83RD YEAR

CROSS PLAINS, CALLAHAN COUNTY, TEXAS 76443

NUMBER 42

EDITOR'S NOTE: At the recent birthday party for my grandmother, Ethel Anderson, and Bertha Wheeler, Mrs. Wheeler recited a poem that her late mother, Mrs. R.A. (Ellen) New taught her as a child. At age 86, Bertha presented the poetry beautifully, not missing a word. The composition dating from the 1800's has remained in the family throughout the generations as follows. Vanda King, Editor

Little Bessie (On Her Death Bed)

Hug me closer, closer Mother,
Put your arms around me tight.
I am cold and tired, Mother,
And I fell so strange tonight.

Something hurts me here, Dear Mother,
Like a stone upon my breast.
Oh, I wonder, wonder, Mother,
Why it is I cannot rest.

All the day while you were working,
As I lay upon my bed,
I was trying to be patient,
And to think of what you said.

How the kind and blessed Jesus
Loved his lambs to watch and keep,
And I wished he would come and take me
In his arms that I might sleep.

All at once a window opened,
In a field were lambs and sheep.
Some were at a brook drinking,
Some were lying fast asleep.

In a moment I was looking
On a world so bright and fair,
Which was full of little children,
And they seemed so happy there.

They were singing,
Oh, how sweetly,
Sweeter songs, I never heard.
They were singing sweeter, Mother,
Than can sing our pretty bird.

And at first I felt so sorry,
God would call me.
I would go,
Oh, to sleep and never suffer.
Mother, don't be crying so.

Hug me closer, closer, Mother,
Put your arms around me tight.
I am cold and tired, Mother,
And I feel so strange tonight.

Then the mother hugged her closer
To her over-burdened breast.
On the heart so near to breaking,
Lay the heart so near at rest.

In the solemn hour of midnight,
In the darkness calm and deep,
Laying on her mother's bosom,
The little angel fell asleep.

911 Meeting To Be Held January 23

A 9-1-1 meeting is scheduled on Thursday, January 23, 1992, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the County Courtroom at the Courthouse in Baird. All units that will be responding to calls for service on 9-1-1 are urged to attend.

This important meeting will explain in detail how the system works and what information is needed to operate the system properly.

Our system is NOT operational yet, but it is essential that people who will be working directly with the 9-1-1 dispatchers have this information. Along with personnel responsible for answering calls for service, the public is also invited to attend.

If you have any questions, contact the Sheriff's Department at (915) 854-1444.

SEEING THE SIGHTS — Bonita Horton, Cathy Horton, and Ruby McCowen.

Ruby McCowen Tours Washington, D.C.

A special candlelight tour of the White House and a tour of the Capitol were two of the favorite activities enjoyed by Ruby E. McCowen, 90-year-old local resident, during her recent visit to Washington.

She flew into Washington National Airport in the afternoon where she was joined by her grandson, James Horton, Jr., and picked up by her daughter and granddaughter, Bonita and Cathy Horton. She was taken to dinner at a restaurant in Bailey's Crossroads, Virginia, then enjoyed a brief tour of the Washington Mall and Capitol Hill areas before arriving at her family's apartment in Southwest D.C.

Ruby especially appreciates the landscape of this beautiful, old world that the Lord made, as she often says, and Washington, even in the winter with the trees bare, is a beautiful place with its waterways and impressive monuments. The Potomac River, the Tidal Basin, and the Washington Channel all are near where her family live and the Channel could be seen from their balcony and living room.

Ruby's trip was made possible by the combined efforts of her family. Bob and Naomi McCowen of Cross Plains and Charlene McGowen of Brownwood helped with the many details of packing for the trip and other family members assisted in other ways. Granddaughter, Angie Eger and her husband, Ken of Dallas, drove to Cross Plains and escorted Ruby to DFW Airport for the departing flight. Grandson, James Horton of Ft. Polk, Louisiana, made her tours in Washington more enjoyable by wheeling her everywhere in a wheelchair. Grandson, David McCowen and wife, Janet of Abilene, made arrangements to pick her up from the airport on her return flight.

Ruby said she really enjoyed seeing her family and the nation's capital. She liked the beautiful buildings, the lovely Potomac River and the interesting tours, but she missed seeing the President during her brief visit to the White House. Perhaps in 1992, the Lord willing, Ruby can return to Washington and meet the President.

The picture is of Ruby and her family standing next to the statue of Sam Houston in the Statuary Hall of the Capitol.

Due to the weather and Ruby's recent bout with the flu, plans to attend services at the Washington National Cathedral on Sunday were cancelled. Instead, Ruby and her family had Bible readings and prayer at home.

During the remainder of her visit she witnessed the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery where a 24-hour vigil is kept by U.S. Army personnel. She saw the Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument, and many Federal office buildings such as the U.S. Department of Labor, where Bonita, her daughter, works.

A relaxing meal by the indoor waterfall at the Cascade Cafe in the National Gallery of Art was enjoyed by the family during a break from viewing the beautiful paintings. Touring around the Mall area of Washington, Ruby visited the Air and Space Museum which was of particular interest since her granddaughter, Cathy, works for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Emergency Farm Loans Applications Being Accepted

Wanda Anderson Surprised With Birthday Celebration

Saturday, January 11, a surprise birthday celebration was held in honor of Wanda Atwood Anderson of Abilene. Her actual birthday was January 5.

Family members included sisters, Joe Watson of Abilene and Billie Patterson of Albany, daughter, Vanda King, and granddaughter, Leah King of Cross Plains, and cousins, Adell Wallace and Francis Gallaway of Abilene were in attendance.

