A CHECKING ACCOUNT WITH THIS BANK IS A BUSINESS RECOMMENDATION

One of the best business recommendations you can give to any business concern in this community is the fact that you have a checking account in this bank. They know that we do not carry accounts unless they are sponsored by responsible men.

Better get this recommendation behind your name as quickly as possible.

CRUDE OIL TO TAKE BIG HIKE IN PRICE

Usually interesting to the numbers of Cross Plains, Pioneer and Rising Star people, many of whom had never witnessed a real match before.

The pros made several long drives, placing the ball near the green, in a single shot. Several poor approach shots and bad putts, however, gave them a poor score, the Sweetwater pro's winning by one stroke, making the course in 41.

WEEK OF INTERESTING PROGRAMS MARK CLOSING OF SCHOOLS

Friday of this week will mark the closing day of the present successful term of the Cross Plains schools.

The Baccalaureate address to the Senior graduating class of the High School and a crowded auditorium, was delivered by Dr. Godbold of Howard Payne College, Sunday night. The entire address was a notable outburst of his usual able, interesting and impressive character.

LIONS CLUB TO HAVE PICNIC TUESDAY

The Rising Star Lions Club sponsored a basket picnic at the lake last week and those present reported a wonderful time. The Cross Plains Club is copying a bit and will hold their meeting at 6 o'clock at the lake next Tuesday, instead of having their regular mid-day luncheon. Ladies will be present together with members of the Rising Star Club to whom an invitation to join them has been sent. Plenty of fun and entertainment is promised, in as much as the candidate for office for the ensuing year will announce their platforms and deliver their campaign speeches. Lion Sam Barr, candidate for president, has announced as desirous of starting an organization known as "Sons of Rest." His opponent, Paul V. Harrell has for his platform, the national adoption of the "daylight saving plan." M. E.

The price of crude oil, covering a scope which includes the Cross Plains fields, was forecasted to advance, to an unexpectedly higher price, the first of this week.

This sudden increase in price of crude will no doubt hasten the "coming back" of the deep oil industry in this part of the country, which had given way to the vigorous search and development of the shallow pay during the past two years.

Tuesday's Star-Telegram report on the scheduled advance in price, covering the territory affected and the various grades of oil, follows:

Upward adjustments of Gulf Coastal, West Texas Permian Basin and Panhandle crude were expected by oil men to follow an increase of from 17 to 41 cents per barrel in the price of Mid-continent grade crudes, which include North and Central Texas, Monday.

The increase was posted by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which had previously advised discontinuance of production in Oklahoma. Its adoption by other purchasers, was considered a foregone conclusion. Prairie's raise did not include the heavier Texas oil, and most purchasers of those grades were expected to wait on the schedule of the Humble, which is the largest purchaser of these grades. With a production of crude oil in Texas near the 800,000-barrel per day mark, the increase will make a huge gain in the income of Texas oil producers and royalty owners.

LESSER INCREASE MADE
The Prairie's raise on the average grade of Midcontinent crude was 25 cents. A lesser increase was made in some of the lower grades through change in base gravity and slight difference in spread.

Through use of a 5-cent per barrel "spread" for each difference of one degree in gravity, the higher gravities were increased proportionately higher. The old schedule had 3-cent "spread" for the higher gravities.

The increase in the average grade in the East Central Texas district was about 25 cents, while the average grade in the Wichita Falls and part of the Cisco district was about 21 cents.

OLD PRICES AND NEW
The old prices and the new, and the difference, follows:

Grade	New Price	Old Price	Increase

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES BUILD SUBSTATION HERE

In order to provide two-way or loop line service Cross Plains, Burkett, Rising Star, Pioneer and oil fields in this district and to take care of more power load, the West Texas Utilities Company is constructing 31 miles of 66 kv. line from Cross Plains through Burkett to Santa Anna.

To complete and operate the extension, the company will build a steel latticed 66 kv substation at Cross Plains and will equip the Santa Anna substation for 66 kv lines.

The new line will connect with the Ballinger, Talpa, Valera and Santa Anna transmission line.

