The Cross Plains Review

(SERVING THE LARGEST SHALLOW OIL FIELD ON EARTH)

Without offense to friends or foes we sketch Cross Plains exactly as it goes.

VOL. XXVI 10 PAGES THIS WEEK CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS, "When The One Great Scorer Comes To Write Against Your Name He Writes Not If You Won Or Lost But How You Played The Game" FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1935 No. 32 5c PER COPY

AREA BLESSED BY WARMER WEATHER

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

To anybody who likes the spectacle of two high school football teams meeting in the clash of conflict, battling tirelessly for the glory of their schools, Friday afternoon will be an important date. For at two thirty, Cross Plains high school's thundering Buffalo herd will take the field at Rising Star against their traditional foe, coach Johnny Gregg's Wildcats.

This column has dealt little with sports this season, choosing to surrender that subject to the specially arranged page for that purpose, however, today we "give in" to the impulse to make a prediction on the Rising Star-Cross Plains game.

Despite the fact that all comparative dope indicates the two teams are of virtually equal strength, our forecast is that Cross Plains will win by two touchdowns and in all probability Rising Star will be held scoreless.

If our guess runs true to form there'll be a hot time in the ol' home town Friday night and we may be shirt tail parading with the rest of the kids.

Of course it's too late to do anything about it now but the M.K.&T. railroad could have "drummed" up some good business by running a special train to Rising Star for the game.

The idea of course is ridiculous, but so was Edison's idea (or was it Franklin's) of a lamp without an oil wick.

So much for sports and back to the theme of this column.

The week's best joke is probably on Ed Henderson, the domino playing agent who insists on calling Doley Williams' store "HENDERSONVILLE".

In a domino game the other afternoon some prankster slipped two double sixes in the deck. Claver shuffling gave friend Henderson one of them and placed the other in the "bone yard". Things progressed normally until Ed was forced to draw and much to his surprise his first pick was another double six.

Not aware of the discrepancy the victim examined the domino carefully, counting the spots one by one. Still not satisfied he summoned a bystander to tell him just what domino he was holding, complaining that his eyes were either bad or he couldn't count.

When he finally realized that he had been tricked, Ed tucked his head and walked away mumbling something which sounded like "by gollys."

Biggest news in the field of romance for the week, was the marriage Sunday night of Miss Vera Duncan and A. O. (Slim) Harris, both of this place.

When the courtship was young, you remember we told you "Slim" was getting a yearning, far-away look out of his eye, so it can't be said we were completely slipped up on.

To the newly weds here's this column's choice blessing and sincerest wishes for many years of tranquil sailing upon marital seas.

Intra-faculty courting is not exactly encouraged by the local school board, this department is unofficially opposed. And for that reason a Spanish speaking teacher, being as much of the foot as such as might prefer, and...

...will have a way, as long as we have connections in Abilene.

New Cotton Program Drafted By Farmers

SAYS COUNTY AGENT AFTER ATTENDING PLAINVIEW MEETING

By Ross B. Jenkins
Callahan cotton committee composed of Aaron McKee, Clyde; V. F. Jones, Baird; S. N. Foster, Atwell; and community committeeman Earl C. Hays of Clyde, accompanied their agent Ross B. Jenkins to Plainview November 13th to hear C. A. Cobb, Chief of the AAA cotton section discuss the cotton program.

Mr. Cobb said we had come a long way since 1933 when cotton was selling at 5 cents per pound and seed at $8 per ton but we haven't reached the goal yet. He said the program is going to continue with the great number of farmers voting for it whether the courts declare it constitutional or not. The farmers have voted 9 to 1 for it to go on and it has been passed by the congress to continue for 4 more years. "It's not a matter of the constitution that we are concerned with but to get for the farmer all that is due him under the constitution that the AAA is working to gain" he stated.

The new program that is soon to be released is one that was drawn by farmers who have followed down the row behind the plow shares from every cotton producing state and has been accepted by the Secretary of Agriculture. It is a program of the farmers, for the farmers, by the farmers. It will run for 4 years and has tried to correct the mistakes that have been found in the first program ever enacted for the cotton producer.

"This is a chance to get the government on the dotted line in cooperation with the farmer to insure a steady income," Mr. Cobb said.

COMEDY, ROMANCE AND ACTION PACK LIBERTY PICTURE

Comedy, romance and action pack "Pursuit," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious romance of care-free adventure on the open road, which, with Chester Morris and Sally Eilers, which plays at the Liberty Theater Sunday and Monday.

