There are six wells drilling in the new field west of town, one new location. Hill & West have new location on Waller lease. Shaw & Rothke are drilling in on Miller No. 1 with nice showing, but will shoot it is stated.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company on Gray ranch completed 75 barrel well. Andy Gump Oil Co. have location for Tom Lee No. 2 west of town.

The Milham Oil Corporation is reported drilling at around 1950 feet.

In Cross Cut section the P. O. & G. have finished 60 barrel well on east Westerman lease. The Title Oil Co. on E. W. Arledge No. 1 drilling in with nice showing. L. G. Bradstreet is also drilling in with good showing on his A. F. Willis No. 4.

Activities in the local fields have slowed down on the low market, but things will pick up here in a hurry when the market gets stronger.

GIRL BASKETEERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

The high school basketeers won the county championship at the Interscholastic meet at Clyde last Saturday. They have not been defeated in County this year.

We failed to get detailed report of other winners of the meet for publication this week, but will report in full next week. Watch the Review.

BANDITS ROB BANK AT OVALO SATURDAY

Saturday about 11 o'clock, two unmasked bandits, robbed the bank at Ovalo, in Taylor County, and escaped heading toward Cross Plains. Local officers and citizens joined in the man hunt which continued throughout Sunday, but the bandits were not captured, altho their car was found which they deserted in a mud hole a few miles northwest of town. Four thousand dollars was secured in the robbery.

FAST BOUT FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

The American Legion Post here will stage another fast bout here Friday night between two noted grapplers. Billy Dixon of Cross Plains meets Pat Flinn of Dallas, at the Derington garage building. Both men are rated high. Flinn weighs 172 and Dixon 169. This is expected to be one of the best matches ever put on here. There will be several fast preliminaries featured. Better get your seat now. Tickets on sale at Robertson's Drug Store.

Dixon's friends are strong for him and he is gaining popularity among mat fans. But Flinn is also a mat artist and has strong record behind him as well as Dixon.

TWO IN RACE FOR CITY ALDERMAN

The names of A. C. Dodson and Geo. Cunningham have been placed on the ticket by friends, as candidates for City Councilmen. There is only one vacancy to be filled in the City Council. Dee Little's term expires on April 1st, and he is not a candidate for re-election. It is understood that either Mr. Dodson or Mr. Cunningham will serve if elected. Both are prominent business men and are conversant with the affairs of the City.

It is hoped that a representative vote is cast. Vote for your choice— but vote!

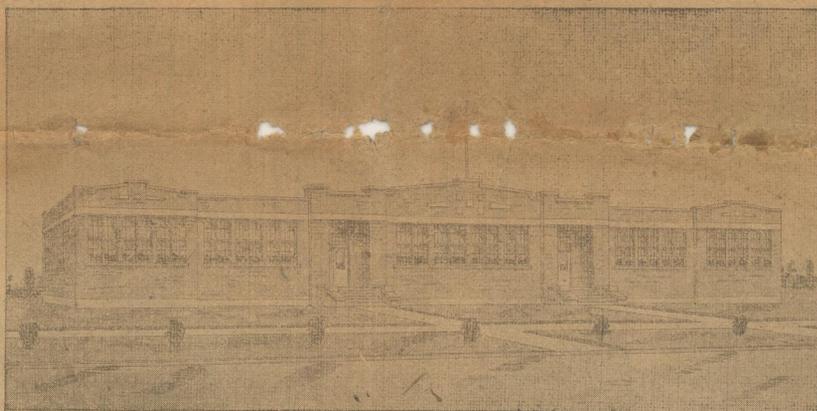

P. W. Cloud, new owner of the Ideal theatre, is remodeling the building and when completed will put on a new appearance. He is taking charge this week.

Ed Henderson of Dressy was here Tuesday on business.

TRUSTEE ELECTION HERE SATURDAY

Saturday, April 2nd is the date set for election for three trustees. The terms of Jeff Clark, Martin Neeb and S. R. Jackson will expire, but it is understood that their names will be placed on the ticket for re-election, having been endorsed by the Parent-Teachers Association, it is stated. It is not announced yet whether other names have been filed or not. All names must be filed ten days before election. The present school board has launched a building program and there will be a heavy responsibility placed on that body this year, and able men will find it a real task.

