EDITOR'S NOTE: Carolyn Adams would like to share this poem her grandmother, Opal Sofge, has written about Father's Day and the dads that are forgotten. Mrs. Sofge had several poems published in two different books, "Living Poetry" from which this poem was taken, and "From the Grass Roots." With Father's Day coming up Sunday let's all remember our Dad, for what in the world would we do without them.

"Father's Day"

The gnarled fingers clasped the walking cane,

The hunched man gazed unseeing through the pane,

A smile came to the wrinkled face,

His mind, on another time, another place,

He saw himself young and straight,

Holding a son after a long wait,

How he had worked, for wealth to attain,

The joy of rearing his idol, still remain,

His great hope for his son, so rotten,

For years it was he, and the son he had begotten,

Then gradually age took her toll,

For then it was son; father was old,

'Give it to me Father, all you can give,

I'll care for you as long as you live."

He had given it to him with pride,

He had watched, wanting to be at his side,

One day son gave him a surprise,

Remembering brought tears to his eyes,

Because of their love, they wanted him to know,

To a home for aged he must go,

Where the care would be good,

With people his age, be happier, or should,

'Twas Father's Day, a promised visit, SEE,

But day was fading, it couldn't be,

Then he heard the phone in front ring.

A nurse answered "Sure thing."

Then she yelled "Tell the old man what-not

His son called, Don't say he forgot;

Tell him and make it stick,

He couldn't come, because he was sick,"

Then hope faded from the vacant eyes,

The darkness came as no surprise,

To the forgotten Father on his day,

By a son so near, yet so far away.

Art Club Officers Announced

By LOIS VAUGHN

The Art Club met Tuesday, June 6, with Ozella Huddleston, Marianne Taff, Marlene Sanders, A.J. Carouth, Bonnie Arnold, Laverne Hutton, and Lois Vaughn present. Officers were elected for 1989-90 as follows: President-Treasurer, Marlene Sanders; Vice President-Secretary, Marianne Taff; Program Chairman, Laverne Hutton; Picture Chairman, Dorothy Mitchell; Reporter, Lois Vaughn; and Telephone Chairman, Bonnie Arnold.

The Annual Art Show will be the first week in November, so artists please start painting.

It is also time to renew memberships. Dues are only $3 a year. If you are an artist, please join the club. We have fun and we need your help. It is a good, clean hobby.

July and August we will meet and paint together and help each other.

After the meeting, Bonnie Arnold demonstrated painting ceramics. She does a very good job and her work is very beautiful.

One advantage of being an active member of the Art Club is that we have programs like this and other things that are interesting, completely free of charge.

Alicia Kirkham Is Sorority Essay Winner

Beta Sigma Phi would like to announce that Alicia Kirkham is the winner of the Essay Contest held for senior students and the recipient of a $300 scholarship.

Alicia will be attending McMurry College in Abilene and majoring in journalism. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Kirkham.

Her essay on the subject, the ozone layer, is published here in its entirety.

How much is to be expected from our atmosphere? Every year, twenty billion tons of carbon dioxide, 130 million tons of sulfur dioxide, fourteen million tons of nitrogen oxides, fifty million tons of hydrocarbons, 1500 tons of fluorocarbons, and over three million tons of toxic metals are pumped into the environment. These pollutants, as well as many others, are causing a constant deterioration of our atmosphere. There are many facets to this situation. Both the causes and effects are numerous. The purpose of this paper is to explore the problem of atmospheric pollution.

As most people know, the ozone layer is a blanket of oxygen molecules that protects the earth's surface from ultraviolet radiation. The common form of oxygen has only two atoms, while ozone has three. This extra atom is loosely connected and reacts easily with other chemicals. The ozone layer begins about fifteen miles above the surface of the earth. There are only six parts of ozone per every million parts of air, so humans run a high risk of destroying it in a short period of time.

Holes in the ozone can be caused by some weather patterns, (such as volcanoes) and changes in solar activity, but the main cause is man-made. Chlorofluorocarbons, or CFC's, as they are commonly called, are the chemicals used in refrigerators, industrial solvents, and aerosol spray cans. They are also found in foam packaging and automobile air conditioners. CFC's were developed only fifty years ago. However, by 1975, over three billion aerosol cans were sold annually in the United States alone. Since one molecule of a CFC can destroy tens of thousands of ozone molecules, their development has had a great impact on the earth's protective layer.

As holes in the ozone have developed, scientists have discovered that an increase in radiation is two times the decrease in ozone. For example, a ten percent decrease in ozone causes a twenty percent increase in ultraviolet rays that hit the earth's surface. For every one percent decrease in ozone, there are 12,000 to 30,000 additional cases of skin cancer in the United States each year.

Although the effects of ozone depletion cannot be totally determined for several decades, scientists have discovered one problem that is caused in part by this deterioration: the Greenhouse Effect.

The Greenhouse Effect is caused by the increase of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. This carbon dioxide acts as a sort of radiation window. It lets sunlight through, but absorbs heat from the earth and pushes it back to the ground. This reaction is called the Greenhouse Effect because the top of a greenhouse acts in the same manner.