It is the story of the motoring adventure of a young couple smuggling a child out of the state in a guardianship fight. Their adventures, some hectic, some humorous, occur, in auto camps and barns, farmyards, a veterinary hospital and in many locations along the open road between San Francisco and the Mexican border.

Morris is perfectly cast as the adventuring aviator, and Miss Eilers a beautiful as well as a perfect partner in adventure for him. Little Scotty Beckett, of "Our Gang" comedies, scores heavily as the child fugitive.

VOYLES TO PREACH LAST SERMON HERE ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Dr. C. A. Voyles will preach his last sermon as pastor of the Cross Plains Baptist church, Sunday night. He leaves next week to take over the pastorate of the Park Street Baptist church at Greenville, a church of 634 members.

A successor in the local pulpit has not yet been named, however, a committee is working on the matter and will probably report to the church Sunday morning.

Text for Dr. Voyles' last sermon here will be "The Apostolic Benediction." His Sunday morning topic will be "The Work of the Lord." During his two years as pastor here, there have been 87 additions to the church as well as a substantial reduction in the church indebtedness, the Review is informed.

"I have enjoyed my work and stay in Cross Plains and am deeply thankful for the opportunity of having served here," he stated.

Ladies of the church honored Mrs. Voyles with a social Monday afternoon and presented her an attractive purse and gloves as a parting gift. Another social for the entire Voyles family was held in the church auditorium Wednesday night at the close of the regular mid-week prayer service.

Mrs. Marion Harvey had as luncheon guests Tuesday afternoon: Mesdames, Frank Robertson, W. E. Tyler, Frank Payne, Lon Delaney, Colquett Williams and Harold Gracey, of Rising Star, and Mrs. E. A. Ungren of Abilene.

Cleve Callaway Lambasts Solons

By Cleve Callaway
No I haven't had much to say about The New Deal lately it is beyond words it is a subject for tears. On other hand I've been watching the antics of our own noble legislature and secondary oppressor at Austin, Texas. The bodies of whom our Governor says he is very proud. In the language of one of their own members they accomplished great things. This member said to the governor; that after laboring for a month and a half they had passed a Liquor control bill that made it easy to sell whiskey in dry territory, and difficult to sell it in wet territory. They had passed a Drivers License Law that none of them knew any thing about.

Now that they have this Whiskey Business all fixed, even if they did

CROSS CUT LADY HAS PROOF THAT ADS PAY

That advertising pays is vouched for by Mrs. N. J. Prater, of Cross Cut, who three weeks ago inserted of a "car for sale" in inserted a "car for sale" ad in Review.

The ad brought prospects and the car was immediately sold, she told the Review Saturday.

In an election held here Monday to ascertain the sentiment of voters in regard to the naming of a city marshal and night watchman, J. M. McMillan was victorious over J. C. Huntington by a majority of 81 to 28.

The referendum was ordered by city councilmen in session the night of November fifth.

Election officials were Drew Hill, judge, and H. H. Nash, clerk.

4 LOCAL STUDENTS GET $6.00 N.Y.A. CHECKS

First checks from the National Youth Administration to assist students in securing an education, were received in Cross Plains high school this week. Four students received the allotment of $6.00 per month for work about the school, which included policing the buildings, assisting in the library and secretarial work.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cutbirth and daughter Rosalea visited friends in Brownwood over the week end.

There are the facts in a nutshell. The struggle for supremacy must be fought out in the next few days, for the campaign closes in just a few more weeks. The second period ends Monday December 9th.

Do not forget the "second subscriptions"—they mean real votes, extensions. Names on subscriptions stubs should be written or printed so plainly that there will be no occasion for error, and secure the subscribers postoffice box number if possible, instead of street address; however, if subscriber prefers paper delivered to street address, write it plainly. Each stub should bear the candidate's name as well. In cases of second payment subscriptions, the stub should be marked as such and the amount and date of the first payment should be indicated.

BIRDS PLENTIFUL AS DUCK SEASON OPENS WEDNESDAY MORNING

Several local duck hunters were on the firing line Wednesday morning, when the 30 day season, extended through December 19 opened.

