Doesn't It Look Familiar?

By DON TABOR
Publisher

I'm no oil expert.

I know you drill a hole in the ground to get it and that's the extent of my expertise.

But I do possess a good deal of gasoline-buying expertise, as most everybody else in the country does, and I think what I'm about to say is thought by most everybody.

We all have this feeling in the pits of our stomachs that this cheap gas is not going to last long. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised to see it higher at the end of this year than it was at the end of 1985.

They can talk all they want to about OPEC and the spot market and the commodities exchange price. This cheap gas was brought on pure and simple by a glut created by fuel-efficient cars.

I've got a 1986 hotrod Buick that will get nearly 30 miles to the gallon on the highway. I had a new non-hotrod Buick in 1975 that wouldn't come close to getting even half that many miles to the gallon.

You multiply, say, 15 miles to the gallon by millions of miles by millions of cars and that's a lot of gasoline not being burned.

So, how are they going to combat this and drive the price of gas back up? Simple. They cut back big on the amount of gas for sale. That's easy to do. They just quit pumping it out of the ground. Then when it gets scarce and the price goes up, they just start pumping again.

They're kind of using a lesson taught by the coffee-bean growers. Any time they want to jump the price of coffee, all they have to do is say they had a big freeze, or drought, or something, in Colombia and it severely hurt the bean crop. Sure enough, the price of a can of coffee takes a big jump.

And with an oil well, you don't even have to blame it on a drought. You just quit pumping.

I'm not saying this is wrong. It's not, as far as the oil producers are concerned. If I had any oil wells, I'd do the same thing. After all, they're not in the business for their health.

But it looks like the old federal government is falling into a trap, as the old federal government is prone to do. Some federal gas mileage requirements imposed against U. S. automakers have already been relaxed and it looks like more relaxation is on the way.

So, the old U. S. automakers will follow the line of least resistance, as the old U. S. automakers are prone to do, and start making gas-guzzlers again.

And where will the old consumer be? Right in the middle, as the old consumers are prone to be, owning a gas-guzzler with high gas prices.

So what will happen then? Everybody will start wanting a high-mileage Jap car again and the old U. S. automakers will scramble to start making high-mileage cars again.

Doesn't this all sound a bit familiar?

Program on Summer Reading to Begin Here

"All About Texas", this year's summer reading program at the Cross Plains Public Library, will begin on Wednesday morning, June 11, at 10 a.m. It will continue on Wednesday through July 16. Students who were in grades 1 - 6 during the 1985-86 school year are eligible for the program. The theme offers so many possibilities that students are encouraged to enroll before June 11 so that the program can get under way the first day.

The first session will include an overview of the six programs, a film, "Star of the Republic," the breaking of a pinata, refreshments, and checking out books. Other areas of involvement include Indian lore, arrowhead collections, picture writing, songs of the "six flags," wild flowers, rope tricks, rodeo clowns, Texas folklore, the filling of a time capsule, and other activities to be planned.

Another event for school-age people is the contest related to the Robert E. Howard Commemoration. The Friends of the Library are sponsoring a poster contest open to students in grades 1 - 12. The theme is to be any aspect relating to the writings of Howard or to his life. Suggestions might be the artist's idea of Conan (not based on those of artists who illustrate the books), of Howard himself, or of the world Howard used in his Conan stories. Imagination is the word.

Entries should have the student's name and grade in the lower right hand corner. They must be submitted at the library by June 10 for judging. Three winners will be chosen, one each from grades 1-4; 5-8; 9-12. Winners will be announced and prizes awarded at the library on Saturday, June 14, during an open house to be held between 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.

'Conan' Author Fans Due

Robert E. Howard, born 80 years ago and died by his own hand 50 years ago in Cross Plains was a prolific writer of heroic fantasy tales, western stories and poetry.

As is true of so many imaginative and talented people, appreciation of his works did not come during his lifetime. It was only upon the release of the movie, "Conan The Barbarian", that his works gained popular awareness. However, there has been all along a relatively small group of devotees of fantasy literature who admire Howard's tales and poems. Some of these fans will be visiting the parts of Texas where Howard lived this month and will be in Cross Plains on Saturday, June 14. Among the group will be Glenn Lord, Literary Agent to the Howard Estate.