The ladies of the Baptist Church will have a parcel post sale at the Church Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Each lady bringing a sealed package valued t 15c or more. Every one invited.

WATER ANALYSIS GIVEN IN REPORT

The City Water Department sends samples of the water supply to the State Board of Health once a month to be analyzed, and Livingston Anderson, M. D., director of the state Laboratory, gave the following report on the analysis of the last sample sent in this month:

"Results of Bacteriological analyses of water specimens submitted as indicated on the forms attached, gave no evidence of the presence of the B. Coli group. The sources from which the samples were taken, may therefore be considered as reasonably safe for drinking purposes at the time of collection of specimens."

LESLIE STEPHENS

Leslie Stephens, age 20, died at Corsicana Hospital March 20th and was buried in the Dressy cemetery. He is survived by parents, four sisters, and two brothers, who live west of Cross Plains. The Review extends condolence to the grief stricken family.

WORLD WAR VETERAN GETS FREE TRIP

A plan has been launched here by which an American Legion buddy will get a free trip to the American Legion Convention, at Paris, France. Voting tickets will be given by business firms of the city on cash purchase or cash paid on account. You get a ticket with each 25c cash purchase—and you may vote for your favorite veteran.

Below is a list of Cross Plains Veterans with their introduction vote. If there are those listed who are not members of the American Legion Post here, and you wish to be in the contest, place your application with local commander, Gene Dice, or other American Legion boys, and qualify. If your name has not been listed, and you wish to participate, get in touch with some of the Legion boys.

This will be a great trip—and its free. Get in the race. Here's the list as handed in:

"HOME TRAGEDIES"—SELECTED FROM NEAL'S SCRAPBOOK

A well meaning mother said to me the other day, "I don't know what to do with that boy; he won't mind a word I say". I said, "How old is he?" She said, "He is four, going on five". Then I said—and I didn't mean to be discourteous or cruel—"If you can get along with him three or four years longer the state will take him off your hands and the state can make him mind. The state has detention homes, reform schools and penitentiaries for that purpose and the state can always make a boy mind." This was not a pleasant thing to say for this selfish sentimental woman to hear. Then I continued, "A boy that is raised to disobey the authority of his mother will when he gets older disobey the authority of both God and the state. That is why we have juvenile courts, reform schools and penitentiaries, and if a boy gets with the state to where you say your four-year-old boy has got with you, the state will either shoot him down as a bandit or hang him. I heard a judge say the other day that 98 per cent of the tens of thousands now in the penitentiaries of this country were boys that would not mind their mother in the home."

I asked her, "Do you punish him for disobedience? "Punish him! I don't believe in punishing children. Why it would nearly kill me to punish or whip him; I just couldn't do it". "Well", I said, "there is your trouble; you are not willing to hurt yourself for the good of your boy. You allow your own feelings to control you and in doing so you are making a criminal of your boy, who later will break your heart. The best and only genuine love is the love that regards and is willing to suffer for the welfare of the one loved. The diamond to be of value, must be cut and ground and polished. There are very many diamonds in the rough and jail and penitentiary today, just because they were not polished in the home lapidary. Some disobedient boys mother sits shamefaced and with bowed head and breaking heart in our courts every week and hears the sentence, maybe of life imprisonment or of death on the gallows, pronounced against her little boy who wouldn't mind a thing she said. The state can "make them mind" and if you don't make your boy mind the state will.

After all, the fault is not originally with the boy who in the end will have to suffer; no, he was innocent and pure when like a pearl of great price he was dropped into the lap of life, now at the age of four, says the mother "He won't mind a word I say".

There was a little boy in one of our middle states a few years ago just like this little four year-old boy; he would not mind and his selfish sentimental mother "couldn't make him mind", of course when he was a little older, 23, I think, his mother saw him ascend the scaffold and as the black cap was being adjusted before springing the trap, she sobbing, broken hearted, got as a last word from her boy an oath with the additional words, "No use to soi now, old woman, you're to blame for this. If you'd raised me right when I was little—" but the trap was sprung and the little boy who wouldn't mind plunged to his reward and the mother swooned into unconsciousness. Its mighty unfair to the boy or girl. It is as true as Milo said "The child shows the man as the morning shows the day.

