New Facts About Dry Cleaning and Clothes Pressing

Through Modern Dry Cleaning and Pressing equipment the care of clothes has become a scientific operation which delivers far more than perfectly cleaned and pressed garments arm-pit and trouser waist-band and center seams are freed from offensiveness. The odors of perspiration which cause garments to be unpleasant are removed by heat, steam and vacuum. Germs are always present in clothes that have been worn. My cleaning and Pressing method, of using temperatures of about the range at which surgical instruments are sterflized, kills disease producing germs, destroys moth eggs, kills insects and prevents the spread of skin diseases.

CAPTURED FRIDAY

E. Brumbelow, Federal trapper, reported to the Review office this week the thirteenth gray wolf which he captured in the nearby localities. The last catch, from standpoint of place, was unusual. He was caught in a watermelon patch on the Harrell farm about four o'clock in the afternoon, where he had for some time been visiting and feasting on the juicy melons belonging to one of the tenants on the farm.

CROSS PLAINS LUMBER COMPANY

FINE PEACHES AND WATERMELONS

Fine peaches, especially of the Elberta variety, and watermelons of this season's crop are plentiful in the Cross Plains community, and the grade of the fruits has exceeded that of any past record. Cross Plains is being abundantly supplied and many truck loads have been hauled to other towns and sold at an unusually good price. Some fine specimens of the peach crop have been presented to the Review office. Mr. Wright, living a short distance northeast of Cross Plains, brought in a few dozen last Saturday. For deliciousnee and unformity of size they could well be classed as prize winners. Edwin Erwin, of the Sabano community, brought in the largest Elbertas which we have noticed on the market, and it is claimed they are the largest that have ever been raised in this part of Texas.

cer of wide influence who had formerly been ambassador to the Court of St. James. Anthony Trent had met him in London under circumstances so far out of the ordinary that he did not think he would have difficulty in recalling himself to Mr. Hill.

Cabinet officers are not easy of access. From his room at the New Willard Trent sought to speak to him over the telephone. This proved to be impossible. The cabinet officer was protected from telephonic assaults by a private secretary whose manners were too brusque to suit Anthony Trent.

The secretary after learning that Trent would not tell him why he desired to see Mr. Hill said it was idle to continue the conversation.

Half an hour utter Trent came face to face with the secretary. He found him a big, overbearing youth who was holding his position during the recovery from an automobile accident of the real incumbent of the situation.

"I can't ask Mr. Hill to see you unless I know what M's about," he said bluntly.

"It is private business," Trent returned, "I cannot discuss it with you."

"Then you won't discuss it with you."

"Then you won't discuss it with the chief," said the other.

"I came from New York to see Mr. Hill and I'm going to see him. Also, I am not going to satisfy you' curiosity,"

"He's dated ahead for three days,"

Trent looked about the stime of the real included and the page.

"You have been so good to me," she said quietly, "that I have come to think of you as the best man I have eve known the most gentle and chivalrous. Perhaps because I so much wished to believe it, I thought you had in reality put your old life behind you as sincerely as I have done. And, too, I thought you believed in me."

And, too, I thought you believed in me."

"I do," he said.
She shook her head.
"No. If you had you could never have offered me that." She pointed to the scintillant temptation. "You have shown me I did not know you and that you thought me a hypocrite."
She realized that this was the most bitter moment of her life. Not until now had the consciousness of her love for Anthony Trent forced itself so strongly upon her. She had admired him at first for his skill and aundactive, for the insolent coolness with which he had worked alone and laughed at authority. Then she had come to see the fluor side of his complex character, the generosity which distinguished him and the absence of pettiness. These characteristics she saw now she had idealized until she had reared upon their structure an Anthony Trent who did not exist. The leopard had not changed its spots. "You mean you won't use any of the money I can realize for you on this stone? Think well before you ans. e.r."
"My mind was made up long ago. I

"My mind was made up long ago. I

"Well," he said, after a pause, "if so, what will you do?"

"That I cannot say yet, definitely.

Mrs. Kinney thinks she can get me work. I have some skill in fine sewing and the mending of old lace; it was taugh me at my convent."

