

Wind Puff Blows Front Wall Down At Bishop Automotive

A wind puff blew out the front wall of the Bishop Automotive building at corner of West 9th and Main Streets here at 10:15 a.m. Thursday morning, according to a clock on the wall.

Tim Bishop, owner of the business said a puff of wind apparently blew in from the back where large doors were open and pushed the wall outward and it crumbled. "It had withstood much stronger gusts than that Thursday morning," Bishop said, "but apparently that one was just right to cause the wall to crumble."

No one was injured, and there was not property damage other than the Bishop building. Bishop, Weldon Lamb and Jeff Coker were in the front of the shop drinking coffee when the mishap occurred. Bill Dillard was across the 100 foot street in front of the City Hall and saw it happen. He said that debris scattered all the way across Main Street when the mortared tile wall tumbled down.

City of Cross Plains cleaned the debris with equipment, backhoe and truck. City Marshal Charlie Chapman aided in traffic director as did State Maintenance personnel who were working in the area.

Only thing saved in the heavy loss was one front door, glass and all.

Following is an account of the mishap taken from the Abilene Reporter-News in Friday's morning edition.

Tim Bishop was drinking a cup of coffee, minding his own business, when the wall literally came tumbling down.

"He said a gust of wind swooped out of the west about 10:15 a.m. Thursday and knifed Bishop Automotive. The front wall rocked back and forth momentarily and plummeted into the street.

"Bishop and two customers were inside the building about 20 feet from the wall when it fell. Their immediate reaction was incredulity.

"We were just sitting there on a coffee break," Bishop said Friday. After the rude interruption, he said, "At first, I didn't know how to act."

"Bishop ran into the street, searched through the wreckage and was relieved to find nobody was hurt and nothing—besides the wall, that is—was damaged.

"Bishop expressed his appreciation for the prompt action of city crews who cleared the street and other Cross Plains residents who helped build a temporary plywood wall Thursday night.

"The building is owned by Bishop's father, Dale, who had operated a Chevrolet dealership in it for many years.

"The automotive shop reopened Friday. But while business proceeded as usual, Bishop remained slightly perplexed by the wall's decision to take a dive.

"It's been there 40 some odd years," he said. "I guess it was time for it to go."

Bisons Win 2; Beat Evant; Get Forfeit

Cross Plains Buffaloes claimed two District 8-A wins last Friday. The Herd defeated Evant Elks 34-30 in Buffalo Stadium that night for its third triumph in league play.

Earlier in the day Cross Plains learned that its September 16 contest with the Goldthwaite Eagles had been turned around. Cross Plains lost a 33-6 decision to the Eagles, but Goldthwaite played an ineligible player, not named, and was forced to forfeit the game to the Buffaloes for victory number two. Bisons also beat Rochelle for a 3-2 District 8-A record. Cross Plains also lost to Gorman and Santa Anna. Therefore Goldthwaite and Gorman are tied for first place, both with 4-1 loop records, and Cross Plains and Santa Anna are tied for third place.

Evant held a wide statistical margin, posting 21 first downs to 6, and 251 yards rushing to 96, over Cross Plains, but a pair of two-point conversions spelled the difference for the Herd. The Buffs had 20 yards passing to 5 for the Elks, but had two of the aeriels stolen. Cross Plains recovered four Elk fumbles, and lost a pair of bobbles.

Cross Plains drew 13 penalties for 90 yards, and Evant was flagged 10 times for 85 yards.

Buffalo Tony Apple returned the opening kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown. A Lance Clawson kick failed, but with 11:50 left in the first quarter, Bisons led 6-0. The Herd increased its lead to 12-0 when cornerback Tom Sibley recovered an Evant fumble at the Evant 30. Buffaloes drove in to score with fullback Apple scoring on a four-yard run midway through the first quarter. Key play of the march was a 19-yard run by halfback Clawson. Kick failed and Cross Plains led 12-0.