Happy the mother, happy the father, who can look upon his family and say, "These are my glorious works"

BRUCE BARTON BELIEVES IN THE COUNTRY WEEKLIES"

Do you know Bruce Barton? He was reared in a country town where he learned to appreciate the home town

Editor Cross Plains Review,
Dear Sir:-

Enclosed you will find an order for the first of a series of General Motors Advertisements to be published this spring. Necessary material is being sent you by parcel post.

Please be sure that this and all sub-

We are placing these advertisements opportunity for General Motors, and we hope the success of the campaign as measured by the coupons received, will be so impressive that we can continue, not only in the fall but year after year.

My boyhood was spent in a country

THE NATION TRAVELS ON WHEELS SAYS THIS WRITER

According to figures furnished by R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, by officials of the American Automobile Association, before the close of 1927, 40,000,000 people—a third of the country's population will travel by motor car. Their wheeled flight over highways and byways, mountain and plain, constitute the most colossal peace-time movement in the history of mankind.

These vast caravansaries will use between 9,900,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in their wanderings—almost half the passenger cars in use in the nation. These figures are based on the situation which prevailed in 1926.

All indications point to an increase of about ten per cent in the number of tourists and the number of automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 by 900,000,000 automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 people taking to the highways in approximately 9000,000,000 automobiles.

The new fish and game commissioner, William J. Tucker is a publisher from Longview. A former commissioner, William G. Sterret, was also a newspaper man, known as Colonel "Bill". Just now the new commissioner is affectionately called "Will", but as his fame spreads he will probably be dubbed "Bill".

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

The "Ask Me Another" fad is sweeping the country and is almost as popular as the Cross Word Puzzle craze once was.

Can you answer these questions?
For whom was the Stillson wrench named?

Who first built macadam roads?

Where did the expressions "Let 'er go, Gallagher," "bone dry," "take a ride in the black maria" and "Hobson's choice" originate?

After what men were the following electrical terms named, and when did these men live: ohm, volt, ampere and watt?

After whom were the following articles named: pullman car, mackintosh, glenport, mercerized cloth and mansard roofs?

You'll find the answer to these questions in an article called "What is Fame?" by Elmo Scott Watson, in this week's issue of the Review. Look for it.

STAY IN THERE, TOM!

A lot of the exchanges coming to our desk are poking fun at our Tom for mauling a Yankee Congressman at the Capitol the other day. That lady stenographer who prayed for peace showed a great deal more Christian spirit than a lot of sarcastic Texas editors towards Tom. Stay in there, Tom, Son-of-a-Gun is with you.—San Saba News.

DO YOU ATTEND CHURCH

There is a meeting in Progress at the Methodist Church and others will start soon at the Baptist Church—and also at the Church of Christ, and a little son at the Baptist Church—and a little those who believe in Christianity and the power of God, exercised through the Church, have the opportunity of service. The immortal soul of every man, woman and child must spend an eternity some where—and that means responsibility of service on every soldier of the Cross.

Mrs. N. N. Baker of Houston with her daughter, Jewel, and friend Miss Victoria Moore have been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Baker's father, J. A. Pyle.

They returned to Houston and took Miss Nita Pyle with them. She plans to visit in Houston, and with her brother in Woodville, Texas until about the first of June. Miss Doris Pyle who is teaching in Albany High School spent the week end at home while Mrs. Baker was here.

HEN BEATS ALL LAYING RECORDS

B. F. Sanders has a Rhode Island red hen that lays a four ounce egg every day. That is, he brought us an egg this week that weighed four ounces and measured approximately 8 inches around the long way and 6 1-2 inches the short route. Some egg. Yet she had formed a habit of laying one like it each day. The egg weighs about the same as two common size samples of hen fruit and resembles a goose egg in magnitude. Wonder what Mr. Sanders feeds that hen. She does things in a big way.

