Methodist Hour On WFAA Sunday Morning At 7:30

Bishop W. T. Watkins, a resident bishop of the Louisville Area, will be the final speaker on the summer series of the Methodist Hour broadcast over an independent network of 38 radio stations. He will use as his subject, "The Message of Methodism to a Confused Age." Bishop Watkins is the recently elected president of the College of Bishops for the Southeastern Jurisdiction of his church and is a former professor of the Candler School of Theology of Emory University.

The Methodist Hour is broadcast in cooperation with the Southern Religious Radio Conference, an organization composed of representatives of the Southern Baptist Convention, The Presbyterian Assembly, and The Methodist Church, together with representatives of certain radio stations.

The Baptist Hour, which will be broadcast over the same network of stations, will be heard during the summer months. Governor Ellis Arnall of Atlanta, Ga., will initiate this series on the first Sunday in July.

Bishop Watkins is a former editor of the "Wesleyan Christian Advocate" and author of the well-known history of Methodism "Out of Aldersgate". He has supervision over the Louisville, the Kentucky and the Memphis Conferences of The Methodist Church.

The Methodist Hour will be heard over radio station WFAA at 7:30 a.m. Sunday mornings.

"UP GOES MAISIE" ON PLAINS SCREEN TUESDAY, JUNE 2 ONLY

When Patricia Ann, dubbed Tisha by her parents, Ann Southern and Lieut. Robert Sterling, grows up she will have a record of her mother's screen career done on 16-mm film.

Miss Southern, whose latest Maisie comedy-drama, "Up Goes Maisie," opens this week on the Plains screen, revealed that she is having some of her favorite films preserved for her daughter. While the entire list is not complete, it includes among others the first Maisie picture, titled "Maisie," and also "Congo Maisie" and "Lady Be Good."

"Up Goes Maisie" will also be included, since this picture has the novelty of dealing with the plane of the future, the helicopter.

By the time Tisha grows old enough to really understand this story," says Miss Southern, "she'll probably be flying a helicopter herself."

Mrs. Elmer Baugh and son spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Tabor at Cross City.

J. R. Starnater and Miss Maureen Sherrill of Abilene visited Mrs. Clyde Sims last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dallas of Baird visited her mother, Mrs. West, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Blackburn and daughter, Dena, of Cisco visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bon Huntington, last week.

Miss Martha Jane Wilcox of Anahare spent the week end here with Polly Moon.

COUNTY'S LARGEST ELECTRICAL SIGN IS INSTALLED HERE

With the installation of a 20-foot neon sign at the Plains Theatre here, Cross Plains now boasts the largest electrical display sign in the county and a theatre which compares favorably with those to be found in metropolitan centers. Not only has the local showhouse completely modernized equipment and furniture inside the theatre, but the outside has been redecorated and patrons are highly pleased with the present type of bookings.

Keystone Peanut And Grain Thresher

"The Keystone" is outstanding because it has a number of exclusive features. Possibly the most important are the following:

The vines or straw are moved to the rear of machine by a series of rakes or "Fingers". Peanuts and small parts of vines are separated from the long vines, and pass to the cleaning fan below. Consequently the long straw is delivered to rear of machine in excellent condition, and is never dropped into the blast of dirt from the cleaning fan. Thus the straw is kept much cleaner. The work of the cleaning fan is greatly reduced and its efficiency, correspondingly, greatly increased.

The Straw Rack and Cleaning Shoe are put in motion with a double eccentric. The Straw Rack moves forward while the cleaning shoe moves backward, thus these parts counterbalance each other.

Here are the most desirable features for a crank shaft—a short throw, and a counterbalance, which together form a mechanism that develops the smoothest "To and Fro" motion it is possible to produce—a nice, quiet, easy rolling motion.

UNUSUALLY WIDE CYLINDER THROAT

The cylinder on the Keystone Peanut Thresher is a heavy nine-bar cylinder, perfectly balanced. There is an unusually wide throat, enabling you to feed the vines or straw into the machine easily. You don't have to push them into the machine; the machine takes them in itself.

The ease with which the vines can be fed into the machine greatly increases its capacity and the separator is made amply large to care for this increase.

