HOMEAGAIN HIRAM—Cub Reporter for the Clarion on the Job at the 'Frisco Convention Gets a Flop at "The Bells of Shandon" and a Hot Tip Where to Find the Convention.

Dear Ed. and readers of the Case City Clarion: Spent most of the day looking for a room to sleep in - Found all the hotels crowded on the waves while the overflow was parked out on sofas and leather chairs and those lucky enough to get standing room in the lobbies were milling around like a herd of Texas longhorns before a stampede. A policeman finally told me I could get a flop at "The Bells of Shandon" which I did after throwing out a couple of bucks in my room. It's a tough joint - a sailor's roost - just off the water front. I finally located Press Headquarters and told a bunch of New York newspaper men that I was a reporter too, and was writing for the Clarion and asked them where the convention was upon which they gave me the horse-laugh. It made me sore and I told them I had already trimmed several guys for getting fresh with me since I arrived and could keep it up indefinitely but when I started to take my coat off they realized I was in earnest and told me I might find the convention at the Civic Auditorium and if it wasn't there to try The Seal Rock Hotel - Hastily Hiram x

AID OFFERED HERE TO SICK WAR VETS

Dr. Gregory Assisting Injured and Mrs. Pettit Helping the Needy; War Department to Play Fair.

Dr. J. W. Gregory, city health officer who has been appointed Eastland county medical examiner for the War Risk Insurance Bureau, is now busy with many cases of men entitled to compensation under the disability provision.

The war department, through the agency of the War Risk Insurance Bureau, is leaving no stone unturned in the matter of giving disabled service men the attention and service it believes is due them," says Dr. Gregory.

"Many of those who saw overseas service in the front lines are carrying wounds that render them unfit for re-entering upon the course of their former occupations.

"In other cases there are many diseased conditions following severe attacks of influenza and pneumonia. Complications have resulted from many common diseases prevalent in camps and which have left men far below the normal condition in which they entered the service."

A thorough examination of disabled men every four or five months is made by the local examiner and a complete report forwarded to the War Risk Insurance Bureau at Washington. This is to fully acquaint the bureau with the changing physical condition of the claimant in order that he may legitimately continue to receive such assistance as the government offers.

Some pitiable cases are reported by Dr. Gregory.

One young man, who had seen service, had come here from a distant state attracted by the high wages paid in the oil fields. Upon arrival he became almost blind from trachoma. Far from home and among strangers, he was reduced to the status of a beggar on the streets.

Through the assistance of Mrs. Philip Pettit, head of the Red Cross in this county, the doctor was soon enabled to send the former soldier to a government eye hospital, where he is fast recovering his lost vision.

Other ex-service men have been found sick and in want. Railroad tickets to their homes have been furnished to many of them and others have been sent to government hospitals.

It is estimated that there are more than 600 former service men in Eastland county at the present time who are receiving government aid.

Mrs. Pettit is devoting her entire time to helping the war veterans who are sick or in need and has expressed a determination to see that they get a square deal at the hands of the government which has been most willing to comply with all authorized applications for help.

Dr. Gregory and Mrs. Pettit say that they will be glad to assist any former service man in any way possible if advised.

Visitor From West Commends Laying of Sewer System Here

R. J. Ridgeway of Tacoma, Washington, who visited his brother, T. E. Ridgeway, at 200 East Seventh street here during the holidays and then extended his trip to Nacogdoches county, arrived in Cisco Thursday on his return to Tacoma.

He says that the big, substantial improvements seen here since January 1 is very noticeable and that Cisco people have made the right start toward building a city.

"The first thing to do," he says, "is to provide sanitation and make the new sewer see that the health conditions here is perfect. Your city officials are wise in providing a modern sewer system and now that it has been laid, every citizen within the sewage district should connect with it at once."

Ridgeway has seen Tacoma grow from a small western town to a great city known for its cleanliness and healthfulness.

Police Looking for Miscreants Who Are Defacing New Depot

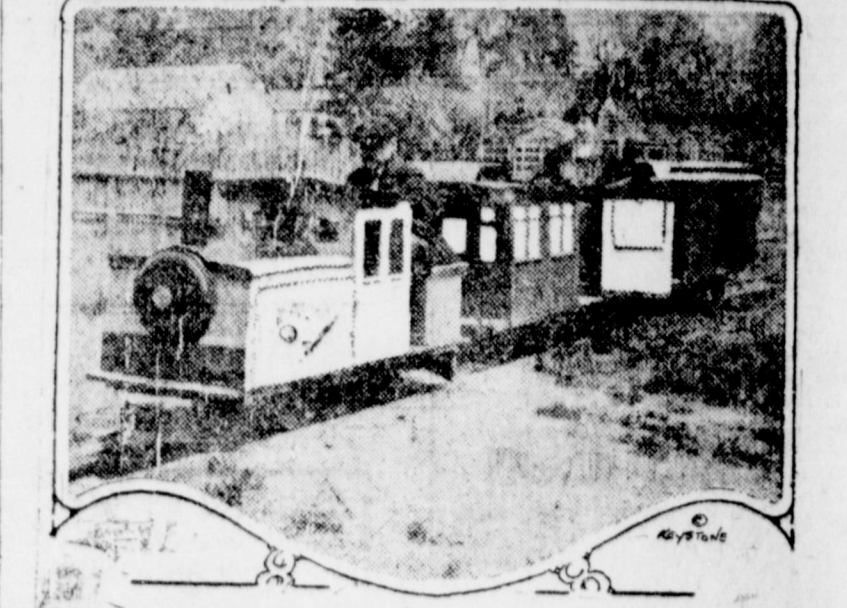

Complaint has been made to the police department that vandals have been defacing the remodeled depot building. The brick facing, the scraping of which was accomplished at a cost of several hundred dollars, has been marked up with blue crayon with lines running almost around the station.

The inner walls of the building, and especially the commodore are being cut and marked by miscreants indiscriminately.

Railroad officials have expressed their chagrin and have advised all employees to be on a sharp lookout for the vandals.