Lunch at Gardski's was the first treat of the day, followed by cake, ice cream, coffee, and gifts at the home of Francis Gallaway.

A great time of visitation was reported enjoyed by all. It was regretted that June Hughes, another sister of Midland, and granddaughter, Blandye Harris of Abilene, were unable to attend.

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by flooding are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) offices located in Eastland and Callahan Counties, FmHA County Supervisor Jack Phillips said today.

Eastland and Callahan Counties are 2 of 31 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the flooding.

Phillips said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Phillips said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until August 26, 1992, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Eastland is open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Callahan FmHA office is open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each 2nd and 4th Wednesday for the month.

Plan Before Planting Trees

With the windy season just a few months away, now is the time to start planning for a tree windbreak. According to Tony Baeza, Range Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Baird, a carefully planned and properly maintained windbreak will not only add beauty and provide protection to your home, but it will also attract wildlife and help reduce heating and cooling cost.

Baeza said, "The most critical factors involved in establishing a tree windbreak in this area are applying adequate water and controlling competitive vegetation around the seedlings."

Most seedling trees will require approximately 8-10 gallons of water per week the first year, 16-20 gallons per week the second year and about 30 gallons per week the following years for optimum growth. Baeza stated that the best method of controlling unwanted grass and weeds around the seedlings is with the use of approved herbicides.

Currently the Callahan Divide Soil and Water Conservation District is taking orders for windbreak tree seedlings. Quality trees and shrubs of adapted species are available. With proper care many of the species will attain a mature height of 30-35 feet and will provide protection for over 30 years.

Evergreens, which are presently available are Afghanistan Pine, Eastern Redcedar, Austrian Pine, and Ponderosa Pine. The Afghanistan Pine is currently available in two sizes.

Afghanistan pines are the fastest growing evergreen and are well adapted to this area. If properly maintained, trees may grow from 3-4 feet a year.

In addition to evergreens, bare rooted hardwoods are available. These hardwoods not only make good windbreaks but also provide food for wildlife. Hardwoods which are presently available are Green Ash, Honey Locust, Desert Willow, Russian Olive, Little Walnut, Red Oak, Pecans, Sandcherry, American Plum, and Catalpa.

Some of these species are recommended for providing wind protection while others are better suited for esthetic and wildlife management. Depending upon the species selected and the purpose intended, the landowner may wish to plan a single row windbreak or a multiple row planting consisting of both hardwoods and evergreens.

For more information on windbreak trees or the windbreak tree program, contact the Soil Conservation Service, on the Third Floor of the County Courthouse in Baird, or call (915) 854-1349.

The services of the Soil Conservation Service is available to anyone regardless of race, creed, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Cafeteria 'Floor' Lift

By DENESE WHITELEY

As a result of a joint decision between the Cross Plains I.S.D. School Board and Superintendent, Mr. Lee Thompson, there is now a new floor in the Cross Plains School Cafeteria. The work was done over the Christmas holiday.

When asked why it was decided to have the floor redone, Mr. Thompson replied, "Corners of the tile in the kitchen area were curling up and breaking off." Also, when asked if there was a layer of asbestos under the floor, Mr. Thompson replied, "Asbestos was in the tile as well as the glue under the tile. As long as the tile is in good condition, there is no violation of the law regarding asbestos. Once the tile began to break up it had to be removed to prevent the possibility of injury to employees and/or students."

The approximate cost of removing the tile and glue was $1,000. The work was done by American Analytical of Baird. The contractors must have a special license from the state to remove materials containing asbestos.

Approximately $4,000 was spent to replace and lay new floor tile. That work was done by D&B Carpet of Cross Plains. This is a commercial grade covering and more expensive than what one would use in their home.

The cafeteria now has a bright, new look and visually looks larger with the lighter floor covering.

Varsity Boys Basketball Wins Season District Opener

By COACH BILL BOYD

The Cross Plains Varsity Boys Team opened district play with an exciting 67-54 win over Gorman at Gorman. The Buffs found themselves down 9-0, and then battled back to take a 22-15 first quarter lead. The second quarter saw Gorman put together a nice run and take a 36-30 halftime lead.

The boys were down by one going into the 3rd, and then put the game away late in the fourth quarter. The final score is not a true indication of how close the game was. Gorman came to play, but all of our guys showed championship composure down the stretch. This win puts the boys tied at the top of the district with Eula and Santa Anna.

The boys tuned up for district with a rare homegame Tuesday night versus Priddy. The Buffs came out on top 73-42 versus the scrappy Pirates. Our chemistry was different due to Colby Walker's injury and moving up a couple of J.V. kids, Matt Reed and Earl Meroney.

Next games are January 17 at Baird (4 games) and January 21 vs. Eula — home (4 games).