SPECIAL CYLINDER AND CONCAVES

Special cylinder and concaves are used for threshing peanuts, and the distance or clearance between the teeth in the concaves and the cylinder is just exactly right to thresh the nuts off the vines clean and yet not close enough to break them. This is a most important point, for if the distance between concave and the cylinder teeth is too great the nuts will slip through without being picked off the vines, if it is too close the nuts will be cracked.

THE PERFORATED PAN

The pan upon which these nuts roll down to the sieves is perforated with correct size openings permitting the sand and dirt to sift through at this point and pass out of the machine.

THE RETARDING APRONS

The vines with only a very small amount of the nuts mixed with them pass into the separator. The aprons, made of sections of wood, prevent the vines from flying through and cause all the vines to fall to the bottom of the separator and to be worked through agitators, so that all must pass through the full length of the machine and receive the thorough shaking that insures the saving of nuts or grain.

THE LONG PERFORATED PAN

Note the long perforated pan under the stirrers. The nuts as they are separated from the vines drop through this onto the pan below. Sticks, vines and other large pieces, however, cannot get through these holes, but pass over with the hay. The grain or nuts falling through the bottom onto the pan are carried clear to the front, this bottom pan working backward and forward and bringing them to the front of the sieves, so that they have the full surface of the sieves to work over just as though they had been separated right at the cylinder.

THE TOP CHAFFER

From the lower pan the nuts roll onto a top chaffer. This further assists in taking out all vines, twigs, sticks, etc., and carries this litter out of the machine; any nuts that may be carried with it being dropped through the fingers into the tailings spout at the back of the machine.

BEHIND THE CYLINDER

The nuts that drop into the tailings spout are picked up by the tailings elevator and are carried through the machine again. On ordinary machines these are carried up and passed into the cylinder where, inasmuch as they are not protected by the vines, they are usually smashed. On the Keystone, however, they are delivered into the machine behind the cylinder, thus avoiding the danger of cracking.

The Keystone is a light thresher, powerfully strong, reasonable in cost; easy to operate and to move about; economical to run and satisfying in volume of output. The Keystone has been a standard grain thresher for over fifty five years and was developed into a real Peanut Thresher when peanuts assumed importance as a crop. The peanut equipment was originated and perfected in Virginia where peanuts are the staple crop.

WEASEL KILLED BY COTTONWOOD LADY

Miss Hazel Respass observed a disturbance in her chicken yard at Cottonwood this week and upon investigation found a weasel, an animal very rarely seen in this section of the United States. The animal had killed six chickens, biting them through the head, however, he made no attempt to eat their flesh. Miss Respass killed the weasel and began to inquire of neighbors and friends as to what type of animal it was. It had been so many years since a weasel had been seen in these parts that very few people were able to identify it properly.

Freeman-Gent Vows Read In Coleman Church

Miss Celia Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Freeman of Coleman and formerly of Cross Plains, became the bride of Daniel B. Gent, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Gent of Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., Thursday evening, June 20, at the First Christian church in Coleman with the pastor, Rev. Thomas A. Gray, reading the double ring ceremony.

The altar was banked with ferns, flanked by wrought iron baskets of gladioli and tall white candelabra, holding white tapers. Mrs. James Conger played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Ruth Caldwell of Farwell, who sang "Oh, Promise Me," and Miss Jennison Grammer, who sang "Oh, Promise Me."

Miss Luella Freeman, her sister's junior bridesmaid, wore white organza and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Betty Nell Freeman of Fort Worth, the bride's cousin, was bridesmaid, wearing a blue eyelet embroidered frock and carried pink carnations. Miss Cora Lou Lambert of Brownwood, an old classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was of pink eyelet embroidery and she carried rose colored carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported swiss, with basque bodice of sheer eyelet embroidery. The deep vee was outlined with ruffles of the swiss and the long pointed sleeves were edged in tiny ruffles of the swiss. She wore her mother's wedding veil and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the groom and for something old a small gold pin, which the groom's grandmother wore in her wedding 71 years ago.

Wallace Dinges was best man, Royce Parish and Carl Otis Fleming were groomsmen. Grady Joe Harrison and H. L. Pinkerton were ushers.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding included: Mrs. George Scott and Mrs. H. A. Young of Cross Plains.