A spokesman for the group has expressed their wish to tour the Cross Plains Library among other places of interest and has indicated that he and the other members of their Association will be presenting some Howard volumes to the Library.

The Friends of the Cross Plains Public Library are hosting an open house and reception to be held at the Library on Saturday, June 14, between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. and invite the entire community to attend and meet these interesting people, some of whom are from Europe, Australia and other States. During the ceremony, the winners of the poster contest will be announced and prizes awarded. The posters will be on display in the Texas Heritage Room of the Library.

Lee Melton

Critical; Blood Can Be Given

Lee Melton, well known Cross Plains resident, had major emergency surgery for a ruptured aneurysm in the Medical Center in Odessa last week. He remains in critical condition in I.C.U. and has required over 60 units of blood.

Anyone wishing to donate replacement blood to help replenish the vast amount he required, may do so at the Meek Blood Bank at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene or any convenient blood bank. Credit will be given to Mr. Melton if so designated.

Blood Drive Set

The AARP, Kiwanis and Beta Sigma Phi are co-sponsoring a Community Blood Drive on June 10, between 11:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. at the Cross Plains Community Center. The blood will be donated to the Meek Community Blood Bank at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene.

The response to the drive last October was very good and several rare blood types including AB negative, O negative and B negative were obtained. The O positive type was valuable too.

Members of the community have already benefited from earlier donations.

Approximately 67% of all people use blood, yet only 5% donate. Any person in good health is eligible. Seventeen (17) year olds may donate with parental consent. Those over 66 can donate with written permission of their physician. If you take medication, note the name and dosage so your eligibility may be determined.

Your blood type makes no difference because every type is the right type. The rarest blood is the type that's not available when you need it.

If you wait until there is an emergency to donate, it could be too late. It takes 6 hours to do the necessary typing and testing of the blood. It must be available at the very moment it is needed, and your needs cannot be met if the supply is not there.

Some people feel that a large amount of blood is discarded but less than 5% of the blood collected was not used within 21 days after donation.

If you plan on participating in this worthwhile project you need to eat a good meal before donating. It only takes 30 minutes to give a pint of blood. If you donated every time you were able, in one year it would only take three hours of your time.

Remember, you save a life when you donate blood!

KIWANIS AUCTION — A large crowd braved the wet weather to attend the auction Saturday. A wide variety of merchandise was available.

Auction Success Despite Wet Weather

The Kiwanis Auction held on Saturday was a great success. The weather was a little damp, but they only had to retreat under the tent one time during the sale.

Donald Strength, President of the Kiwanis Club, would like to thank everyone who consigned items and to the buyers for your participation. The Kiwanis Club appreciated Gary Lawrence and Linda Lawrence, the auctioneers representing Gerald Lawrence Auction Company of Abilene.

Henry Story and Associates of Brownwood donated the help of three men to assist with the auction. The Club was appreciative of their contribution.

Also, they would like to thank Don Tabor, Cross Plains Review Publisher, for all the articles advertising the event.

The char-broiled hamburgers seemed to be a hit, as they sold out of buns completely. Strength wanted to add a special thanks to Joyce McCoy, Pam Strength and Karen Sabaitis for helping with the hamburgers. A lot of hard work made everything turn out great.

AARP National Report Given

Cross Plains AARP Chapter 3092 met in regular session Monday at 11:00 a.m.

New National officers were voted on and Mr. John Denning was elected president. The bylaws of the organization are to be updated.

He reports that by Dec. 31, there will be an estimated 25 million members in AARP and NTRA.

The Cross Plains Chapter wishes to thank Eddie Petty for letting them use his building, and for everyone who worked to make the rummage sale, ice cream sale and progressive 42 party such a success.

Lunch was enjoyed by all at the Cross Plains Multi-Purpose Center.

PAM HUTCHINS AND DEVIN KOENIG

Hutchins-Koenig To Be Wed August 2

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hutchins announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pam, to Devin Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oscar Koenig. The couple are recent graduates of Cross Plains High School. The wedding is planned for August

2, at 7:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Pleasant D. Kennamer, III Received TCU Masters

A Cross Plains student, Pleasant D. Kennamer III, received a master of divinity degree from Texas Christian University's Brite Seminary. He was among some 775 TCU students who completed degree requirements and received their diplomas during spring commencement on May 17.