"How long will your eyes stand that strain?" he demanded. "The idea is indicrous. You propose to pass the get you something better than sewing."

"Already I am too much in your debt to accept more."

Gone was the pleasant intimacy of a few minutes earlier. He could see almost a lorror in her face. She regarded him as one who had seer the light for a little while and then, at adversity's first breath, gone back to the old and easier ways.

"Don't look at me like that," he said, "ry to forget what I said."

She shook her head. "That would be impossible."

She could not understand how in a moment such as this he could regard her with a wilnisteal smile, Had he no intuition to warn him that his defection had wounded her Irremedia biy? That he should think her repentance only a matter of words showed her how ill she had judged him.

pentance only a matter of words showed her how ill she had judged him.

"If you have made up your mind," he said, "I suppose there is no more to be said."

"Nothing," she answered. "I cannot repay you for all you have done for me. I am afraid I shall never be able to do that. I am leaving here today. Good-by, Mr. Trent."

"Not tonight," he said earnestly, "please do me one favor. I am leaving town tonight and shan't be back till Friday. Wait till then."

"I prefer to go tonight."

"If you won't do it as a favor I must put it in another way. I'm afraid it will sound rather brutal. Aademolselle Dupin, you are under certain obligations to me. Apparent ty they weigh rather heavily on your mind. You can repay me by remaining here antil I return. At the outside it will be forty-eight hours. It is not much to ask, is it?"

"Very well," she answered, reluctantly, "I will wait forty-eight hours. She did not understand how he could still smile at her. What a nature of contradictions was his!"

"One question before I go. You have told me several times that the federal authorities were still seeking you. Why particularly should they want you?" He held up the Nizam's diamond. "Because of that."

"Bet why?" he asked.
"Because your government was greatly embarrassed by ita loss. You do not know that before the United States went into the war a certain illustrious royal personage who is, oddly enough, very popular here, made a secret visit in a battleship in order to hasten this country's entrance into the war. He was here as a secret guest of the government. Absolute secrecy was preserved Only once did ha leave his fast cruiser and come by night to meet official Washington. Yet that night the Nizam's diamond which he carried as his bringer of fortune, his talisman, his good luck stone, was stolen. His own government thought it unwise to allow it to be known he was here and your own dare not advertise the loss. Now do you understand what a satisfaction it would be to catch the woman who took it?"

Evidently the memory of the affair was unpleasant.

"You will excuse me," she said, and ignored his outstretched hand. Her refusal to take it was not crudely done. Except that he divined her purpose he might have seen in the incident merely an oversight.

"Why don't you give me your hand?" he asked. "If any two people in this troubled world ought to be friends they are you and I."

"In the life I have chosen there will not be room for friendships like that. I shall work to forget."

"And I'm to be one of the forgotten. Somehow you give me the impression that I've disappointed you."

"Disappointed!" she cried, her ands pressed against her heart, "if that were only the word."

Quickly she went from the room.

Trent looked after her and he was still smiling.

"She wouldn't shake hands," he murmured as she walked down the stairway.

Mrs. Kinney came to the side of the woman whose sobbing distressed her immeasurably. She had grown to experience sincere affection for this mysterious and lovely visitor.

"What is it, my poor dear?" she whispered.
"I did not know one's heart could break twice." Mademoiselle Dupin cried wildly.

For a long while the shrewd house-keeper had watched her visitor's increasing interest in Authony Trent. Of her employer's attitude Mrs. Kinney was in no doubt whatever. She supposed there had been some dreadful quarrel which seemed tragic now but which would pass over as other storms end.

"It will be all right," she said, comforting her.

"Never, never in this life!" sobbed Mademoiselle Dupin.

Trent's destination was Washington and his mission to see a cabinet offi-

"One question before I go. You have told me several times that the federal authorities were still seeking you. Why particularly should they want yon?" He held up the Nizam's diamond. "Because of that."
"Yes," she answered. "Particularly should they want yon?" He held up the Nizam's diamond. "Because of that."
"But why?" he asked.
"Because your government was greatly embarrassed by its loss. You of the city or of a public building measure a couple of feet in length and were correspondingly heavy, so that a bunch of them would be carried most easily slung at one's back, the cord threaded though holes in their other extremity, being held in front.

