MODEL F-2 Electro-Dynamic speaker, $34.

ELECTRO-DYNAMIC

finer tone—dependable
powerful—economical

This is the all-electric Model 46—Atwater Kent's new Electro-Dynamic radio. Its tone is absolutely faithful. It reproduces clearly and exactly every note, high or low, of any instrument or voice. And it does it without exaggeration or slurring.

Model 46 works from any lamp socket. One switch turns the current on or off. One FULL-VISION Dial selects stations.

It is all made by Atwater Kent and therefore is absolutely dependable. The price is low because of big scale precision production.

LOCALS ATTEND STOCK SHOW TRACK MEET OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO TEACHERS

The Cross Plains High School track boys attended the track meet at Fort Worth Stock Show last week and participated in the program. These attending were Coach Nat Huggins and his four track boys, Herbert Maddux, Jack DeBask, Rex Clark and Floyd Webb.

Sixty-six track boys entered the initial 100-yard race, Rex Clark being one of the six entries in the final race. It is reported that Rex slipped at the start, otherwise it is believed he would have won the race. Herbert Maddux competed in the one-mile race, but complained that the cowboys, so many in number that they could not get out of his way, and he lost. Jack DeBask entered the 880-yard race, but said the track was blocked with too many married men for him to get by. Floyd Webb took part in the poll vault. He stated that the reason he could not go higher he was accustomed to more landing space and softer dirt, and they simply didn't have enough of either. All of the boys report having a good time, immensely enjoyed the visit.

PREBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. B. A. Hodges D. D. of Waxahachie, Texas, will preach at the Presbyterian Church both morning and evening of Sunday, March 24th.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock he will organize a study course on Christian Education and continue this course each evening at 7:30 o'clock throughout the week. All members of the Sunday school and any others who wish—should avail themselves of the opportunity of this course. Thirty six have already signified their desire to take the course and the books are already here.

No greater opportunity has ever come to us than to have a man of such ability with us for such a long period. We are anxious that each one be present at the very first and continue without missing a single lecture.

Following this course on Sunday evening of March the 31st the young people are to present an Easter Pageant and Cantata. This is without doubt the best program our church has ever attempted in this community. Any who may wish to come will receive a hearty welcome to the study course as well as to the Pageant and Cantata.

S. P. COLLINS, Pastor.

ALL GET TOGETHER
AND PULL TOGETHER

If the citizens and residents of a town do not pull together how can they expect strangers to think well of their own community? True, every town has people who have disagreeable characteristics. Each one of us is "peculiar" in some respects in the mind of the "other fellow." But even if it is the truth, we should not say evil things of our fellow-townmen.

Far better be like the Scotch, of whom Dr. Samuel Johnson said that no matter how big a rogue a man was in Scotland, all other Scotchmen sang praises to every stranger in their precincts, simply because the rascal was their fellow-countryman.

It is better to be like the Scotch, even stratter our veracity, at least in a harmless way, than to be like the Irish of whom this same sage recently said: "I love the Irish because they are so honest; they never speak well of each other."

Learning to look for the good in our neighbors (and much good there is to be found) is a quality that will reap a harvest of benefits. A town divided against itself can never rise to the height to which its natural situation would otherwise permit it. Forgetting our differences in petty affairs, or even in matters of magnitude, is absolutely necessary if we are to pull together.

To be blinded by prejudice is a condition that harms him most who is afflicted. Having eyes with which to see, minds with which to think and enthusiasm to work, no job is too big for Cross Plains in a public way.

GAS COMPANY WILL
NOT MOVE OFFICE
FROM RISING STAR

The Rising Star Record of last week states that Mayor A. N. Searly of that city has received a communication from the Southwest Gas Company that they had decided definitely to leave their office there permanently. According to the Record quite a protest was occasioned when it was announced a few weeks ago that the local office was to be discontinued and the business handled from the district office. The City Council, Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce of Rising Star all filed urgent protests with the head of the company.

It is reported that a similar move is contemplated at Cross Plains, but the Review is not in possession of any definite announcement to that effect.