Wakefield, has selected Rev. A. E. Hill as his campaign manager for third vice-president in hope that this will pull him all the Baptist votes. He is expected to give his opponent, T. S. Holden, a stiff fight for the office who has heretofore regarded his opposition as unimportant.

BIG DAIRY YEAR

It looks to us like a big year for all dairy products, and we hope that producers of such products will not hesitate to discuss their progress with us, if we can be of any help.

The market should be high enough to insure a lively profit for the dairyman who watches his step. His success will, of course, help our entire community.

All teachers composing the faculty of the Cross Plains Public Schools for the 1929-1930 term, except two, principal of the High School and one primary teacher in the grammar school, have been selected by the board of directors and have given notice of their acceptance. ### TELLS OF EARLY NEWSPAPER DAYS

(Comanche Chief)

The first Devil (appellation derived from name of first apprentice printer who learned the trade in the United States, Charlie Deval) ever to apply his trade in Texas, west of Waco and Fort Worth is in Comanche busy at work, but not with his proverbial pitch fork, driving souls toward the eternal lake of fire and brimstone, for he is none other than one of Comanche's most respected citizens, Jim D. Nabers, who has followed other occupations since he quit the job as Devil for the Chief 50 Years ago.

Mr. Nabers who helped get out first edition of the Chief in 1873 and worked continuously at setting type for it the next few years tells an interesting story about the early days of this pioneer newspaper.

"It was the only paper in all this section of Texas west of Waco and Ft. Worth" he said, "and when G. A. Beeman brought the equipment in an ox wagon to Comanche, people gathered around to get their first view of a printing press, and the next week when the first edition of the Chief was run off dozens of people crowded into the frame structure on the north side of the square where S. P. Smith's Drug Store now stands to see it in operation.

"I was fifteen years of age at the time and had never seen a press before, but the first day the work started the machinery was installed I was in the office with a printer's stick at a salary of $15 per month. Within a short time I was doing most of the mechanical work at the shop and often set up almost the whole paper and got it out by myself.

"The Chief was popular from the start and we soon had a thousand subscribers, although there were only a dozen or so business houses in town and almost every other one of these was a saloon. People of Comanche and Comanche county were not the only subscribers, but the paper enjoyed a large circulation all over West Texas.

"G. A. Beeman, the editor, was always a booster for Comanche, and hundreds of settlers were drawn to the county through the publicity given through our paper.

"One of these boosting editions gave me the greatest scare I had while working in the shop. Mr. Beeman in telling of the good features of the county mentioned that Indians had been completely driven from the county. A few months afterward a gentleman from Arkansas, rushed into the Chief office wearing a pistol, and carrying a shot gun looking for the man that had written the article and loudly proclaiming that he had been induced by the story to come to Comanche and that the very first night his mules had been stolen by Indians.

"It was with difficulty that I could persuade him that I had not written the article but was only the devil about the shop. About that time Mr. Beeman, who was down under the old Washington Press attempting to make some repairs, emerged into sight and the gentleman correctly guessing that he was the Editor turned his wrath from me. I carefully worked my way to the front and got a six shooter, preparing to come to Mr. Beeman's assistance, but soon saw that the situation was being handled nicely and before the "Arkansawyer" left the office, he was not only in a good humor but had left a five dollar advertisement with the Editor for the lost mules.

"Thrilling experiences in the Chief office in those days were not uncommon, and as we worked we always kept firearms handy. During the second year, the Chief was located on the east side almost where the office now is, and it was here that I had my narrowest escape.

"Mathis' Saloon stood on the corner where Garner-Alvis Co. is now located and one afternoon while I was busy operating the hand press I heard someone from the saloon yell 'I am on you bigger than a wolf.' Shooting began almost immediately and a duel took place on the square between Mathis, owner of the Saloon, and a Mr. Clark from Cera. The Chief office door was almost in a direct path from Mathis' shot gun and lead was scattered all around me. In the thick of the fight, Clark ran into the Chief office and Mathis aimed point blank at him as he reached the door, but the gun snapped and probably saved the life of the printers devil. Going out at the back end of the Chief office, Clark renewed the battle with the son of Mathis who emerged from the rear of the saloon. Flesh wounds were the only damages suffered in the fight.