The doors of the Home Sweet Home Cafe opened last night with a ten-piece orchestra playing "Home Sweet Home." The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church served chicken dinner to over three hundred and fifty persons. The dinner consisted of fried chicken smothered in cream gravy, cream potatoes, combination salad a la bon, sliced tomatoes, maple nut sundae and French cookies. The orchestra was a special feature and will be continued by the management. The cafe was tastefully decorated in green, cream and blue.—Ad

VANDALISM.

The alterations and renovation of the railroad station have hardly been finished, and now we hear complaints from rail officials that the walls and brick work are being scratched, cut and marked by vandals.

It is hard to conceive the impulse which prompts individuals to mar and destroy things of beauty. In the majority of us such miscreancy begets such a chagrin and fine frenzy of feeling that we could almost destroy the mutilators of art with our hands if we could discover them.

Without condoning in any way the mischief of those who, deprived of the genius to create, satisfy their dwarfed natures with exercising the counter-power of destruction, how prevalent is this spirit in all of us?

Who of us have seen a smooth, white carpet of unbroken snow without having an insuppressible inclination to leave our footprints in it?

Who of us have sat at a polished desk with a pencil without being confronted with the temptation to leave a faint mark on it?

Who of us have seen flowers growing in all the beauty of their natural setting and have resisted the impulse to cut them from their roots and let them wither prematurely in vases?

Go to your wall telephone and see if you can interpret any of the hieroglyphics you put there while waiting for a number.

Why is it that when we discover something too nearly perfect for us to improve upon that we exercise this counter-power of destruction?

Whatever the reason may be, it is a trait that we are trying to refine out of our natures, and vandalism is merely that spirit, in a lower form, and unconstrained.

MIGHT AS WELL BUILD NOW. The News believes, on good and various authority, that the price of building materials will take an upward trend early in September.

SUCCESS TO THEM.

Two new newspapers have come to the editor's desk.

One of them is the Leeray Oil-field Journal, published weekly at Leeray, and the other is the Breckenridge American, published at Breckenridge.

The Journal, which is being edited and published by Bass H. Clark, former circulation manager of The Cisco Daily News, is the first newspaper to be established in the new little oil town 12 miles north of here, on the Cisco & Northeastern railroad.

The Breckenridge American made its initial appearance Friday. Tom L. Baxter is the editor and owner. The paper is of a higher order than the average weekly and shows a determination to get into the harness and work with the community.

THE PROOF OF SINCERITY.

R. C. Pass of this city aspired to be road commissioner of this district. He had a purpose. It was to hasten the awarding of the contract for the county roads, which action he believed might be delayed a year or so.

He announced his candidacy some time ago. The contract for the county road work has since been let. Mr. Pass has withdrawn from the race. His reason is that what would have been his mission has already been accomplished.

The action on the part of Mr. Pass needs little comment. The least that can be said is that he sought the fulfillment of a public work rather than a political office, and has proved the sincerity of his attitude by his withdrawal.

THE BEND ANTICLINE

The bend anticline was found and outlined some few years ago when little or no production was had throughout its extent. It was surveyed and determined through the efforts of several geologists chief among which were the University of Texas geological department, headed by Dr. Udden.

The bend anticline, or upfolded strata, has one end at Richland Springs, San Saba county, and the other near Archer City, Archer county, about 149 miles away.

The surface of this anticline in its northern part is composed of permocarboniferous rocks—upper or younger Pennsylvania—while the southern end, being weathered away by the elements, has the basal Pennsylvania—older—exposed at the surface.

Several thousand feet of this anticline on its southern end have been worn away by the elements. More than the northern end. The rock exposed in southern Brown county has at other places been the most prolific producer of petroleum of any of these rocks, but is not covered with the necessary impervious cover as is found on the northern end.

The rock exposed on this anticline is older than the rock of the west or east, and the rock on the west are older than those on the east. All of the rock in this vicinity were laid down in the bottoms of at least three different seas that covered this area at as many times.

The rivers with their sediments in Pennsylvania time generally ran from north to south into a sea that extended from about New Foundland westward to at least Western Kansas then south to at least Central Mexico and perhaps Panama. These rocks, it then follows, are beneath the surface throughout the State of Texas.

In Permian time the rivers ran from the divide of Gonwana Land, which lay to the east, and deposited their sediments from Mexico on the south to the extremity of Alaska on the north and west and to the Pacific Coast, which was before the time of the Rocky Mountains.

In Cretaceous time a great deep sea came in from the south and divided North America when the Rocky Mountains were young leaving great distances and depths of lime rock over Central and Northern North America, which has since weathered away in more than half of its original area.

Since Cretaceous time the Cordillera Highland has risen so that our rivers flow to the south and southeast, where the land has sunk and has been reduced.

Throughout the length of the bend anticline, as outlined in the second paragraph, the Pennsylvanian rocks are exposed at the surface, and at Cisco are about 5000 feet thick, and at the northern end of Young county about 6700 feet thick, were about 3000 feet of Permian-Pennsylvanian rock has been destroyed and transported away by the elements.

The way petroleum geologists find oil, is as simple as "a feller fingerin' arithmetic," and the same amount of mistakes are made by each. But the principles employed by each are absolutely correct.

The laws guiding petroleum geologists are simply these: Oil floats on water. Where no water is present below, oil will go to the bottom of the reservoir. Where water is present below the surface and in a reservoir, oil or gas will occupy the highest place in the reservoir.

An anticline is like a water trough turned upside down with water holding the oil up in it, because oil floats on water. Such an anticline runs through Cisco, and the drill will find oil on all sides of the city if it hits a porous place and drills on the anticline.

OBREGON RECITES STORY

Would Re-Establish Mexico's Integrity OF LIFE; PLANS FUTURE

Alvaro Obregon

By OSCAR K. GOLL

International News Service Staff Correspondent. MEXICO CITY, June 26.—General Alvaro Obregon, for several years the strongest man in Carranza's cabinet, and the only soldier in the Mexican army who has ever succeeded in landing a smashing blow against Francisco Villa, notorious bandit chief, when he put his army to utter rout at the battle of Celaya in April, 1915, shortly after his split with First Chief Venustiano Carranza, has relinquished his military post and turned his command of rebel forces over to the new administration. He has returned to private life in order to resume his campaign for the presidency of the republic.