Rev. Mrs. Heck and husband of Wichita Falls spent Tuesday night of last week in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Rodgers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson and children, Jerry and Myrtle, of Mineral Wells, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson last Friday night, then went on to Carlsbad sanitarium at San Angelo Saturday to visit their daughter, who is there taking treatment.

Johnnie Dillard and wife of Abilene visited Johnnie's mother and other relatives over the week end.

Mrs. W. M. Clark and Mrs. S. R. Cochran made a trip to Gorman last Thursday.

Dinner guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Rodgers Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Couner and their son, Jimmie.

Dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Pearl Lane and Gail Connelly Sunday were Mrs. Henry Bold and 2 children, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Walker and 3 children all of Cross Plains, and Mrs. C. W. Graves and Sonny Boy of this place.

Mrs. Charley McGowan and children were dinner guests at the Neal Dillard home at Cross Plains Sunday.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson Sunday were Charles McGowan, Bobby Jack and Alton Harris McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Coppinger of Cottonwood and Frank Taylor of Cross Plains.

Buddie Rodgers made a trip to Cleo Monday.

Ray Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Curry who has been in the Navy for the past two years, came in last week with his discharge. (pol. adv.)

DOUBLE FEATURE SHOWING SATURDAY

Four new song numbers, and a hymn, furnish the musical background for RKO Radio's latest comedy-romance, "Sing Your Way Home," which stars Jack Haley, Anne Jeffreys, Marjorie McGuire and Glenn Vernon, with Donna Lee featured.

Written by Herb Wrubel, the songs are "Heaven Is a Place Called Home," sung by Glenn Vernon and a group of young Americans on a pier in Chelmsford; "Seven O'Clock in the Morning," sung by Marjorie McGuire and a group in the gymnasium aboard an ocean liner; "I'll Buy That Dream," sung by Anne Jeffreys; and "Who Did It?" sung by Marjorie McGuire and Glenn Vernon at the beach.

In addition, Donna Lee, the 15-year-old soprano sensation, sings Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the famous Albert Hay Malotte setting of "The Lord's Prayer" at a church service aboard the vessel.

Dealing with a concerted war correspondent's troubles in escorting a flock of high-spirited young entertainers across the ocean, "Sing Your Way Home," was directed by Anthony Mann.

Three Local Boys Get Awards In F. F. A. Work

By REX CHAMBERS

Three local youths, N. L. Long, Jr., Dick Vestal and Harold Garrett, were this week awarded the Lone Star Farmers Degree in Future Farmer's of America work, announced O. B. Edmondson, agriculture supervisor.

Based on scope of projects, investments in farming and leadership ability, applications for the awards in advancement are passed by a district, area and state committee in Agriculture. Only two other like awards have been made in Area 4, Brownwood District, of which the local chapter F. F. A. is a member.

Highest award made in Future Farming is the American Farmer and the three local youths are working toward that degree.

Graduates of the local high school the past term, the three boys will enter colleges this fall. Harold Garrett will enter John Tarleton and major in Smith-Hughes courses to become an agriculture instructor; Vestal will enter J.T.C. and major in agriculture and education, and Long will enter A.M. to major in animal husbandry.

"DUFFY'S TAVERN" COMING HERE ON WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY

Looking over the roster of Paramount stars appearing in "Duffy's Tavern" which opens Wednesday night at the Plains Theatre, any movie fan would sit back and purr contentedly, for the list includes such big names as Bing Crosby, Betty Hutton, Paulette Goddard, Alan Ladd, Eddie Bracken, Dorothy Lamour, Brian Donlevy, Sonny Tufts, Veronica Lake, Arturo de Cordova, Barry Fitzgerald, Marjorie Reynolds, Victor Moore and Barry Tyrone. And that isn't all. Film audiences and airwave addicts had a chance to see as well as hear Ed Gardner, the word-mangling "Archie" of radio who has been flooring countless enthusiastic listeners for some time now. As the reader may have guessed, "Duffy's Tavern" is based on Station WEAF's show of the same name and also includes Archie's gang—Charley Cantor (Flanagan), Eddie Green, the waiter, and Ann Thomas (Miss Duffy).