"Another scare came to me in a few months later when I was in the shop alone when the John Wesley Harden Gang prepared for a fight at the rear of the building, stopping just outside to load their guns and winchesters and locating Deputy Sheriff Webb of Brown County, whom they killed a few minutes later in a saloon where the First National Bank building now stands.

"I was also working in the Chief Office when the only bank robbery ever staged in Comanche occurred. This happened on the east side of the square in the only rock building on the street within a short distance of the shop, and I saw the bandits gallop away as they mounted their horses which had been tied to some post oak trees on the lot where the post office building now stands.

"Those were stirring days less than ten years after the close of the Civil War and Comanche was then a frontier town in marked contrast to the peaceful little city of schools, churches, and industry which we now enjoy. I feel that the Chief played an important part in Comanche's and the county's development and I am glad that I did my bit in getting this pioneer newspaper of West Texas started." Mr. Nabers concluded.

Mr. Coolidge has again broken precedent by helping us remember that there are two living ex-Presidents.

A San Diego aviator was arrested for flying too low, but most of the rest of us are arrested for flying too high.

Temple of Warriors Rebuilt in Jungle
Washington.—The task of rebuilding the great ruin of the Temple of the Warriors in the city of Chichen Itza has at last been completed, as far as modern science can make the fallen stones stand again in their rightful places. This is the message which Earl Morris, in charge of the excavations at Chichen Itza for the Carnegie institution of Washington, has brought to the institution on his return from Yucatan.
The Temple of the Warriors, reclaimed from the tropical jungle, stands again on its pyramid of four receding stone terraces. The stone altar, once used for human sacrifice, has been restored.
The project of restoring the temple became extremely complicated when Mr. Morris discovered traces of another, older temple beneath the ruins. The Warriors temple is believed to date from about 1200 A. D.
Paintings found during the last season are a valuable addition to old American art.

Vegetable Sales Loss Laid to Boyish Figure
Chicago.—The publicized theory of theatrical producers that the ideal feminine figure should have a boyish slimmness has done "almost irreparable harm" to certain branches of the vegetable industry, E. S. Briggs, manager of the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' association, declared at the annual convention.
Since the "boyish figure" idea has been picked up from professional exploiters of feminine pulchritude, "the potato and rice market has been glutted, due to the fact that everyone avoided starchy foods in the infatuation of slenderness," Briggs said.

Shy on Bathtubs
Washington.—One-third of homes surveyed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs had no bathtubs; one-fifth had no kitchen sinks. The federation's deduction is that the home is lagging far behind the progress in every other field of American life.

New Yorkers' Baby Born as Citizen of Turkey
Constantinople.—The first American to be born a Turk is Rudolf Riefstahl, Jr., whose parents are from New York. The baby was born in the American hospital here and was claimed by a Turkish government as a Turkish citizen under a new law.
That law provides that the children of foreigners born in Turkey shall be Turkish citizens although on reaching their majority they may elect the nationality of their parents. In that case, however, they must quit Turkey forever.
Prof. Rudolf Riefstahl is professor of Moslem art in New York university. He is a visiting professor in the American college here. Mrs. Riefstahl teaches art in the American College for Women in Constantinople.

BLIND SINCE BIRTH WOMAN, 48, SEES

Blind since birth—48 years—Mrs. Betty Ann Wagoner can now see out of her right eye. In a few days surgeons at Charity hospital, New Orleans, will remove the bandages from her left eye. If the operation on her left eye is as successful as that on the right, the almost miraculous achievement of restoring a totally blind person to full sight will have been completed.
But whether success or failure results from the operation on her left eye, Mrs. Wagoner is happy beyond words. She can now see the birds whose songs she loved. She can see the beauty of landscapes and what were to her the unbelievable inventions that represent the genius of man.— But above all, her first desire was to see her son, who is now 19 years old. She thrills at the thought of seeing him within a few days. Her husband has been dead many years. "I stand now at my window in this hospital," she said, "and see people walking back and forth along the sidewalks. I see automobiles and street cars. I see smoke coming from the chimneys. Oh, how wonderful it all is!"

