CITY MAY AGAIN BE OIL CENTER

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

Dan Cupid's best carrier pigeon brings a message to this department that two of the Cross Plains trade territory's most celebrated unannexed gentlemen may embark upon the matrimonial sea about Christmas, or shortly thereafter. And we are pleased to inform that the ladies in question are also residents of this vicinity.

Our information discloses that the two grooms-to-be, are both professional men. Selah! three guesses won't be necessary.

What-cha-callems: Jim McMillan, who guards the city from darkness until dawn, was once an ardent student of opera music; his vocal renditions are said to have echoed all over the Caddo Peak community, twenty odd years ago.

For years the Review has been striving to achieve one of the largest circulations of small town Texas newspapers. No stone has been left unturned in our efforts to reach this objective. If new subscribers continue to come in as they are doing during the present bargain days and old readers rally again to the cause, we believe that the end of 1933 will place your home town newspaper close to the top in circulation, for towns of 1,500.

In all sincerity we ask you to lend a hand to this movement. In filing our circulation records with official sources, only paid subscriptions can be counted, and it would certainly be nice for Cross Plains' newspaper to lead the list for towns of 1,500.

Something should be done about Elliott Bryant. He has one of the finest libraries in this section and we have reason to believe that he's rather talk insurance or finance than devour their contents. The other night we borrowed a rare volume from him and found many of its pages to be yet uncut.

Tsh, tsh, Elliott; remember Abe Lincoln always read until midnight.

Scott Miller, an old Cross Plains boy, is the latest installment to the marriage parade and is now entitled to benedictional courtesies. He was wed Sunday afternoon to a Brownwood girl, in Fort Worth.

Power to you Scottie; and may the Lord bless all that He has created.

Carlton Powell, the man of many jobs, is no longer at Meadow. He's located a better position. He is now with the federal government and travels over West Texas. His wife does not intend to leave her, however.

From California, comes a card from Mack (Red) Bingham that he is now a full fledged gob in Uncle Sam's United States Navy.

Red writes that he likes the new location fine, but between the lines in his card we noted a slight case of nostalgia.

And now, a postcard mailed from the local office and signed "Some Gossip Column Readers", reaches us making the following query.

"We would like to know if there is any man in Cross Plains that can rate even one date with a certain Spanish teacher. At least 12 have tried but none got as far as first base. Even automobiles fail to advantage the local chaps."

And there is more to the card but we're already out of space and might even get our face slapped for having this much.

ACTION IS TAKEN 15 DAYS AHEAD OF THE ALLOTTED TIME

Announcement is made from the Citizens State Bank that all deferred deposits from the old First State Bank have been placed on the active ledger and are subject to check. The transfers were made last week, 15 days before the allotted time.

The transferring of the deferred deposits to the checking accounts of customers is the final step made by the new bank in retiring obligations of the First State Bank, which it assumed November 16, 1931.

"We are pleased to report a substantial increase in deposits and feel certain that our institution is in the best condition in recent years. We are grateful for the splendid cooperation shown the Citizens State during the past two years and realize that with such loyal support the new bank is destined to become a real asset to the communities which it is serving", said C. C. Neeb, Cashier, to the Review yesterday.

'BUFFS' BEAT BAIRD IN NERVE WRACKING GAME HERE FRIDAY

In a game packed with thrills from the opening whistle until the closing gun, Cross Plains high school Buffaloes nosed out Baird on the local gridiron Friday afternoon by a score of 19 to 18.

Until two minutes before closing time for the contest the herd led by a margin of 19 to eight. A series of passes and a around end dash by Atchinson, netted Baird six points. Then, a bad pass from center by Jimmie Settle, who was substituting for 'Bevo' Webb and playing for his first time at the pivot position, went wild and the visitors covered for another touchdown making the count 19 to 18. An attempt by Atchinson to plunge the line for the extra point failed and the game ended with Cross Plains one point ahead.

Cross Plains first marker came early in the second quarter when James Patterson, Buffalo end, snatched a pass which had been partially blocked by a Baird secondary and dashed 15 yards for a touchdown. Walker's attempt to convert was wild. The half ended in a six all tie.

Field Day For 'Hungry'

Cross Plains scored again in the third quarter, when 'Hungry' Spencer crossed the goal line after a series of twisting, around tackle dashes. Walked kicked goal. Halbert made the last domestic counter with a plunge through the center of Baird's forward line.

'Hungry' Spencer had a field day gaining more distance on running plays than the entire Baird backfield. He eluded tacklers with his chicken like twisting to make long gains, when it seemed apparent that he'd be downed by Baird secondaries.

The Buffaloes made 14 first downs to Baird's eight. The visitors attempted 13 passes. Eight were completed for 103 yards, one was intercepted and five were blocked. Cross Plains tried five passes, two being completed for 30 yards, one intercepted and two blocked.

Referee Adams, of A. C. C., penalized the local boys five times for 45 yards and the visitors five times for 35 yards.

Marie Neeb and Lella Mae Bennett visited in Brownwood Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Gautney made a business trip to Salem, Arkansas, this week.