In an exclusive interview with the writer General Obregon declared that in the event of his election as chief executive of the Republic of Mexico it will be his paramount aim not alone to establish more friendly and unquestionable relations with the government of the United States and the civilized nations of the world in general, but to give to Mexico a safe, sane, clean and sound administration—in fact a government such as will command the respect of all the peoples of the world.

"All foreigners residing in Mexico and those interests having capital invested in the republic will be accorded the same protection as is given the Mexican citizen under our constitution and the law, and the law alone, will guide my administration in the event of my election to the presidency," continued General Obregon.

"Nothing will please me more than to know at the end of my administration that I have succeeded in re-establishing Mexico's integrity among the nations of the world; that my revolution torn native land has again regained her solid financial footing and been accorded her proper place among the ranks of the respected nations of the world."

General Obregon was born on February 19, 1880, in the Pueblo of Siquisiva, in the State of Sonora. He received his education in the common schools of the state. From early youth it had been his ambition to become one of his country's military leaders, and it was while he was still a young man in the early thirties that he gathered about him a number of Mayo Indians in the vicinity of Siquisiva and formed a company of home guards as a protection against wandering outlaw bands.

It was not until some months after the Madero revolution gained strength in Sonora that he joined the rebel movement and with his small command of Mayo Indians as a nucleus, went forth to wage war against the government of Porfirio Diaz and remained in the field until the successful conclusion of the revolution. He then retired to his ranch with his followers, where he remained until advised of Madero's assassination by General Victoriano Huerta, when he again called his band together to take up arms against the usurper.

From that time on General Obregon became permanently identified with the revolutionary party, and it was only after General Pasqual Orozco's treachery in deserting Madero in his hour of need to take up a bandit's career that Obregon followed him and his men into the wilderness of the north and drove him from the state of Sonora, where he had launched a campaign of murder and depredation.

Although Obregon is known to have never been a very staunch admirer of the late president, he was appointed Minister of War and Marine in Carranza's cabinet as a reward for his victory over Francisco Villa's army at Celaya, during which battle Obregon lost his right arm.

After several years, however, friction developed between Carranza and Obregon which ultimately brought about his resignation. He immediately thereafter publicly announced his intention of becoming a candidate of the Liberalist party for the presidency of Mexico.

It was this announcement by Obregon, together with the growing dissatisfaction in the ranks of the military, which brought about the final overthrow of the Carranza regime, because of the assurance by the chief executive of a manifesto cancelling the general presidential elections called for July, Carranza basing his actions on the "unsettled conditions" prevailing throughout the republic.

DAVENPORT MADE DISTRICT JUDGE

Hobby Appoints Ranger Barrister Head of New Eastland County Court

A Native Texan.

G. L. Davenport was Friday appointed judge of the new 51st district court recently created by the legislature for Eastland county, according to a message received yesterday afternoon by Senator H. P. Brelsford.

George L. Davenport was born in Caryell county 45 years ago. He is one of the eight sons of the late O. F. Davenport, who served in the Texas 13th legislature many years ago. The family moved from Caryell to Eastland county more than 28 years ago. It was in this city that George L. Davenport began the practice of law and was admitted to the bar in 1895. He served this county as county attorney soon after he was admitted to the bar, which office he successfully held, until he decided to move to Stamford when that part of the county was being opened by the Swenson interests. In Stamford he formed a law partnership with his brother, B. P. Davenport, and served that city well as city attorney several terms. It was during the whiskey days when at the outskirts of the city of Stamford blind tigers operated and George L. Davenport was one of the prime factors in putting them out of business. He resided in Stamford about 10 years and when the discovery well came in at Ranger he removed to Eastland county and has been engaged in private practice of law in that city since.

Echoes are more resonant in the evening because the air is still, and the sound waves thrown back are not interrupted by other air motions.

The first woman to pass an examination before the Canadian Medical Council was Mrs. Jenny K. Trout, of Toronto in 1874.

Drops Out of Race For Commissioner; Work Already Done

R. C. Pass, candidate for county commissioner, has withdrawn from the race. Pass cancelled his candidacy Saturday afternoon.

"My only reason for aspiring to be road commissioner of the 4th precinct," he said, "was because it looked as though the contract for work on the county roads might not be let or that the matter might drag along for the next two years without anything being done about it. It was my purpose, if elected, to press the issue and to expedite the awarding of a contract for the work.

"Now that this has been done I feel that what would have been my mission has already been accomplished and there is no further reason for my continuing in the race."

That it is possible to grow colored wood has been proved by recent experiments. The result is brought about by boring a hole in a growing tree and pouring a solution of dye and water into the opening. The tree absorbs the mixture.

WELDING

The Old and the New Way

The Old Way

---Strong arm and sledge hammer

There was a time when Welding had to be done with a strong arm and a sledge-hammer. The work was slow and oft times most unsatisfactory. Delay meant loss of time, and loss of time meant money. The old way was, indeed, very expensive. Then it was difficult to find any one who could do welding, and almost impossible to find any one who could do cutting.

The New Way

---Acetylene cutting and welding

Today, Welding and Cutting are comparatively easy as compared with the old methods. The invention of the Acetylene Cutting and welding methods have saved many dollars to persons desiring this kind of work done. We have the most complete Welding and Cutting plant in the Southwest, and are prepared to handle the largest and most difficult jobs. Besides, we guarantee satisfaction—something you can appreciate when you wish this kind of a job done. Time still plays an important part in Welding and Cutting, and this is where we prove our superiority in this work.

The Knights of Columbus and other welfare organizations were invited to submit bills for their expenses with the army in Germany. Inasmuch as the money expended with the troops was supplied by the American public, the supreme secretary of the order said it would be impossible to enter a just claim.

FETCHING VEIL AND TAM FOR MOTORING

The veil is an all important item of the well dressed woman's outfit this season. This attractive one with its hexagonal mesh and deep border is particularly becoming and is good for motoring wear. The soft little tam is trimmed with a band of leather which resembles a leather belt. It, too, is designed especially for motoring wear, for it fits snugly to the head and serves to keep the hair in order. Note the smart little stone martin neckpiece which will add the needed warmth for the cool drive.