Due to the presence of more water, as well as more feed, ducks are more abundant this season than an last, and hunting is being permitted every day in the week. Only three days a week were open last year. The bag limit, however, will be 10 birds a day, and one may not have more than 10 in his possession at one time. There is also a limit of four, in the aggregate, on geese and brant that a hunter may have in his possession.

Duck stamps, which are available at the post office for one dollar, must be bought regardless of where the hunter operates, but only if he goes outside his own county is he required to buy the two dollars state license.

Several new federal restrictions have been imposed and W. T. St. John, district game warden, has said that all game wardens have been instructed by the game, fish and oyster commission to cooperate one hundred per cent in enforcement of these regulations. They provide:

Ruling on Guns.
That migratory game birds shall not be taken with or by means of an automatic-loading or hand-operated repeating shotgun capable of holding more than three shells, the magazine of which has not been cut off, or plugged with a one-piece metal or wooden filler incapable of removal through the loading end so as to reduce the capacity of the gun to not more than three shells at one loading.

That migratory game birds may be taken from a blind, boat, or floating device (except a sinkbox (battery), powerboat, sailboat, or any floating craft or device towed by a power boat or sailboat) not more than 100 feet from the shore line as determined by ordinary high water, or not more than 100 feet from any natural growth of vegetation protruding above the water extending from or existing beyond such shore line.

That waterfowl may not be taken with or by aid of corn, wheat, oats, or other grain, or products thereof, salt, or any kind of feed by whomsoever, or for whatsoever purpose, placed, deposited, distributed, scattered, or otherwise put out in any environment, where such waterfowl are lured, attracted or enticed to the hunter.

CONGRESSMAN COMING

BLANTON TO CONFER WITH FRIENDS HERE ABOUT POSTAL JOB

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton told the Review in a communication early this week that he would meet all applicants for the Cross Plains postmastership here Saturday morning, at ten o'clock, in the Liberty theater building.

The announcement as given the Review for publication follows.

"I request that all of my friends and supporters who live within one mile of the Cross Plains postoffice, and all applicants for the postmastership who supported me in the primaries of 1932 and 1934, meet me in conference on next Saturday morning, November 23, 1935, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the picture show there so that I may have their advice and suggestions regarding the appointment of a new postmaster

PROMINENT LOCAL COUPLE ARE WED SUNDAY EVENING

Coming as a complete surprise to their many friends throughout the Cross Plains trade territory was the marriage Sunday night of Miss Vera Duncan and A. O. Harris, both of this place.

The rites were solemnized at the Methodist parsonage here, with Rev. J. C. Mann officiating in the single ring ceremony.

Present were the groom's mother Mrs. M. I. Hare and sister Mrs. Bennie E. Bright, of California, who came here to witness the ceremony and at the same time attend to business matters; Ed Duncan, the bride's father a pioneer citizen of this locality, her brother R. E. Duncan, and sister Mrs. Wade Earl Clark and husband, also Miss Myralene Harris, daughter of the groom, all of this place.

The marriage was the culmination of an extended romance which began here more than a year ago.

The couple, well known throughout the Cross Plains trade territory having resided here for a number of years, are making their home in the Northwest part of town for the time being.

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Harris was held at the home of Mrs. John Miller Wednesday afternoon. After an entertaining program, scores of attractive and useful gifts were presented to the honoree. Details of the shower will be published on the society page of next edition of the Review.

TOM BRYANT IS 585 FEET DEEP ON WELL NEAR HERE

The well being drilled by Tom Bryant et al, one mile Northeast of town was reported drilling at a depth of 585 feet Thursday morning.

FARMERS WELCOME OPPORTUNITY FOR GATHERING CROPS

Ol' man weather reached deep in his bag of tricks this week and gave long needed favorable weather to the Cross Plains trade territory. After several weeks of intermittent rains, frosts and cold spells, clouds cleared Wednesday and temperature at noon Thursday soared to Forecasts from the government weather bureau at Abilene predicted continued warm weather for Friday.

Farmers, who have been long delayed in gathering cotton, peanuts and other Autumn crops, unanimously welcomed the moderation.

Local buyers—both of peanuts and cotton—reported crops moving at a faster clip Thursday as a result of the clearing. Two Cross Plains gins were running at capacity speed yesterday and over this area a number of peanut threshers throttled into double time in the endeavor to overcome weeks of delay.

Business men in Cross Plains were equally appreciative of the warmer period as seasonal buying has been greatly handicapped and curtailed by the delay in the movement of the two "money crops."