Spring baccalaureate and commencement services, combined into one event, was held in TCU's Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Presiding was Dr. William E. Tucker, TCU chancellor.

Grandson Found Dead

Dessa Higgins' grandson, Danny Cowan age 24, was found dead at his home in Mission on Friday, May 30. Cowan's wife found him when she arrived home. An autopsy is being performed to determine the cause of death.

Dessa and her family are at Mission to be with her daughter, Helen Cowan and husband, Jimmy.

Historical Book Available

Callahan County Historical books can be purchased at the Cross Plains Public Library for $55.00. You only have to read a few pages and you will definitely want one.

Rain, rain and more rain. How nice it fell and has all soaked into the ground. It was good for everything except those trying to get their grain combined.

Saturday morning this writer and her husband, N. V. Gibbs, drove to the Admire Cemetery. On the trip there and back, cottontail rabbits were out everywhere feeding or exploring the countryside. Two large deer also were seen. The cemetery needs mowing. Grassburrs have already seeded.

Edna Dye spent the weekend in Breckenridge with Ed and Betty Sayre and Mary Sayre.

Bob Dye answered the phone at his house and reported a busy week for his family. Kathy will work two weeks for a friend who is employed by State Farm Insurance. Kathy does this each year while her friend is on vacation. Kathy worked there for a number of years. Julie was helping her Dad in the shop at Baird.

Don and Maryana Harrell made a flying trip to Washington, D. C. where they met friends from New York. The two couples toured several museums including the Smithsonian Institute, then boarded a bus tour of the Virginia woodlands. To top all of that, they took a Hot Air Balloon ride over the city. Don said the balloon rose to 3,000 feet, but no wind to move it over the spot of origination. Their daughter, Leigh, spent the time with the Griff Andrews family in Austin.

D. J. Anderson of Rising Star visited Robert Burks one day last week. Other visitors in the home were Velma Poindexter and her husband of Abilene. Velma was the widow of Homer Warren who grew up at Burnt Branch. She is also a niece of Henry Brown who lived near here years ago.

Blan and Jessie Odom attended the program and visited with kin at the Atwell Cemetery annual meeting last Sunday.

N. V. Gibbs and this writer were in Abilene two days this week for visits with his doctors.

Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin drove to Snyder Friday to spend the night with their daughter and son-in-law, Irene and Willie Masters. Irene was driving her parents to Portales, New Mexico to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Georgia Cooper. Marshall Cooper and Georgia have been residents of a nursing home for some time. The Cooper family reunion was held at their home about three years ago. Following that reunion the family had a book of Georgia's writings for their local paper published. This writer had the opportunity to read the book which was very interesting.

Tony and Judy Steele and children, Tonya, Bill and Connie visited in the Alvin Bates home at Silver Valley Saturday night.

Visitors in the James and Dorothy Reynolds home over the weekend were Jim, Grecia and Chris Reynolds of Midland and John and Ellen Carpenter of Azle. Dorothy took little Chris with her to the opening activities of the Vacation Bible School which began at the First Baptist Church in Cross Plains Saturday morning. Connie Steele also was with her. Connie came to her grandparents house all painted like a clown and if I'm not mistaken, Dorothy was a clown also, even wearing a red curly wig. I couldn't see little Chris — so don't know if he was a clown, too. It will be an enjoyable week of learning for all the young children.

The yellow school bus will be idle for the summer months and some of the children who rode them will be lonesome for classmates. Bill Steele had time on his hands Friday and decided to ride his bike, he stopped first by the combining where his Dad was cutting grain, then came on down here. We talked awhile before he went back. He even rode to Baird with his Dad who was hauling grain from the John Obersmith field.

This week was very busy for the Robert Watson family. Dorothy and son, Wyatt, attended the Tuesday 2 o'clock graduation exercises at Baird. Cody Watson, 6th grader, was honored for high ranking grades in his class. On Friday night, they attended the Baird High School graduation where their son, Kyle, was Valedictorian. Kyle will enter Texas Tech in the fall semester classes.