Local Cast a Success In Comedy Play, 'Mrs. Temple's Telegram'

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" the three act comedy farce given Friday night for the benefit of the high school annual fund, was one of the best entertainments we have had in the city for some time. While there was not as many present as those desirably interested would like to have had, the audience was quite appreciative, which in itself was gratifying.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Godfrey probably played the leading parts, yet the different parts were so nearly equal in prominence and the different characters played so nearly equal in ability and naturalness that the audience felt as if there were nine "stars" instead of the proverbial one.

Mrs. Godfrey charmingly acted the part of the English lady who puts a great deal of faith in being established socially, while she played equally well the haughty jealous wife who would "go home to mother" at the least provocation, yet who was only too eager to believe any story which would give her any excuse to straighten things with her husband, who was the soul of honor.

Mr. Godfrey, as Mr. Temple, the husband around whose falsehoods the plot of the play centered, was indeed a hard-hearted husband. At first he was humble enough, but when his wife sent a telegram to John Brown to verify Mr. Temple's story of getting hung up in the ferris wheel and not being able to get down until morning, he indeed became a tyrant.

Mr. Gaither as Frank Fuller, who was hand and glove, so to speak, with Mr. Temple, planned every little detail of the many falsehoods Jack Temple was to tell. It developed that there was a woman in the car of the ferris wheel with Jack and that woman was the wife of Mr. Fuller, the busy ladd of the evening.

One of the choicest bits of the play was a little scene between Mr. and Mrs. Temple and Frank Fuller as the latter lied until he was "black and blue in the face" to get his friend Jack out of trouble.

Z. B. Edworthy and Miss Edna Welber had several pretty scenes, that, because of the way they were handled, added interest to the play. Mr. Edworthy played well the part of the English soldier, Miss Welber, as usual, gave her lines with much naturalness.

Miss Ruth Williamson, as Mrs. Frank Fuller, the beautiful wife, treated intelligently her dear honest Frank who had been keeping his friend Jack out of trouble by telling any kind of yarn that was necessary. There was quite a bit of fun for the audience when Fuller tried to kiss his wife on the "noisy" and was interrupted.

The climax of the play came when Mr. Edworthy as John Brown came on the stage and was followed by Miss Edna Welber as Mrs. John Brown. Miss Welber's costume was artistically gotten up from several relics of Noah's Ark, she, without a doubt, created more laughs than any other character. Mrs. Brown was a good picture of the wife who gives her husband a piece of her mind on the slightest provocation. Dr. Woods, who came to see Mrs. Temple, brought a huge bouquet of sunflowers and ardently made love to the lady of the house. Although there was much fun all through the play, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown added much to the success of the little comedy.

W. J. Barnes as the talkative butler was indeed unique. He was full of advice and answered every command with "that's just what I was going to do."

All in all, the play was a brilliant success. Many said this was the best home talent play they had ever seen, and everybody seemed well pleased with the play as a whole. The entertainment was given to help finish paying for the High School annual, the Occidental.

Texas' First Bale of Cotton Brings $1600 at Houston; Another $1000

Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Texas, June 26.—San Benito won the race to sell the first bale of cotton produced in Texas this season. The banner bale was sold on the Houston Exchange at auction today, bringing $1600.

Edinburgh's bale, which was in the race to reach Houston first, was diverted and, according to a New Orleans dispatch, sold on the exchange there today for $1000.

The New Orleans sale was one week earlier than last year.

The Edinburgh bale weighed 570 pounds. The grower received $300 and $700 went to the endowment fund of Tulane University.

WOULD ESTABLISH ONE STABLE COTTON STANDARD

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 26.—Efforts to establish a one-stable standard for cotton grown in Nueces and San Patricio counties are being furthered by R. O. Tackett, supervisor of a large ranch near here, and M. C. James, agricultural extension agent for Nueces county. The chief argument advanced in support of their plan is that much better prices for cotton will result from its adoption. Mr. Tackett urges all farmers in both counties to agree on a standard staple variety of cotton next year. Mr. James is furnishing information which will assist them in deciding on a profitable variety.

SEEK RELIEF FROM RAIL CONGESTION

Appeal For Support of Motor Truck to Lift Burden of Short-Haul Business From Railroads

The increasing complications and difficulties of the transportation jam, in the throes of which the nation has been gripped since the war, has brought forth drastic comment from leaders of industry throughout the country who are becoming more and more concerned over the need of a practical solution to the vexing and appalling problem with which commerce of the United States is confronted.

A consequent result of discussion by these representative business men is a greater realization than ever of the inter-dependence of railroads and truck transport. It has come more forcefully apparent to industry that fulfillment of the demand for additional transportation facilities is imperative.

Within the last few weeks scores of business executives who are in close touch with the situation have made such ardent appeals for wider utilization of the motor truck as a means of relieving the railroads of unprofitable and wasteful short-haul shipments that the question has been taken up on every side.

One of the strongest appeals was contained in a statement of William G. McAadoo, who declared that "the country has outgrown our railroad facilities and it will be a long time before the railroads can be brought up to the needs of the country. The most practical relief that can be provided is through good roads and the motor truck."

The opinion of business men generally is that the truck is deserving of unqualified support from every branch of industry.

E. A. Williams, Jr., president of the General Motor Truck Company, at Lima, Ohio, says there are not enough trucks in use to bring relief to the situation which, as he puts it, "has become acute and which should be of the greatest concern to us all."

"Although the production has been greatly increased and a vast number of trucks seen in daily use everywhere," Williams said, "there are still not half enough."

Williams pointed out that trucks already are hauling a large part of the country's short-haul freight and doing it economically. They have solved the problem in switching yards and freight terminals of the big cities. The railroads, he cites, are saved delays and expense caused by congestion from this class of business.

"Long haul freight rightfully belongs to the railroads," he said. "Its swift and sure delivery must not be clogged or hampered."

Williams is blessed with the sentiment that is being fostered for support of the truck. "Manufacturers, merchants, wholesalers, jobbers, bankers and other men connected with the hauling of the country's transportation business are beginning to see the vital necessity of such support," he concluded.