Mrs. Sam Long visited relatives in Moran past week.

Mrs. Gray Patterson has returned from a visit to Dallas, where she attended the State Fair.

SUPPLY STORE HERE IS PIVOT FOR MANY NEW DRILLING WELLS

With nine wells drilling in or near Cross Plains trade territory, optimism is running high that the 'following gold' will again lift this little city into the limelight of the crude industry.

A test that is creating no little interest is that of the Petroleum Interests, Inc. on the Beck survey—S. R. Chambers tract—four miles Southeast of Cross Cut. The large rotary is one of the first of its type ever used in this vicinity. The test was spudded Sunday.

A nice showing of oil was encountered at the Elmburger—4,200 feet—in the deep test on the Al Erwin tract, 18 miles West of here. The crew had halted Tuesday prior to running the five inch.

E. M. Howard, Cross Plains pipe dealer, is drilling a well near Rising Star. He was 415 feet yesterday and states that he plans to drill to the Cross Cut sand.

Another well is reported drilling at May.

Culberson Brothers and the Texas Company have moved in and are rigging up on the Stevard tract, five miles East of Cross Cut. They expect to get underway with drilling within the next few days.

Arcadia Refining Company is planning to begin a well on the Golson tract near Burkett soon.

Another test is drilling in the Burkett field but logs on the well were not available at press time Thursday.

The Anzac Oil Company is 1,200 feet in a test going down on the Johnson tract, West of Cross Plains, near Oplin. They plan to reach the Elmburger at least.

R. C. McCarty and J. E. White sides are rigging up on the Hamilton tract near Cross Cut and will get underway perhaps early next week.

With the Oil Well Supply Company, one of the largest stores for drilling equipment in the Southwest located in Cross Plains, this city is expected to become the center for crude activities throughout this area. Ted R. Smith, local manager of the firm, reports an increased business and has employed Buster Bell, of Big Spring, to assist him with the enlarged business.

"DON'T MARRY BEFORE YOU ARE FINANCIALLY INDEPENDENT", VOYLES

"Do not marry before you are independent economically", advised Dr. C. A. Voyles, pastor of the Baptist Church, in a sermon to young people Sunday night. This advice was given in the first of a series of sermons the pastor is preaching on the general theme of home life and religion.

A large congregation was present to hear the initial sermon Sunday night. In the discourse, Dr. Voyles said in part, "Our young have social problems that are real and difficult of solution. The changes of the outside world have altered American home-life. Young people have been suddenly and unprepared thrust into the mad-storm of the twentieth century. Too often older people have hindered by their criticism. The church has failed to provide wholesome, social life that was attractive to the young folks; consequently, they have drifted from religion to wicked ways".

In conclusion the pastor urged the parents to seek to understand youth. He also warned the young people of the danger of the present commercialized, amusement age.

Dr. Voyles said his sermon next Sunday night would be addressed especially to young married couples.

Bufs Meet Caddo Team In Game Sat.

Bufs Defeat Bears 19-18 In A Struggle Friday Afternoon

This week the Cross Plains high Buffaloes continue their march to a district championship, against the Caddo high school at Caddo next Saturday. The boys from Caddo won by forfeit from Pioneer, they beat Rising Star, and were defeated 12-0 by the Baird Bears. Reports indicate that they have a strong team at Caddo and that they are pointing for the Buffaloes this week.

The Buffaloes to date stand 1000 percent in the district race. They have defeated the following teams; Clyde, Pioneer, Moran and Baird. The Buffaloes lucked out a 19 to 18 victory over the Baird Bears on their home field last Friday. The first quarter was played almost on even terms, with Cross Plains having a slight advantage. Early in the second quarter a pass from Halbert to Patterson netted six points. But the Baird boys came back strong and on a pass from Bell to Atchison tied the count, and the half ended with the ball in midfield. The Bears kicked off and Cross Plains got the ball on their own forty yard line. From there Cross Plains drove for a touchdown with out losing the ball, with Spencer making a fine twenty five yard run for the score. Late in the third quarter captain Walker blocked a Baird punt, and Cross Plains got the ball on the visitors eight yard line. In three plays the Buffaloes tallied again, Halbert making the final two yards. Walker then kicked the goal that proved to be the deciding point of the game. Then with about four minute left to play a Baird half intercepted a Buffalo pass and ran the ball back to the Cross Plains twenty three yard line. Then a pass put it on down to the eight yard line. Then on the next play Bell tossed a lateral to Atchison who circled end for six more points. Baird kicked off and the ball went in the end zone and was brought out to the twenty yard line. On the second play that was pulled the ball was passed too high from center and rolled into the end zone where Baird recovered for a touchdown. Atchison the attempted to carry the ball over but failed. The game ended with the ball in Cross Plains possession on their own twenty eight yard line.

STAMPEDE

Here are some jokes, And a few wise pokes; But be they so few, They're guaranteed to be true

And this week the last years lettermen began wearing their new honors. But after they wear the new off them, the girls will begin dwinleing them down until in about two months the boys will begin going in their shirt sleeves again.

