debentures will be payable only if earned.

Personnel of the directorate and the executive officers will be made public tomorrow.

The corporation will have a nominal capital shares of $100 par value each which will be held by an equal number of directors representing the 12 federal reserve districts. The shares will be deposited with the governor of the federal reserve bank of New York.

In order to permit the national banks to contribute their shares of the required money, debentures, which have the same legal status as bonds, notes and other evidences of debt, will be issued and sold.

Cotton Pickers In Demand

There are certainly many good men now out of work and in actual want. They may be seen along every highway, and on almost every freight train, going, going, somewhere, looking for a better place. But in this connection it might be noted that there is a certain percentage of this floating population that is really not wanting to find any work. If they were the crying demand for cotton pickers would be easier met. From every section of the cotton-producing districts comes the appeal for more pickers. Of course the pay is not much, for the cotton raiser will at present prices for his products have mighty little left by the time the cotton is marketed to show for his year's work. But in places where the yield is good the picker can make living expenses and save a little money. In a news item from Temple stating that Bell County needs 1,000 pickers we note these words, "Hundreds of acres of Bell County land are white with cotton that beckons for the services of pickers in vain. The situation is becoming acute and unless relieved soon much damage and loss will result."

The Same Tactics Everywhere

From Municipal Utilities Magazine

That power interests in all sections of the country are following the same procedure in attempting to stifle any opposition, is indicated by an editorial in a recent issue of the "Citizen", published in Champaign, Illinois. In an editorial titled "Things to Think About," the editor points out several methods used by special interests to defeat municipal plants, and the methods used in that section closely resemble those that have been used in Texas and adjoining States. The editor of the "Citizen" has this to say: "Whenever a city decides to call an election to vote bonds to build its own light plant, the power interests will do every thing they can to defeat the bond issue.

THE PRESS

"In some places they have controlled the town papers and had them working against the best interest of the city and in favor of the private power interests. However in a few cases town papers have been strong for the town.

THE LAWYERS

"In some towns where bonds from owning, its own light plant the private power interests have hired lawyers to attend all meetings and pose as taxpayers and oppose every one who spoke in favor of voting bonds.

THE BANKERS

"In many towns the writer has had to deal with bankers who were working against the best interests of their town and for the power people. The most notorious of these is Shelbyville, Illinois and Aurora, Missouri.

"One banker in Shelbyville, Illinois worked to help the Insul people get through an election that took the city owned light plant away from the people and will cause the citizens to pay tribute to Insul for many years.

"At Aurora, Missouri a banker worked hard to keep the city from owning, its own light plant, and also helped the Doherty people put over a gas and electric franchise, binding exhorbitant rates on the people there.

"That bank has since failed. Some bankers will help rob their own citizens in order to get the power company's bank account. THE STOCKHOLDERS "In some towns the private power interests sell stock to some prominent citizens in order to get them to oppose a bond issue.

"There are a few people who will allow the power people to use them to work against their neighbors and the best interests of their town.

INJUNCTIONS

"Many times when towns start to own their own light plant, the private power people get some citizen to file injunction against it, to try and stop the town from building the plant.

Watch out for this injunction "goat" that allows the power people to use him.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

"Don't be surprised if the private power interests come out with a statement of some Chamber of Commerce against your city owning its light or gas plant.

"You no doubt know that the power men are strong in some Chambers of Commerce and dominate them. Don't allow the power people to hide behind a Chamber of Commerce to whip

you. THE FACTORY "In some towns where a factory was located the private power people went to them and got them to sign a statement that if the city put in a light plant they would move out. This is only a bluff. "If the factory is only staying in your town to help the power crowd rob you let them go."

"HUMAN CANNON BALL" AT FAIR

Dallas, Texas, — Clifford Gregg, famous the world over as the "Human Cannon Ball," will be one of the big features of the 1st Annual Pavillion Show in the Livestock Arena at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10 to 25, it has been announced here by T. E. Jackson, president of the exposition. Gregg is shot from a huge, regulation cannon more than one hundred feet across the arena to alight in a net. It is perhaps the most daring and sensational act ever seen in a circus.