SHERIFF THINKS NO
ONE IN CAR THAT
PLUNGED IN BAYOU

(Brownwood Bulletin)

Nothing has been done in an effort to solve the apparent mystery connected with the finding of a stolen service car in Pecan Bayou, below what is generally called the new dam, Wednesday morning, so far as dragging the river is concerned. The water of the river has not receded enough to allow a thorough search to determine whether or not the bodies of anyone, who might have perished in the plunge of the car over the high concrete wall are to be found.

Sheriff Mose Denman discredits the belief that anyone was in the car when it plunged into the swirling waters below the dam. Mr. Denman holds that if anyone had been in the car, some evidence of their presence would have been left in the car.

After the flow of the river has returned to normal, the pool below the dam will likely be dragged but until then nothing else will likely be known.

You buy 73 years' experience in gardening when you buy Ferry's purebred Seeds

If you had gardened for 73 years—had raised tons of produce—had watched the plants and weeded out inferior strains till only selected quality results—you would know the seeds best to plant.

There is 73 years' experience in gardening back of Ferry's purebred Seeds. Ferry has done the experimenting for you. Ferry knows that these seeds are the children and the grandchildren of vigorous, purebred plants—seeds whose families for generations have produced vegetables of fine flavor and tenderness, flowers of supreme color and beauty.

These are the seeds you want in your garden. Ferry's thousands of tests each year help determine, so far as is humanly possible, that they will produce and produce correctly in size, color, vigor, and flavor.

Buy Ferry's purebred Seeds at "the store around the corner." They are fresh for planting now. Write for Ferry's Seed Annual. Its garden facts make it more than a catalog. Address D. M. Ferry & Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Michigan.

BROWN CO. FIGHTS POULTRY WORMS

A campaign against internal parasites of all kinds of poultry waged in Brown county last year by 500 farmers with the assistance of County Agent O. P. Griffin saved at least $100,000 worth of poultry and eggs, it is estimated in a report by the Brownwood Bulletin.

Sixteen poultry worm clinics were held following which a general clean up campaign was undertaken. Poultry yards were plowed up as a sanitation measure, and flocks were given the worming treatment. For round worms which are most common, flocks were fed 2 pounds of powdered tobacco dust of 2 per cent nicotine content mixed with 100 pounds of mash, the treatment continuing for three weeks. After a rest for the same period the tobacco mash was fed again for three weeks. "This quick worming," says Mr. Griffin, "gave immediate relief, but some farmers who used the method without following the general sanitation methods advocated were later found to have re-infested flocks. First and last sanitation methods such as plowing up yards, eliminating sloppy, wet places about the premises and keeping houses clean, proved most effective."

WILLIE STONE ON FT. WORTH CATS

(Rising Star Record)
"Lefty" Stone is Hailed as "Fielding Fool" By Sports Writer and Looks Good on First with Fast Company

Willie Stone, known here as "Hook," "Lefty" and other titles and a former crack pitcher and first base-man for the Humble Co. team, looks sure to make first base on the Fort Worth Cats professional baseball team this season. Going up to Cowtown a few weeks ago Hook was given a couple of days work out and a chance to try out for first base. He looked so good that he was used on first at Mineral Wells a few days ago in the game against Oklahoma City. In this game he got three clean hits out of four trips to the plate, one of his drives showing two runs across the plate. He was given a flattering mention by Flem Hall, Sports Writer for the Star Telegram, who referred to the youngster as the "Fielding Fool" by Hall.

While it is known that he will have stiff competition for first base by the veteran Jim Riley, many here believe that the kid will make it and all his many friends here, ofcourse are pulling for him.

President Hoover does not seem to care for that mechanical horse contraption which Mr. Coolidge sought for physical exercise and will doubtless seek something more becoming to his strenuous nature. The White House physicians wants suggestions on how to give him proper exercise. We offer the following:

Give him a shovel and let him start to building the Boulder Dam.

Suggest weekly trips to El Paso, Texas, to dodge bullets from Mexico. Have him go three rounds with Jack Sharkey before breakfast.