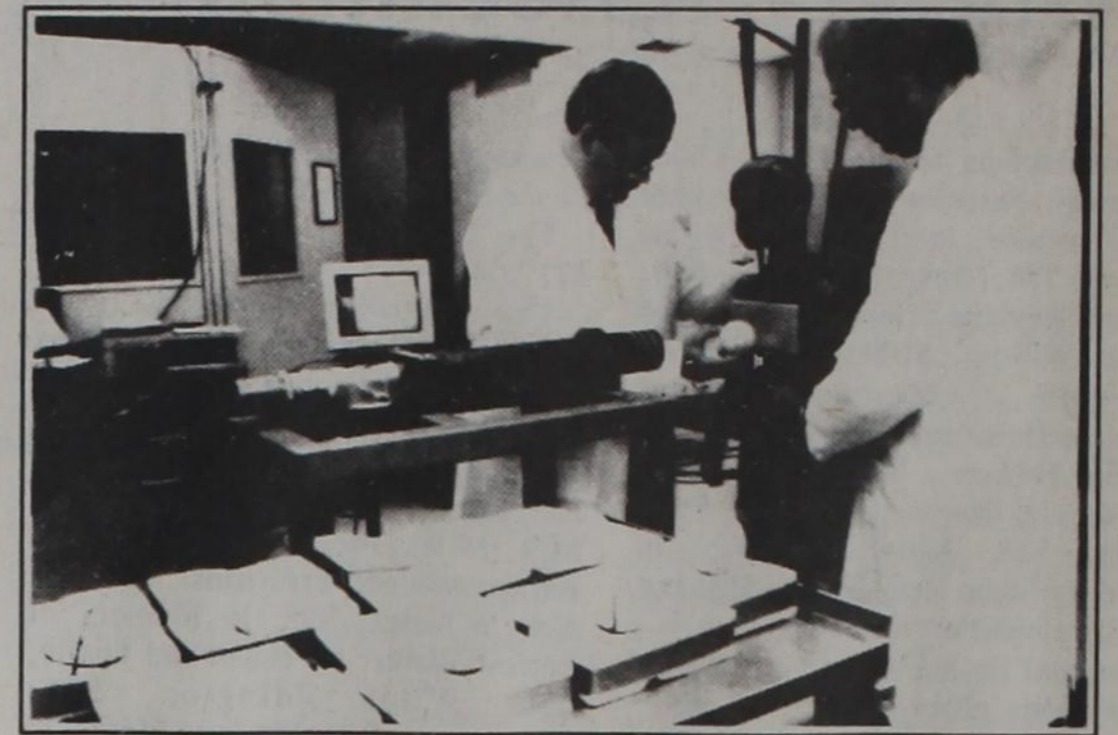

A car maker is using its knowledge of vehicle crash injuries to understand injuries in youth baseball.

Using a child-size dummy similar to those used in barrier impact tests, GM researchers are determining the extent of injury when a baseball hits a young player's chest at speeds above 60 miles per hour. The work, done in conjunction with the School of Medicine at the University of Michigan, evolved from a 1985 project sponsored by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, said Dr. David Viano, principal research scientist at GM's Biomedical Research Labs.

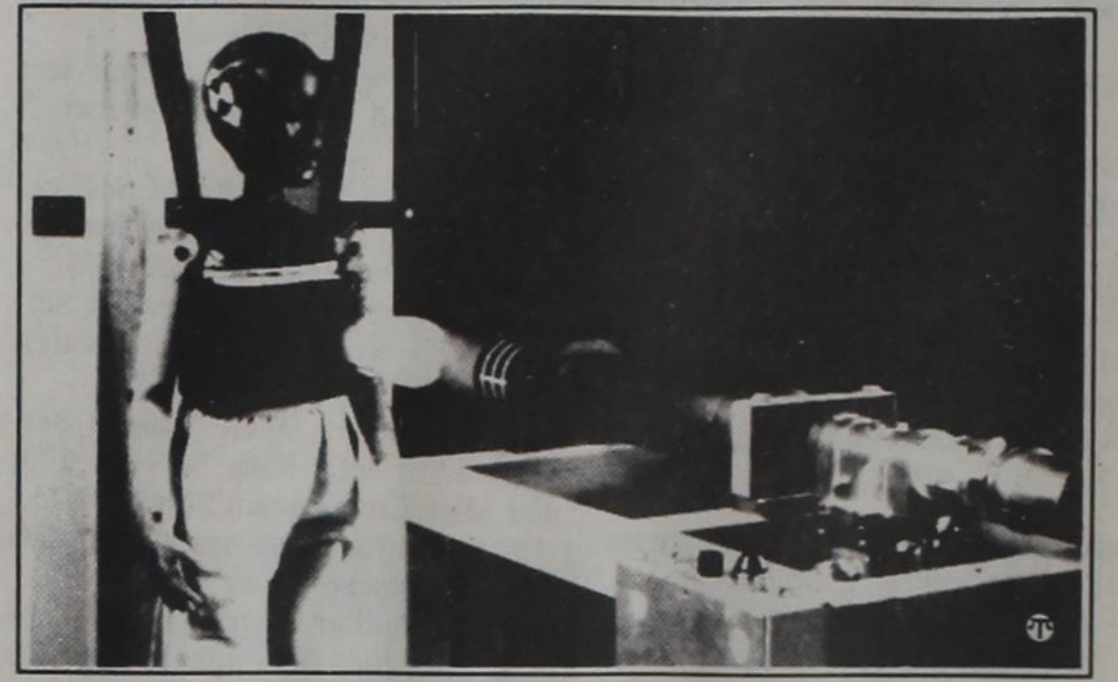

Baseball-related injuries—and deaths—are becoming a major concern of the game's organizers, parents and the federal safety commission. A segment of ABC-TV's "20/20" reported 51 children died in a decade, with nearly 150,000 baseball-related injuries requiring hospital emergency room treatment.

"I think one of the contributions GM can make is to put a science-like understanding into this. It's really hard to know exactly how children get injured, because there's very little data," Viano said.

Viano reported that earlier studies conducted jointly between GM and Wayne State University indicated that most deaths from a baseball's impact were due to a combination of two factors—disruption of heart rhythm and breathing. GM is helping the University of Michigan by testing various chest protectors to see which materials absorb the most energy from a thrown or batted ball, to provide the best protection.