I am not going to satisfy your curiosity."

"He's dated ahead for three days."

Trent looked about him. He was in an ante-room with a big davenport and some comfortable chairs.

"I shall pass the time agreemby enough," he said. "I have slept on the hard ground, and that davenport is luxury."

"You cap't sleep here," the secretary cried. "I shall tallow it,"

"I'm afraid you take yourself too seriously," said Trent lighting a cig arette.

The secretary knew that in less than

"I'm afraid you take yourself tor seriously," said Trent lighting a cig arette.

The secretary knew that in less than an hour Mr. Hill would pass through the ante-room. In that case the victory would go to Trent.

"We'll see you tomorrow afternoon," he said. "At four."

"We?" Trent retorted "I'm afraic I must deny myself the pleasure of your presence at the interview. I'm remain here until four tomorrow." He had a shrewd idea that Mr. Hill must pass along sooner or inter.

"Give me your card." said the secretory scowling.

In two minutes he returned.

"Three-thirty tomorrow," he said crossly. "The chief will give you just two minutes."

"Try again," said Trent pleasantly.

"What do you mean?" the other asked.

"I vaulted over this two-foot barrier and tooked through the crack of the door. I saw you sit down, light a cigarette, read a letter through twice and then come back. You didn't even go into Mr. Hill's room. Listen, I'm here to see Mr. Hill now. Go back there at once."

"I'm will not," said the other flushing. He saw the danger signal in the intruder's eyes. The secretary was overbearing but he was not courageous. For a moment he thought Trent was about to leap the barrier.

"There's a man) outside," said the secretary, speaking to the cabinet officer, difteen seconds later, "who says you've got to see him. I don't like the looks of him at all. If I were you, sir, I'd have him thrown out."

"Only the President can say I've got' to see him," said Hill frowning. "I'm much too busy today anyway. What was the name?"
"I didn't get it," the secretary ited. "Can't you read?" snapped Mr. Hill. He took the card from the other's fingers. "Anthony Trent! Is he walting?"

Arbor Day

Tree-planting festivals are probably as old as civilization. Sacred trees and groves, planted avenues and road-sides, shaded academic walks and memorial trees were common long before America was discovered. Arbor day, as such, however, is purely American in origin and grew out of conditions peculiar to the great plains of the West, a country practically tree-less over anoth of its area, but supporting a flourishing agriculture and with a soil and climate well able to nourish tree growth. Arbor day originated and was first observed in Mebraska in 1872.

Scalloped Potatoes With Ham.—Slice very thin enough potatoes for the number to serve. Arrange in layers in a well-buttered baking dish, add a layer of any cold cooked ham either sliced or minced, another layer of potatoes and, when the dish is full, cover with milk. Cover well after plenty of seasoning of butter and sait and bake until tender.

Potato Fritters.—Take two cupfuls of hot riced potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of reream, one teaspoonful of sait, a few grains of cayenne and sutmeg, the yolks of two eggs well beaten and two tablespoonfuls of or orange juice, fold in the beaten whites and set the bowl in ice water, beat until cold then and one-half cupful of flour and when well mixed drop by spoonfuls into deep fat.

Eat and Save

By RING LARDNER

To the Editor:

These days most everybody are preaching economy in liveing and etc., but the great majority don't know how to go about it to lay something aside for a rainy day, of which God knows we have had enough of them on Long's Island this spring but anyway, I run acrost a married couple of man and wife the other day that has got 3 children all under 60 yrs, of age and the man showed me where he had solved the high cost problem and was saveing enough weekly so as in a few yrs, he can quit work and not half to worry as they will be enough in the bank to insure he and his family vs. want in their old age.

This man is a plasterer by trade and only making $250, per week, as the Union don't allow him to work Monday, Wednesday, Friday and holidays and only ½ day Saturdays A. M. Well, I night this man and he old lady, as he called his wife, set down and had a serious talk and begin to figure things out and found they were only laying $190, per week to I side and spending all the rest of it. I an few yrs, at that rate they would be liveing on the bounty of the country.