MOTHER PLACES $50,000 VALUE ON SON'S LIFE

TULSA, Okla., June 25.—Mrs. Belle Waininger values the life of her son, Lee Waininger, at $50,000.

In a suit filed here the other day, she asked for damages to that amount for the death of her son, who died as the result of being crushed between a tractor and a trailer in Salt Creek county.

He was in the employ of the Skelly oil company when killed.

Texas Thirty-Five Per Cent Short On Wheat Harvest Men

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 26.—Texas entered its wheat harvest 35 per cent short on labor—15 per cent under last year's acute situation—and the lateness of the cotton chopping season has caught the farmers between two pinchers, according to reports to the headquarters of the Texas Farmers' Union in Fort Worth.

Ordinarily, Texas farmers have finished their cotton cleaning at this time of year, stated President D. E. Lyday of the Farmers' Union, and consequently, they are able to release thousands of harvest hands to the wheat and oat fields. But they are unable to do it this year, because cotton is late, and chopping is just now well under way.

Efforts to attract students of the University of Texas to the wheat fields have failed, only five reporting here for work and leaving for West Texas.

The call for harvest hands from Fort Worth to the New Mexico line with wages offered running as high as 60 cents an hour with board.

It is estimated that this year's harvest in the West and Southwest will require the services of 5,666,666 men, according to Farmers' Union authorities, but only two thirds of this number is available.

Government, state and county agents in this territory have united in efforts to obtain and distribute the available supply of workers, and the United States government is aiding in handling the Mexican laborers, though farmers consider them poor harvest hands, and most of them are being sent to the Colorado beet fields.

$5 More Per Pupil Since the $4,000,000 School Bill Passed

DALLAS, Tex., June 26.—"Five dollars more per pupil is assured to the schools than last year since Governor Hoboy signed the $4,000,000 school appropriation," said Peyton Irving, Jr., state supervisor of high schools here today.

"The money was given by the legislature for increasing salaries," Mr. Irving said, "and trustees are morally if not legally obligated to give it to the teachers. One city recently became involved in serious complications through giving bonuses. The fair thing to do is make teachers' contract include the increase; if contracts have been made they can be abrogated and others made with increased salaries."

Tourist Is Robbed Three Times in 10 Minutes at Juarez

EL PASO, Tex., June 26.—All border records of robbery and holdups were beaten recently when a visitor to Juarez enroute here was held up three times during the 10 minutes it took him to reach the El Paso side of the border after he had decided that he did not appreciate the spirit prevailing in Juarez.

The tourist left his "roll" at the hotel and went across in the morning with only $10 which he spent peacefully. Late that afternoon, after returning to El Paso, he decided that he wanted to see more of Juarez, so about 9 o'clock he walked into the night life of the Mexican town. He had walked about 10 minutes, according to his story, which the police declare they believe when two men stopped him.

"One fellow fished my watch," he said "while the other got $5 I had tucked in my vest pocket. Then when they started to take my change, I said: 'Have a heart, fellows, leave a nickel for car fare,' and one of them handed me back a nickel. I had a ring left they didn't notice.

"Well sir, about a minute later up walks a policeman. He had a police uniform on any way. He says to me, 'Let's look at that ring,' and he grabs my hand and tried to take it off. I fooled him and made him think it was just cheap brass; so he walked away and let me go.

Then I started to walk down the street between the trolley tracks and got about a half block when three men came up and grabbed me. There was no spoofing them. They took my ring, and when I held out my nickel and told them that was all I had, they took it."

Ranger's Cabarets Closed. RANGER, June 26.—A blow was struck at Ranger's amusement centers Wednesday night when the county and city officers closed up every cabaret. Once before the cabarets were closed, and there is much conjecture as to whether the lid will be kept on for long. The city commission, it is rumored, instigated this latest drive on the cabarets.

Many Applications Now Being Made for Loans Under Rural Aid Law

AUSTIN, Tex., June 26.—Applications are now being made by schools for money under the rural aid law. The amount received from this source is determined by the financial condition of the school. If it has money enough to meet all demands, it can not obtain aid.

With the apportionment per capita increased some $5 per pupil, unless salaries are increased, many schools will have enough money on hand to meet demands, and may not be eligible to receive aid.

Increases in salary, it is understood, will be considered sufficient ground for granting rural aid to schools.

High school classification is going forward in the high school division of the state department of education here. As soon as information is available, schools will be notified of their classification. As both length of term and salaries paid teachers determine classification and affect affiliation, all classified and affiliated.

Make The Summer a Happy One Everybody loves summer, naturally. There is real enjoyment in getting out to the great outdoors—finding those cool nooks sheltered from the oppressing sun—going into communion with the sighing breezes, the whispering trees, the fragrant flowers and the singing birds. Wouldn't you like your wife to get her full enjoyment from the glorious summer? Wouldn't you like her to throw off the shackles of housework slavery—the back breaking wash tub, the tiresome sweeping, the energy sapping cooking? She can do all this and have plenty of recreation time too, if you equip your house electrically with washing machines, vacuum cleaners, irons, electric toasters, chafing dishes, percolators, fans, and other things that make house work pleasant. DODGE BROTHERS OFFICIALS ADVANCE

Haynes, Vice-President and General Manager; Matheson, Acting General Sales Manager

Announcement has just been made of important changes in the personnel of Dodge Brothers home office organization. Long established relationships continue with added responsibilities for several who held the more important posts.

H. E. Dodge himself remains at the head of the institution as president and treasurer and member of the board of directors. The other two directors named are F. J. Haynes and Howard B. Bloomer. Mr. Haynes has been associated with Dodge Brothers for many years and was their factory manager when they first began building motor cars. It has been under his direct supervision that the great plants of Dodge Brothers have grown in a little over five years from about 20 acres of floor space to nearly a hundred, and have produced approximately half a million motor cars in that brief period. He is now appointed vice-president and general manager. Mr. Bloomer, the other director, has for many years been the close personal friend and legal counsel of both Horace E. and the late John F. Dodge. It was the latter's death, last January, that brought about these changes in Dodge Brothers personnel.