Eventually, the buildup of heat in the atmosphere will cause an overall warming trend on the earth. As this trend occurs, it will cause shifts in weather patterns. There will be more rainfall in Africa and India, droughts in the midwest, and frequent hurricanes. The rise in temperature will at least partially melt the polar ice caps, causing sea levels to rise. This will cause flooding in low-lying areas.

Unfortunately, this trend will continue as long as people go on burning fossil fuels. The only possible solution is a control on the amounts of carbon dioxide that are emitted into the atmosphere. Some scientists have concluded that another possible approach would be to begin experimenting with nuclear energy instead of other more common forms. This could drastically reduce the amounts of atmospheric pollution.

Groups such as the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have been formed to help monitor and control the amounts of pollution emitted into the atmosphere. Since the establishment of the EPA in 1970, it has developed and enforced protection standards such as the Clean Air Act, which limits the amounts of pollution that is released into the atmosphere. This act helps to eliminate much of the harmful waste that would otherwise be released by industries and automobiles. The EPA also studies other ways to control high levels of pollution. It makes recommendations to other governmental authorities on methods of decreasing this dilemma. However, the problem of atmospheric pollution can not be solved by only a few. Today's society as a whole must consider the consequences of a deteriorating world. The planet must be preserved for the well-being of generations to come. Our earth is imperative for life. Its wasting away would be inexcusable for the society of today.

C.P.J.H. Cheerleaders Rate High In Camp

The cheerleaders from Cross Plains Junior High in Cross Plains were among approximately 300 participants in the 1989 Big Country Cheerleaders camp held on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene June 4-8.

The five-day camp was conducted by Southwest Camps of Cisco, with Mr. Eris Ritchie as camp director. Instructional staff and program were supplied by the National Cheerleaders Association.

The cheerleaders were taught new cheers, stunts, chants, and spirit ideas from a seven-member NCA staff headed up by Brandi Noble, a professional cheerleading instructor from the NCA's national headquarters in Dallas.

The June 4-8 session of the camp was the first of two sessions, with the second to be held June 18-22.

The girls came home with 3 Superior and 2 Excellent ribbons. They received ribbons for Squad Achievement and Award of Excellence for which they were nominated. The girls won the spirit stick 3 out of 4 nights, bringing one back to Cross Plains. Coach Elaine Shedd stated that she was very pleased with their performances, attitudes, and hard work. "They represented Cross Plains well. Thank you, girls," she remarked.

Long May It Fly

By VANDA KING

Today is Flag Day and the meaning and purpose of the U.S. flag is made more significant through a heart warming local story.

Mrs. Lola Patton, sister of J.C. Bowden, moved to the community in January from Tucumcari, New Mexico, and she noted her neighbor, Guy Evans' interest in flags. Guy keeps the U.S. flag and Texas flag faithfully in flight.

She became concerned after a recent storm that his U.S. flag might be damaged and decided to offer him a very sentimental gift. For six years she had kept the flag presented to her at her husband, James Patton's funeral services, in the three cornered fold, but she really desired to see it fly.

Her husband was a veteran of World War II, where he served with the Navy Seabees. He was stationed on the island of Okinawa in the Pacific during one of the largest encounters.

Evans has been flying flags for the past 16 years. "Everywhere I have lived including Utah, North Dakota, Wyoming, and New Mexico I flew the U.S. and Texas flag. The Texas flag was not always appreciated in some states, but being a Texan, I flew it proudly," he remarked.

He stated that it was his way of demonstrating patriotism and displaying appreciation to all veterans who served. He is currently trying to locate a P.O.W. M.I.A. flag for special flight days. Its presence would instill the need for prayer and remembrance for those who never returned.

"Although the U.S. government has shown us our flaws lately, it is still the best country in the world to live in, and we do have hope for tomorrow," Evans stated.

The flag is 9.5 feet long and 5 feet wide and its red, white and blue beauty is enhanced as it waves in the bright blue sky. Mrs. Patton said, "I can see the flag from my breakfast table and I will enjoy it so."