Of course the story revolves around the well-known entry which might be located anywhere along New York's picturesque Third Avenue from the Bowery to "Scratch Park" Archie's slanguage, however, is his own original lingo, not identifiable with any particular locale and certainly outside the realm of any dictionary currently on the market. As for the popularity of "Duffy's Tavern," Archie blames it on his personal magnetism. The trouble is (and there's plenty of same) Archie doesn't know who to blame for the $100,000 cash deficit which overtook Duffy's account books. All this happens while Duffy is a way attempting to cure his hayfever and Archie decides to feed fourteen ex-servicemen, temporarily jobless, on the cuff. As Archie would say, "leave us face it — we're in a jam."

Well, the jam smelted more laughs than a flock of hyenas for moviegoers. Fortunately, the sum which stands twice Archie's and evenly is finally raised at a big block benefit party and the boys are back in business. Director Hal Walker has made the most of an adroit script penned by Melvin Frank and Norman Panama.

To quote the oftines unquotable Archie, "this is no ordinary run of the mill on the 'floss' type of picture."

Bill White of Baird was a visitor in town Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Marie Sharrack spent the week end in Abilene.

Mrs. Charon E. Allen of Longview, and Mrs. V. A. Underwood of Dublin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. McNeil here this week.

LILLIAN GISH BACK IN FILMS; STARS IN "MISS SUSIE SLAGLE'S"

By REX CHAMBERS

More than thirty years after she made her first motion picture, Lillian Gish returns to the screen, a potent drawing card at the box office with a fan following representative of two generations.

The beloved star passes another milestone in her career by playing "Susie" in Paramount's "Miss Susie Slagle's," due Sunday at the Plains Theatre with Veronica Lake, Sonny Tufts and newcomer Joan Caulfield co-starring. This is easily her most important role since she left pictures for the stage in 1930. As the proprietress of a boarding house for young medical students, Miss Gish is the inspiration for scores of doctors in the making and one, in particular, played by Sonny Tufts.

She plans to devote herself to the screen exclusively for the next five years and Paramount has clinched it with a contract.

Miss Gish was born of theatrical background in Springfield, Ohio. Her mother was an actress before her marriage. The circumstances of her necessity brought about Lillian's stage bow at the age of six when she appeared in "Tommy's Stitches." With her equally famous sister, Dorothy, Lillian made numerous childhood stage appearances during her school years.

A big moment in the life of Miss Gish was her meeting with D. W. Griffith, pioneer director. Both she and her sister appeared in Griffith's "Unseen Enemy," beginning an association that did more to advance the medium of motion pictures than any other factor. "The Birth of a Nation" carried both Griffith and Miss Gish to heights of prestige in 1915. She has been hailed as the "Prize of the Screen."

Man Discusses Trench Mouth

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has released some interesting information concerning Vincent's angina which was commonly called "trench mouth" during World War I.

Dr. Cox states that Vincent's angina is a specific infection producing inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes, more commonly those of the mouth, and the disease is spread by indirect as well as direct contact.

"Because of the readiness with which this disease is transmitted, it has been occasionally found in epidemic form among school children and other groups," Dr. Cox states. "Vincent's angina assumed epidemic proportions in the front line trenches in 1914-1918 and it was during this period that the disease became generally known as trench mouth."

Although trench mouth is now worldwide in distribution, reasonable application of preventive measures which are merely those in line with approved personal health practices will be found a sufficient defense against this infection.

According to the State Health Officer the most common causes of Vincent's angina are neglected mouths, broken teeth fillings, and other types of oral irritation. Daily hygiene, plus the periodic visit to the dentist can be relied upon as reasonable buffers against this infection. However, persons who are very care-

The Truth About Ted Miles

I have been attacked because I am not a lawyer and yet dare ask to be your next Congressman, because I have no title letters after my name, no degree from some well known university.

All this is true, I was born in a section house on the Cotton Belt right-of-way, son of a section foreman, and I lived in a railroad car when I was a kid. I attended public schools in Eastland, Hamilton and Jones Counties and finished only three years of college, these at San Antonio Tech night school, while working during the day. I didn't quit school because I wanted to; I had to make a living, and I had to work for it.

I moved to Stamford and started operating a service station, a year later becoming an independent petroleum distributor. Six years later I left a five-county agency to volunteer as a private in the Army Air Corps and in time became a bomber pilot. I am married and have one child, a daughter, Ginger, 2 years old.