The 1st Annual Pavillion Show will be a combined circus and rodeo, and in addition to booking some of the best known circus acts in the country, many of the most famous rodeo contestants in America have already sent in their entries for the cowboy sports.

Other acts among the circus performers booked for the 1st Annual Pavillion Show are Harmons Elephants, Finks animals, the five Lelands, the Lucky Boys, Norton Horses, Wan Wan San Troupe, Cooke and Wiswell, Kenneth Waites, Marlo Trio, and Cervones Band.

An Hour From San Antonio

The other day an airplane made the trip from San Antonio to Ft. Worth in an hour and twenty minutes. That is at the rate of 210 miles an hour. Probably the wind was favorable. But after making due allowance for aiding circumstances, the speed of the trip is so remarkable as not to be ignored in recasting conceptions of the meaning of distance in Texas.

It is but a matter of a few years at most until a man can live in San Antonio and office in Dallas without inconvenience to himself, or to his customers and clients. In some lines of work it could be managed now.

When it is remembered that the trip from San Antonio to Ft. Worth was in a commercial plane and this was no stunt flight, but a journey in pursuit of business routine, we begin to see what is involved. The same plane has made the trip from Ft. Worth to Dallas in eight minutes. That means that the principal expenditure of time in such travel is in getting to and from the flying fields. We are going to have to gear our thinking up to a speed of two and three hundred miles an hour, whether we like to do it or not. — Dallas News.

Comfort, Smartness and Ultimate Value of Car.

WHEN it comes to selecting the family automobile, a good basis of procedure is that adopted by the sight-weary American tourist who said to his partner when they came to the next important cathedral: "You do the inside and I'll do the outside." The average woman is quite content to have her husband concern himself with the body of the car, the wheel-base and general mechanics, provided she may have something to say about the inside. The car's clothing, as its upholstery may well be called, is equally important with the rest of the car, for upon it depends much of the comfort, smartness, beauty and ultimate value of the car.

In choosing the upholstery for the interior, a number of distinct features should be considered—good appearance, smart design, pleasing color, wearing quality, riding comfort, cleanliness and economy. The only material that can be depended on to embrace these important features in one fabric is velvet mohair, otherwise known as velmo, and made from the lustrous fleece of the Angora goat. Because of its original snowy whiteness, mohair can be dyed any shade, however subtle. Its lustrous sheen and soft, silky texture leave nothing to be desired in the way of beauty and luxurious appearance, while the long wearing quality of pile mohair, as contrasted with that of flat fabrics, is undisputed. A velvet upholstered car will be fresh and inviting long after the rest of the car has lost its good appearance or even given itself up to the infirmities of age. Because of the smooth surface of individual mohair fibres, discernible only under a microscope, dirt does not readily adhere to nor penetrate them, and the material is easily cleaned with a whiskbroom or by vacuum. Actual grease or dirt spots are removed by washing with pure soap and warm water.

Easy riding, an important feature when taking long trips, is assured with mohair velvet because there is no slipping and sliding about, as with smooth fabrics, and each fibre of the pile fabric acts as a resilient spring to absorb shocks. It is easier on the clothing, too, as the reduced friction avoids rubbing and subsequent shininess.

Added to these advantages is the additional one that they all add materially to the trade-in value of the car when the time comes to get a new one. In fact, it has been conservatively estimated that anywhere from fifty to two hundred dollars' difference can be looked for in a car whose upholstery is in perfect condition and inviting to the eye.

Offer Prize for Oldest Piece of Mohair

Have you a mohair-covered chair or sofa in your home? If so, you may be $250 the richer for it!

This paper is in receipt of a message from the Household Science Institute, Chicago, asking for help in locating the oldest piece of mohair-upholstered furniture in the United States. The style of the sought-for furniture, its use or non-use at the present time, are not important, providing it is in good condition. Its owner will be awarded $250, and the piece itself will be exhibited with other old-time furniture during the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933.

Back of the Institute's offer is the desire of Grace Vail Gray, its director, to ascertain the longevity of mohair. It is claimed that unless deliberately injured no instance has as yet been found of a mohair wearing through.

Readers who feel that they have something of interest should communicate with Mrs. Gray at the Household Science Institute, 7 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, giving the address of the piece in question.