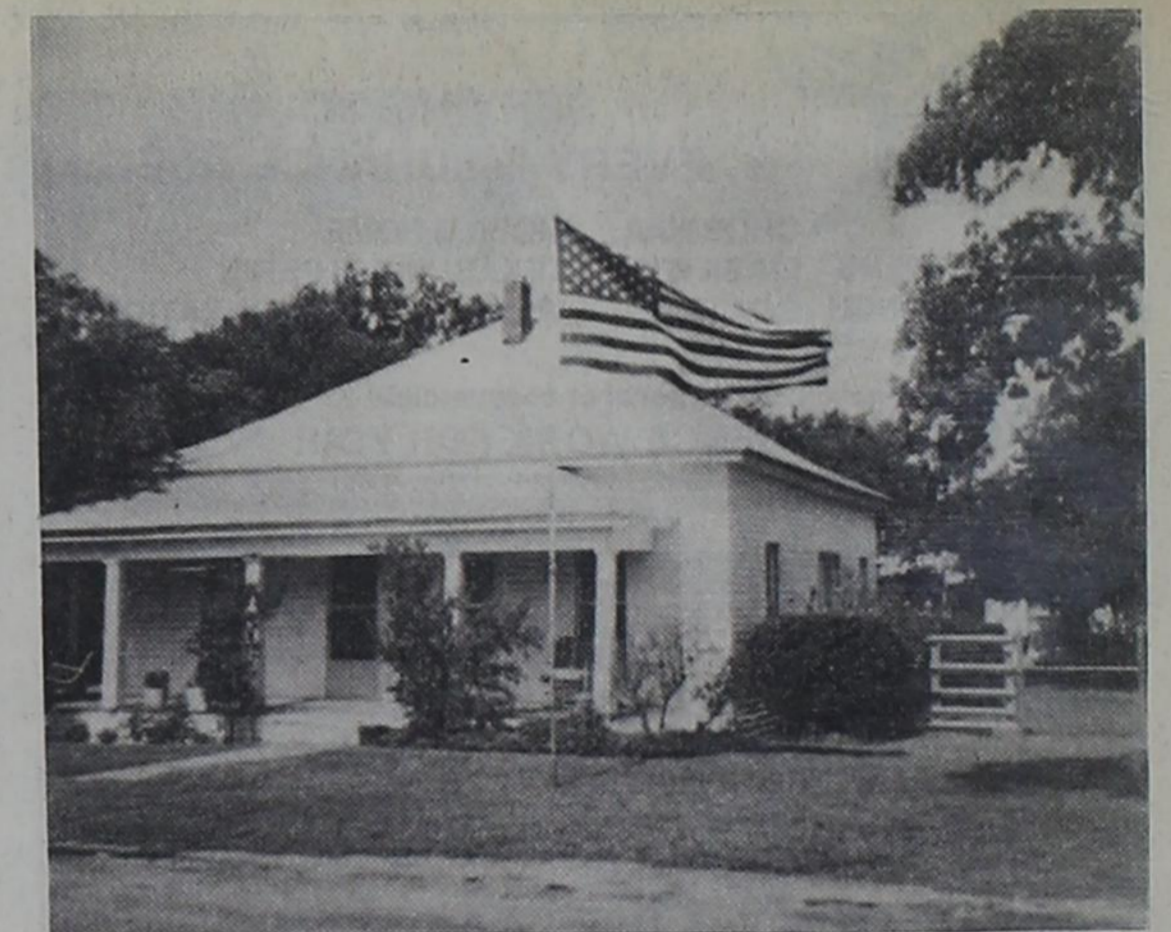

It is the hopes of both parties that the entire community will enjoy the view and feel the spirit of patriotism. You can see the flag at 10th and Avenue E, just west of the First Baptist Church.

Look up and recall our freedom and democracy. In a time of crisis such as experienced in Beijing, China, the privileges enjoyed by U.S. citizens become more valuable.

We cannot forget the cost of freedom nor neglect the responsibility to retain it. Get out your flags, if you have one, and display your love for your country.

PATRIOTISM IN FLIGHT — The huge United States flag proudly flies as a symbol of freedom and evidence of hope.

CJC Summer Enrollment

Cisco Junior College enrollment for the first summer semester has produced tremendous growth. Olin Odom, CJC Dean of Admissions and Registrar, says "enrollment is at 1,319 and is continuing to grow." Last summer enrollment totaled 886.

The biggest growth is at the Clyde campus which has 896 compared to 494 last summer. The Cisco campus almost doubled from 120 last year to 222 this year.

Dr. John Muller, CJC Dean of Students, says "a portion of this increase can be attributed to the requirements mandated by the Texas Academic Skills Program (TASP)."

Beside the Cisco and Clyde locations, CJC offers quality academic and vocational-technical in Abilene and Coleman.

Car Registration Office Closed June 15-16

The Car Registration Office located in the Department of Public Safety building will be closed Thursday and Friday, June 15 and 16.

Death Ruling Is Made

The Callahan County Sheriff's office has ruled that the death of a 20-year-old Clyde man was due to a self-inflicted gun shot wound.

Paul Anthony Anderson, 20, of Clyde, was discovered dead in his vehicle around 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, May 31 north of Clyde near FM 604. Anderson was a 1987 graduate of Clyde High School.

Callahan County Deputy Rod Waggoner said the man died from one gun shot wound to the chest from a .38 caliber revolver that was discovered at the scene. Waggoner and Deputy Randy Pancake were the investigating officers at the scene.

Waggoner said that along with the recovery of the weapon, officers discovered what appeared to be written letters to family members.

Sheriff Deputy Wayne Knowles stated Monday, June 5 that the death ruling was from a self-inflicted gun shot wound and that the case is now closed.

No autopsy was performed, Knowles said. Clyde Justice of the Peace Eston Shelnutt pronounced Anderson dead at the scene.

Rowden News

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

We have had rain, lots of rain, all during the week, which is good for pastures, fields and stock tanks.

Most of the grain in the community has been harvested and some fields were plowed this week.

Some from the community saw the tornado cloud that destroyed two mobile homes between Clyde and Baird Wednesday. We can feel for these families in their loss.