A fumble set Evant scoring in motion in the second period. After gaining possession on the Buffalo 32, Elk halfback Timmy Brown tallied from the four yard line. Conversion pass failed. Evant knotted the score at 12-12 with 5:36 left in the second quarter after recovering a fumble on the Bisons' 41. They drove for a touchdown with fullback Alan Manning scoring from five yards out and a pass failed.

The Elks took an 18-12 lead with 2:42 left in the second canto when quarterback John Beadle scored on an 11-yard run. A run was not successful for a two-point conversion this time leaving the score at 18-12 favoring Evant for the first time. Evant pounced on the misque when a bad buff center sailed over punter's head and fiks recovered at the Herd's 25.

Cross Plains got the ball back by an unidentified Buff covering a fumble at the Evant 36. A 24-yard touchdown run by halfback Johnny Neeb knotted the score, and Neeb's circle of left end with about a minute left in the first half elevated Cross Plains to a 20-18 advantage at halftime.

Sibley got back into his fumble recovery from midway of the third quarter at the Evant 30. Buffalo Neeb then scampered 14 yards for the touchdown with 6:56 left in the third frame. A two-point pass failed on the conversion try, leaving the score at 25-18, favoring the Thundering Herd.

Evant countered in the third canto with a 50-yard drive following the kickoff. Halfback Brown scored from one yard out with 46 seconds remaining. A two-point conversion attempt failed, and Cross Plains continued to lead 25-24.

First portion of the fourth quarter both teams traded punts. Then Cross Plains punted deep into Evant territory, about the five yard line. The Elks ran one play, got nothing, then fumbled. Buff defensive guard Richard Creamer recovered in the end zone for the touchdown. Quarterback Devin Koenig ran in a two-point conversion for a 34-24 count with 3:05 left in the game.

Evant took the kickoff back to the Elks' 16, and drove the 54 yards with 1:50 still remaining in the game cutting the margin to four points, 34-30. Quarterback Beadle scored the six-pointer, but a run was not successful on the two-point conversion attempt. The Elks attempted an onside kick trailing 34-30, but Cross Plains recovered.

Next foe for the Bison will be the Blanket Tigers of District 8-A, at Blanket Friday, Oct. 28, starting at 7:30 p.m. The team is highly regarded, and was rated ahead of the Herd in pre-season polls.

'Growing Tomatoes' Topic Of Garden Club Article

By Mrs. N.V. Gibbs

Improved Porter tomatoes are the favorite in the Gibbs garden. They produce until frost in March. The hot bed is made ready for planting. Scatter seed so plants will have space for better size at transplanting time. Cover seed with one half inch of soil, water and cover bed with plastic or old window glass. Usually on the third or fourth day, tomatoes will pop out of the soil. Protect and water in hot bed until time to transplant a few weeks later.

At transplanting time have garden rows fresh plowed as if they were planted. Dig holes about five feet apart, loosen soil for each planting. Place the plant length ways of the row, making the plant lay flat, leaving tops three or four inches above ground. Pack dirt over plants, water and cover with large juice cans that tops and bottoms have been removed. The cans shade and protect plants from both sun and wind. Leave plants covered for several weeks to promote growth.

Tomato rows can be plowed with cans in place more than once with tractor cultivator. This also includes pollination of plants. A good gardener keeps watch for fast growth and insects. Normally the first insect is the Hornworm which can devour a plant over night. Now is the time to stop their eating those beautiful plants by dusting or spraying with Sevin.

In May or June the vines are loaded with clusters of fruit. Tomatoes transplanted in early April are bearing by the 4th or soon after.

Blister Bugs are also common insects arriving like an army to attack the entire patch. They thrive on the plants luscious leaves. Sevin dusting or spraying comes to the rescue again. Other insects of the tomato plant are Nematodes which damage the root system. Marigolds grown near the tomato rows detract their destruction.

This year a not so common insect is a small worm which invades the ripening tomato under the stem. This worm then feeds on tomato pulp until spoilage. Treatment and prevention of this insect is not yet known by this grower.