John Holder was called to Gorman Wednesday to be with his sister, Mrs. J. Y. Robinson who is there for operation.

Supt. Tom Haggard and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Hale Lancaster, and other friends, at Abilene Sunday.

BIG SALES ADVERTISED

Last week the Review carried three big sale advertisements, put on by local business firms, in addition to the regular run of ads, two half pages and several quarters.

Higginbotham Bros. & Company had a big four page ad with circulars announcing big Easter sale, including all departments. Orrell-Dodson Chevrolet Company carried a full page ad, announcing used car sale, and Lotief's Drygoods Company also had full page sale ad. Other merchants including W. A. McGowan & Sons had large ads featuring special lines.

Form the habit of reading the ads in the Review each week; you will find it profitable. Keep posted on prices styles and materials the merchants are offering you from time to time—and buy at home.

Mrs. Moragne and daughter, Miss Mary were De Leon visitors past week end.

Ingenious Swindle

Infested with moles, the commune of Martigny, Switzerland, offered a bounty of ten sous for every creature destroyed. The tails were to be produced as proof. One man brought in a prodigious array of tails. Suspicion was aroused and a scientist was asked to investigate. Use of a magnifying glass disclosed a hoax on a large scale. The man would catch one mole, shave off its hair, cut a round shoe lace into short bits, soak them in glue, then roll them in the hair. Dozens of tails were produced in this way.

What Is Fame?

Drawing by Ray Walters.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

WHAT is fame? The dictionary, the court of last resort in questions of definition, says it is "renown," "celebrity," "that which causes one's name to be remembered." And in that last synonym lies the joker. For Fame is a capricious goddess who often loves to trick those whom she elevates to a position of distinction. Often she gives generously with one hand and with the other suddenly takes her gift away. She promises that men's names will not be forgotten. So they, poor fools, burn out their lives to win "renown." And then they learn that the joke's on them. Their names are remembered but they themselves are forgotten!

Scientists, inventors and the like seem to be her favorite dupes. In this electrical age, and especially in these days of almost universal use of the radio, everyone uses the terms "watt," "volt," "ohm" and "ampere," but how many of us know anything about James Watt of Scotland, Count Alessandro Volta of Italy, George Simon Ohm of Germany or Andre Marie Ampere of France? At least, their names survive in these common words even if they themselves are forgotten, but how about that modern Prometheus who made it possible for us to do away with the clumsy, old-fashioned method of starting a fire with flint and steel? How many persons can name the man who invented the modern match? Very few, probably.

Yet it was only ninety years ago that Janos Irinyi, a Hungarian analytical chemist, was successful where his professor had failed and by using phosphorus instead of sulphur, produced a match that flared satisfactorily. He sold his invention for about $30. In 1846 he founded a match factory and seemed to be on the road to great wealth. Then the Hungarian revolution two years later stopped his work. He died in poverty in 1895.

We cherish the silhouettes of our ancestors as precious heirlooms because, unless our forefathers were wealthy enough to have their portraits painted, these silhouettes are the only things which give us any idea of how they looked. But we know nothing at all about Etienne de Silhouette, a French minister of finance, except that somewhere we may have heard that he had a reputation for stinginess. We cherish also those old daguerreotypes of our grandparents or great-grandparents, which tell us even better than does a silhouette how they looked. But do we ever think of M. Daguerre, the Frenchman, who in 1839 gave to the world this first form of modern photography as we now know it? Not much!

When it rains we slip on a mackintosh, but we're not likely to stop even for a moment to be grateful to Charles Mackintosh of Manchester, England, whose invention of waterproof cloth makes it possible for us to keep dry. We motor smoothly over macadam roads with never a thought for John Loudon Macadam, who won fame (?) as a road engineer in Scotland. Along the way, we stop for a sandwich at some roadside stand, because like the Earl of Sandwich we want a light lunch which can be eaten with comfort as well as speed. If something goes wrong with the car, we open the tool box and perhaps take out a stillson wrench to fix it. (Yes, a man named Stillson invented this handy tool. But who was he, anyway?)