Visitors in the Watson home Saturday were the Carl Bray family of Cisco. On Friday, Robert, Dorothy, Brock and Brad visited in the Jim Needham home in Coleman.

Wheat Poll

WASHINGTON — On June 18, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will begin to poll wheat producers to determine whether they favor the imposition of mandatory limits on wheat production, a USDA official announced today. The poll is required by the Food Security Act of 1985.

Richard W. Goldberg, acting under secretary for international affairs and commodity programs, said the poll is non-binding upon the Secretary of Agriculture and response by wheat producers is voluntary. Producers will be asked if they favor imposition of mandatory limits on production of wheat which will result in wheat prices that are not lower than 125 percent of the cost of production.

Each producer will be mailed a wheat Poll ballot on June 18. Responses must be postmarked by July 7.

WEEKLY HEALTH TIP

CARBON MONOXIDE

Lethal carbon monoxide is produced during the incomplete burning of fuels like wood, gasoline, oil, natural gas, coal or charcoal when they are burned in air that lacks enough oxygen for complete combustion. When no flame is produced, as with charcoal, large amounts of carbon monoxide are produced. Never burn charcoal in an enclosed trailer, tent or room. All fires should be thoroughly vented to provide ample oxygen and to carry off lethal fumes.

Your better health is our concern.

PIONEER NEWS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

I clipped this statement out of a paper sometime ago. I think it is appropo anytime, not just for Mother's Day.

"Confidential to anyone for whom it is not too late: The gestation period of a mother's advice is anywhere from one week to 50 years. Losing one's mother before having thanked her for the many precious things she taught you is one of life's greatest tragedies."

Haven't the rains been something! We can get along all summer on this moisture, can't we? My wildflowers out here have been just beautiful. I used to call them "blooming weeds" but my granddaughter put a stop to that description.

I hope we have good weather for our AARP meeting - so many plans have been made.

Ms. Blanche Brooks, who lives further out east of here, came by one day last week and brought me Mr. Mac's old rural mailbox. Vandals had shot it full of holes, even shot it off the post and riddled the post with bullets. Isn't that a shame! Anyway, I appreciated her thoughtfulness.

Bobby and Sally Roady went to Abilene on Friday and visited with the Art Roady family. On Sunday they visited with Joe and Beverly Roady of Brownwood. They have also visited their parents, Ms. Nettie Roady and Howard Hicks, Sally's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shaw visited Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Foster last week. The Fosters' children were by several times during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller were in Abilene last week for a luncheon given by a Full Gospel Men's group. A missionary, Ms. Freda Lindsey, spoke to them

Jean Fore's sister, Ms. Bessie McDaniel of San Antonio, is still with her. Gary and Beca Standard of Artesia, N.M., their children, Shawn, Jamie and Christy, and Gary's niece, visited last Sunday.

Betty Beggs spent a lot of her time last week cooking for the peanut-planters. She also attended a banquet given by Baptist Women for the Girls' Auxiliary. It was a gala affair, more than fifty were in attendance. Each lady assisting was presented a pot plant.

Betty took her grandchildren down to visit Misses Alma and Josie Morris one day last week. Rex Lee Beggs of Cross Plains visited them on Monday morning.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Whether or not that's realistic, they've scared such tax advocates as Gov. Mark White, a Democrat, into silence on taxes.

Last week, White and former Gov. Bill Clements agreed to a Texas League of Women Voters debate. Their handlers are arranging a date now.

The prospect of additional sales taxes, now vague, may be polarized into aye and nay by then, because Hobby has said it must be considered. He makes other Democrats consider a tax increase; he makes Republicans reconsider how frugal they want to be.

Breadbasket Nuke Dump

President Reagan last week chose the proposed nuke dump site in Deaf Smith County for the final three sites being considered by the feds. It made residents and some Texas officials hopping mad, again.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox vowed a lawsuit to stop the project's location in a major Texas farm and ranch center. And Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and others swore to get in on the fight, too, to protect the Ogilala Aquifer, as well.

Reagan's decision is considered one that will drastically change the farming community there, whether the high-level nuclear waste dump is eventually built.