Other promotions include that of Arthur T. Waterfall, former director of traffic, to the position of assistant general manager. Mr. Waterfall has been prominently identified with the affairs of Dodge Brothers for some time, and is recognized as one of the leading authorities in America on transportation problems. Preston G. Findlay has been appointed director of traffic, and Raymond H. Allen director of purchases. Mr. Findlay was formerly traffic manager of the Michigan Central railroad. Mr. Allen has long been one of the chief executives in the purchasing end of the business.

Of especial interest to dealers throughout the country is the appointment of Charles W. Matheson as acting general sales manager. Mr. Matheson has been director of service almost since the time the first Dodge Brothers motor car was built and in this important capacity has encountered and solved some of the most perplexing problems of the business. With practically a half million of the cars now in the hands of the public, he begins his new duties with a full realization of the importance of keeping a car sold as well as merely selling it. It has been announced previously by Mr. Dodge that there will be no change in the policies of the company.

OPEN SHOP STRUGGLE WELL UNDER WAY IN QUINCY, ILL.

QUINCY, Ill., June 26.—The open shop struggle is now well under way in Quincy.

The announcement of the Quincy American Open Shop Association has been followed by the appointment of a committee by the Trades and Labor Assembly of the city to resist the open shop movement.

Quincy is a strongly organized labor city, the assembly counting a membership of over 4000 and embracing even the fire department. The labor committee has succeeded thus far in securing the withdrawal of several of the original signers of the open shop agreement. On the other hand, the open shop association reports the recruiting of some 50 names in addition to the original list and these, it is said, more than offset defections.

Retail houses thus far have been slow to endorse the plan, owing to the large number of union men.

In some parts of England there is a popular superstition that if a person's hair, when thrown into the fire, burns brightly, it is a sure sign that the individual will live long. The brighter the flame the longer life.

LYTELL SCORES AS JIMMY VALENTINE

Thrills and Twists Galore in Screen Version of Famous Paul Armstrong's Famous Crook Play.

So consummately skillful an actor is Bert Lytell that with each successive appearance there is necessary in the spectator's mind a process of readjustment. One says to himself: "He's not at all like his last self, but it must be Bert Lytell, for the titles in the picture says so."

Which is all by way of saying that in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Metro's screen version of the famous Paul Armstrong crook play, which is as well-known as the movies, themselves, Mr. Lytell has a role utterly different from either his characters in "Lombardi Ltd.," or in "The Right of Way," and he enacts the popular part of Jimmy with such extraordinary cleverness that no one ever stops to think that it is acting at all.

Probably many who will see the picture today at the Judia Theatre have seen the play done on the stage, and no doubt many of the throng that is sure to crowd that motion picture playhouse throughout the run of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" are in a measure familiar with the story.

The photoplay starts with Jimmy Valentine a prisoner in Sing Sing on a charge of burglary, who has earned the sympathy of the warden there by his refusal to acknowledge that he can open safes without burglar's tools, and because too, Jimmy has always "played the gentleman." Immediately upon the prisoner's release, which is effected through influence brought about by a girl's interest in him, the young and, as the newspapers would put it, alleged cracksmen, finds himself dogged by Detective Doyle, who threatens to bring fresh evidence against Jimmy unless he gives a clue to the whereabouts of a pal of his. Jimmy refuses and being offered a chance to make a fresh start in another and distant city, eludes the plainclothes man. What follows after this forms one of the most engrossing stories of the underworld and love and mental quickness ever conceived. One might imagine this for the play itself was based upon a short story by that American genius, O. Henry.

The royal crown of Persia, which dates back to remote ages, is in the form of a pot of flowers, surmounted by an uncut ruby the size of a hen's egg.

'HEART OF JUANITA' HIGH-TENSION DRAMA

Beatriz Micheleena a Human Dynamo of Emotion as Dance-Hall Queen in Stimulating Drama.

"Heart of Juanita" starring the volatile emotional actress, Beatriz Micheleena is a high tension, pulse-stimulating drama of the melting pot period of the early days of California, when conventions were forgotten and morals harked back to a primitive age.

The picture was made under the direction of George E. Middleton, who is responsible for many Micheleena successes, notably "Salomy Jane," "The Unwritten Law" and "Salvation Nell." As Juanita, queen of the dance hall, a veritable snuff and human dynamo of tempestuous action, Miss Micheleena has the most effective role of her brilliant career.

Intense in her love and implacable in hatred, Juanita gave all to the man she loved, Jim Brad, the boss of the dance hall, and would have gone through hell for him if he had played fair with her. But when Jim played false Juanita turned on him like a tigeress.

"Jim, I've never allowed no man to love me but you. If you ever forget you belong to me, I'll kill you and laugh!"—the dance hall girl warned him. Juanita was no hypocrite, nor was she an angel. She was simply a woman with a big heart, and she obeyed its impulses, whatever they might be. She would have killed the man who wronged her, and she did try—twice; just as she would have saved her life to save Calvert, the young trapper who saved her from the dance hall boss who tried to strangle her.

Miss Micheleena is an alluring and erotic figure as the tempestuous Spanish girl, in which she is revealed as an actress of versatile personality and magnetic charm.

This picture will be shown tonight at the National Airdome at 8:30.

Among the curios and treasures possessed by King George is a collection of leather cloaks, valued at $50,000. They are composed of gold, black, and crimson feathers from the wings of a now extinct species of parrot, and were given to George IV, by the king of Sandwich Islands, in 1824.

An average oak tree will in the course of a year absorb at least 100 tons of water and give it off again into the air through its leaves.

Crop Conditions In Texas Improve In Past Month, Report

DALLAS, Tex., June 26.—Crop conditions in Texas improved materially during the three week period ending June 20, according to the Texas industrial Congress, making public reports from correspondents in 129 counties. All crops are reported from 20 to 40 days late, however, but with generally favorable weather since June 1, farmers are said to have made "wonderful progress in planting, replanting and cultivating."

A summary of the report shows: From 20 to 25 per cent of the cotton crop remains to be planted, wheat and oats harvesting is in progress and potato digging is under way. Excessive rainfall during May stored an ample supply of moisture in the soil.