Thursday, on the KRBC news, Rex Andrews, the weatherman, showed a tape of Joyce Odom and this writer's aunt, Jewel Swanzy of Clyde. She was telling him of the 1950 Clyde tornado that took the lives of our parents and sister, Bert and Maude Tabor and Annie Mae Tabor. That storm was very destructive of all buildings on the Tabor place. A picture of Bert and Maude Tabor was shown on TV. This was a complete surprise to us in Rowden. We appreciate the interview as it was a reminder of their death 39 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Yarborough of Abilene visited in the Robert Watson home Wednesday.

Leigh Harrell will be in Abilene with her parents, Don and Maryanna Harrell. Leigh will be a flower girl in a wedding Saturday night.

Lots of company in the Gene Mauldin home over the weekend. Their daughter, Margie Brown, and her daughter, Cindy of San Antonio, and a second daughter, Patti Zwervener, her husband, Stanley, and their sons, Eric, Curtis, and Tye of Magnolia. Also, Roland and Faye Mauldin of Denton Valley.

Dorothy Reynolds sang at the funeral service of Maurine Nichols in Baird Friday. Jim Reynolds of Midland spent Friday night with his parents, James and Dorothy Reynolds. His family, Crecia and sons, Chris and Colby, were at the Jon Hardwick home in Baird.

Tuesday night the Callahan County Historical Commission, by invitation of Bill and Jane Coots, met for their regular meeting at the old Malby home place. Robert and Dorothy have become members, so this was their first meeting. About 30 people attended, touring the grounds and house. They also enjoyed a meal, but the business meeting was rained out. Jud Gilliland of Baird is head of the commission. Miller and Marion Scott also attended the meeting.

Dorothy Watson visited with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Thames of Fort Worth. They were in Ranger for the weekend.

Emma Johnson and Lizzie Burks had a visit with Emma's son, W.R. Johnson, during this week when he came back to Abilene to attend his high school class reunion at an Abilene motel. The school, St. Joseph Academy, does not exist now. This was the first reunion and all enjoyed being there. He brought a lovely bouquet of flowers to his mother and aunt. B.J. Anderson of Rising Star brought tapes by for Emma and Lizzie to enjoy. Ricky Kelly of Cross Plains was there to do some repair work on their yard gate and fence.

Edna Dye accompanied her sister-in-law, Mary Sayre of Breckenridge to Grand Prairie last weekend to attend graduation exercises for Mary's granddaughter, Katherine Sayre. A dinner was served by the Episcopal Church with a reception following the graduation service. Katherine graduated Summa Cum Laude and will be attending Texas Tech University this fall.

Vernie Belle Mauldin reported stormy conditions at their place last Sunday night. A hay barn roof was completely ripped off from wind and some trees in their yard uprooted. Roland Mauldin replaced the shed roof this week. Electricity has gone off at the N.V. Gibbs place tonight, June 10, and more rain.

CJC Announces Dean's List

SENIOR CITIZENS STATS

By LOIS VAUGHN

We are still enjoying pictures and talk about the trip to the H.E.B. Camp in Lakey and planning to go again this fall.

A group consisting of Vicky Worley, Fay Jackson, Ruby Harrell, Midge McCall, Glen and Lois Vaughn, John Paul Jackson, Nash Tucker, and Lois Crest went to Abilene to the Senior Resources Day. It was a fun day! Lunch was available for the amount you wanted to donate. There were free sugar and cholesterol tests and lots of things to see, including art. Lois Vaughn won 2nd place with a picture of chickens.

The Senior Citizens go out of town each Tuesday. Several have gone to the doctor, and we enjoy the ride and being together.

New State Budget Has Promising Bottom Line - Tax Cut And No New Taxes

By Governor Bill Clements

More than a year ago, Texans across our state became increasingly alarmed and dismayed when certain state officials suggested that state government impose a burdensome state income tax on Texas taxpayers.

Such a tax, these state officials reasoned, was the best way to overcome a projected billion-dollar-plus discrepancy between proposed state spending needs and the anticipated amount of revenue available for the two-year budget period starting September 1.

Texans, however, are unalterably opposed, as am I, to a state income tax. There are better ways - more responsible ways - to balance the state budget.

As Ecclesiastes tells us, "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose."

Indeed, for state budget writers, this has been a season of challenge. But with the leadership of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis, and guidance from Comptroller Bob Bullock, state lawmakers confronted the fiscal challenge head-on.

They deserve praise for making tough and courageous decisions in a time of profound economic change in Texas.

The new $47.4 billion dollar spending plan for the 1990-1991 fiscal years has crossed my desk for review.

During the first half of June, as allowed by the Texas Constitution, I will review the budget, line-by-line, in a diligent attempt to uncover unwise spending practices and ferret out waste. Still, one fact is clear: For the Texas taxpayer, this is a good-news budget because the bottom-line is no new taxes. In fact, the Texas budget includes a $560 million tax cut.

Here's why: Our economy is expanding, creating new jobs and new opportunity with each passing day. As a result, state revenues have increased significantly.

The 1990-1991 budget includes $3.2 billion in new revenue, partly because of economic expansion and partly because we settled more than $1.2 billion in contested tax lawsuits that have languished in state courts for years.