Produced men here were also happier yesterday with the forecast of continued warm weather. Turkeys, being bought for the Thanksgiving market, are being brought here by the truck loads. The price, several cents higher than at any time in recent years, is bringing thousands of dollars to this section.

COLLEGE BAND HAS 4 LOCAL STUDENTS IN FEATURED CAST

Four Cross Plains members of the Daniel Baker College band will make their first public appearance with the band when it is presented in the initial concert of the season at the Coleman high school auditorium Monday evening at seven-thirty. Miss Jackson plays in the saxophone quartet which will accompany several of the entertainers in their numbers. Settle and Barr are members of the trumpet trio which will be one of the features on the program. Settle also plays in the orchestra which will offer several popular song hits during the concert.

Besides the numbers in which the local members have parts, there will be tap dances, vocal trios, a silent manual of arms performed by the Collegettes, 16 of the most beautiful girls in school, and numerous other entertainment features.

The entire program will be in charge of Burl Williams of Coleman, who is director of the band. Entertainment features on the program were in the hands of Tom Wallis of Dallas, W. E. Williams, Jr., of Brownwood, a former member of the Coleman High School Band, is to be business manager, John T. Williamson, Jr., of Coleman is publicity director.

Among the 328 students making the honor roll in Abilene Christian College with an average of 90 or above for the past semester, was Miss Juanita Plumlee, of Pioneer, the Review is informed by the college publicity department.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lowe have as their guest here this week his father, of West Virginia.

The MICHIGAN KID

by Rex Beach

Five Serial Fiction in a new form. . . . Three Prize Short Stories (of four instalments each) by a master story-teller. They're Rex Beach at his best.

In Four Instalments

SYNOPSIS—Jimmy Rowan was hopelessly in love with Rose Morris, the prettiest girl in Dover, Michigan. Of course, that was years ago, in early school days. But it was hopeless for Jimmy because he was just "that Rowan kid," desperately poor, while Rose's family was rich. While Jimmy was working his way through college, Rose Morris moved away and the home sold for barely enough to pay the mortgage—Jimmy vowed to himself he'd get rich—and find Rose. Easier vowed than done and years passed before Jim Rowan finally landed in the Klondike—there to gain wide reputation as a gambler, known as "The Michigan Kid."—An ugly story of a 20 hour card game with Col. Campbell, engineer, with stakes no limit—and suicide of Campbell at the end—caused The Michigan Kid to sell his saloon and start "out."—At Nome, Rowan came upon a meeting of Michigan folks scheduled so he attended. As an old man was leaving the meeting Jim started, leaned forward, his eyes fixed upon the stranger's bearded cheek—NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THIRD INSTALMENT

Rowan opened his lips to speak, then closed them.

"You see?" The girl laid her hand upon his arm. "Poor Don Quixote! Won't you think better of it and go out to God's country? You've earned it, Jim, and you'll find your opportunity there. Father is enthusiastic, he really believes in this claim, but I know it's no good and, besides, we're unlucky. Everything has gone badly since we lost our money back there in Dover. He's a feeble old man and disappointment has made him almost childish. All he has left is that conviction that some day he'll 'land in the pay'. There are hundreds like him."

"And what would you do?" Rowan inquired.

Wearily Rose shrugged. "What I have always done—remain at his side. I love him. He gave me everything when he had it to give. It's the staff he leans upon and without me he'd fall. We can get along Jim."

"How?"

"I was offered a job waiting on at the Bonanza—"

The man uttered an exclamation. Roughly he said, "I'd sooner see you in a dance hall."

"I could even get married—"

Rose smiled faintly.

Jim's hands twitched, but his face was impassive as he said: "No. I'm going to stick. I made a few dollars in Dawson and I left there looking for one more chance—one big chance to win or lose, make or break. I play lanches, and when your father offered to go fifty-fifty with me I had a hunch that my number was due. Have you ever heard of Michigan's luck?"

"Yes, of course, Aladdin's lamp, too, but I never expect to have either."

"Who knows? I have a feeling that your troubles are over and that your father is really going to land in the pay. Let's hope so, anyhow. I believe in hoping for things until you get them."

It was in this manner that Jim Rowan became a miner, a pick-and-shovel man. He put up a cabin for himself and he did his own cooking—a thing only man abhors. Although he and Hiram began to prospect the claim, it was Jim who did most of the actual work. His flabby muscles rebelled, at first; blisters grew upon his white palms; they burst, then turned into callosities. Slowly, painfully he hardened himself. It was an ordeal, but as his body grew strong so did his determination to win the love of Rose Morris.