And so it goes. On long railroad journeys we ride in comfort in Pullman cars and it's doubtful if we ever give a thought to George Mortimer Pullman, the New York cabinetmaker who first transformed an old day coach into the first sleeping car. We may have a mansard roof on our house but we don't know that it's called that because a French architect named Mansard helped circument an old Paris law that tried to limit the height of houses by specifying the distance from the ground at which all roofs should begin.

Nor is the caprice of Fame confined to those to whom we should be most grateful because they have given us useful or indispensable articles of every-day use. Did you ever say "I certainly am going to hand him a wallop!" "Wallop" is a perfectly good word in the English language and familiar to everyone. But who remembers now a certain Sir John Wallop, a British general who inflicted so many defeats upon the French that "Let's Wallop them!" became a by-word in England?

If you ever have to "take a ride in the Black Maria" it may be some comfort to you to meditate upon the thought that you know why it's so-called and that the policeman who arrested you doesn't. So on the way to the station you might entertain him with the following historical facts: In the old colonial days, Maria Lee, a negro, kept a sailor's boarding house in Boston. A woman of great stature and strength, she not only had the whole lawless element of her part of town in awe of her, but she also helped the authorities keep the peace. It is said that at one time she, unassisted, took three riotous sailors to the lock-up and whenever a particularly troublesome person was to be subdued everybody immediately said "send for Black Maria." So it appears that she was not one to "let George do it." In that respect she was different from Louis XII of France. Although himself a strong ruler he was fortunate in having a prime minister who was a clever executive and an able manager. Georges d'Amboise was his name and as Louis learned more and more to depend upon him to perform disagreeable tasks, more and more was the sovereign of France given to saying "Que Georges le fasse" (Let George do it!)

Try this sentence on your neighbor: "When a man in defiance of the bone dry laws gets filled up with gin rickies he's likely to get reckless and let 'er go gallagher." He probably will understand what you mean, all right. But ask him who was Bone and Rickey and Gallagher! If he can't answer, tell him this: John Bone was formerly sheriff of Chippewa county, Mich., and through rigid enforcement of the early liquor laws in that state made his county extremely arid. So when the legislature passed the next anti-liquor law it was named the Bone Dry bill. Col. Joseph K. Rickey of Fulton, Mo., invented the drink called a gin rickey. Gallagher (first name unknown) was city marshal of Harrodsburg, Ky. During a race meeting in Tipton county he was the driver of a fast trotting mare, entered in a race by Judge Beaver of Morgan county, which was looked upon as a certain winner. But some of the sporting fraternity, hoping to catch the judge unaware, imported a famous fast trotter and entered the horse in the race. At the end of the first half mile, the two horses came down the stretch, neck and neck, whereupon the judge shouted "Let 'er go, Gallagher!" Gallagher loosed the reins, the mare rushed forward and won the race by a dozen lengths.

What is fame? Judging from all these examples fame is a name and nothing more. Personified Fame is the goddess of caprice. She promises men that their names will not be forgotten and they think she is promising them, that THEY will not be forgotten. Or she may be the goddess of jokes. Our children's children and their children after them may be riding around in a ford and to them Henry will be just a common man's name. For Fame loves her little joke—even a Ford joke.

Deaf Operator

It is well known that what are called "first-class" operators in telegraphy read messages not by means of punctures in strips of paper, which are only meant for beginners, but by sound—that is, by the clicks of the instrument. Of course, by practice, an operator's ear is rendered sensitive until at last he can catch the faintest whispings of his instrument. It wouldn't be supposed, however, that this method of reading messages would suit a deaf man. And yet a deaf man has accustomed himself to these circumstances. A certain operator in Washington is deaf, but he sends and receives messages by the sense of feeling. He places his leg against the instrument table and reads by the swift jarring thus communicated; at the same time he watches the motions of the instrument.

An alarm clock attachment for wrist watches is a recent novelty.

Lesson for April 3

PETER BECOMES A DISCIPLE OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:14-18; 29-31.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come ye after Me and I will make you to become fishers of men.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Follows Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Great Decision.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making the Great Decision.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Answering Christ's Call.

