Message To Our Citizens

ABOUT NATIONWIDE SALE OF U. S. BONDS

On Monday, May 15, the U. S. Savings Bonds Independence Drive opens throughout the nation, continuing through the Fourth of July. Its symbol is the Liberty Bell, encircled by the campaign theme. Save for Your Independence—Buy U.

The year-round Savings Bonds program, of which this annual campaign is an important part, fosters the spirit of self-reliance and the urge for self-betterment that, along with individual enterprise, inventiveness, productivity and thrift have carried us steadily forward since the first settlers braved the wilderness to build a free America.

Through regular savings we build up reserves against misfortune and provide income for our later years, thus lessening the burden upon others. We accumulate funds for worthwhile purchases and investments. The buying power we store up (individual savings in E Bonds alone exceed $34,000,000,000 in cash value today) helps to stabilize business and employment through the years.

As your mayor, I urge all who are able to help the volunteer Savings Bonds Committee of this city reach every possible Bond buyer during the campaign. The more we exceed our Independence Drive quota and the more we spread the habit of regular savings, through the Payroll Savings Plan or purchase of Bonds at banks and post offices, the more we shall have done for ourselves, our community and our nation.

In honor of the Liberty Bell, hallowed symbol of the American principles by which we live and grow and prosper, I call upon our citizens to signal the opening of this Inde-pendence Drive by the ringing of bells throughout the city pendence Drive by the ringing of bells throughout the city at noon and the displaying of our nation's flag on Monday, May 15.

It Was Different 5

Years Ago Monday

Conditions change a lot in five years.

On May 8, 1945, Americans and Russians were shaking hands at the Eibe River and the United States celebrated like a nation gone mad, but last Monday, the fifth anniversary of the historic occasion passed almost unnoticed. Instead of hands clasped in friendship America and Russia are now engaged in hostilities just short of shooting war.

Billy Sam Sipes, of Cross Plains, will attend the Jamboree. General Eisenhower is a member of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America. His message follows:

Cross Plains And Rising Star Telephone Holders

As reported in your local newspapers, ownership and management of the Cross Plains and Rising Star exchanges passed into new hands May 1st. We, the old and new owners, feel that the following personal expressions of future policy and gratitudue for support through the years are due and timely.

From The New Owner

In taking over the Cross Plains and Rising Star telephone systems, I wish first to ask the indulgent cooperation of the citizenship of the two cities. For the benefit of all concerned, highest priority will be given to work to improve the system as a whole, and naturally every request for extension and improvement can not be immediately granted.

Please bear with me, and if it is impossible to comply with your desires in the immediate future please realize that my job is of such magnitude that all necessary corrections and extensions can not be made at

Where existing circuits permit new connections will be made immediately.

In coming to Rising Star and Cross Plains it is with the sincere hope that I may be a part of the civic life of the communities and to eventually build the type of usiness to which I feel you are entitled and will be justly proud.

> E. O. KIZER, Your Local Telephone Man

From Former Owner

In closing accounts upon the Cross Plains and Rising Star systems of the Home Telephone & Electric Co., we feel that an expression of gratitude to the people of this area is due, for the patronage, cooperation and support given us through the years. It is our sincere hope that the same neighborly spirit will be conveyed to our successor Mr. E. O. Kizer, an experience telephone man, who has purchased the Cross Plains and Rising Star exchanges.

It is with pleasure that we commend Mr. Kizer to the telephone subscribers of these two fine towns, for we feel that the properties are being passed into most capable hands.

In behalf of our stock holders, operators, linemen and repair crews, I wish to thank every person who has supported us in years past and to wish for Cross Plains Rising Star areas continued growth and abundant prosperity.

Bishop CHEVROLET CO. A&M College Says Silage Crop Should Be Planted In May

Dairy farmers will be missing a real bet if they fall to produce and store a slage crop this year. Right now the ratio between the price of milk and the cost of feed is a factor that is now causing the dairy farmer to spend sleepless nights trying to figure how he can nights trying to figure now he can cut production costs. R. E. Burle-son, associate extension dairy husbandman of Texas A&M Col-lege, says a plentiful supply of sil-age will certainly help with the solution.

He says silage, next to pastures He says singe, next to pasture, is the cheapest source of feed for the dairy cow. It is the best substitute for pastures and is needed when the pastures no longer furnish good grazing.

nish good grazing.

Burleson has it all figured out on a per acre basis and suggests that plans be made now to plant the silage crop. He says there are a number of good silage crops that can be grown in Texas. Atlas sorghum is one of the favorites and he uses it to illustrate what

He says atlas will produce from 10 to 18 tons of silage per acre but for the example he's using the lower figure of 10 tons. A ton of atlas contains about 17 per cent total digestible nutrients—that's the part of the feed a cow can actually use in producing milk-and that means 3,400 pounds of total digestible nutrients per acre

It is a known fact, he says, that after a cow maintains her own body, she can produce 139 pounds of four per cent milk from 100 pounds of TDN. So, he figures from the 3,400 pounds of TDN, she can produce about 4,700 pounds of four per cent milk and all from one acre of atlas silare. one acre of atlas silage.