Tomatoes usually are in peak production by late summer. It is time to can red fruit. Freezing tomatoes is another choice of some growers. Green tomatoes are useful for chow chow, sauces and relish. How about a green tomatoe fried?

Just before frost in fall, pull remaining green tomatoes. Store in shallow boxes where they can be kept from freezing. This assures the family of ripened fruit during winter months. Good luck with next year's tomato crop!

It's that time again. Don't forget to set your clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday night unless you want to arrive at church an hour early on Sunday morning. We will also get that hour of sleep back that we lost in the Spring. Remember, spring forward, fall back if you have problems remembering which way to set your clock.

Monday, Oct. 31, is Halloween Night and all the little ghosts and goblins will be out celebrating. Some will be celebrating with parties, carnivals and such and some will go trick or treating. However you choose to celebrate Halloween, please do it safely. Following is a list of safety tips for area trick or treaters.

Try to go out before dark. If you'll be out after dark, make sure your costume is a light color or that you add strips of reflective tape. A flashlight is a good idea.

Go with a grownup you know. If you wear a mask, make sure you take it off when you cross a street. Also make sure that the eyeholes are BIG. Better yet, use makeup instead.

Stay in your own neighborhood and go only to houses that have the porch light on.

Don't eat your treats until your mom or dad has checked them.

If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.

Follow these tips for a Halloween that's ghostly not ghastly!

The above tips were printed in a Highlights For Children magazine, and I hope will be beneficial to all you trick or treaters Monday night.

Ethloy Dickson of this city made an interesting observation recently while reading the "Dallas Cowboy Weekly". According to Mrs. Dickson the Cowboys have only four men on their squad who were educated at Texas Universities. While the Philadelphia Eagles have nine men from Texas Universities, the Tampa Buccaneers have seven as do the Washington Redskins. The Minnesota Vikings and the New Orleans Saints each have four.

That must "Say Something" for Texas Universities, but what?" said Mrs. Dickson.

The following was contributed to this column but did not wish to have a name printed.

A Boulder APPROACH: OR how Hoover Gave a DAM.

In the early 1900's, a concrete solution was needed to prevent flooding along the Colorado River. The Hoover administration provided it. 4,400,000 cubic yards' worth. Enough concrete to pave a two-lane highway between New York and San Francisco. It was the Hoover Dam at Boulder City, Nevada. And it not only controlled flooding and irrigation, but today it generates power for Southern California, Arizona and Nevada. The cost: $385 million. And one of the ways money was generated was by Americans buying government securities and taking stock in America. Today, you can take stock in America by buying United States Savings Bonds. It's easy when you join the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, a little is automatically set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds. Before you know it, you'll build up a nice reservoir of savings. So buy Bonds. It's one savings plan that holds water.

Take stock in America.

SS Allows "A Little More" Filing Time

Social Security widow's and widower's benefits can now be paid for the month the worker dies even if the widow(er) cannot file an application for benefits until the following month, announced Glyn Hammons, manager of the Abilene Social Security office. It is often difficult for a widow(er) to contact a Social Security office in the same month the worker dies. A recent change in the Social Security law allows the payment of benefits for the month the worker dies, even if the application is not filed until the month following the month of the worker's death, Hammons added. This change was effective for applications filed in July 1983 or later. However, if the widow(er)'s application is filed later than the month following the month of the worker's death, benefits can only begin with the month the application is filed. Although this change allows a little more time, prompt filing is still important.

Almost lost in the flurry of an indicated attorney general, debates over dwindling state revenues, and lawsuits against giant companies is the Nov. 8 election, just around the corner.

In what is expected to be an off-year low turnout, voters will either approve or disapprove 11 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The underlying theme of almost all the amendments is government revenues, either state or local and aim at enhancing services without raising taxes.