State Sen. Kent Caperton of Bryan and Representative James Hury of Galveston, working hand-in-hand with my office, deserve praise for their diligence in bringing these lawsuits to a close.

New taxes invariably stifle economic development and choke economic recovery. Consequently, lower taxes enhance growth and spur the creation of new jobs.

That's why, in my State of the Texas address last January, I urged the Texas Legislature not to renew a variety of temporary state taxes imposed two years ago in an effort to help weather the recession in Texas.

Sound fiscal policy and prudent public policy demands that the temporary taxes -- higher franchise taxes, added fees on professionals and a new surcharge on insurance premiums -- be allowed to expire.

For Texas taxpayers, it's a welcome change.

Consider this: * Not since the 1977 legislative session have state lawmakers approved any break in taxes. That year, the reduction amounted to half the current tax decrease when the Texas Legislature cut the state's inheritance tax and approved a residential tax exemption.

* The $560 million tax cut included in the 1990-1991 state budget is the largest single decrease in state taxes since World War II.

But make no mistake, while taxes are down, state spending is being increased significantly as we strive to improve public education, fortify our crime-fighting efforts and enhance health and human services.

Indeed, excluding federal funds, state spending will increase 14.7 percent over current levels.

Spending on public education will increase nearly 10 percent.

Money allocated for public safety and law enforcement will increase more than 20 percent, as will health and human services spending.

And, state employees will receive a 5-percent pay increase and a significant boost in state-paid health insurance benefits - their first meaningful pay raise since 1985.

Clearly, Texas has endured. The Texas Legislature has weathered the "season of challenge."

This much is certain: State revenues can be increased significantly through economic expansion and job growth and by operating state government in a business-like fashion.

We need look no further than the 1990-1991 budget for proof.

Together, we achieved a new era of budgetary reform and fiscal accountability that should be applauded by all Texans.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

First things first, this morning. It is raining beautifully this early Monday morning - something about which we never complain. I'll don my rain gear later on and go to the highway to pick up my Abilene paper.

My good neighbor, David, has shredded all my old garden area, all around the trees on my place and on their areas - it looks great and I'm grateful. I'm still picking up tree limbs since the recent windstorm.

I've enjoyed messages from some in-laws, Bob and Joy Dickson. They are in New Mexico, where they spend about five months every year - much cooler than their home in West Texas.

I had letters from my best friend in Abilene, also from my longtime friend, Lorena Settle in Archer City. She called me early on Sunday morning.

My son called me one day last week - they were in Eureka Springs, Arkansas at the time - I believe they went home on Sunday.

On Saturday, Betty Beggs and Mrs. Cleo Barton of Pioneer enjoyed shopping (and lunch) in Eastland and Cisco. The men-folk and some boys helped to haul some hay for L.W. Mitchell. Betty spent much of the weekend teaching art to her grandchildren.

The doctor told Sally Roady this week that she could start walking - but 'not too much'. They visited Ms. Nettie at the nursing home nearly every day. Cindy and Charlie came out to visit one day. N.A. Roady of Anson and Bob McNeil of Baird visited them on Sunday. Beverly Roady of the McDaniel community called the family this week.

Ms. Golda Houston of Austin came here on Saturday to visit her mother, Ms. Jewel Foster. She will go home sometime today.

David and Sara McGowen didn't answer their telephone this morning. I believe they both work - somewhere. I've missed talking to them for quite sometime.

My sister, Opal Cox, called this past week to remind me of the Family Reunion coming up soon. I talked to my other sister, Bernice at Cisco. She is getting around fairly well - she has 'almost' recovered from the bad fall she had recently.

Nell Fleming's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pavlov of Corpus Christi, spent the weekend with her. They left on Monday morning for Amarillo for other visits.

CJC Adult Education Course

Cisco Junior College will offer one Adult Education course this summer. Introduction to Spreadsheets - LOTUS 1-2-3 will meet on Tuesday nights from 6:30-9:30 p.m. beginning June 20. The class will meet June 20, 27; July 11, 25; August 1, 8. Class will not meet July 4 or 18.

The course is designed for those who have some computer knowledge. The course has almost limitless application for the participant. Students will learn to design a worksheet (electronic spreadsheet), enter data, develop formulas to do mathematical calculations and projections, edit and correct information, manipulate data for information evaluation and reports, graph and printing. Students completing the course will be awarded CEU's (continuing education units).

Instructor for the course is Rob Julien. Cost for the course is $43 which includes instructional materials. The class will meet in the Vocational-Technical I building in room 34. The class is limited to 15 students. Those wishing to enroll must register and pay in advance. Registration deadline for the course is June 15. For more information contact Charlotte Speegle at CJC, (817) 442-2567.

Weekly Health Tip

STROKE vs. POTASSIUM

A high dietary intake of potassium is related to a 40% decrease in the risk of death by stroke. This finding came from a 12-year study of 859 men and women, age 50 to 70 years. The high potassium intake appears to lower blood pressure, thus reducing the main risk factor for stroke. Green leafy veggies, whole grains, oranges, bananas, apricots are rich in potassium.

Your better health is our concern.