Every day he had to fight the desire to voice his love, but the better he came to know Rose, the more fearful he became that somehow the grave of the Michigan Kid would be disturbed and that she would behold the skeleton it concealed—grass was slow in growing over it—hence he showed his devotion only in the things he did.

Autumn came and Jim put into effect a plan he had worked out. He "salted" the pannings from their ground just enough to make a showing, this being necessary to his scheme; then he interested a purchaser in buying the claim. He instructed the man to offer twenty thousand dollars for it, supposing, of course, that Mr. Morris would leap at the chance to sell.

But this was the first gold the old man had ever found and those few yellow flakes strengthened his senile conviction that the property was rich. He refused the offer. He refused again and again, even when Jim's man raised the bid to forty thousand dollars. He did more than refuse; he boasted about the offer in town and said he had struck regular "Michigan's luck." This caused quite a flurry of excitement and reluctantly Jim was forced to call off his bidder.

Jim's effort had an effect other than he had expected; a forty-thousand-dollar offer for a wild-cat claim on Friday Creek centered interest there, and promptly the Bonanza crowd sent an outfit over and began work on some property they owned below old Hiram's.

This outfit was in charge of a young fellow by the name of Hayward, and once he had become acquainted with Rose he took such an interest in Friday Creek that he spent all of his time there.

This Hayward was a fine-looking upstanding youth and he undoubtedly had a way with him. But his way with woman was more agreeable than his way with men: towards Jim Rowan, for instance, he displayed the same air of contemptuous superiority that he reserved for his employees.

Rose liked him, however—perhaps that was the real reason why Jim did not. In any event, the two men were so different in character that a clash was inevitable.

Jim had made it a practice never to go into town for fear of recognition, hence it was Hiram who made the weekly trips for mail and for the necessary purchase. One day while he was in town it began to snow and during the afternoon this snow turned to rain and sleet. The old man returned about dark, quite wet and chilly. He was a long while getting warmed through and later in the evening he complained of feeling badly and went to bed.

Jim was awakened during the night by a knock on his door. It was Rose. In a tone that instantly brought him to his feet she told him that her father was ill and that she was frightened. Throwing on his clothes, he hurried to the larger cabin. Hiram was burning up with fever; he coughed almost continuously; he was in pain. Jim announced at once that he would go for a doctor.

"I'll send somebody up from the Bonanza camp," he told the girl, "because I won't be able to get back before morning."

Rose turned eyes dark with apprehension upon him. "He's very ill, isn't he? He woke me up muttering. Hear him—? It's all about 'landing in the pay'."

"I'm afraid he's a pretty sick man. There's a medicine case somewhere among my things. Look until you find it. And don't allow yourself to become panicky. Be a brave girl, Rose." He laid a hand upon Rose's shoulder—it was the first time he had ever touched her except by inadvertence—and there was such sympathy, such comfort in his gesture that tears wet her lashes.

"Oh, Jim!" she cried, "You're a dear. I don't know what I'd do without you."

Young Hayward was in Nome, but Jim got one of the Bonanza men to go to Rose's assistance and also he borrowed a horse for himself. It was not many miles to town, but it was a wretched night and he was glad when the animal wallowed out of the icy mud and he felt the plank pavements under its feet. The first doctor he found was ill; another had been called to Fort Davis; the third was engaged on a confinement case, but promised to accompany Jim in perhaps two hours. There was nothing to do but wait.

Jim was wet and cold. He stabled his horse, returned to the main street, and entered the first saloon he came to. It was late; there was nobody at the bar, but some of the games were still running and there were a few figures at the lunch counter in the rear. Thither Jim made his way in search of a cup of coffee.

There was a stage at the end of the place where, in the earlier hours of the night, a vaudeville show was given, and at the piano were gathered several weary women of the dance-hall type. One of them saw Jim and spoke to her companions, whereupon they turned and stared curiously at his back.

Young Hayward rose from the faro table and approached the lunch counter. He had been drinking some and loosing considerable. There was an unpleasant curl to his lips.

Jim had hitched himself upon one of the high stools; he had raised his mug to drink when Hayward pushed it away from his lips and called to the white-aproned waiter sayin':

"Here! Give this fellow a square-meal." At the same time he crashed a twenty-dollar gold piece upon the counter.