I. Jesus Preaching in Galilee (v. 14, 15).

The reason for Christ changing from Judea to Galilee was the growing opposition to Him. He accepted the fate of John, the Baptist, as foreshadowing His own death. The rejection of the forerunner meant the rejection of Him whose advent he heralded.

1. What He preached (v. 14).

The gospel of the kingdom of God which meant the good news of the near approach of the kingdom of God when the rule of God as predicted by the prophets would be realized.

2. How He preached (v. 15).

(1) "The time is fulfilled and the kingdom of God is at hand."

This meant that the time had now come for the appearance of the Messiah and the establishment of His kingdom.

(2) "Repent."
This meant that the people should turn around, change their minds and attitude toward Christ and accept Him as their King. The message of repentance is one which needs to be sounded out today.

(3) "Believe the gospel." Then, as now, men needed to believe the gospel of Christ.

II. Jesus Called Peter and Andrew to Become Fishers of Men. Jesus called this pair of brothers for service in His kingdom. It is usually best to perform the Lord's service in pairs. This has a threefold value. It makes testimony effective; it provides fellowship on the part of workers and protection of the witnesses. It is to be noted that these men had previously been called to be disciples of Christ (John 1:36-42). They are now called to service. Observe:

1. From what they were called (v. 16).

They were called from positions of definite service. They were fishers. God always chooses His servants from the ranks of the employed.

2. To what they were called (v. 17).
To be "fishers of men." They no doubt had been successful fishers. The qualities which made them good fishermen, namely, patience, bravery to face the storm and darkness of the night, and perseverance, which led them to tell all night though no fish were caught, would make them good fishers of men.

3. Their obedience (v. 18).
"Straightway they forsook their nets and followed Him."

To obey meant sacrifice, painful separation, the giving up of all business interests and leaving father behind. Regardless of the cost, they yielded prompt obedience.

III. Jesus Entering Simon Peter's House (v. 29-31)

Soon after the call of Peter and Andrew, Jesus called James and John, after which they entered the synagogue at Capernaum, where He cast out an evil spirit. This miracle caused His fame to be spread abroad.

1. A loved one ill (v. 30).

When Jesus entered this home He found Peter's mother-in-law with a burning fever. We know that among the closest followers of Jesus there are suffering ones and anxious and burdened hearts. To all such Jesus comes with loving sympathy and power to help.

2. "They tell Him of her" (v. 31).
This was the proper thing to do. We should bring to the attention of Jesus those of our families who have need of bodily or spiritual healing.

3. He healed her (v. 31).

"He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up." This act showed the nearness, sympathetic tenderness and power of Jesus. At His touch the fever departed and strength was imparted to her body.

4. "She ministered unto them" (v. 31).

This act shows:

(1) That the cure was instantaneous and complete. When Jesus heals there is no halfway business.

(2) Gratitude on the part of the one healed. She thus expressed her appreciation of what Jesus had done. All those who have experienced the healing power of Jesus will express their gratitude in loving service to the Lord and His disciples.

God's Indulgence

God is not over-indulgent. He is too loving for that. Because He loves us, and plans for our growth, He cannot let our faults go without correction. His justice stands side by side with His mercy, and cannot be evaded or left out of account.—Southern Methodist.

Finding Strength

Where shall we find strength for practical separation to God, except in God Himself—Echoes.

CHIC BLACK AND WHITE MODES; TAILORED SUITS FOR MATRON

NO MORE remarkable success for the black-and-white vogue has ever been recorded in the pages of history than that now registering throughout the realm of fashion. The two "studies in black and white" as here illustrated are highly typical of the reigning mode.

We are in the midst of an era of sleeveless jackets, such as the one which achieves assured smartness for the costume shown here to the left. Full white sleeves for the under-blouse and a plaited skirt of white crepe, the latter bordered with black for the woman of dignity and years beyond flapper age as that of a handsome black silk costume.

Because of the especial importance at present of the black silk coat, also the black silk tailored suit, likewise the black silk one-piece afternoon frock, rich black silk weaves are of paramount interest throughout exclusive fabric displays. These place special stress on taffeta, faille, bengaline, moire, reversible satin, also heavy crepe.

