SHALL WE BUILD A WAREHOUSE?

The experience of the Southern farmer in 1615 with the largest crop of cotton on his hands that it had ever been his good fortune to produce caused a dissatisfaction relative to farm management the result of which will be apparent for the next ten years—

The Southern States have on hand now the largest small grain crop that have ever produced and the prospect for corn and other feed crops were never better. The effort to grow more hogs, more poultry, more cattle and the production of more dairy products is very much in evidence. All these things are the result of the efforts put forth by a thrifty and determined people by people that know no defeat.

Having seen the handwriting on the wall we have planted less cotton we will make a smaller crop, but soon it will begin to come on the streets of our town to be sold and the annual question of how the crop is to be financed will be before us. Almost one-half of the human race is engaged in a war of extermination. The markets of the world, where we have been accustomed to sell the most of our cotton, are closed tighter than ever. Shipping is hazardous and many foreign mills are closed on account of the war. What shall we do with the on coming crop? Do you feel like giving up the fight? Perish the thought—never entertain such an idea, even though the mood sweep over you. Time was when we got our food from Europe, and this only two hundred years ago. George Washington, who fought the war of Independence, sent his measure to a tailor in London and got his clothing from across the sea. We are going to use our own productions. Cotton is king, yet for those who prefer it, America produces wool and will produce more. But the lightness of cotton appeals to the growing intelligence of the time. Weight in clothing is not desirable. Cotton is coming into its own thanks to the inventive genius of American.

TRADES DAY

Monday was Trades Day and one of the quietest that Cross Plains has witnessed. There were very few in town. This meant that the people were all busy. While we would have been pleased to have had them with us are glad that they were able to harvest for that signifies a more prosperous future.

THE PEOPLE KNOW

HARVESTING GRAIN

The grain harvest is in full blast in the Cross Plains country. The thresher whistles are audible in the surrounding country and farmers and farm hands are all staying at home to save the grain. We are proud to note that the farmers are having large yields. We judge that the average yield is from 30 to 50 bushels to the acre according to reports. Oats were selling, during the first part of the week, at 33 cents per bushell. While wheat was about $1.00 per bushell. Not much is being put on the market yet.

Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. R. Gray Powell entertained for the younger set Friday evening in honor of Misses Leota and Luzon Powell of Baird. Four tables were arranged on the porch for "42", fruit punch was served during the games also fudge and cormel candy.

Those in attendance were as follows: Misses Leota and Luzon Powell, Clara and Laura Boyles, Lurline Ramsey, Opal McFarline, Willie Adams and Mrs. Ode David, son, and Messrs. Chas. Slaughter, Willie Wagner, Ralph Odum, Charles Ellis, Walter Causey, Willie Forbes and Ode Davidson.

After the ceremony the young couple left for Abilene, where they are spending a few days after which they will be at home to their friends at the home of his mother Mrs. Tucker.

AT ATWELL

Friday morning the writer left bright and early, (about 6 o'clock.) for a day's visit to Atwell, with only his own thoughts for company. Having never been to this little village, we were more or less anxious to see it and the country that surrounds and supports it.

Cross Plains is interested, or should be, this section, for a good many of the people trade at Cross Plains. It being the nearest railroad point for many of them. Atwell is said to be 11 to 12 miles distant from Cross Plains and about 12 from Putnam and about 17 from Cisco. The town lies just at the foot and north of the mountain range that you see some five or six miles north of Cross Plains, and one would think that it would be just a steps from here there. But that mountain is where the rub comes in. It is a rough and rocky mountain and one that some dread to traverse. There are five miles of mountain road. However, tho the road is rough, it at least is not sandy, and with any thing before a sandy road. There are three roads from Cross Plains, to Atwell. One direct thru the mountain via Deer Plains school house; another via J. M. Bakers and Dan Gilker's around and to the east of the mountain; and another via J. G. Hightower's and to the west via Milton Houston's, John Barr's this latter route evading more of the mountain road but getting more of the sand.