A protracted drought in portions of West Texas has been broken by general rains and cattle range conditions are excellent.

The total cultivated acreage of the state this year is eight per cent less than in 1919.

Farm labor conditions have not improved, but show a further decrease of 17 per cent since April 1, when the available labor supply was estimated at 57 per cent normal. This decrease is attributable to the fact that many Mexicans in Southwest Texas have returned to Mexico since the overthrow of the Carranza government there; to extensive operations in the oil fields; to the demand of the sawmills and turpentine camps of East Texas, and to renewed activity in public work, chiefly road construction, in all sections of the state.

The summarized reports from correspondents of the Congress agree that determining factors in making this year's crops will be weather conditions during the next 60 days and the probability of obtaining a reasonable amount of labor. Wages on the farm range from a minimum of $1 per day in Southwest Texas, where Mexican labor is abundant, to $6 in the Panhandle for harvest hands. The average daily wage is $2.75, including board in most cases.

One hundred and fourteen counties report a probable cotton acreage of 10,139,000 acres, or 98 per cent of last year's acreage; condition compared with 1919, 75.5 per cent.

The same counties indicate a probable corn acreage of 6,628,150, or 98.5 per cent compared with 1919.

One hundred and twenty-nine counties report a probable wheat crop of 11,566,350 bushels.

Oats and sorghum acreage is indicated as being 71.1, $7.4 per cent, respectively, of the 1919 acreage.

Rapid progress was reported in rice planting and prospects good for a normal crop. The condition was $8.4 per cent compared with June 1, 1919.

partment of Markets totaled more than $3,000,000,000 in value for the first nine months of the existence of the bureau, according to a report made by Sam Dixon, state marketing agent, to F. C. Welbert, commissioner of markets and warehouses.

The report stated that every effort was made to get the very best market price for the farmer and said "in handling these products the very highest prices obtainable were secured. I feel sure that in the marketing of the farmers' produce under the system adopted, at least $250,000 was saved to the producers of the state."

The World Famous Crook Play

BERT LYTELL

The flashlight of his character will find every hidden corner of your heart, he will steal your every sympathy, resist though you will, he will run thru your every feeling, turning you topsy-turvy with thrills; and all the while bind you fast with the spell of your breathless interest in him.

You'll regret letting him make a get-away without seeing him ! ! !

Look out for JIMMY! He'll stick you up and frisk you of more thrills than you ever believed you had concealed about you ! ! ! ! !

No need to explain who Jimmy Valentine is. He's more notorious than leap year—and fully as dangerous—He's craftier than a twice-widow stalking her third victim; and stouter of heart than the man who marries her. The most magnetic star of the screen in a play more famous than the 18th amendment and many times as popular.

TEXAS FARM BOYS TO SEE MUCH OF U. S.

ITINERARY INCLUDES INDUSTRIES AND PLACES OF INTEREST

5-CAR SPECIAL TRAIN

Leaves A. & M. College August 7; Many Counties Will SEND BOYS.

Special to The News.

DALLAS, Tex., June 26.—The itinerary of the Texas Farm Boys Special has been completed with the exception of the last lap lying between Lexington, Ky., and Texas, which will be announced during the next few days. The special train of five Pullman cars and observation coach will leave the A. & M. College August 7, under the joint direction of the Texas Chamber of Commerce and the A. & M. College. Travelling over the I. & G. N. and the Rock Island routes, the train will be operated through Oklahoma to Wichita, Kansas, where the first long stop will be made to visit some highly developed farms. The next stop will be made at Manhattan, Kansas, where the boys will be received by the Kansas Agricultural College.

From Manhattan, the route will be over the Rock Island to Lincoln, Nebraska, thence to Omaha, Nebraska, and Des Moines, Iowa. At the latter place the boys will visit the farm of United States Secretary of Agriculture Edwin T. Meredith and make a detour to Ames, Iowa, for a visit to the agricultural region of that rich farming state.

From Des Moines, the special will be operated over the Rock Island into Chicago where elaborate plans are being made to show the boys the sights of the city. From Chicago, the boys will travel over the Grand Trunk railroad to South Bend, Indiana, where they will be shown through several large implement and automobile factories.

Leaving South Bend, the next stop will be at Lansing, Mich., capital of the state, where the Michigan Agricultural College will be visited and some of America's most famous live stock farms visited. The farm boys special will then travel by easy stages through the famous Holstein region of Eastern Michigan, finally entering the city of Detroit, where some of the greatest automobile, truck, tractor and implement factories in the world will be visited.

Enter Canada.

At Detroit, the Texas farm boys will bid Uncle Sam adieu for a trip through the Province of Ontario, Canada, where several stops will be made for the purpose of inspecting Canadian agricultural methods.

Visit Niagara Falls.

Coming out of Canada, the boys will roll across the famous cantilever bridge below Niagara Falls and the first stop will be at the city of Niagara Falls, where they will be shown the wonderful falls and the great hydroelectric plants. The boys will then go to Buffalo where they will take the Lehigh Valley railroad through the beautiful lake region of Western New York. The first long stop will be made at Itasca, where the Texas boys will visit Itasca's great manufacturing plants and Cornell University.

Through Bethlehem Steel Works.

From Itasca the Texas farmers will travel into Pennsylvania and proceed to Bethlehem, where they will be taken through the famous steel works. H. H. Williamson of A. & M. College is now travelling over the route, so there will be a pre-arranged program for each stop thus avoiding any delay. Great enthusiasm for the Farm Boy Special is being shown by every city along the route and more than 150 letters have been received from city, county and state officials and commercial secretaries and farmers offering to entertain the boys.

In New York City.

From Itasca, the train will run into New York City, where the boys will be shown the sights in a "rubberneck" bus, and carried to the top of the Woolworth Building, tallest in the United States, for a glance at Gotham from the heights. The Texas farmers will travel from New York to Philadelphia where a stop will be made for a study of agricultural methods as well as visits to famous old Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, home of Betty Ross and other historic places. From Philadelphia the farm boy special will move to Baltimore where a stop will be made.

Visit Washington.