In the last general election I lacked only 33 votes out of more than 33,000 being elected to the State Senate, carrying a majority in Callahan, Eastland, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, and Taylor Counties.

It's true... I have come up the hard way. And I feel that a new Congressman in Washington will need the experience that comes from hard work and knowing the needs of all the people back home.

From where I stand, it looks like a working man's job properly to represent this District in Washington.

GOVERNMENT AND OPA I believe that the best government is the least government, and stand for the immediate removal of restrictions on the American way of life and small business. I favor removal of nuisance controls on businesses.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE AND VETERANS HOSPITALS I am against the Murray-Dingle "Socialized Medicine" Bill. I want immediate investigation of Veterans' Hospitals, and I will demand that all injured or diseased veterans have competent and immediate medical attention. If medical aid is not available in government hospitals, it shall be given in local plants and hospitals of the Veterans' choice and paid for by the federal government.

SOIL CONSERVATION AND LEON RIVER I am for the Leon River Project, and I favor keeping and expanding soil conservation program in West Texas.

REA I heartily approve of the REA, favor its extension. OLD AGE PENSIONS I am for raising Texas old age pensions to the National Average, believe in eliminating many of the "case workers," who deliberately bother old people.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES I favor "firing" hundreds of thousands of Federal employees who serve no useful purpose, thereby relieving the manpower shortage and enabling the government to lower taxes.

FARM CROP PRICES I am for "parity", or better prices for all farm products, particularly cotton, wheat and peanuts and believe in the right of all farmers to plant what crops they please.

ARMED FORCES I believe in a strong armed force (volunteers if possible) and elimination of the "caste system" so noticeable in the recent war. No draft under age 20 in peace time.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY I stand for equal rights for labor and management, under the law.

If you will counsel and sustain me, God helping me—I will not fail you.

Sincerely, TED MILES (Paid for by Friends of Ted Miles, Who Ask Your Support of His Candidacy.)

AN EDITOR'S WRITE-UP

Up in Kansas there is an editor who prides himself on writing wedding notices. His descriptive powers are splendid and he weaves adjectives into rhetoric gems in a way that makes his write-ups of matrimonial events very readable. But this editor combines truth with beauty in his write-ups, telling everything that transpires during the ceremony as well as tossing bouquets at the beauty of the bride and the manliness of the groom. Here is one of the Kansas editor's latest efforts.

"It was a wonderful wedding. The girl was as sweet as any girl who ever lived, but modern. As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips lightly tilted at the corners with a happy smile, she was a picture of modest beauty. Her filmy wedding gown and gossamer veil floated around her blonde head like a halo. She was nearly an angel as she got to be in this world. At the altar as she passed from her father, the man she had loved, to the other man to whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over. Smiling again, she then turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the chancel, and said 'That's a hell of a place to put a lily!'"

So many new people are coming in because of the new oil development here, that there has been a demand for additional hotel facilities. The Grace hotel is the only one of the several hotels here serving meals. All hotels and apartment houses are doing a good business. The Kemper dining room service, in addition to the Grace hotel, restaurants and cafes, is expected to meet all requirements.

Cecil H. Long, who resides south of town, and Miss Laura Smith of Byrd's Store community, were married here Sunday, June 14. Elder Harlow officiating. This popular young couple will enter upon their married career, with the best wishes of their many friends.

Harve Dennis, of Lamesa, who formerly resided here, was visiting with family connections this week. His wife, who was recently operated on at Brownwood, is recovering nicely. Mr. Dennis states. She was critically ill following the operation.

In fond appreciation of the untiring efforts of their pastor, Rev. S. P. Collins, of this city, and in preparation of programs rendered by the Christian Endeavorers of Cross Plains at Sabanno on previous occasions, the children and young people and ladies of Sabanno on last Sunday evening rendered in their charming way a very fascinating and interesting program at the Presbyterian church here. Every one who participated acquitted himself brilliantly and all in attendance were greatly inspired and helped. The Society of Cross Plains will return their program at Sabanno on the first Sunday afternoon in July. All are cordially invited to hear this program. In closing we thank Sabanno for the nice program and invite them back at their earliest convenience.

LONGER LASTING FENCE POSTS

Farmers and ranchers should experiment with the sap-stream method of treating fresh-cut saplings, says C. W. Simmons, farm forester for the A. and M. College Extension Service. The process is inexpensive to use and is very little trouble.