Tell him to cross Washington's main street as a pedestrian about 5 p. m. daily.

Urge him to take about 40,000 federal prohibition agents by the nape of the neck and give them a good shacking up each day befoe they start to work.

Insist that he split infinities.

IMAGINE THIS THIRTY YEARS IN THE FUTURE

In thirty years time the United States will rule the waves and Europe will have dropped to second or third rank; practically all of South America will be under Washington's control; women will wear trousers; love will have disappeared; it will be difficult to tell men and women apart. They will dress alike and affect the same coiffure. In workshops, offices, government bureaus and airplanes activity, women will be the equal of men in every phase of human achievement. Many women will drop feminine names and will be known as Charles, John, Frank, etc., in order to wipe out every single distinction. It will be impossible in a quarter of a century for a pedestrian to walk the streets of New York, Paris, or Berlin. Several cities will have to build elevated platforms to accommodate the streams of traffic going in opposite directions. New Yorkers will attend the theatre in Paris at nights and will be back in their offices the next morning on time to start the daily routine of business. Luxuriously fitted airships will be hotels that go whirling through space at 1,000 miles an hour. Not a corner of the earth will be unexplored. Power from Niagara and the great waterfalls of Africa, the Zambesi and Victoria will be supplied by wireless to industries all over the world. Television will have become an accomplished fact and when telephoning from America to Europe the faces of the conversationist will be as clear on a small screen immediately above the mouth-piece as if they were speaking to each other seated in the same office.—Paul Morand (France).

RANCHMEN FIGHT WITH BIG EAGLE

(Menard Messenger)
To be attacked by a giant eagle, the largest bird ever seen in this section of West Texas, was the experience of Paul Perner, Crockett county ranchman Tuesday. According to the Ozon Stockman.
With one of the eagle's huge claws grasping his hat and the other his shirt front, Mr. Perner probably owes his escape from injury to the quick thinking and action of Joe Pierce, Jr., his companion. Seizing a soto stalk Mr. Perner beat the ferocious bird off his companion and then killed it with the same instrument.

Mr. Pierce and Mr. Perner had gone to the big header tank south of Ozona to catch some fish. At the tank they saw this giant eagle. The eagle had evidently discovered the fish in the tank and was trying to catch some for himself. When the two men arrived, the bird attempted to fly away but he evidently soaked his wings in the fishing expedition and couldn't lift his huge body off the ground enough to make a take-off.
Mr. Perner, seeing the bird's plight started to run him down and the bird turned on him. Before Mr. Pierce had beaten off the bird, Mr. Perner's shirt front was torn by the big claws and his hat was crumbled.

"I thought maybe that big fellow was going to fly off with me," Mr. Perner said, "and I was getting ready to tell Joe to have Lee Wilson to go up in his plane to rescue me."
The big eagle's wings measured 10 3/4 from tip to tip, declared by old-timers here to be the largest eagle ever seen in this section. The big claw which was planted in Mr. Perner's shirt front measured 8 inches between the longest point of the claw.
SAYS WEATHER IN TEXAS IS FICKLE
Houston, March 9. — Captain A.

Greve Jordan lives in Norway, but he prefers the old cold Scandinavian winter to fickle Texas temperate. Captain Jordan came to Houston recently on his steamer Matilda.
"I went uptown," he said. "It was hot—like summer. I went to the Cotton Exchange building. I stayed an hour. When I came out it was cold.
"Your port here is very good. Young people, I like them very much, but your weather—terrible."
The captain was relieved when the Matilda finally was loaded with 15,000 bales of cotton and departed for Murmansk on the icy shores of the arctic in Lapland.
"At least I know what to expect there," he said.

JOE SAPPINGTON WRITES ABOUT LUCK

There are lots of people who say there is nothing in luck, but I beg to differ from them. I have been a creature of luck from the time I quit wearing dresses up to late bed time last night.