C.P. STUDENT REVIEW

CAMP BUDDIES — Dusty Hinkle (from left), Kyle Malone, Ben Childers, and Craig Rogers all participated in Mom and Me Campout.

MOTHER'S ASSISTANCE — Linda Malone and her son, Kyle, are preparing for an archery shot.

ARE YOU READY? — Ben Childers and his mom, Kim Childers, adjusting the arrow.

Mom And Me Campout And A Night To Remember

The BSA held their annual Mom and Me Campout Saturday, June 3. Four boys from Cross Plains Pack 281 attended the event at Camp Tonkawa with their moms. They were Ben and Kim Childers, Dusty and Janna Hinkle, Kyle and Linda Malone, and Craig and Carol Rogers.

The fun began Saturday at noon and included archery, BB shoot, leather work, silk screening, swimming, scavenger hunt, and many other learning activities.

After the big spaghetti supper, everyone gathered around the campfire for stories and singing. As it began to sprinkle a few of the moms and sons wandered to their tents. When it began to rain harder more left until everyone was in their tents. While most of the Big Country was at home watching weather bulletins and radar, the campers sat in their canvas tents watching the rain drip through and thunder and lightning grow closer and louder. With each wind gust came more anxiety. Each camper thought surely somebody would be along shortly if there was real danger, for the campers were approximately one mile from any shelter or vehicles.

The morning found them tired and wet. They arose to find the campers closer to their vehicles had left during the night, and all of Sunday's activities were canceled. After a breakfast of eggs, biscuits, and sausage gravy, the weather-worn campers were sent home.

Most Boy Scouts activities are designed to build memories of the scout's youth and family life.

This trip proved to be an experience the boys can look back on and learn from for the rest of their lives. Here's what they had to say about the trip.

By DUSTIN HINKLE

Once upon a time my mom and I went on a camping trip. When we got there we had to find our camping spot and when we were driving we got lost about 5 or 6 times and when we got to our camp site we put up our tent then we done some stufe for five hours then at night we ate some food then we went to sleep then when we where sleeping a thunder storm came then a nother storm came and it was lightning and thundering then it started blowing the tent and we where scerd then in the morning we took down the tent and we loaded up then we stared home. And when we where going home it started to rain then it stopped then we got home.

THE END

By CRAIG ROGERS

At the mom and me campout it rained out. I started to pout and then I passed out.

By BEN CHILDERS

At the Mom and Me Campout the Cub Scouts got to swim. The life guard gave us bouncing balls instead of beads for our belts. We tried to hit each other and played keep away with the balls. Then it was time to go. I left my T-shirt on the fence around the pool. The next morning when a staffer brought my shirt in he was dressed in a rain coat with heart-shaped glasses that had lights and wind shield wipers on them.

By KYLE MALONE

At the mom and me camp out one of the last thing we did was went swimming. That was my favorite. My less favorite was when I got stung twice by the bees in the bath room. I liked the stom too! Even if mom's don't.

BE CAREFUL ABOUT THOSE CAMPAIGN WORKERS!!

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I recently got a copy of your publication on contract labor and I was struck by the fact that none of the criteria mentioned there would seem to apply to individuals who have worked for us on past campaigns and will be working for us on the upcoming 1990 political campaigns. We have always treated temporary, paid campaign workers as contract labor and given them 1099 forms. If we are doing this wrong I sure need to know about it so I can correct our procedures.

— O.N.
Dallas, Tx.

Dear O.N.: The status of workers as employees or independent contractors is made on a case by case basis taking into account all factors in the working relationship. There is a legal presumption of EMPLOYMENT under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. If your organization directs and controls the workers in the performance of their work, then those workers are most likely employees...not independent contractors. You should contact your nearest TEC tax department for an assessment of your workers' status. If they are deemed to be employees, then your organization must report their wages and pay taxes upon those wages.

Dear Commissioner Nabers: After reading your column concerning an employer's obligation to authorize leave for a military reservist to attend reserve duty, I am wondering if this means that an employer has no right under any circumstance to deny leave requests or to terminate an employee whose leaves are excessive? This seems like an open invitation to abuse.

— N.E.
El Paso, Tx.

Dear N.E.: A recent case handed down by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, (Eidudonis v. Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority, CA 3, No. 88-1506, 5/3/89) stands for the proposition that a standard of reasonableness will be applied in judging an employer's duty in this area. The court's decision upheld the employer's right to fire a military reservist who took frequent and extended leaves for reserve duty. The court also ruled that the Veterans' Reemployment Rights Act does not authorize reservists to take leaves of unlimited duration.

In general, an employer must make reasonable accommodations for military leave, but need not grant every leave request, especially where the employee would "be absent from work for an extended period of time," (or) during periods of the employer's acute need, or when, in light of prior leaves, the requested leave is cumulatively burdensome."

The court majority cited several factors which should be

COMMISSIONER
Mary Scott
Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

considered in determining whether the employer's actions were reasonable:

- Difficulties the employer will have in carrying on its business without the employee.
- The ease or difficulty with which a substitute worker could be found.
- Special circumstances concerning the work load during the period for which leave is requested.
- The employer's policy on the duration, repetition, timing and notice for leaves for reserve duty and evidence that this policy has been clearly disseminated to all employees.