"And when my son learns that I can now see him he will fly to me. What a wonderful thing it will be to see the face of my son. I can hardly wait!"
When first the light came into her long-dead eyes, Mrs. Wagoner began asking questions that only those youngsters still in swaddling clothes can ask. Her nurse was her instructor that first day she went to the window after the sight in her right eye had been restored. "What's that long-pointed thing over there?" she asked the nurse. She was told it was a church spire. Small things she had felt and had explained to her, she knew upon regaining her sight. But the big things were the things of which she was entirely ignorant.

Out of habit over the long years, Mrs. Wagoner, though able to see plainly out of the right eye, still touches people who come to see her and passes her hand over things as if to identify them by the sense of touch.
She was born in Montgomery, Ala.—blind at birth. After she married she went to Colfax, La., to live. Five months ago she became ill. It was the first time in her life she had not enjoyed good health. She went to New Orleans for treatment at Charity hospital. Hospital doctors who examined her saw the possibility of restoring her sight. Their examination revealed to them that the muscles of the eyes probably had not atrophied from the years of disuse. So, without holding out to her any guarantee that they would succeed, they told Mrs. Wagoner that if she wished to undergo the operation they might be able to restore her sight.

Mrs. Wagoner consented. The operation was performed.
Several days ago the time had arrived for removing the bandage from the eye that had been operated upon. She will go almost into hysteria as she tells you how she feels when that bandage was removed.
"My doctor! Redeemer of my sight!" she exclaimed. "There he stood before me. I could see him plainly. I cannot tell you just how I felt. My heart alone could tell you if you could but read what's there.

He was the first human being I saw. And to me he was like someone sanctified, sent by God to save me from everlasting blindness."
Aside from her wish to see her son, her next greatest desire is to learn to read.

PIERCE AND HOLLAND TO PENITENTIARY

J. D. Pierce and Harley Holland, who have been in the Comanche county jail last July were taken to the State prison at Huntsville last week to begin serving life sentences which were assessed against them August 11, 1928 when a jury found them guilty of an alleged criminal assault on Miss Velma Bankhead near DeLeon, July of last year. The cases were recently confirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The companion case against Dick Hazzard, who was given a death sentence by the jury, later given a new trial by the Court of Criminal Appeals, was scheduled to be tried at Comanche this week. He applied for a writ of habeas corpus pending the retrial, but was denied bail.

HEARDS HIS SHEEP IN $20,000 THEATRE

The rattlesnake and lizard keep the halls where citizens of Grube, Texas, once gloried and drank deep. The $20,000 theatre is to become a sheep and goat shed and other building of the town will be used for similar purposes.

Grube was a boom town and at one time was expected to rival Ranger and other oil cities. When the rich gushers of the Yates pool came in, Grube appeared almost overnight with a school, several restaurants, a 30-room hotel and a number of other buildings. The town lacked the staying power of the gushers, however, and its population disappeared almost as rapidly as it had appeared.

The brick theatre almost was completed when the receding tide of population swept from under the town. Today Grube is deserted. The oil men, bootleggers and other camp followers are gone and the ripple of the Pecos River flowing by the town is the only sound to be heard.

George Thompson, who owned the land, obtained a court decree last week recovering the property and all buildings on it not covered by mortgages.

He is the only sheepman who can herd his flock in a $20,000 showhouse.

Mrs. M. E. Anderson of Bronson, Kan., is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Holeman, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sims of Santa Anna visited with their sons, Clyde and Moulton, here Sunday.

Chas. Hemphill left last Friday for St. Paul, Minn., where he goes as a representative of the Abilene district to the General Presbyterian Assembly. Mrs. Hemphill and children are visiting with relatives at Gainesville.

You can put a hundred million dollars in jail, but you can't find out how much freedom he is allowed after he gets in.

Greater Productive Efficiency!