Researchers set up a test to help understand injuries in youth baseball (top). A mechanical hitting machine (bottom) is used to hurl baseballs at the crash dummy to help researchers determine exactly what happens when a Little Leaguer gets hit by an errant fastball.

Young Men Turning 26 In '92

Young men who will turn 26 in 1992 will be reaching an important milestone, according to the Selective Service System.

Beginning on January 1, 1992, men who were born in 1966 and were required to register with Selective Service in 1984 will be turning 26 and will no longer be eligible for induction should a draft be reinstated. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept late registrations after a man reaches his 26th birthday.

Selective Service officials warned that, with few exceptions, a man who fails to register before turning 26 will permanently forfeit his eligibility for certain programs such as federal student aid, job training, and most federal employment in addition to facing possible prosecution as a felon. Some states also require registration for state student aid, entrance to state-supported colleges and universities, state employment, and permission to practice law.

Men, ages 18 through 25, who have not yet registered, can avoid the risk of prosecution and loss of eligibility by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to five years in prison, or both.

A man is exempt from registering while he is on full-time active duty in the U.S. Armed forces. Cadets and midshipmen at the service academies are included in the exemption. Members of the National Guard and Reserve Forces not on full-time active duty must register unless they have reached age 26 or are already registered.

Lawfully admitted nonimmigrant aliens (for example, those on visitor or student visas and members of diplomatic or trade missions and their families) are not required to register. Parolees and refugees who are aliens residing in this country must register.

Those who are unable to register due to circumstances beyond their control — for example, those who are hospitalized, institutionalized or incarcerated — do not have to register until they are released. After release, they have 30 days in which to register. Handicapped men who live at home must register if they are reasonably able to leave the home and go into a public place. A friend or relative may help a handicapped man fill out the

Pharmacist's discovery may end obesity

WASHINGTON -- After solving the problem of his own obesity, a pharmacist, now director of National Dietary Research, may have discovered the solution for others with the same problem.

Dr. William Morris, pharmacist, inventor and author has discovered a natural food tablet, aptly named Food Source One, that replaces some of the calories normally obtained from food. Food Source One replaces high-calorie fats with other natural food ingredients with little or no caloric value so you can lose weight without giving up all your favorite foods, as explained in NDR's Lifestyle Maintenance publication, available where Food Source One is sold. "The secret to meaningful weight loss is not in decreasing the amount of food you eat, but in controlling the fat," says Dr. Morris.

According to Dr. Morris, weight loss results while using Food Source One will depend on how many pounds a person needs to lose. However some overweight people are experiencing extraordinary results with Food Source One. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it," says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. "The results are great!" she added.

Food Source One is available at pharmacies without a prescription. © 1991 Omnicron International. All rights reserved.

* — Denotes District Game

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Citizens of Callahan County:

Much has been written and said about the recent redistricting of the Commissioner's Precincts in the County. I would like to briefly clarify some of the facts of the action.

First of all the Commissioners were very satisfied with the previous boundaries of the precincts and if they had any choice they would have remained as they were. The Federal Voting Rights Act requires County Commissioner Courts to meet certain requirements in order to be in compliance with the Federal Statutes. One of the requirements states the maximum deviation in population between precincts cannot exceed 10 percent.

After the 1990 census was completed, the maximum deviation in Callahan County stood at 75.4 percent. Precinct 1 was over-populated by 1,194 people, Precinct 2 over-populated by 854 persons, Precinct 3 under-populated by 1,042, and Precinct 4 under-populated by 1,007 persons. Under the present redistricting, Precinct 1 has 3,075, Precinct 2 — 2,854, Precinct 3 — 2,934, and Precinct 4 has 2,986 people which gives a total maximum deviation of 7.12 percent.

Legal notices were published in all three county newspapers on August 1, 1991 and again on August 8, 1991 at a cost of $375.00. The Meeting was held in the county courtroom with 2 interested citizens of the county present. Tape recordings of the entire proceedings were mailed to the Department of Justice to insure the contents of any discussions and questions. Several alternatives were tried and assembled, but only two plans were acceptable to the U.S. Department of Justice. They were both presented at the public meeting. The only difference in the two plans regarded road mileage and the present plan was selected because it was more equal in mileage.

I have been criticized for not releasing the maps earlier for publication. The approval letter from the Department of Justice is dated December 9, 1991, which I believe is the date I released them to be published. There are stacks of statistical information that went into the creation of this plan and they are all available for anyone to study.

In regards to voting boxes, if you vote in Clyde now, you will still vote in Clyde. A voting box for each Commissioner Precinct will be available. The locations of these boxes are being determined at present and will be published as soon as they are approved.

Drawing precincts is legally complex and is politically explosive, but I assure you it was done in good faith and as fairly as possible to comply with the Federal guidelines.

Sincerely,
Bill Johnson
Callahan County Judge

Area dollmaker puts heart, soul into craft

(Reprinted from the Abilene Reporter-News)
By LARRY ZELISKO

COTTONWOOD — When Charles and Sandy Wheeler built a body shop on their place, they didn't realize what type of bodies wouldn't be worked on here.

"This is supposed to be an auto body shop," Mrs. Wheeler says of the metal building in which she spends much of her time. "Charles made the mistake of giving me one room here. Now I have probably three-fourths of the shop."

Most of the bodies in the shop now are doll bodies. Mrs. Wheeler, you see, is a doll crafter, best known for making reproductions of dolls designed by her sister, Vickie Anguish of Topeka, Kan. In addition, she makes doll wigs out of mohair and is working on designing her own doll.