Now for the dollars and cents angle. He says the average price for milk in Texas is around five silage can be produced and stored for about $5 per ton and this would mean the 10 ton crop would cost $50 per acre. It all adds up to this; with $50 worth of silage, it is possible for a dairy farmer to produce $235 worth of milk and according to Burleson this is one way the dairyman can cut production costs.

He adds that a minimum of He adds that a minimum of three tons of sliage should be put up for each cow in the herd. Double the figure to take care of the lean and unproductive years. Anyway he concludes, it doesn't take very many acres to produce the sliage tonnage that most dairy-men need but the crop must be planted, harvested and stored be-fore it can be used and now is fore it can be used and now is the time to start the first opera-

Rotary Hoe Eases Backs For Cotton Farmers In Texas

.. Next to harvesting, cotton chopping and hoeing are the greatest man hour consumers in the production of a cotton crop. In central Texas, for example, 22 per cent of the man hours required to produce a cotton crop are spent on chopping and hoeing. According to Fred C. Elilott, extension cotton work specialist of Texas A&M College, cotton producers can reduce this time consuming operation by using rotary hoes and at the same time increase their income from cotton.

He says many farmers last year He says many farmers has year reported that they made savings up to 60 per cent on these two items through the use of the rotary hoe. The colorful tale - teller recalled how David Crockett killed 105 bears one season and was eventually one season and was eventually elected to Congress on his recommendations as "a bear killer." "His recommendations stand up better than some we've had since then," Dobie declared, laughingly.

Doble declared, laughingly.

Doble told that there were two attitudes toward wildlife and nature... that of a savage and that of the persons occupying the upper rungs of civilization. He related how the Indians referred to all animals as "brother" and as they drew their bows to shoot said, "Excuse me, brother wolf, but I must kill you."

"As time went on and more wildlife is destroyed, people come to appreciate animals more," Doble stated.

Doble devoted much of his talk to the coyote—the "real folk character of the Southwest." In his opinion the coyote is the North American counterpart of Europe's Reynard, the fox The coyote is also pretty smart, Doble believes, or he wouldn't have assumed the place he has today.

He related the Indian's tale of the creation of man—with the coyote as the central figure. "All the animals were already on earth—they heard man was coming so

Then, in his drawling Texas tongue, Doble told of the coon who lived in a hollow tree above a distillery. The antics of the people who kept coming out with bottles fascinated the coon. One day when everybody was gone he crept into the distillery and found a bottle and sampled its contents. After a few drinks he wanted company so he started down the Along came the coon, still talking to himself. "I've always heard," said the coon, "that if you kicked a dead coyote his tongue would pop out." Warlly, he stepped just close enough to the coyote to kick him in the stomach." Immediately the coyote's tongue popped out. "And the coon ran up a tree, that's all."

been heart conditions.

The three present major forms of heart trouble are: rheumatic heart disease, high blood oressure and coronary heart disease. Rheumatic heart disease, the most common type of early life, occurs as the result of one or more attacks of rheaumatic fever. It is a public health problem for which very little has been done, 'yet with early diagnosis and proper medical care during the acute and connvalescent stages, children who develop rheumatic fever can be largely spared from rheumatic heart disease in later life.

Another major cause of heart trouble is high blood pressure or hypertension. This is the most common heart disease of middle age. There is a great deal that is not known about this disease, but we do know that it is most common in people who are overweight, and that it is associated with long, continuous nervous strain, high tension and constant worry. Treatment of high blood pressure is fairly successful in the majority is fairly successful in the majority is fairly successful in the majority

Coronary heart disease is a disease of the arteries which supply the heart muscle itself with blood. A majority of persons survive the first attack, and with good whethe list attack, and with good medical care, rest and common sense precautions, may even live a normal life span. Syphillitic heart disease can be prevented by early and adequate care of the systemic disease, a problem which has been simplified by the use of peutcillin.

Expert Gives Good Advice For Making Cotton Slip Oovers

The most practical cotton fabrics for making slip covers should be washable, durable, closely woven, reasonable in price and attractive in color and design. Such fabrics are available, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A&M College, but it may require shopping to find them.

She says that homemakers should remember that slip covers represent a considerable investment not only in money but also in labor and time if you make them at home. Choose materials that suit the decorative scheme of the room and which meet the re-The most practical cotton fab-

Street In New Addition To Be Named In Honor Of Ray Smith

In addition to the circular drive, which will provide an entrance and exit to the new residential addition now being developed in the northwest part of Cross Plains, there will be one other street. It too is to be paved.

The circular drive will be named Edgewood Drive, states George Steakley, president of the Key City Bullders, of Abilene, the firm opening the new residential section here. Steakley said two weeks ago that the drive would be named in keeping with the addition proper.