The U.S. Energy Department plans to spend $850 million in six years studying the nine-mile square site. While the study will employ some 800, as much as 350 acres of privately owned farm land may be purchased or condemned by the government.

The fight will go on for a long time. For now, this issue puts Texas Republicans on the spot, just as the tax issue touches Democrats in the '86 general election.

Other Highlights

Capitol architects planned to put up the aluminum Goddess of Liberty statue last weekend with a helicopter. In the time capsule were official letters, and a gold "GIB" lapel pin from Speaker Gib Lewis.

Gov. White indicated last week he may seek a third term if re-elected, a move to counter rumors he has visions of the White House.

The governor's wife hits the campaign trail this month to bring disillusioned and angry teachers back into his fold. A recent TSTA survey indicated some 41 percent of Texas public school teachers are thinking of finding new jobs.

For those political observers who know Houston turns out the most voters, a local poll shows 21 percent of its residents plan to move within two years for economic reasons.

In the area of state agencies, the Department of Human Services plans to seek a 20 percent boost in state funding next year, while the Texas Education Agency said they have trimmed $140 million from this year's budget.

The longtime doorman of the Texas Senate, Joseph Lowell Gault, who died last week, drew tributes from Hobby and other leaders of the Senate.

State District Judge Byron Croiser of Cleburne was indicted on two misdemeanor counts of official misconduct related to jury empanelling.

Texas senior citizens are planning a "Silver Haired Legislature" for September, an exercise in electing delegates to participate in a mock government. The idea is to learn more about the legislative process in order to lobby more successfully for laws of interest to senior citizens.

One in six farmers to leave business during this year

(AUSTIN)—More than one out of every six farmers and ranchers questioned in Texas expect to leave agriculture before the end of 1986, according to a new survey conducted for the Texas Department of Agriculture by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Poor financial conditions in agriculture were cited by 18 percent of those surveyed as their primary reason for leaving. Texas has approximately 184,000 farmers and ranchers.

The Texas percentages are about double the level of Iowa farmers now experiencing economic problems, according to a similar survey in that state, suggesting that the worst of the farm depression is moving into the Sunbelt.

While producers in every area of the state reported serious financial problems, the greatest concentrations of financially-stressed farmers appeared in the Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas. In the Panhandle, 23 percent of farmers and ranchers surveyed said 1986 would be their last year, with 87 percent of those citing financial reasons for their exit from farming.

Along the Gulf Coast, 19 percent of farmers surveyed expected to leave farming this year.

The Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas also claim the greatest percentage of commercial, full-time family farmers, those with gross sales between $40,000 and $500,000. Although only 31 percent of the survey respondents statewide fell into that category, over 50 percent of Panhandle producers and 43 percent of Gulf Coast producers had sales in that range. In contrast, 78 percent of the respondents in East Texas reported gross annual sales of under $20,000.

The most immediate problem indicated by the survey is credit. Over 20 percent fewer Texas farmers and ranchers applied for loans in 1986 than in 1985. Among the factors affecting this decline are delays in farm program regulations, tighter requirements from commercial lenders and a 50 percent cut in Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) direct loan funds. FmHA provides about 16 percent of operating loan money for Texas farmers.

Again, the Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas will be most affected by credit problems, since producers there depend more heavily on credit. Sixty-seven percent of Panhandle producers and 56 percent of Coastal producers applied for credit in 1985, compared to 49 percent statewide.

Colonial Oaks Services

Cottonwood Baptist Church will have charge of the services at Colonial Oaks Nursing Home Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 3:30 p.m.

SWCD Accepting Fish Orders

"Recent rains and unseasonably cool temperatures, have produced ideal conditions to stock fish ponds," says Tony Baeza, Range Conservationist, for the Soil Conservation Service in Baird, "The Soil Conservation Service can offer information on stocking rates, feeding, and pond management in general."

The Callahan Divide Soil and Water Conservation District are still taking orders for fish. All orders must be turned in by June 6. Order blanks can be picked up at the Soil Conservation Service in Baird, with fish being delivered on June 11 at the Callahan County Courthouse in Baird.

The district is offering various sizes of channel catfish, bass, bluegill, fathead minnows, hybrid bream, and red ears.

For further information contact your local SWCD representative or the Soil Conservation Service.