Mrs. Wheeler began doll crafting in 1983. At the time, she was making a daily 90-mile round trip to work at First National Bank in Abilene. She was also taking business classes at The Bridge in Abilene and caring for her three sons at home.

"Frankly, I was so exhausted, so tired, that I took a trip to Kansas to visit my sister to get away from everything."

Her sister introduced her to sculpting dolls. The first was made out of wax and was pretty enough that she sold several of them.

Since then her sister has become a nationally known doll designer, and Mrs. Wheeler has established a business making dolls and wigs. A 26½-inch reproduction for her sister's latest doll, named Jessica, sells for $575.

"Jessica is her very best doll," Mrs. Wheeler says. "She's getting better all the time, and is about to go into (bronze) sculpting."

Mrs. Wheeler tells customers to allow four to six weeks for delivery on doll orders, she says, explaining, "I don't think I ever clocked how long it takes to make one. While I'm waiting on one to dry, I work on another one."

Mrs. Wheeler puts her heart into every doll she makes.

"I get very attached to the dolls. It's like part of my soul goes into each of those little figures. It's a good release for my emotions."

One of her latest ventures has nothing to do with dolls. She is raising ostriches. She has a pair, named Samson and Delilah, which she plans to breed.

Among her earliest interests is music. She started playing the accordion when she was 6. Since then she has learned to play the violin, fiddle, guitar, piano and other instruments. Her biggest musical accomplishment is putting together a tape of religious songs written by a neighbor, Dayton McInnis. She arranged and put the songs to music. She plays all the instruments and sings all the parts on the tape, which she recorded herself. Proceeds from sales of the tape went to buy a new organ for the Cottonwood Baptist Church.

An Abilene native, at age 20 Mrs. Wheeler moved to Ecuador where her husband was stationed with the U.S. Army. They lived in California for 10 years before deciding they "wanted to move back home to Texas." They settled in Cottonwood, about 45 miles southeast of Abilene, 16 years ago.

The mother of three boys and grandmother of two boys, she says she always wanted a girl.

"Making dolls fills that void, also," she says.

Mrs. Wheeler says she doesn't remember having many dolls when she was young.

"The only one I remember was a rubber doll without any hair to comb. My friends all got dolls with long hair. Ever since then I haven't liked bald-headed dolls. Maybe that's why I like to make doll wigs."

From wigs to toes, dolls to Mrs. Wheeler are something she enjoys working at, not playing with.

New Book Examines the "New World Order"

The concept of a "new world order" isn't really all that new. Throughout the centuries, politicians and poets alike have been drawn to the concept of a utopian world order, where mankind might live in global prosperity and harmony.

Now, Pat Robertson, statesman, broadcaster and former Presidential candidate has written a book that presents what some consider striking documentation and historical evidence that powerful figures have created the cloak of a "new world order" to conceal a hidden agenda. Called The New World Order (Word Publishing, $17.99), Robertson reveals how covert plans have weakened the economic health, security and sovereignty of the United States and other nations.

Robertson asks, "Do Americans want to be citizens of the world rather than citizens of the United States? Do they want to defer to the United Nations General Assembly, where the U.S. would represent only five percent of the vote? Are they willing to be taxed to support an international assistance agency? Do they want to be tried by world courts, where the Bill of Rights would no longer apply?"

The New World Order provides a comprehensive view of the humanistic and spiritual dimensions of "one-world" practices, spotlighting their effects on our lives. Among the challenging issues Robertson examines are:

- A Cosmetic Coup—During the coup against Gorbachev, Soviet airports, domestic and long-distance telephone service, and opposition newspapers all operated. Was the coup programmed to fail?
- Wolves in Sheep's Clothing—Are advocates of the new world order really seeking global control of the

The New World Order, which is rapidly moving up the New York Times, L.A. Times, and Publisher's Weekly best-seller lists, may make many re-assess the world picture, its leaders and our destiny. It's available at local bookstores.

WHEN MUST A WORKER BE PAID FOR BUSINESS MEETINGS?

Dear Commissioner Nabers,

Occasionally, I find it necessary to call meetings outside of normal working hours. Some of my employees are mad now because I don't pay them for the time the meetings last and they are threatening to turn me into the TEC Labor Law Unit. Do I have to pay employees for meetings outside of normal working hours?

COMMISSIONER
Mary Scott Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

J.P. Austin

Dear J.P.,

It is highly probable that federal law does require you to pay employees for meetings outside of normal working hours. In order for an employer not to pay employees for such time, the meeting would have to pass each of the following four tests from Department of Labor guidelines: (a) attendance is outside employee's regular work hours, (b) attendance is completely voluntary, (c) the meeting is not directly related to the employee's job, and (d) employee performs no productive work during attendance.

If an employee meeting fails to pass any one of these tests, the employer is required to pay the employees for their attendance.

Dear Commissioner Nabers,

My foreman does not allow us to stop work for lunch or even for restroom breaks. Can he do that?

R.D. Canyon

Dear R.D.,

No state or federal law requires employers to guarantee any break time to employees. I would have trouble, however, believing any employer would deny workers a restroom break. That is not reasonable. If an employee quits over a situation such as that, the worker would most likely be able to draw unemployment compensation because there would be "good cause" to quit the job.

Wise employers realize it is in the company's best interest to have a reasonable company policy.

Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers represents all employers on the Texas Employment Commission. Questions should be addressed to: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 638 TEC Building, Austin, Texas, 78778.

The fastest growing job category from now until the year 2,000 is expected to be that of legal assistant.

If you do not think about the future, you cannot have one.

Allen Wright Seeks Office Of Callahan Co. Attorney

I am pleased to announce my candidacy in the Democratic Primary for the office of Callahan County Attorney.