The proposed amendments, in the order they will appear on the ballot, are:

AMENDMENT NO. 1:

Authorizes fewer justice of the peace and constable precincts in counties with a population of less than 30,000 and provides for continuous service by county officials when precinct boundaries are changed.

This amendment, skillfully authored by freshman Rep. Dudley Harrison, D-Sanderson, is aimed at reducing the cost of county government in rural areas which do not need as many as the constitutionally required four JPs and constables.

Harrison convinced the Legislature that some rural counties could get by with as few as one JP and constable, and their county governments could save revenues if they could drop the unnecessary salaries.

If approved by voters, county officials would have until Jan. 1, 1987 to comply with the new requirements which would designate new precincts according to population.

AMENDMENT NO. 2

Proposes to replace the limitation on the value of an urban homestead with limitation based on size, with regard to the forced sale of the property.

Currently, numerous lots designated at a maximum value of $10,000 are designated as an urban home stead and are exempt from forced sale.

This amendment would base the exemption at one acre of land, together with any improvements.

AMENDMENT NO. 3

Would give the Legislature the power to grant agricultural producers associations the authority to collect a refundable checkoff on their product sales.

These producers would first approve the fee collection in a members referendum. The proceeds would be used only for research, marketing, and educational programs relating to that particular industry.

AMENDMENT NO. 4:

Authorizes the Legislature to provide for temporary succession to offices in the Legislature when a senator or representative becomes unavailable to serve during enemy attack emergencies.

It also provides for suspension of certain constitutional procedural rules during emergencies caused by such an attack.

Grand Saline State Rep. Bill Hollowell, a staunch veteran, authored this bill providing for the Legislature to operate under nuclear attack of war.

AMENDMENT NO. 5:

Proposes to authorize use of the Permanent School Fund to guarantee school bonds.

This bill would aid local school districts with construction needs but unfavorable economic conditions for unaided bonding. The proposed guaranteed bond program would save school districts millions in long-term construction debt financing.

AMENDMENT NO. 6:

Would allow the court to garnish wages for enforcement of court-ordered child support payments.

Current law prohibits the court from forcing part of a person's salary or wages to go to child support payments. Brownsville Rep. Gene Oliveira authored this bill aimed at parents who default on such payments.

This amendment does not allow any other sort of debt to be subject to garnishment.

AMENDMENT NO. 7:

Authorizes $800 million in state bonds to finance home purchase loans for Texas veterans.

Modeled after the 34-year-old veteran's land program which helps vets buy 10 acres of land, the proposed program is aimed at the modern vet who may only

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock told an Amarillo crowd last week to expect higher taxes coming out of the next legislative session.

When other politicians speak of the need to raise taxes, they are a bit suspect of trying to raise money to keep political promises to some group.

But when Bullock, the high tax collector for the state, says Texas government is running out of money, most people lend an interested and believing ear.

Bullock's bad news in a speech to the independent automobile dealers convention was that the oil market slump is healing slowly, at least in terms of the tax revenues that the oil industry contributes to the state.

In addition, Bullock said, the peso devaluation which wreaked economic havoc along the Rio Grande border is also causing a loss of sales tax revenues.

"When cities don't pay as much (sales tax), it counts in the Treasury."

"There has been a loss of sales revenue of up to 50 percent for example, in Laredo, and El Paso lost 38 percent," Bullock said.

Tax Hike Forecast

The oil and peso problems, together with the national recession, have created what Bullock calls "a Texas recession—unique to Texas."

He predicted the Legislature will raise taxes to boost support for the more than half of Texas school systems "which are sub-standard."

Which taxes will be raised?

Bullock said he thinks changing some exemptions in the sales tax, increasing "sin" taxes (alcohol, tobacco) and gasoline taxes will temporarily raise "a considerable sum."

"I don't see any increases in oil and gas taxes because that industry has been hit so hard."

King Ranch Audit

If Texas government finds extra revenues anywhere, some quiet predictions are they will come out of General Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is an audit of about 2,900 state properties to determine if the state is getting its share of money.