So this bird said to his wife, "We they were only laying sito, particle to 1 side and spending all the rest of it. I an few yrs, at that rate they would be liveing on the bounty of the country.

So this bird said to his wife, "We have got to economize somewheres or ruin is staring us in the face as all I can skimp up in my profession is $250 per week and we ain't saveing only $190, of it, and wile we are liveing in the lapse of luxury why suppose something happens to me so I couldn't plaster no more, where would you and the kiddles be at? So I propose that we start and run the house on the budget system."

So the Mrs, who had never seen the insides of a college asked him what was a budget system.

"Well," he says, "the word budget comes from 2 Lithuanian words, budg and et and it means I will give you $10, per week to buy the food and clothes and pay the rent and washing and services and etc., and I will take the other $240, and stick it in the old saveings bank every week and in a few yrs, we can give the world the laugh even if I can't plaster or get plastered no more."

So his Mrs, was tickled to death and said let's try it.

Well, she set down with a paper and pencil and figured. Folling is a typical expense account that she made out for a week:

MONDAY BREAKFAST: Anchovies, ripe olives, eelery, clam broth, sword fish, ham and eggs, liver and bacon, lettuce and tomatoes with Coney Island dressing, honey dew a la mode, coffee and cigars, Russian kummel. MONDAY DINNER: Caviar, Martinis, lobster, Guinea hen, O'Brien's potatoes, soot, pudding, coffee and cigars, creme de menthe. Total expenses, $1.25.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday they was all too sick to eat anything.

FRIDAY BREAKFAST! Butterfish, weakfish, shrod, lailbut, sea bass.

penses, $1.25.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to a higher temperature, turn all the potatoes into a frying basket and fry until crisp and brown, keeping the basket in motion. Drain on paper and sprinkle with sait.

Scalloped Potatoes With Ham—Slicevery thin enough potatoes for the number to serve. Arrange in layers in a well-buttered baking dish, add a layer of finely minced onlon, then a layer of any cold cooked ham either sliced or minced, another layer of portatoes and, when the dish is full, cover with milk. Cover well after plenty of seasoning of butter and salt and bake until tender.

Potato Fritters.—Take two cupfuls of hot riced potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of the riced potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of the potatoes to five gas well beaten and two tablespoonfuls of crayene and numer, the batt will be beaten whites and set the bowl in ice water, beat until cold then add one-half cupful of flour and when well mixed drop by spoonfuls into deep fat. Fry until brown.

Spanish Potatoes.—Boll or steam the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayene and turn with the butter and contons for each two of butter, the amount depends upon the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayene and turn with the butter and contons for each two of butter, the amount depends upon the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayene and turn with the butter and contons for each two of butter, the amount depends upon the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayene and turn with the butter and contons for the vegetable dish in which they are to be served, two to four tablespoonful of minced onion for each two of butter, the amount depends upon the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayene and turn with the butter and contons for the vegetable dish in which they are to be served, two to four tablespoonfuls of butter and cook one minute. "Gold Star Mothers"

"Gold Star Mothers"

There seems to be no official interpretation of the term "gold star mother." The Gold Star Mothers' association defines such a mother as one whose son was killed overseas during the World war or who was killed on the sea while serving in the war. The American War Mothers' association defines a gold star mother as one whose son has died between the dates of April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1920, from wounds or disability incurred in service during the war.

1. Finding an Assistant for Paul (Acts 15:33-16:5).

1. Contention over John Mark (vv. 36-41).

(1) Paul's proposal (v. 36).
This was to revisit the scenes of their missionary endeavors to find out what progress the believers were making in their Christian experience.

(2) Determination of Barnabas (v. 37).

It was to take with them John Mark, Barnabas' nephew (Col. 4:10).

(3) Paul's opposition (v. 38).
He was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on a formar journey (Acts 13:13).

(4) Their separation (vv. 39-41).
Their confention was so sharp that they separated. God overruted this in cident to the wider extension of the work. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cypnes; Paul chose Silas, and went through Syria and Cilicia.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5).