Before getting into my background and qualifications I would like to thank Lannie Franklin, who, despite his busy schedule has very generously agreed to serve as my Campaign Treasurer. Lannie is a long time Callahan County resident, rancher and farmer, neighbor and good friend of mine. He also owns and operates Franklin Heating and Air Conditioning and Franklin Recreational Vehicle Center in Abilene. I think everyone who knows Lannie knows his fine character and I can't thank him enough for his support.

I am a native of Abilene and my family has owned a small farm in western Callahan County for over 35 years. My wife, Gethine, our two year old son Willie, and I now live there in the Clyde-Eula area. In 1977 I received my Bachelor's Degree double majoring in History and Journalism from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas. Working as an Assistant Instructor of History, I earned a Master's Degree in History and Political Science from SWTSU in 1982. In 1987 I received my Law Degree from Baylor University in Waco and went to work there for a small general practice firm where I handled a broad range of civil and criminal cases.

In January, 1989 I returned to Callahan County and went to work in the Taylor County District Attorney's Office as Assistant District Attorney. Since that time I have represented the people of Taylor County, Texas as a full-time prosecutor and have disposed of thousands of misdemeanor and felony cases, including drug cases, DWIs, assaults, burglaries, and attempted murders. More than forty of those cases have gone to trial in less than three years. I have also disposed of hundreds of neglected bond forfeiture cases resulting in deendants being brought to justice and the collection of some sixty thousand dollars in forfeiture collections in one court alone. The revenue from these disposed cases and bond forfeiture collections has gone directly to Taylor County to benefit the taxpaying public.

This background of knowledge and experience has prepared me well to work in the position I now seek as County Attorney of Callahan County, Texas. It would be an honor and a privilege to work for and represent the people who live in this unique corner of the Big Country. As the Democratic nominee for this office, I will work hard towards earning the respect and support of the people of Callahan County and I look forward to meeting as many of the people of this county as I can in the next few months.

Thank you for your time and your vote.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

The weather, this morning, is not very pleasant — but I hesitate to complain — it could be much worse. I am a 'weather kid', and I do enjoy sunny weather!

A ray of sunshine came from an early call from my good neighbor, Sally Rody. I appreciate her calling me. They took Ms. Nettie back to the nursing home last Monday. She had fallen and broken her hip.

Their daughter, Cindy, called twice, from Louisiana and from Missouri. Their son, George, called. Their visitors were Billie and H.A. Freeman, Mr. Mac Childers, Gene and Nancy Hicks of Rising Star.

Mrs. Dale Garky visited me one day last week. She picked up my collection of magazines. She brought me a jar of homemade jelly, which I appreciate. My grand-kids, Nate and Gloria, recently sent me a box of jellies, seven small jars. The other grandson, Matt and Jodi sent me a nice supply of writing material, tablets and envelopes, and two books of stamps — wow!

It is such a joy to talk to Betty Beggs — she is so cheerful! She and Mrs. C.T. Barton were in Abilene for a shopping spree on Wednesday. Mr. David Beggs of Morton Valley spent several days and nights with them. He is J.T.'s father.

A nice chat with Helen Tillotson was uplifting. She recently fell and broke her leg. In spite of that, she is cheerful and gracious. She said that Cole has been a good 'nurse', and helped her very much.

This is a special wish — and a hope for the near future — someone will come along who can (and will) repair (or replace) my carport roof. Surely, there is someone out there who wants that job!

WEEKLY Health Tip
PUMPING IRON

It is estimated that 5% of American women ages 12 to 50 years suffer from iron-deficiency anemia, and 25% probably are bordering ironemic. Primary signs of these conditions are unexplained fatigue, unusual irritability, lack of concentration, and increased sensitivity to cold. Dietary sources rich in iron include beans, peas, dark leafy greens and iron supplements to be found at the vitamin counter, along with Vitamin C, which helps increase iron absorption.

Your better health is our concern.

Small Grain Producers Check Grain Fields

Small grain producers in Callahan County are checking grain fields on a regular schedule due to the presence of number of different insects, says Greg Gerngross, County Extension Agent. Winter grain mites have been found in damaging number in several locations this past week. Symptoms of mite infestations include a silvery cast to leaves, wilting and dead plants. Mites range from 1/32- to 1/16 inch long. The adult has four pair of reddish-orange legs, and the body is dark brown to black after feeding. Mite damage is generally more severe on grain growing on land planted in small grain in previous years.

This pest feeds primarily at night, remaining around the base of the plant during the day. The mite's activity is retarded during periods of hot, dry weather and greatest damage occurs during winter and early spring. Mites cause leaf tips to turn brown and plants to become stunted with a silvery-gray appearance.

Several different chemicals are recommended for control of mites, but a waiting period is required prior to grazing. Greenbugs are also being found, but no economic infestations have been found so far. Producers are encouraged to check their fields at least weekly. More information on small grain insects is available from the County Extension Office.

AT ISSUE

One-Dollar Coin?

YES

U.S. Rep. Jim Kolbe (R-Ariz.) is a member of the House Appropriations and Budget committees and the sponsor of legislation to replace the $1 bill with a $1 coin.

NO

Brenda L. Yost is chairman of the Retail Payment Services Unit of the American Bankers Association and vice president of Versatel Businesses of Bank of America.

Should a gold-tone $1 coin be introduced into the U.S. monetary system?

Yes. The U.S. currency system is in desperate need of change. The effects of periodic inflation have thrown our currency system out of alignment. Today's dollar is the quarter of the 1960s. The United States has one of the lowest-valued circulating coins among the world's industrialized nations. Not only will the minting of a new gold-colored $1 coin save $862 million every year, but it also will help realign the U.S. currency system.