That moire silk lends itself admirably to semi-tailored smartness one satin to match the jacket, interpret style in every sense of the word.

The bloused styling of the black-and-white frock to the right is also outstanding this season. White is introduced in a full vestee and in a panel and borderings on the skirt. The hat which this stylishly clad young woman is wearing expresses utmost millinery chic. It is one of the new snug-fitting earlap types. For the younger set these tight molded-to-the-head shapes are quite the rage.

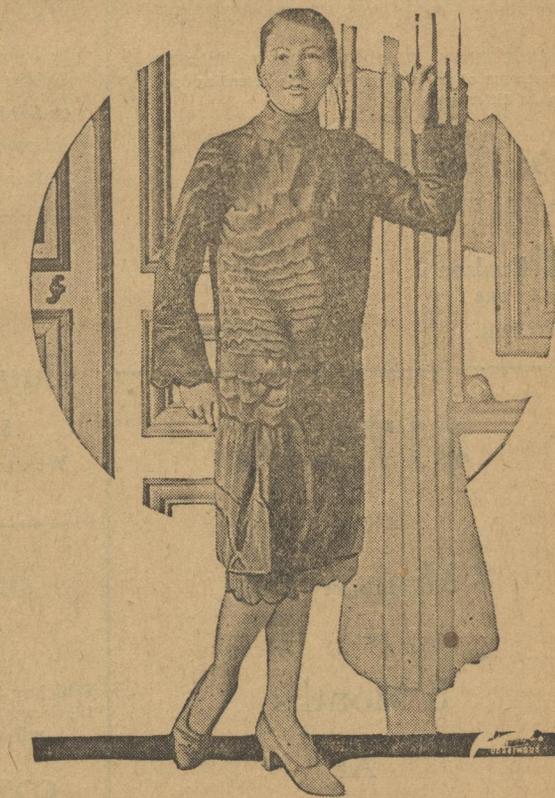

It is not possible to overemphasize the increasing importance of black-and-white. Not only does it occupy the center of the stage at this moment, but fabrics and accessories for the coming months all bear a message of continued favor for black-and-white combinations.

Among the prospects for summer are dresses which combine filmy black with white lace in their development. Lovely, too, are the new georgette must agree after studying the style-points of the frock here pictured. While this dress has a slenderizing effect, yet fullness is introduced ever so adroitly in side panels held in place under scallops arranged in tiers. All the scallops are bound with crepe satin.

Another favorite frock for the matron is of black satin styled with to-one-side drapes, cascades falling both from the left shoulder and from waist line. These one-side fastenings and surplice effects are particularly becoming to mature figures, and they are the "last word" in the matter of dress fashioning.

The matron who has wearied of the regulation cloth suit will find relief this spring in the way of silk or satin tailored suits and ensembles. These feature skirts with plaits somewhere in their making, topped with jackets which, while they are neatly tailored, maintain a charming feminized styling. Because of the black-and-prints showing a white background trellised over with huge black roses and other floral patterings. White shoes inlaid with black kid and vice-versa will add a beauty note to the black-and-white ensemble.

That Paris so enthusiastically endorses the all-black vogue redounds to the good fortune of the matron. No mode is quite so distingue white enthusiasm now on, the blouse to wear under the jacket is preferably of white crepe or satin, although silk-print vestees are also in fashion.

Silk topcoats for spring, also say the mode, either bengaline, faille or satin. They show intriguing details of pintucks, folds, seamwork and some are quilted. JULIA BUTTMLEY.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out of sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Skeletons at $30 Apiece

Austrian authorities, learning many human skeletons were being shipped to England and America, found a group of medical students in Vienna making good money in this traffic. Whole skeletons are sold at about $30 apiece, "f. o. b. Vienna," skulls, arms, leg bones and other parts accordingly. Several bones are priced as low as ten cents. The skeletons are obtained legitimately from medical schools or by disintering them from cemeteries the Socialist government has ordered vacated.—Capper's Weekly.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative -Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to the bowels.

Is your present laxative, whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.