LOWER cost—greater productive efficiency. These are vital factors to the manufacturer who is planning to move his factory away from congested centers of population.

—Widespread power distribution and improved transportation facilities have fitted the smaller cities and towns for industrial purposes. Where living costs are lower, a lower wage scale is as effective as high wages in the large cities. Where living conditions are pleasant and home owning within the reach of moderate incomes, workers are conservative, productive, permanent. Where getting to and from work is unhurried and uncongested, valuable human energy is conserved.

THE cities and towns of West Texas have all these advantages to offer. With its 70,000 horsepower of electricity available, its three great generating stations and 15 auxiliary plants, this company insures industries abundant uninterrupted service, similar to that enjoyed in the great metropolitan cities.

NEW LAW PROHIBITS TROT LINE FISHING

Following the passage of a very few more ridiculous game and fish laws the people of Texas who care to pursue that line of sport with any degree of freedom, or in a manner suitable to the joys of the old time custom, it will be necessary that they go beyond the twelve mile limit in the Gulf of Mexico. The latest ban, and one which applies to the favorite camp-fishing streams frequented by the people of Cross Plains and this section prohibits the use of a trot line, or any other line bearing more than two hooks. According to the new law, passed at the regular session of the legislature and appended with the emergency clause, this manner of fishing is prohibited in the counties of McCulloch, Mason, San Baba and Llano. Menard and Brown counties are not included and a peculiar situation exists as to fishing in the Colorado as this stream is the dividing line between Brown and McCulloch. According to a ruling of the State game and fish commission the center of the stream is the dividing line between the counties and trot lines may be used with freedom on the Brown county side. The following is a copy of the law passed by the regular session of the Legislature: Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas: SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to fish for, take, or attempt to catch any fish in the fresh waters of Gillespie, Blanco, Kendall, Kerr, Llano, Mason, San Saba, McCulloch, Kimble counties, Texas, by means or device other than ordinary hook and line, set line, or throw line equipped with not more than two hooks. Provided it shall be lawful to fish with a dowagiac or other artificial bait equipped with more than two hooks, and provided a person may use a minnow seine of not more than twenty feet in length for catching bait. Possession of any tackle, not authorized by this Act, within two hundred yards of any stream, lake or other fresh waters in the counties named herein shall be prima facie evidence of intention to violate this

Act. SECTION 2. Any person violating any provision of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in a sum of not less than fifteen ($15.00) dollars nor more than fifty ($50.00) dollars. Geraldine Gaines, of the Cross Cut Grammar school, was Salutatorian of her class, and W. B. Cowan Bryant Jr., was Valedictorian. The way Hoover is going after crime maybe his experience in England won't go so badly against this country after all. Mr. Webster defined poetry when he wrote his dictionary, but that's about as near as anybody ever got telling what it is. Putting a multi-millionaire in jail may be a boon to the cause of democracy, but his income that accumulates while he can't get out and spend it creates a greater problem than his freedom. COMANCHE HIGHWAY
VIA CROSS PLAINS

A designation for a state highway from Comanche to Rising Star by the way of Sipe Springs will be asked for at the next meeting of the highway Commission on May 24th, according to T. J. Williams, Chairman of Road Committee of Chamber of Commerce, the only condition of the project being the securing of the road from Rising Star to the Comanche county line.

For years an effort has been made to secure the designation of highway from Abilene through Baird, Cross Plains, Rising Star, Comanche, Hamilton and on through Gatesville to Temple.

Portions of the road are already designated and other portions being maintained by State Highway Department.

Under contemplated road plan Callahan county will build a road from Baird to the county line at Cross Plains and already the road from the Callahan County line to Rising Star is a State maintained highway. From Comanche to Hamilton is a State maintained highway and tentative designation has been made from Gatesville to Temple, one of two remaining gaps being from Rising Star to Comanche.

The new designated road is one of importance connecting Abilene and the plains section to the black land belt with a much shorter route than any in this section.