What impact will the coin have on the nation's monetary system?

In spite of the vast impact of checks and credit cards, currency and coin in circulation today constitute a larger portion of the basic money supply than it did in the beginning of the century. Half of all bills printed are $1 notes. Those bills last only 17 months; coins last 30 years. The cost of so frequently replacing tattered paper money is an enormous and unnecessary expense to the taxpayer.

What effect would this change have on the American public?

Our minting of the Susan B. Anthony $1 coin in 1979 was a sensible acknowledgment of inflation. That coin lacked public acceptance, not because the need for a $1 coin didn't exist, but because the coin looked and felt like a quarter. Moreover, it was an alternative rather than a replacement dollar. Just as with uniform product codes and household waste recycling, Americans resist change until we understand the benefits. With increasing automation and with vending machines selling everything from stamps to hot soup, the $1 coin is simply a more convenient way to pay for goods. Instead of carrying a pocket full of quarters for coin-op laundries, phone calls, newspapers and parking meters, consumers actually would carry fewer coins. The subsequent increase in the demand for the $2 bill simply would assist in the realignment of our nation's currency threshold.

Should a gold-tone $1 coin be introduced into the U.S. monetary system?

Absolutely not. The American Bankers Association (ABA) believes that the replacement of the $1 bill with a coin would be inappropriate for several reasons. A recent Gallup poll found that 59 percent of the American public opposed a $1 coin, and only 15 percent supported the replacement of the $1 bill. While the General Accounting Office says it will save $300 million annually, not a dime will be saved for more than 13 years due to the start-up costs of a new coin. Also, experience with the Susan B. Anthony $1 coin shows that it's questionable if the new coin would be around long enough to be anything but an added expense.

What impact will the coin have on the nation's monetary system?

An unnecessary slowdown in service. Banks are the main intermediary between the U.S. government and the general public when it comes to currency. During the days of the Susan B. Anthony $1 coin, customers perceived tellers were foisting the coin on unwilling recipients. This would hamper the progress our industry has made in providing fast, convenient service to our customers. One thousand $1 notes weigh about three pounds. One thousand $1 coins weigh about 17 pounds — more than five times as much. The increase in transportation and processing costs would be substantial.

What effect would this change have on the American public?

Higher costs — it's that simple. This new coin would mean retrofitting millions of pieces of equipment. Everything from vending machines to cash drawers would need to be changed. The estimated additional cost to the banking industry alone would be in the tens of millions of dollars. Perhaps the old adage "If it ain't broke, don't fix it" rings true in the case of this proposed new $1 coin.

Kelly Buchanan Released To Fort Hood Authorities

A New Year's Day fatal shooting of a 47-year-old Clyde man by Clyde Police Chief Ron Young has the community buzzing and rumors running rampant.

Young shot Roy Buchanan once in the chest with a 9mm semi-automatic pistol on Hamby Road about 12:50 a.m. Wednesday, January 1, after the man attacked the officer with a knife, threatened to kill him and cut him across the stomach, law authorities said.

A videotape of the confrontation made by a camera mounted in the patrol car of Sgt. Richard Hawkins, who arrived on the scene before Young fired the fatal round into the chest of Buchanan, led to law enforcement officers' decision to charge Buchanan's son, Kelly Buchanan, 23, of Fort Hood, with attempted capital murder. Buchanan made $100,000 bond and was released January 6 from Callahan County Jail. Kelly Buchanan, who is stationed at Fort Hood, was on leave from the U.S. Army. However, Callahan County Attorney Brad Harris reported that the U.S. Military picked up the younger Buchanan to take back to Fort Hood.

The shooting is the latest incident in a history of bad blood between the Buchanans and Young. Kelly Buchanan had brought charges against Young four years ago for violating the younger Buchanan's civil rights.

In December 1987, Young tried to subdue Kelly Buchanan during an arrest by zapping the teenager with a stun gun.

Buchanan filed suit, claiming the chief tried to arrest him without probable cause and shocked him five times, leaving small burns on his chest.

Young testified in September 1988 that the youth led him on a high-speed chase that ended at his parents' home on Sandy Lane in Clyde and that he shocked Buchanan once with the stun gun after failing to subdue the resisting youth on his parents' front yard.

Chief Young and another officer testified that Roy Buchanan cursed and assaulted Young during the incident.

A Callahan County jury acquitted Young on charges of officials oppression and civil rights violation.

After the fatal shooting, Callahan County Sheriff Bill Skinner and County Attorney Brad Harris called in Texas Ranger Calvin Cox to investigate the shooting. "Young wasn't threatened; he was attacked," said Cox. "I don't know why. Roy can't talk to us and the boy won't. I agree it's strange."

According to a report released by the Texas Department of Public Safety's Austin office on behalf of Cox, Young was patrolling Hamby Road at about 12:50 a.m. when a pickup driven by Kelly Buchanan, who was in town on leave from the U.S. Army, pulled up behind him. Roy Buchanan, a passenger in the pickup, was the only other person in the vehicle.

DPS spokesman Mike Cox said the younger Buchanan "literally pursued" Young, attempting to flag the chief down by flashing his headlights. When Young stopped, Roy Buchanan confronted him with a knife, threatening to kill the chief, Cox said. The elder Buchanan allegedly threatened to stab Young as he held the knife across the officer's abdomen, slashing it across his stomach in a threatening manner, Cox said.