"Thanks," said Jim. "I'm not hungry."

"Ham and eggs for a friend of mine," Hayward cried. "And give him the change."

Jim eyed the speaker coldly, as if from behind a mask, but he appeared to take no notice of the tone Hayward had used. Still in an even voice he said:

"Nice of you. I've seen the time I'd take it." He lifted his cup for a second time; again Hayward took his wrist.

"Look here, Rowan. I've been wanting to ask you something. It's about that offer for old-man Morris' claim. D'you know what I think?"

"I don't believe you're capable of thinking, right now. If I were you, Hayward, I'd go home and go to bed."

"Is that so?" Hayward's disappointed smile became more pronounced.

"I'll tell you what I think; I think it was a phony. I think you tried to put something over—tried to grab something."

"Well? You can't arrest a man for trying."

"I'll tell you something else; old-man Morris is honest, but I think he's in partners with a damned crook."

The men eyed each other. Very quietly Jim said: "So! You're just spoiling for trouble, aren't you?"

"With you, yes."

"I'm sorry, but I can't oblige you to-night."

"Ha! Nor any other night. I've discovered something else about you, Rowan. You haven't got the guts of a guinea pig." Hayward had not lowered his voice during this colloquy. Those people in the rear of the room had heard most of what he said, and they were looking on now in mingled curiosity and apprehension. The dance girl who had pointed out Jim whispered excitedly to her companions.

"Funny what a fool a man can make of himself," Jim told the young foreman. "Some day you'll realize how badly up against it a fellow can get without knowing it."

"Bah! You rat! There's only one way to treat a—" Hayward raised his open hand to slap this object of contempt, but the blow did not descend; he did not finish his sentence, for suddenly his face was deluged by the blinding, scalding contents of Jim's coffee cup. With an exclamation he reeled backward, almost into the arms of the women at the piano. He dashed the liquid from his face; with his sleeve he wiped his eyes, cleared them; he gathered himself to rush upon the figure still sitting motionless upon the high stool. But one of the girls flung herself upon him, twined her arms about him, and in a voice high-pitched, vibrant with warning, she cried:

"Don't touch him, Hayward! He'll kill you! God, man, that's 'The Michigan Kid.'"

Hayward's struggle died suddenly. It came still-born. Into his purple face crept a look of astonishment, then incredulity.

None are so blind as they who will not see. Every day brings new cross-roads where decisions must be made. Those who map their course and keep on to that destination soon come out onto the highway of achievement. This is also true as applied to financial courses. The person who early maps a course of savings and investment, then hold true to that course is successful.