- Extent of additional costs incurred by the employer in accommodating request.

A note of caution is in order. The fact that an employer may incur some additional costs will not render the denial of leave reasonable.

Mary Scott Nabers represents all Texas employers. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 TEC Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Tx. 78778.

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Walking for a Healthy Heart

Every step you take can lead to a healthier heart.

An everyday activity such as walking can help condition your heart and lungs if it is done briskly for 20 to 30 minutes at least three times a week. Conditioning increases the oxygen available to the body and enables the heart to use oxygen more efficiently.

Lack of exercise has not been clearly established as a risk factor for heart disease, but it can lead to excess weight, which is a risk factor.

Vigorous exercise is not the miracle cure for heart disease. Major heart and blood vessel disease risk factors, such as high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol levels and cigarette smoking greatly reduce the benefits of exercise.

To lose weight, a person should consume the amount of calories needed to maintain a healthy desirable weight, and exercise regularly.

Check with your physician before beginning a vigorous, regular walking program.

A mall, the countryside, a neighborhood street or a park are among the many settings you can choose to help walk your way to a healthier heart. Select a place where you can maintain your exercise program year-round. A course with a smooth, soft surface is suggested for outdoor walking.

Bad weather doesn't have to interfere with your walking routine. A mall or indoor track at a school or recreation center are alternatives.

You don't have to walk alone. A partner may make walking more enjoyable and help you stick to the program. Your partner should be able to keep the same schedule and walk at the same pace as you.

Selecting the right shoes and clothing is important. Shoes should have thick, flexible soles. Layer your clothes in the winter. Cotton, fleeced-lined cotton, wool or breathable nylon are the best materials to wear.

Don't forget to wear warm socks, a sweatshirt with a hood or a hat, gloves and a turtle neck to keep all areas of the body covered. In the summer, wear cotton or other materials that will allow sweat to evaporate. When it's hot, drink plenty of water before, during and after your walk.

Set a pace for yourself and don't push yourself too hard when you start.

Once you get started, you'll be on the road to walking your way to a healthier heart.

THE PIONEER PATCHWORK

By IRMA MILLER

The Quilting Club was sparsely attended. Last week the Improved Nine Patch was finished with a Friendship installed in its place. At their business meeting, they discussed some necessarily imminent repair work on the building and needed maintenance.

Jean Fore's visitors were Paul and Juanita Harlowe and Marvin and Martha Watson and their grandsons, Gregg Watson and Tyson Burkett, all of Lovington, New Mexico. They came Wednesday and left at the weekend after they made a nice catch of fish and had a fish fry Friday night.

Oliver and Frankie Smith went to the Eaves Reunion on the weekend held at the Kendrick Pageant and Diorama, midway between Eastland and Cisco. Later they went to a very good voice rehearsal in which their granddaughter, Laufa Ann Rankin, performed at the United Methodist Church in Cisco.

Lottie Sooter's children, Don and his son, Tommy of Abilene, came bringing a friend, and helped Lottie with some work at her place. James and Jean Alexander attended a friend's, Leland Howell's, wedding in Abilene Saturday morning at the Hillcrest Church of Christ.

Last week's Patchwork was short an item in Jean Fore's trip. When Jean and Vi Harlowe of Marble Falls went to Alamogordo, New Mexico, they had an enjoyable visit with their sister, Bessie McDaniel.

Jim, Charlene, and Nell Fleming took Joe to Abilene Tuesday to get a new pacemaker inserted. He seems to be doing well. Jerry Fleming and family of McLean visited on the weekend. Monday morning, Sam Fleming of Cross Plains came to see how Joe was doing, and Monday afternoon, Irma Miller visited for a while. Wednesday morning, Sandra Overman of Andrews and a friend of Eastland came to visit.

Cancer Patients: Improving Their Lives

For many people, a side effect of cancer and its treatments can be loss of appetite and, as a result, malnutrition and weight loss.

Doctors have a number of ways to help restore their cancer patients' appetites.

Fortunately, doctors can help manage this problem with proper diet, including avoiding foods that give the patient a feeling of being full; and medications such as Marinol, a cannabinoid that can stimulate appetite in many cancer patients.

Studies found cannabinoids may "significantly improve appetite and weight gain," reports Dr. Monica Buckley Spaulding, Chief Oncologist at the Buffalo Veterans Administration Medical Center, Buffalo, New York. Small meals, given frequently in pleasant surroundings, may also help.

However it's done, improving the appetites of people with cancer can help them have the strength they need to fight the disease.

PLUS Loans Provide Parents With Funds For Children's Education

Looking for money to help pay for your children's college education? Federally sponsored PLUS loans may be worth exploring, according to the Student Loan Marketing Association (Sallie Mae). Under PLUS, parents at all income levels may borrow up to $4,000 a year, to a total of $20,000, for each child. Payments generally can be deferred while students are in school, and no collateral is required. Interest rates are variable and may not exceed 12 percent. Additional information on PLUS loans can be obtained from local lenders.