Last week Mauro said the 18,000 acres on the King Ranch in South Texas, may be "a problem lease."

Mauro's staff is looking to see whether the King Ranch has lived up to its responsibilities under the Relinquishment Act, and whether Exxon oil company has paid the state its full share of royalties.

Exxon has leased King Ranch oil and gas rights since 1933.

Gamble Paid Off

In those Depression years, the King Ranch Family leased nearly a million acres, including the 33,000 acres of state tracts, to the Humble Oil and Refining Co. in exchange for a $3.5 million loan. The lease was the largest for Humble at that time, and it paid off with over $100 million in oil and gas revenues.

Mauro may try to attack the lease as invalid, as he did on Exxon-leased land in Duval County which brought the state $400 million.

Exxon says there is no basis to invalidate the lease.

"Mauro is the first land commissioner in 50 years who has seen something wrong with the lease," a spokesman said.

Democrats To Dallas

Republicans consider Dallas to be their town in Texas, but Texas Democrats will be coming to visit.

Following a spirited struggle, the party's executive committee voted to hold the 1984 state convention in Dallas—and only two weeks after the Republican National Convention will be held there.

Dallas city officials expect to take in $15 million from the Democratic convention alone, and $35 million from the GOP caucus.

Austin and Travis County Democrats were a bit rankled at the Dallas selection, but the party committee decided Dallas would be the best place to showcase the differences between the two parties.

Gramm's Old Seat

With controversial Congressman Phil Gramm running for the Senate, interest has picked up in the race to take his house seat.

The latest count has two new contenders from the small portion of Tarrant County which was pieced into the district last session. One is state Sen. Hugh Farmer; another is oil man Marshall Erachman.

For the Republicans, state Rep. Ray Keller of Duncanville is considering a try.

Dan Kubiak, who finished second to Gramm in a 10-candidate special election last spring, has been quietly shopping for a house in the Bryan-College Station area. Kubiak, who garnered 40 percent of the vote in losing to Gramm, is the frontrunner, and friends say he will make an official announcement soon.

Forest Service Offers Free Arbor Day Kits

To help Texas teachers and organizations conduct Arbor Day programs, the Texas Forest Service is offering free program kits.

Each kit includes a loblolly pine seed packet with planting instructions, program aids for a local Arbor Day observance, suggested classroom activities for teachers, and a copy of Governor White's proclamation.

Quantities are limited. Only one kit per teacher, group or organization will be distributed.

Arbor Day, to be observed this year on January 20, 1984, in Texas has been an annual celebration in Texas since 1889. The event is to promote a greater appreciation of the beauty and value of trees and forests. The 1984 official state observance will be held in Grand Prairie.

Program chairpersons and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day kits to the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843. Distribution, on a first-come, first-serve basis, will begin in mid-November.

Cash Flow.

In 1803, America found herself up the river. The Mississippi, that is, Valuable goods were being produced in the Midwest, and the mighty Mississippi was our only link to the sea. But the outlet in New Orleans belonged to France.

So President Jefferson sent agents to Paris to negotiate for the addition of New Orleans. Surprisingly, Napoleon offered to sell the entire Louisiana Territory for only $15,000,000.

And that included what is today Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Louisiana, Oklahoma, most of Minnesota, and parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

Thanks to Americans taking stock in their new country by buying over $11,000,000 in government securities, we made the purchase. And doubled our size overnight.

Today, Americans still take stock in their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

They know there's no safer way to save for an education, vacation or retirement. And they know that while they're helping themselves, they're helping America, too.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And help your cash flow into savings.

Take stock in America.

U.S. Bonds pay 8% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/4% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

The community news will follow these comments on Christ's Sermon On the Mount. Matthew 5, 6, 7.

A knowledge of God's Holy word is necessary to a Christian's growth and maturity. Christ's Sermon on the Mount is a good place to start.