(1) The place (v. 1).

It was the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. The conversion of Timothy may be regarded as fruitage of Paul's testimony at that time.

(2) His parentage (v. 1).
His mother was a Abelieving Jewess and his father a Greek.

(3) His character (v. 2).
He had a good reputation in the church at Lystra and Iconium.

(4) His circumcision (v. 3).
Timothy had not been circumcised. Doubtles this omission was because his father was a Gentile. To avoid effense among the Jews, Paul circumcised Timothy.

(5) The ministry of Paul and Timothy through the cities (v. 4, 5).
They delivered decrees which had been ordained at the Jerusalem council (Acts 15:19-24).

Acts 15:19-24).

11, Forbidden to Preach the Word in Asia (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were burnfiel along. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them.

11). The Call to Maccdonia (vv. 9-12.) The time had now come for the gospel to tegin its conquest of another continent. By the crossing of the gospel from Asia to Europe the church, instead of becoming an oriental movement, became mainly occidental.

1. The vision (v. 9).

Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Maccdonia pleading for help, which made clear the meaning of the closed doors about him.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12).

As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward. Visions, to be effective, must be quickly translated into aggressive action.

1V. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The Jewish element in Philippi was so small that it was unable to afford a synagogue, therefore the devour people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To a humble gathering of this kind Paul came and prenched Lydia, a business woman from Thyatra, believed. The steps in her conversion are worthy of note, as typical,

1, Attendance at the place of worship (v. 13).

Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

Only the Lord can convert a soul. R is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to preach the word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. Regeneration is a supernatural work.

4. She was baptized (v. 15).

Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptitism.

tism.
5. Her household believed (v. 15).
6. Hospitality practiced (v. 15).
Those who have experienced God's aaving grace are disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

It Didn't Work
In a certain Indiana rural school, the teacher noticed that one youngster was not paying very close attention so she decided to catch him. She asked him which part of the story that they had just read he liked best. He studied a moment and said: "The part that Mary just told."

The teacher was not to be outdone and told him the class could listen to it again. "Well," he said, hestatingly. "I don't know, I didn't hear what Mary said."

BOY SCOUTS RETURN FROM LEUDERS GAMP

The fffteen boy scouts who attended the camp at Lueders, on the Clear Fork of the Brazos River, have returned to their homes in Cross Plains, and some of them made creditable records in the scout work. Four of the boys, Clyde Walker, Ralph Nance, Tom Maddox and Phil Bingham, made second. class. Maurice Yarbrough, W. J. A. William, Jr., and Clyde Walker completed in junior life saving tests. Phil Bingham received special mention on conduct; leadership and discipline. John Booth, Tom Holden, J. E. Henkle, W. A. Williams, Bill Cross and Mr. Nance attended the last day of the camp and returned home with the Cross Plains boys.

camp and returned home with the Cross Plains boys.

An announcement in reference to a "Jamorce" that will be held by the local scouts on the night of September ofth, will be made next week. The boys are getting ready for the occasion and will show the public that scouting is something that is worthwhile. The scouts from Rising Star and other surrounding towns will be present and assist in the program. It will be given in the open on one of the vacant lots, in true camp style.

It is well to mention that a number of the boys attended the camp on expense money furnished them on their agreement to return it. They must obtain this money by such work as they are capable of doing. Any one having odd jobs that a real live, husky boy can perform must not overlook them. Just leave your need for their help with J. E. Henkle and he will supply the boys who will be capable on the job.

WHY CYLINDER UNKEEP PAYS

The length of service and power of motor depends upon the mechanical condition of cylinders, pistons and rings. Pistons and rings cannot function right unless the cylinder walls are in mechanically accurate condition. It is wrong to install new rings and pistons without restoring cylinders to their original accuracy. When cylinder wear becomes too great for ring expansion to overcome, power is lost and raw gasoline (unburned gas) leaks down into the vital bearings of motor and rapid wear results. Worn cylinders pump oil, foul spark plugs. cause formation of carbon which scores cylinders.

Unkeep of cylinders pays in saving of fuel and longer motor life.

HAVE THEM STORMIZED.