MRS. STUART BARRACLOUGH

Newton-BarracloUGH United In Marriage June 10

Angela Jan Newton and Stuart Anderson BarracloUGH were united in marriage Saturday, June 10, at 5 p.m. in The First Baptist Church, Stephenville. The Rev. Emil Becker of Stephenville officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Newton of Stephenville and the granddaughter of Mrs. Maurine McCuin of Cross Plains. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald BarracloUGH of Stonehouse, Scotland and the grandson of Mr. William Anderson of Larkhall, Scotland and Mrs. Mabel Driscoll of Manchester, England.

Mrs. Ann Olsom of Eastland, cousin of the bride, and her daughter, Gardner, registered the guests and presented them with photographs of the bride.

Guests were escorted into the church by Mr. Jay McCuin, uncle of the bride of Austin, and the groomsmen.

Mauve satin roses, accented by greenery and heather, in the midst of large mauve bows adorned the church pews. At the altar, English ivy entwined seven brass spiral and pyramidal candelabra which held white tapers and were accented with mauve satin roses and bows. Two large floral arrangements of white gladioli and six baskets of ferns with candle centerpieces framed the setting.

Classical selections were played by the organist, David Quinn, as the guests were seated. As Jay McCuin and Jon Newton of Stephenville, brother of the bride, lit the candles, Mr. Quinn played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." As the Bach piece continued, the mothers were escorted in to light the unity candles placed at the base of the altar.

The bride's mother wore a tea-length seafoam crystalline imiri dress by George F. Contour. The groom's mother chose a pansy blue tea-length dress of crepe de chene designed in London. They wore courages of wedding roses.

Mr. Gerre Joiner of Stephenville, accompanied by pianist Mrs. Jo Joiner, sang "In This Very Room" prior to the entrance of the wedding party.

The groom and groomsmen entered the sanctuary to Mouret's "Sinfonies de Fanfares: Rondeau." Best man was David BarracloUGH, brother of the groom of Stonehouse, Scotland. Groomsmen were Andrew Osborne of Vail, Colorado and Jon Newton. They were attired in black Christian Dior tuxedos with matching accessories and wore boutonnières of wedding roses. The groom wore a Dior black tailcoat with black and white accessories and a white wedding rose boutonniere.

As they took their place at the foot of the altar, the bride's attendants entered to Purcell's "Trumpet Tune." Gina Eckert of Boulder, Colorado served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cynde Williams of Denver, Colorado and Mrs. Belinda Russell of Amarillo.

The attendants wore tea-length Bianchi dresses of mauve file taffeta with a dropped shoulder sleeve and basque waistline. Three bows adorned the v-shaped back. The attendants carried bouquets of calla-lilies, stargazer lilies, English ivy, and asparagus ferns.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride entered the sanctuary to Purcell's "Trumpet Tune."

She wore an organza designer gown by Ellis of London. The dropped-shoulder bodice had full ballroom sleeves of organza that were fitted by an embroidered band accented with iridescents and seed pearls. The full organza skirt fell from a pearl-embellished basque waistline and was caught at the back by a soft candy-box bow, also adorned with seed pearls and iridescents. The chapel train softly swept the floor. The bride's waist-length veil of illusion gathered at the crown into a small pouf and was attached to a delicate band of silk flowers, iridescents and pearl tendrils. She carried a cascade bouquet of calla-lilies, stephanotis, wedding rose, and needle-point English ivy.

The bride wore a cameo worn by her grandmother in her wedding and borrowed from her aunt. She wore two garters: a blue one handmade by Mrs. Joe Lane, the bride's aunt, and a tartan garter given to her by the groom's mother. She carried a sixpence in her shoe, given to her by the groom.

After the couple exchanged vows, Mr. Joiner sang "The Lord's Prayer." Rev. Becker pronounced the couple husband and wife and they descended the steps to light the unity candle, as Mrs. Joiner played "Morning Has Broken."

The bridal party left the church to the strains of "Allegro Maestoso" from Handel's "Water Music Suite."

A reception honoring the couple was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's and groom's tables, as well as the punch table, were backed by white lattice screens decorated with draped tulle and mauve satin roses. The bride's table was attended by Mrs. Dennis Shumard of Eastland, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Joe Lane, the bride's aunt. Mauve satin bows highlighted the corners of the satin draped table. The 4-tiered white wedding cake was accented with sterling silver roses and greenery. Punch was served from a silver bowl.

The groom's table was attended by Mrs. Wesley Milam of Lubbock and Mrs. Pat Leatherwood of Dublin, both cousins of the bride. It was covered by an emerald cloth and adorned with bows made with the groom's family tartan from his native Scotland. The groom's chocolate 3-tiered cake was covered with frosted grapes and strawberries. Chocolate-covered almonds and pecans were served from silver trays and coffee was served from a silver service.

An assortment of light and savory hors d'oeuvres were served from a white satin draped table.

Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. L.F. Newton of Eastland, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Jim Weatherby, Mrs. David Trice, Mrs. Carey Eaves, Mrs. Gary Batte, and Mrs. Herschel Garner, all of Stephenville.

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Texas A&M University and has been involved in the hotel and tourism business in Colorado and Massachusetts since graduation.

The groom attended Motherwell