This method consists of soaking the cut end of the sapling in a chemical solution for one or more days, depending on the amount of sunshine. A few branches must be left at the top to help pull the wood up the sap stream of the wood.

Best results are achieved by giving the treatment on bright sunny days in spring and summer when the sap flows fastest. Hardwood should be treated only from spring to late summer, but pines and cedar can be treated any time except during freezing weather.

The chemical solution should contain either chromated zinc chloride or borax-boric acid. Although the latter solution is still somewhat in the experimental stage and needs to be tried with different species, it has proved to be much less expensive and safer to use, Mr. Simmons says.

The borax-boric acid must be dissolved by heating to 110 to 125 degrees Fahrenheit in equal quantities—three fourths pound of each to one gallon of water, or about a 15 per cent solution. The two boron chemicals dissolved together remain soluble in temperature as low as 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

After treatment the ground end of the sapling should be peeled and dried for about a week, then soaked in a 2 to 12 per cent solution of pentachlorophenol for about two or three days. One half gallon of water soluble preservative should be absorbed per post and about one pint per quart of pentachlorophenol oil preservative.

This combination will not exceed more than five cents for total cost of preservatives per post. Expected life service for average small line posts is 10 to 15 years.

MUCH FRUIT, LITTLE WOOD GROWTH

Prospects for a bumper fruit crop are good over all parts of Texas, according to C. R. Heaton, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

But, like the farmer who was denied by his wonderful potato crop because there were no culls for the hogs, Heaton says the heavy load of fruit is using up so much plant food that there is a slow growth of limbs and twigs.

Next year's fruit crop, he points out, will be borne on the new wood now forming.

Since there will be lots of fruit on the market anyhow, Heaton recommends that fruit be thinned out from 4 to 6 inches. He suggests leaving the better quality fruit, removing the fruit that has been damaged by hail, brown rot, peach scab or curculio. This will throw some strength to the new growth of limbs and twigs and will result in a high percentage of large, quality fruit.

The orchard should be cultivated at a shallow depth as often necessary to protect the busy trees from completion.

Many sandy soils are short on nitrogen and a top dressing of a pound of nitrate of soda or ammonium sulphate per tree in late May or early June will help hold fruit and promote growth. If the trees show

Points To Use For Success In Freezing Foods

Many people have vegetables and fruit in abundance now. Quick freezing is one of the most desirable methods of preserving most foods. If food is properly processed, packaged, and stored, quick-freezing retains practically the same flavor, color, texture and nutritive value of the original foods.

Five Points To Success In Freezing Foods

1. Fruits and vegetables to be frozen should be of the right variety and at the right stage of maturity. The animal should be fat, properly killed, dressed, chilled, and aged.
2. Cleanliness is the first rule. The main precaution should be to prevent germs from getting in the food. Freezing does not destroy all germs, but it prevents their growth. Speed in preparation is essential. This is especially important with vegetables and fish. Promptness in handling, chilling, and freezing any product helps retain quality.
3. Be accurate in observing directions. Follow the proper treatment for the food you are preparing.
4. Quick freeze foods at 20 degrees F. in moving air. Freeze produces changes to a minimum which results in better quality food. Storage at 0 degrees F. with variations of not more than 3 to 5 degrees F. is very important. Research has shown that the higher the temperature gets above 0 degrees F. the quicker the food deteriorates. Flavors lost; meat becomes rancid more quickly; and there are greater losses in food value. If temperature is allowed to go up and down food dries out and becomes tough.
5. Don't store food too long. It is not economical to leave food in storage longer than a year. Store only the amount needed between seasons and use it before the following season.

Thaw properly and use frozen food immediately after thawing. Since all germs are not killed by freezing they become active as the food thaws. Spoilage will occur quickly if frozen foods are left long after thawing; also more food value is lost.

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

In spite of heavy tax contributions to help win the war—increases in cost of materials and supplies, together with increases in labor costs, made necessary in turn by increased living costs—

Electric service is still the smallest item in the household budget.

The electric dollar now buys 50 per cent more service than it did even 15 years ago.

Technical developments in production and distribution of electric energy under private management and initiative have made these lowered costs possible.