Young fired his weapon once after he was cut across the stomach. Roy Buchanan, whose body was sent to the Tarrant County Medical Examiner's Office for an autopsy, was pronounced dead at the scene by Clyde Justice of the Peace Eston Shelnett. A preliminary autopsy report is expected from the examiner's office in about a week.

Sheriff Skinner said he has "no idea" what the Buchanans wanted with Young, who was treated Wednesday at Humana Hospital-Abilene for cuts to his stomach and thumb and released.

Clyde Mayor Don Haley said Young has taken a leave, voluntarily removing himself from duty indefinitely. The Clyde City Council will wait for the outcome of the investigation before making a decision on the chief's status, Haley said.

A Callahan County grand jury is expected to be called to hear the case, a normal procedure in a shooting involving police officers. County Attorney Harris said that he expects to call the grand jury together late next week or early the following week. He said the grand jury has not been called yet because the autopsy report on Buchanan hasn't been returned.

"We want to make an accurate and complete presentation for the grand jury's review, both the charges against Kelly Buchanan and whether the homicide was justified," Harris said.

"I'll let the citizens make the decision. On a case like this, it's tragic considering the past relations between Chief Young and the Buchanans. It's a difficult process, but our focus has to be a fair and complete presentation, not to persuade the grand jury to decide one way or another."

The County Attorney stated that Kelly Buchanan will be given the opportunity to testify before the grand jury. Buchanan's attorney, Stan Brown of Abilene, said a decision on his client's appearing before the jury will be made "at the appropriate time." Brown declined further comment.

Buchanan has not offered a statement to officers, Sheriff Skinner said.

Harris said that Young has offered to testify before the grand jury.

The County Attorney added that the video tape will be viewed by the grand jury. He said there are currently two copies of the video tape, the original and one copy. Both tapes are in the possession of Texas Ranger Calvin Cox. Harris said that the videotape copy is being sent to a lab in an effort to improve the video and sound quality.

Harris added that only himself, Texas Ranger Cox, Sheriff Skinner, Callahan County Sheriff Deputy Wayne Knowles, Chief Young, Sgt.

ROWDEN

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

All the pretty weather has suddenly turned cold today, Saturday, with light rain falling in this area.

1992 has many opportunities ahead for all if they are sought out by both the old, youth, and children. We may not think they are ours, and we see them slipping away. Even the Rowden store has been closed for several years, and most of the population are younger families. The Don Harrell family, Tony Steele family, Bob Dye family, and the Tommie Merrymans. Also to the south area is the Nicky Harris family. The Robert Watson family has gone from six sons to two. Don and Pam Harris have no children in their home now. Others in that category are Leona Gary, Edna Dye, Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin, Chief and Joy Horner, Blain and Jessie Odom, and the family of Miller Scott. Joyce Odom, Tom and Naomi Harris, and Emma Johnson and Lizzie Burks. I hope I haven't missed any other than the McBride family who live in the Tommy Dye house. Also, the Chris West family.

Hope 1992 is your best year.

Vernie Belle and Gene Mauldin drove after church in Baird to their son, Roland and Faye Mauldin's home where Douglas Mauldin of Dallas was honored on his birthday by his parents, Roland and Faye of Denton Valley. Kenneth Mauldin of Abilene also was there for the dinner.

A group from the Cherry Heights Baptist Church in Clyde attended the Evangelistic Conference Monday and Tuesday in Fort Worth. Those attending were the pastor, Rev. Randy Hatfield, Esther Day, and Dorothy Reynolds.

Leigh Harrell is celebrating her 11th birthday this week. One present was a cuddly puppy. Her grandparents, Mrs. Frank Harrell and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Newberry, all of Abilene, will be in the home of Don and Maryanna.

High Speed Chase Begins At Baird

BAIRD — Three Haltom City men were arrested Monday, January 6, after a high-speed chase in a stolen sports car from Baird to Tye on Interstate 20, with speeds reaching 105 mph.

The driver, Michael Starrett Colbaugh, 17, was charged with attempted capital murder. He is accused of running Callahan County Chief Deputy Sheriff Wayne Knowles off I-20 at Tye.

Knowles said his patrol car blew a tire at that point, but the chase ended soon afterward.

Colbaugh also was charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, attempting to elude officers, and theft, as were his companions, Johnny Alvin Snodgrass, 17, and David James Owens, 18.

Knowles said the chase began shortly after 7 a.m. Monday when the trio sped away from a Texaco Service Station at Baird without paying for gasoline. A police unit from Clyde joined the chase as it proceeded west, as did cars of the Department of Public Safety and Abilene Police Department. The fleeing car, a red 1984 Chevrolet Camaro, was traveling 105 mph at one point. Knowles said it had been stolen about 1 a.m. Monday from an apartment complex in Haltom City.

A rolling roadblock was used to slow the car near Tye, according to Knowles. The chase ended 1.5 miles west of Tye. It was there the sports car left I-20, ran across the access road through a fence and into a grove of trees. Then the three young men fled on foot.

"They ran just a little ways. We rounded them up pretty quick,"

HOSPITAL NEWS

Emma Woody

Emma Woody fell and broke her hip last Monday, January 6. She had surgery on Tuesday, and her condition is reported to be good. She's in Room 4117 at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene.

Knowles estimated 10 to 15 police vehicles were involved in the chase, which covered approximately 30 miles.

Once in custody, the men were taken before Justice of the Peace Chuck Griffin in Abilene, who set bonds and informed them of their rights before they were returned to Callahan County.

Formal charges at Baird were filed with Justice of the Peace Don Burns. Colbaugh's bonds totaled $54,200 while bonds on the other two were $4,200 each.