There are two kinds of luck—the good and the bad—and I've had my full share of both. Luck has pulled me out of some pretty hard holes and put me in some pretty deep ones. When I was a small boy going to the Cave Creek school good luck kept me and Sid Mason from getting our hides tanned by the teacher. One day at recess we put a pin in an upright position in the seat of the teacher's chair, but before he had a chance to sit on the pin luck caused Dud Williams to occupy the seat for the tenth part of a second, or just long enough to discover the pin.

It was luck that sent a couple of grown men to the Blue Hole one Sunday afternoon in to me to choke Ace Hawkins from my thumb, which I had unthoughtfully placed in his warm, moist mouth at the beginning of the fight.

It was nothing but luck—pure and unadulterated luck—that kept me and Dave Green from fighting a bloody duel over a candy-haired lassie whom we were both madly in love with. All the details of the duel had been arranged by our seconds and the time happened just as we were about to leave for the dueling ground. Dave was seized with cramp colic and had to be taken home by our seconds. That was one time that luck played a noble part, for it is just possible that one or both of us would have been killed as we were to fight one hundred yards apart—I to use a ".22" calibre seven shooter and Dave a bulldog derringer.

Sometimes what seems to be the worst kind of luck in the long run turns out to be the best kind of good luck. Take for example that love affair of mine when I was nineteen years old. When my adored one returned the gold-filled engagement ring that had cost me $1.25, accompanied by a short, curt note, saying that she was going to marry a man with whiskers and not a fuzzyfaced boy, it seemed to me that my luck was of the gall and worm wood variety. But in after years when I became the acknowledged Beau Brummel of Cave Creek I felt proud of the luck that had kept me from marrying my first love, for the sweet golden-haired girl of my youth had changed into a large fat woman with a pug nose and was the mother of three sets of twins. Of course I'll never know; but I'll bet in after years when she saw me in the prime of my young manhood, dressed in the very pink of fashion and riding a tall sorrel horse, with a red saddle which had hair pocket attachments that she rued the day that she sent me that note and ring. There is no telling how many gallons of hot, briny tears she shed over that one great mistake of her life. It is too sad for the reader to contemplate and I'll now lower the curtain over the drama.

Did any of my readers ever hear of a fellow having good luck by buying a county-right to a patent churn? I had the best kind of luck the time I bought one. The fellow I bought from asked $300 for the rights at the county, but I jewed him down and finally got it by giving $55 in cash, a bill of sale on my wife's milk cow and our horse and both the animals not worth more than $175. I told my wife that I was the luckiest cuss on earth to run across a sucker like that patent right man. Two weeks after I had bought the churn and on the very day that I had hoofed it back home from the county I had bought, my wife quoted almost the same words about luck. She said: "Joe you have been very lucky indeed to walk so far and not blister your feet. There is not one man in a hundred who could walk two hundred miles on hard railroad ties without crippling his feet."

Luck is like lightning and it is purely guess work where it will strike. There is no way to figure out when it is going to hit you. I was once the victim of a kind of luck that strikes a fellow just like lightning. It was while clerking in a store at Gatesville that I ran across that species of luck that bore a striking resemblance to electricity. This piece of luck came about by a simple visit of my wife and children to some friends in the country. Before leaving she made me promise that I would not bring my friends to the house to play cards and drink beer as I had done on a former occasion while she was away. I told her to suffer no uneasiness, that I had lost my taste for beer and had flipped my last card and would not associate with a man that indulged in either.

Habit is a strange thing and becomes our master before we even suspect it. After my family had gone the old desire came over me to get with the boys and have a good time again. I tried to fight it off but it did no good and I finally went to some of the boys and told them about my family's absence and invited them to my house that night to have a quiet little game of poker. The invitation was promptly accepted and by nine o'clock the game had started.