Washington will be the next city visited, and two days will be spent here where elaborate plans have already been made for entertaining the boys. The White House will be visited, as well as the Smithsonian Institute, Mount Vernon, home of Washington, Arlington, home of Robert E. Lee and other places of historical interest. Negotiations are under way for an audience with the President and the use of his yacht "Mayflower" for a trip down the Potomac river.

To Visit Blue Grass Region.

The scenic Blue Ridge and Allegheny mountains of Virginia will be visited after leaving Washington and the train will turn westward into the famous "blue grass" region of Kentucky. A stop will be made at Lexington where the boys will be the guests of the chamber of commerce and the agricultural department of the University of Kentucky. An automobile trip through the

CORRECT HATS FOR EVERY OCCASION OF THE SUMMER MONTHS

Wherever you may go this summer, to work, to the seaside, to a garden party, or to the hotel dance, you will want to be correctly attired as well as correctly gowned. These four hats are both becoming and modish and will easily serve for any occasion which might arise in both early and mid-summer. The straight-brimmed sniller at the upper left is easily recognized as the business or traveling hat. It is always a smart addition to the tailored outfit and is good for wear upon any informal occasion of the daylight hours.

The hat at the upper right may be worn for all kinds of general and sports wear. It is of rough straw bound in gros grain ribbon and banded in the same ribbon with wide fringed ends. This, too, may be found in colors to match sports suits and silk sweaters as well as in black and white.

The garden hat is usually made of leghorn, milan, organdy or georgette. Here is a pretty one made of leghorn. It is faced with silk and trimmed with fluid flowers and black velvet ribbon encircles the crown and is knotted gracefully over the up-turned brim to fall in streamers at the back. The other hat illustrated is a smart hat for evening wear. It is made of black meline and straw with black loop trim and a decidedly coquettish eye veil. This hat will grace the more formal affairs of the summer months.

Concerning Stocks, Preferred and Common, of Public Utilities

Since the armistice was signed there has been a tremendous increase in the number of new corporations formed in the United States. There has also been a gain in stock issues of companies already functioning which have found it necessary to obtain new capital to pay for needed improvements or to make possible an increase in production.

The new companies and the old companies selling stock have entered the field as competitors in the sense that they have been bidding against each other for the investors' money. These companies, in turn, have met competition from other forms of investment which have also offered inducements to persons who have savings to invest.

With a multitude of companies to choose from, and different kinds of stock issues, the average investor is not to be blamed if he has experienced a certain feeling of bewildering in seeking a safe and profitable place to let his savings work.

In the case of a man who wants to put his money into stock there are a number of safe companies to pick from. Many men, however, consider it wise only to invest in those companies of which they have some personal knowledge and which have demonstrated their ability to earn a sufficient profit to pay fair dividends over a long period of time. For such men, the preferred stock of a public service corporation operating in their own community is often an excellent investment. Where such stock pays as much as seven per cent and is wholly or even partially tax-exempt, it offers unusual attraction to many investors, provided that the company has a demonstrated high earning capacity in the production or distribution of a necessity or the rendering of a public service for which there is a constant demand in a community which is growing.

Preferred stock has this advantage over common stock; it is preferred as to earnings and assets. The common stock does not earn any dividends until after the dividends on the preferred stock have been paid. In this respect, preferred stock is somewhat like a bond.

Those who invest in preferred stock of successful public utility companies in their own communities have the advantage of being able to watch closely the operations of the companies in which their money is invested. They also have the satisfaction of knowing that their money is helping to build up their own communities.—Daily Oklahoman.

Probably the leftest grave in the world is that wherein reposes the body of Wilson Bennett, the famous mountaineer, who on his death expressed a wish to be buried as near as possible to the summit of Orizaba, the lofty Andean peak which he had been the first to scale. His desire was duly carried out, the grave being blasted out of the living rock high above the snow-line.

Tests recently made go to prove that disease germs cannot live long on metal.

ENGLISH MYTH BAD ON YANK

LONDON LIFE PERPETUAL HUMILIATION FOR ORDINARY AMERICAN

(Written expressly for The Cisco News by Myron Parrot, an American in London; released through the International News Service.)

LONDON, June 26.—So prospering and respected a person as the reader will never appreciate my unhappy plight I am an American and I am not a millionaire.

Life in London is for me one perpetual humiliation. I am living through no fault of my own, under false pretenses. And every day somebody finds me out. I feel as mean as Pussyfoot.

All England has been reading for months about the great invasion. Millions and millions of millionaires are coming from New York to buy marble skyscrapers in Piccadilly and distribute golden sovereigns among waitresses and taxi cab drivers.

The English are a credulous people. Everybody, from old, white-haired "Nell," who with tottering step, follows every broad-brimmed hat she sees from Piccadilly to Trafalgar Square, chanting shrilly: "Chewing gum, sir; chewing gum—chewing gum, sir; tuppence," to "Mr. Savoy, who dispenses cocktails in the Strait—everybody in London seems to cherish the idea that one hundred million of us own a million pounds a piece.

America is an elysian land of ice cream, chewing gum, movie stars and millionaires. There is only one class—the plutocracy.

Whenever I book a room in an English hotel the clerk looks over the registration form which reveals my personal and family secrets and reads: "Home address, Kalamazoo, Mich." smiles apologetically, and remarks:

"I'm sorry, sir, but we had nothing better tonight than a suite at three guineas."

Whenever I order ice water in a restaurant the waiter begins rubbing his palms expectantly. I invariably leave him with nine pence in his hand and a homicidal expression on his countenance. I ever dare to eat at the same place twice.

Every pretty girl I meet manages to get the words "Carlton" and "dinner" tangled innocently in the same sentence. When I suggest a tea shop all the disdain in the world seems to concentrate in her lifted brow.

No thoroughfare is safe for me. Persuasive school girls with cardboard flags, hawkers of everything on earth, fellows always temporarily embarrassed, and keen-eyed blind men be perpetually in wait for the broad-foot and the tortoise-shell spectacles.

Once I tried to disguise myself behind a mancoat, but they caught my nasal twang.

So I strive vainly to make a precarious income cover a million dollar myth. But it can't be done. Everybody thinks I'm a son of Hetty Green.