Do You Ever Wonder

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

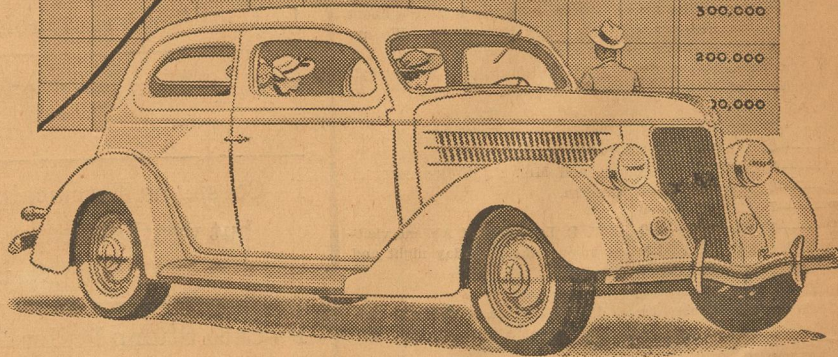

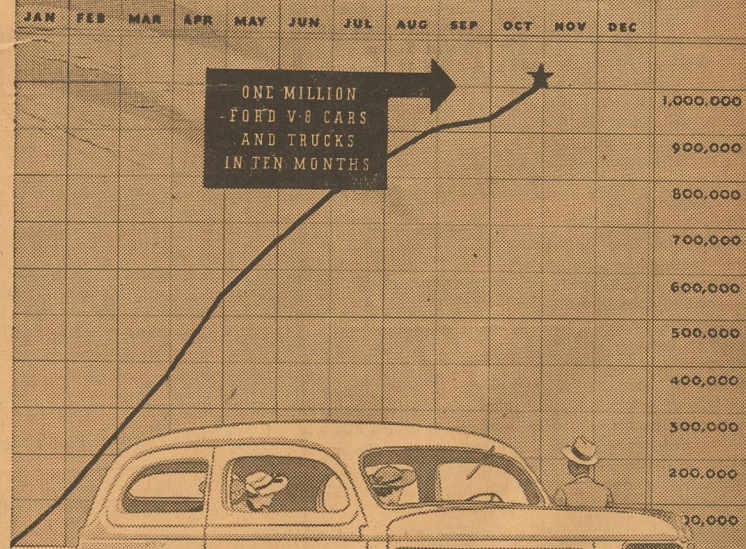

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

V-8 LEADERSHIP

JAN FEB MAR APR MAY JUN JUL AUG SEP OCT NOV DEC

ON OCTOBER 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.

Coats of cloth are being extravagantly trimmed with fur in the new fashions, sometimes with the fur being handled like fabric and used in fur sleeves, fur pockets, and fur hats.

Buffaloes Meet Rising Star Wildcats In Grid Feud Friday

Game Will Be Homecoming For All Wildcat Exes; To Be Last For Prominent Local Gridders

Cross Plains high school Buffaloes will journey to Rising Star Friday afternoon to meet coach Johnny Gregg's Wildcats in a traditional grid classic, which has become one of the hottest sports feuds in this section. The kick-off is set for two-thirty.

Several factors contribute to make the contest the most colorful offered for the week-end in district 17-B. It will be homecoming day for all former students of Rising Star schools, with a special ceremony of recognition carded just prior to the opening kick-off. Rising Star's first graduating class—1902—will be on hand to boost the Wildcats. Members of that early day group who will be in attendance include; Fred Roberds, C. F. Falls, both of Rising Star, Mrs. D. J. Jobe, Eastland, and Lanham Brown, automobile dealer of Winters. Roberds, now a prominent banker, will hold the football while Falls, well known Rising Star business man, kicks off, as a part of the homecoming ceremony.

Members of Rising Star's first football team—1904—will sit on the players bench with the Wildcat gridders.

Another feature which contributes to the interest and color of the contest is, the two teams are now tied for the next to last place in the district standing with a percentage of 250. Each club will be striving to elevate it's standing by trouncing the traditional foe.

Football Farewells

Then too, in each line-up there will be athletes playing their last high school game, and against the bitterest foe in the loop. For Cross Plains, "Bevo" Webb, "Lonesome" Duncan, Buster Atwood, and possibly others will be wearing the purple and gold colors for the last time on a high school gridiron. Webb, who sustained severe lacerations about the mouth and ear in the Putnam game, is in really no condition to play but will probably "shoot the works" against Rising Star in the endeavor to bring his brilliant high school football career to a sensational climax.

There is also interest and rivalry from the standpoint of the coaches. Claude Daniel, Buff mentor, although a good friend of Johnny Gregg, Rising Star coach, will be out to triumph over his college day grid companion. Gregg is reported to be equally as desirous of trimming Daniel.

Even In Standing

Since Cross Plains has been a member of this district, the Buffaloes have broken exactly even with Rising Star, winning three out of six games. The domestics have the advantage of never failing to score against Rising Star, however, since in all three of their victories the Wildcats have been held scoreless. In the standpoint of points scored, the Buffaloes are also ahead with 59 points as compared with 47 for the Wildcats. Results of all games since 1929, Cross Plains' first year of conference play, follow.

1929	CP	6	RS	0
1930	CP	20	RS	6
1931	CP	7	RS	34
1932	CP	6	RS	7
1933	CP	7	RS	0
1934	CP	13	RS	0

The entire high school will be dismissed at noon Friday to permit students to attend the game. Grammar school pupils will also be allowed the afternoon off if they have a way and are desirous of attending the game.

At least 300 fans and supporters are expected to accompany the Buffaloes to Rising Star. Only a skeleton of the personnel of local business enterprises is expected to remain in town Friday afternoon. On all corners yesterday the game was a topic of conversation; interest is high.

No information as to the probable starting line-ups was available yesterday, both coaches remaining tight lipped as time for the game nears.

Officials for the game will be Mickey Pool, Coleman coach; Jake Bentley, Abilene; and "Shorty" Parker, Abilene.