We emerged from the north side of the mountain about 11:30 after what seemed to us an interminable distance, we not having seen a person since leaving the Deer Plains school house. For a while we thought by some magic we had been transported to Stephens county as a punishment, all our knowledge of Stephens being thru hearsay. From the mountain one catches a pretty glimpse of the lands that lie in the valley below. Smiling crops of grain, corn, feed stuffs, nice homes, and comfortable looking barns, that suggest fattened horses and dairy cattle, orchards laden with fruits, all present a pleasing picture, doubly pleasured by contrast with what one has just seen on the mountain.

The first house we came to was that of Edgar Davis which nestles up close to the hill. Next we found Elbert Mercer, M. O. Ezzell, Merrick Ramsey, Mrs. Woods, Steve Foster, living in the order given between the mountain and town. At Atwell we found O. K. Morgon, general merchant and postmaster, with a good stock of goods for a country store, a genial and an accommodating man. G. S. Mitchell, blacksmith, was away from home attending a sick man, D. A. Gattis northeast of town. Elbert Ezzell, who lives in town, was also at Mr. Ezzell's. While in Atwell we met Prof. B. Chrisman, who tells us he taught the first normal school in Texas in 1870 at Glade-water, and that he has taught in Texas ever since until a few years

A great fruit crop is on hand in this country, and oats, cotton, feed stuffs, and all other crops are in fine condition.

CLEANS CEMETERY

We are glad to note the interest that has been taken in cleaning the weeds, rocks, etc., out of the cemetery. This work has been needed for quite awhile. The weeds were cut and burned and all trash and rocks were hauled out leaving the cemetery in beautiful condition. About $60 has been donated by private subscription for the work but we understand that this is not sufficient to pay for the work done. We owe it to ourselves and the town to keep the cemetery in good condition and a few dimes donated to that cause are well spent.

We understand that there will be a meeting at the cemetery within a Sunday or two to mark the unmarked graves. All that has unmarked grave should see to this:

It was reported that a thief broke through a window and prices so low he refused to carry off the goods at Carter's.

Not Paint

The worst mistake in painting is not putting off. That costs about 10 percent; you keep your money a year and pay 10 percent for it.

Paint would have to come down 25 percent to make 10 percent on the job, for wages do not go down.

The worst mistake is "cheap" paint. It cost from 50 percent to 100, first cost, and another in wear.

What a liar "cheap" is! "Put-off" is bad enough; "cheap" is ten times worse.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Cairon, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its firing me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

manufacturers and the art manifest by our designers, both men and women. The contending armies in Europe now depend largely on cotton for their continuance. Cotton is a swab alike for the belching, belching mouth of brazen cannon in victory and for the wounded lips of death in defeat. Gun cotton in destruction, it becomes medicated cotton in reparation. Is the horse and hog and sheep and cow valuable to its owner; so is the cotton plant. With the competition of its fleece the wealth of the wool grower is gone—vanished like the lost sheep of Israel. It is bsterine for the butterless and gravy for the hogless. Its seed, long a welter of waste and rote, is now cream in every cupboard. You say give up the fight. A thousand times no, The Federal Government has delegated almost unlimited powers in matters of finance to the Federal Reserve Bank and their instructions recently given out to all the small banks are that we take advantage of the Permanent warehouse and Marketing Law recently passed by our Legislature, thereby enabling us to store our cotton until the markets are hungry for it. This is a co-operative law and it is necessary that the farmers take 60 per cent of the stock in the ware house that are built, the remaining 40 per cent to be taken by those in the community not engaged in agriculture or stock farming. In this way we can avoid the calamity of having to sell distressed cotton at ruinous prices. This year has forced on America new conditions and it is for us to meet these conditions and overcome them. Business is the science of human service. Also business is the science of living. The rewards of good work are more work, more difficulties, greater responsibilities. But every burden well shouldered means increased strength. We do not pray to be relieved of burdens but we do pray that we may have strength to carry them and for the man who work with head, hand and heart there is bound to be a reward beyond his highest hopes and fondest dreams. What we do must be done now. Think the matter over.