This sermon, directed to Christ's disciples, with others listening was well timed. The many miraculous cures done by Christ, in Galilee, prepared them to receive instruction from one in whom they saw so much divine power and goodness. It was a summary, in words, of the sermon His deeds had been preaching.

The text: "Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand," with emphasis on "Repent". In Chapter 13, we read how Christ, through parables, taught the nature of the Kingdom.

What is it to repent? To reform, both in practice and in judgement. The place was a mountain in Galilee. When the Law was given the Lord came down upon the mountain. Here the Lord went up on the mountain. There He spoke in thunder and lightning; here Christ spoke with a still small voice. Christ taught according to promise. Isa. 54:13. "All thy children shall be taught of the Lord." Therein we get an understanding that Christianity is to regulate the temper of our minds and the tenor of our conversations. By the gospel, Christians must be made good, just as made better. Titus 1:1.

Sen Farabee Explains Last 6 Amendments

Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls continued to remind voters that all 11 constitutional amendments will be on the November 8 ballots, and said that all 11 propositions make positive changes to the Texas Constitution. "We need to remember that even though there are not any major statewide races this year, there are important issues to decide. The voters have an opportunity to make changes in the way pardons and paroles are granted; child support orders are enforced; and financial assistance is offered to veterans, in addition to other constitutional matters.

"While all the amendments are important, I am especially interested in the child support and pardons and paroles board changes. I authorized these amendments in the Senate this past session, and feel that these changes would be particularly beneficial to the state," Farabee said.

The Senator focused his remarks on the final six amendments, having commented on the first five a few weeks ago. He explained that:

Proposition 6 would give the state stronger enforcement powers over court-ordered child support. This change would make delinquent parents—rather than the state—responsible for support of their children;

Proposition 7 would allow bonds to be sold to financially aid the Veteran's Land and Veterans' Housing Assistance programs;

Proposition 8 would allow taxing units to exempt certain fraternal organizations that perform charitable and public service functions from their property tax. Local communities would be able to decide whether the organization's activities deserve tax relief;

Proposition 9 would allow the development of a system to assign judges of statutory courts to serve for other statutory court judges or for judges of constitutional county courts. Unnecessary delays, caused by inability of the regular judge to perform his duties, would be eliminated;

Proposition 10 would allow a city or town to use public funds to assist in the relocation or replacement of sanitation sewer laterals on private property. The town could pay for the initial cost and allow the property owner to pay back the amount within a 5-year period; and Proposition 11 would expand the Board of Pardons and Paroles from three to six members, but would streamline the parole process by ending the current practice of gubernatorial review of paroles. Governor White is in support of this proposition.

Pet Odors Can Be Tamed

A decorative air freshener can intrigue pets as well as people when it doubles as an ornament.

While almost everyone loves pets, our furry companions often bring lingering odors into otherwise clean, fresh-smelling homes. Even birds, hamsters, fish and other small pets that are not free to roam can add their own animal smells to your rooms.

An easy way to freshen the areas where your pet spends a lot of time is to place solid air fresheners where their continual fragrance will keep the rooms smelling nice. Most solid air fresheners will deliver a pleasant fragrance for as long as two months before needing to be replaced.

One effective air freshener, Mr. Culver's Sparklers, is "disguised" as a decorative item with the look of stained-glass, even though the colorful parts are made of soft plastic and are safe to use with pets because they are non-toxic. The newest designs are a dove, a daisy and a balloon cluster.

If, on occasion, solid air fresheners are not adequate to fight strong pet odors, an air freshener in a spray can will allow you to add extra fragrance.

Is it any wonder you feel tired? Your body is indeed, marvelously made so that you can accomplish this and everything you do every day of your life. The big question is, what are you attempting to achieve with this opportunity? This energy? Is it being lived selfishly and without purpose? Is this an aimless drifting, not caring, not desiring to put our lives to good purpose? If the motto, "Today is the first day of the rest of your life," is worth thinking about at all, it's worth putting into practice. If you do, you may find that you won't feel as though you're pulling all the load.