Review Will Name It's Mythical All-Conference Team Next Week

The delicate job of compiling an all conference football team from this district will be tackled by this newspaper next week. Queries will be mailed all coaches and news publications in this district. Each minor and each scribe will have one voice in the final computation. Throwing down all barriers and becoming an open target for all who disagree, the Review will publish it's selection on this page next week. Date has been preserved on every outstanding player in the district to date and after contests this week end, the Review will make it's selection in time for publication in the next issue. Coaches and newspaper men are urged to lend their cooperation in naming the mythical squad.

Results Of Other Teams In This District

RISING STAR WIDCATS SPILL MAY TIGERS

The Rising Star Wildcats downed the May Tigers, 7 to 0 last Friday afternoon in the annual homecoming game of the May high school.

Hollis Shults, Wildcats half-back, made the tally in the second quarter on a beautiful 40 yard run. Hopper kicked the extra point.

One of the largest crowds of the season attended the game, a non-conference affair.

MORAN WINS FROM PIONEER, 26 TO 0

Moran retained their second place rating in the lower division of District 17-B, when they copped from Pioneer on the Panthers own field by a score of 26 to 0. Pinnell scored two touchdowns, Snell one and Odell one. Three of the scores came on line plays, the other on a pass.

It was the final game of the 35 season for Pioneer, since this week's game with Putnam has been canceled.

DISTRICT 17 QUITE PAST WEEK END

Only six teams, one half of the clubs in both divisions of district 17-B, were active last week end.

Upper Division Teams

Putnam and Cross Plains clashed in a conference affray, Moran and Pioneer met in a lower division league game, and May and Rising Star battled in an inter-division non-conference tilt.

Other district elevens had off days.

CROSS PLAINS TIES PUTNAM SIX ALL IN CONFERENCE CLASH

Although kept on the defensive most of the afternoon, Putnam gained a six to six tie with Cross Plains Friday afternoon in a district 17-B conference game postponed from last week.

J. T. carried the ball over the goal for Cross Plains in the middle of the second period. In the fourth a 15 yard penalty backed Cross Plains to the one yard line, from which Chris Sunderman of Putnam went over for the score on first down.

The game counted a half win and half loss for each team.

GIRLS BASKET BALL TEAM STARTS DRILLS

Prospects for a winning girls basket ball are considered unusually good in Cross Plains high school this year, according to Miss Rex-ine Shields. 24 girls reported for the initial practice last week. Of that number, 10 are reported to be experienced players.

Miss Oleta Thate, transfer from Purkett, and an all conference basket baller from that loop, is expected to add much strength to the local sextet. Another promising player is Miss Louise Cole a transfer from Cross Cut. The Cross Plains sextet will play only two divisions of the court, instead of the old plan of three divisions—two centers, two forwards and two guards.

Workouts will be held three days each week: Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"The Vanishing R"

From the Boston Transcript: The three R's, 'Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic," taught in the day of the little red schoolhouse, did not comprise the entire curriculum; there was a fourth R, that played a vital part in the education of our hardy first settlers, whose industry and thrift built up this nation. The fourth R was Religion and the pursuit of Righteousness.

The belief that man was a spirit and not merely a body, was not then considered debatable, and in the training of a child the spiritual welfare was looked upon as the primary consideration. This point of view elicits small consideration today, though many find our present method sadly inadequate and are now stressing the need of placing far greater emphasis upon the teaching of good citizenship. These critics find that it profits little if a pupil excel in the three R's, and other branches of learning, if he comes forth a clever little crook devoid of principle, an adept at lying and cheating, and with no compunction as to the appropriation of another's good.

Good citizenship is only to be obtained by implanting in the youthful minds those principles and standards which have in the past formed the foundation of our Christian communities, where upright and honorable citizens, were trained to fear God and uphold the laws and to respect the rights of their fellow men. If such warns you when he is thinking up a lie. He repeats not likely to be acquired in later years.

Improvement In Health

The great strides that public health has made in America in the present generation are stringently illustrated by a remark by Dr. George Crile of Cleveland before the 25th clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, in San Francisco.

"One of every 17 persons in the United States and Canada went to hospitals last year," said Dr. Crile. "But that is much less than one decade ago, when one of 10 went to a hospital.

Here is unmistakable evidence of a sharp rise in the general level of public health. A number of factors are responsible: advances in the science of medicine itself, unceasing vigilance on the part of public health departments, and general improvement in health education of the public at large.