A committee consisting of T. J. Williams, N. N. Durham, Wm. C. Chifton, M. Coleman and J. R. Eanes were in Rising Star Wednesday to confer with citizens there of getting the Eastland county portion of the road in shape for State designation. Members of this committee report keen interest on the part of Rising Star and Cross Plains people.

Surveying Starts East on No. 10.

Work of preparing the plans and survey of Highway No. 10 from Comanche to the Erath County line was begun Wednesday morning when Engineers Meeker and Roody from the State Highway Offices at Waco joined County Engineer J. G. Irby and the actual surveying of the new road was begun.

The work was started at a point where the present Dublin road crosses the Frisco some three miles east of Comanche as for the present the new road will use present one from that point to the City limits of Comanche.

Mr. Irby when interviewed said that it was his desire to have said details of the plans completed in time for the contract for this work to be let at the June meeting of the Highway Commission and stated that he expected to use every effort to speed this work toward that end.

CHANGED TO "STATE FAIR OF TEXAS"

Newspaper editors of Texas have been specially requested by Paul Jones, publicity director, to note in future references to the occasion that the Dallas Fair has been changed to the "State Fair of Texas." The officers and directors are planning to make for this year the biggest fair in the history of the State, and express appreciation of the co-operation of the press, which has always been given, in making it such. Dates for the fair this fall have been announced from Oct. 12 to 27, inclusive.

Cross Plains will probably be included in the more than 200 bands from various sections of the State who are expected to be entered in the $10,000 band contest during the fair. Two new rides, the Lindy-Loop and the Dungeon Railroad, are features that will be added to the permanent amusement area. More than one-half of the 254 counties of Texas were represented in the agricultural exhibits of the 1928 fair, and it is expected that more than that number will exhibit at the 1929 exposition.

A BOY'S ESSAY ON PANTS.

Pants are made for men and not for woman. Women are made for men and not for pants! When a man pants for a woman and a woman pants for man, that makes a pair of pants. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold weather. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us that when you wear pants it is plural, and when you can't wear them it is singular. If you want to make pants last, make the coat first.—Exchange.

Beware of the fellow who wants to "help the town" by selling you block of his stock. Ask him first to buy a share in the town's stock.

WEDDING ROMANCE BEGINS WITH A BIG CHASE

The Review received this week the following clipping from the Roscoe newspaper, announcing the marriage of Mr. Golden Bennett and Miss Iona Hastings. The groom is a son of Mrs. R. W. Bennett, who formerly lived at Cottonwood, but recently moved to Roscoe:

The marriage of Mr. Golden Bennett and Miss Iona Hastings was solemnized on Saturday night, May 4, at the M. E. parsonage, by Rev. Norwood.

The couple immediately left for Abilene in a big rush as it had been heard, "we'll get you" which had become the cry of a group who were planning to shivaree the couple.

When the news reached the shivareeing body that the couple had escaped after being married, they were very much disappointed and were not satisfied with the deal. So Sunday afternoon the couple returned to Roscoe, thinking they had completely won the victory.

As they drove into Roscoe they were somewhat surprised. They could see bunches gather here and there to plot against them. While trying to decide what to do and where to go, Homer Bennett and Homer Hastings stepped on the running board to park to the curb. When this order was obeyed, the couple persuaded the boys to let them go to church. This wish was granted that the boys might get their gang together.

While the boys were out looking for the rest of their gang, church was dismissed and the couple stepped into E. E. Mathis' car and he drove them to safety.

Now the real chase was on as Mrs. Homer Hastings stepped into the Mathis car during the excitement at the church. However she was dropped off at J. H. Hastings against her will. Their next stop was at Joe Rowlands' at Inadue, their next stop was back to J. H. Hastings where the couple was dropped off some distance from the house as the gang was thought to be close on their trail.

E. E. Mathis and his family journeyed on home to have their house searched by the bunch. The shivareeing body was told that a bus had been met headed for Snyder. This was enough said for the body of shivareers were off for Snyder at 1 o'clock a. m., to be surprisingly disappointed. They returned to Roscoe at five a. m.

On the following night cake and cream was served to the newly weds and their friends and relatives as a treat for getting away two nights in succession.