We had such a good time the first night that we decided to have it over again the very next night and to add to the hilarity of the occasion we agreed to add a few dozen bottles of beer to it. It was about ten o'clock and everything was going lively; Barney Wallard was drawing beer corks, Bill Allen was shuffling the cards for a new deal, and I was singing a love song, when a hush fell over the merry-makers—someone had come in the front door. Bill Allen, in his haste to hide the cards, turned over a pitcher of milk, and Barney, in his eagerness to hide the beer, came very nearly turning the table over. The house was so full of cigar smoke that it was several seconds before we could see who the visitor was, who had appeared so suddenly upon the scene. To add consternation to our predicament the visitor proved to be a woman—the wife of my manly bosom and the mother of my children.

Some fellow from the country where my wife was visiting, it seems, had been to town that day and had heard about our game of the night before and went back and reported it and in that manner my wife heard of it, and in order that she might catch me red-handed she had waited until night to be brought back home.

In discussing the matter with the boys the next day they declared that they couldn't remember how they got out of the house. Barney said he thought that he jumped out of the window and Bill Allen said that the last thing he remembered was when he ran over a sewing machine in the hall and sprained his back.

Taking it all around that was about the worst piece of luck that ever happened to me. The luck I happened to that night is still doing business with me, for my wife has had no faith in me from that day to this.

MOON BROS. SHOWS HERE MONDAY, MAR. 25

The Moon Bros. Wild Animal Shows will show here Monday, March 25, on the show lot on the highway just east of the city limits. They will show for the benefit of the Athletic Association. Zoological Rarities Not Seen Elsewhere

All Nature's Strangest, Most Wonderful and Most Curious Forms of Animal Life.

The Menagerie presented for inspection and study this year by this show is the greatest zoological collection ever brought together. As an important departure in this show, it offers not only features of interest and wonder, but recommends itself pre-eminently as a superior source of study and information. In point of size, as well as in rare and exclusive features, it is beyond comparison with any other animal collection. It possesses so many specimens of rare animal life, not to be seen any other collection, that it is the most distinctive menagerie in the world. Naturalists, scientists and students will find many specimens of almost extinct tribes of animals—all that is rare and interesting in zoology is here exhibited. Some idea of the immensity and completeness of this really Grand Menagerie may be formed from the statement that no other menagerie contains so many cages.

LICENSING DRIVERS OF AUTOMOBILES

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has quoted some interesting figures in support of a general auto drivers' license law. The figures cover the period between 1920 and 1926, which tend to prove in a definite way the advantage of licensing drivers and of a more centralized motor vehicle control. These figures compare the increase in automobile fatalities and the increase in automobile registration.

Quite a few persons in Texas are convinced that a sensible and thoroughly enforced system in licensing drivers of automobiles is the proper way to cut down the increasing number of fatalities from automobile accidents. Admittedly, there are drawbacks to such a scheme, and enforcement is a problem, particularly in the less thickly settled parts of the State, but it is worth a little trouble to reduce in half the number of automobile fatalities.

THE MANUFACTURING OF CHEVROLET MOTOR CO.

The manufacturing facilities of Chevrolet Motor Company, numbering 16 great manufacturing plants in this country, are rapidly approaching the volume of output necessary to meet this year's revised annual quota which calls for the manufacture of 1,350,000 passenger car and truck units.

This was signified last week when W. S. Knudsen, president of the company, announced that March production would reach 140,000 units, an amazing output when it is considered that 6 cylinder cars has been underway less than three months. Although no definite figures, were issued it can readily be assumed that April's schedule will call for an even larger production, and that mid-summer will witness a quantity output in all of Chevrolet's assembly plants never before equalled by a manufacturer of six cylinder automobiles.

Mr. Knudsen related that February production amounted to 121,249 units. With only 22 working days in the month, daily production for the period averaged better than 5,500 a day.

These figures lend further emphasis to the astounding achievement of the company last fall in changing over from production of fours to sixes with only a six weeks interim to effect necessary alterations.

Upon his return to Detroit a few days ago from a six weeks trip which took him across the northern part of the country and into the far west, R. H. Grant, Chevrolet vice president in charge of sales, spoke with marked optimism of the prevalent demand for the new cylinder cars. Nearly everywhere, he declared, dealers indicated to him that they had found an increased market for the new product. The cars, he said are being delivered to owners as fast as they can be distributed.