Somewhere I hear this little poem. The school with the spirit Is the school with the pep, The school with the football team Is the school with the rep; The school with the backers Is the school with the go, That's why I know those Bufs Will hit em high and hit em low.

What is this world coming to? In two periods Harry Carmichael wrote two themes and prepared several propositions in Geometry. After all, the world is going speed crazy.

Mr. Wheeler, the man of the eternal promise! Each week since the beginning of school he has promised to organize the Buffalo Raquet Club anew. I wonder if his girl stands for him to postpone his dates with her like that.

Like a person climbing steps the Buffaloes are climbing the ladder to district champs. From now on the climbing will be harder and the barriers tougher because each team will be primed to their sharpest edge for us. The Bufs will surmount any obstacle though because it takes more than eleven men to halt a herd of stampeding Buffaloes.

Wilburn—"How many senses are there?" Harry "Six" Wilburn "Mr. Wheeler told me I only had five."

Jay Lee "What could be worse than a geriffe with tonsilitus." Hungry "That's easy. A hippo with mumps," an elephants with series trouble, or a certipede with 'athlete foot'.

Future Farmers Go To Dallas Fair With V. A. Underwood

Six of the Cross Plains Future Farmers of America and their adviser dragged the plows under the sheds, turned the mules in the pasture and drove over to Dallas Friday night for the annual F. F. A. State Convention held at the Dallas Fair, Saturday, October 21.

Buster Atwood and Jimmie Lusk were the delegates represented at the State Convention from the local chapter while Alton Barr played a cornet in the State F.F.A. Band, other members that attended convention were Tommie Harris, Hadden Payne, Jimmie Lee Payne, and V. A. Underwood adviser.

The group visited a number of agriculturist exhibits as well as several other attractive exhibits.

The tired farmer boys returned to Cross Plains Sunday afternoon by a different route from the one traveled going down.

Pep Rally Held In Study Hall Friday Morning

An assembly was held in the study hall Friday morning from 9 to 9:20 in form of a Pep Rally. Mr. Wheeler had change of the assembly Coach Keyes the teacher and several of the football boys gave short talks. The whole student body sang some songs and gave some yells. After the assembly that "Ole Cross Plains Spirit" was renewed in the heart of every student.

Nearly 24,000 carloads of fruit and vegetables were shipped out of the lower Rio Grande Valley in the 1932-1933 season.

OPEN LETTER

To Callahan Farmers

By

ROSS JENKINS, County Agent

Dear Callahan Farmer:

The cotton program for the 1933 crop is almost closed with only 100 more checks to arrive. As I look back over the summers' work, I am more than pleased with the work of the year. In the short time of less than four months, the government, with your loyal cooperation, has been able to take out of production upwards of 14,000 acres of cotton and has returned to you $114,000 and will send to you an additional amount on 1666 option bales that you hold. The contracts will come for that option cotton as soon as the checks are all sent out of Washington. That is a good record for Callahan County. The spirit you have shown in this great undertaking reflects your interest not only in your own personal welfare, but also for those who are your neighbors and those unseen members of society all over the United States who are in the larger sense your neighbors also. Almost ninety nine per cent of the farmers of this county signed up to cooperate with the government. To these men and to those who submitted a contract but were refused, I submit this letter. I am not interested in any individual who is so selfish in his heart and so ignorant of the obligations of one good citizen to another that he would refuse his government his loyal support in these critical times when all are needed with their shoulders to the wheel to avert from our government drastic revolution or ruin. The government asked us but reasonable measure of devotion in this campaign and in return paid well for the effort we put forth; we have had the benefit of greater prices for our commodities.

There is a new program coming up whereby we can again test our loyalty and sense of fair play. The government wants you as a partner in the new deal, and expects you as a patriotic citizen to subscribe to the 1934 and '33 cotton and wheat programs. It is to lift the status of the agricultural people that these fine programs are to be put out and your duty is to help with all your might.

I believe in the farmers of Callahan County. I have seen you tested and find you not wanting in patriotism and in cooperative spirit. I am going to count on you during the next two years to help put the name of Callahan County so high on the pages of fair dealing and prosperity that people from all over Texas will have their eyes on this community.

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural product. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is at all druggists. Member N. R. A.

Melton And Pickett Are Captains of Team

The girls met last Wednesday to organize their team for the coming basket ball season, Dorcas Pickett, one of the outstanding players on the team last year, was chosen captain; and Hester Hounshell, another well known athlete was chosen for co-captain. The girls are planning on beginning training next Monday.

The boys met Friday to elect their captains. Lee Melton, limelight athlete of last year and preceding years, was elected Captain, and Foister Pittman, brother of Ovley Pittman, was elected assistant captain Mr. Hughes is coaching the boys.

It has not been definitely settled as to which team shall use the good court, although it is supposed that the boys will be generous enough to share it with the girls. The court was built last year with money which was raised at a pie-supper. It seems as if the girls were promised that if they brought pies, the court would be half theirs. Anyway, prospects are bright, and regardless of the court used, good teams are expected.

New basket balls have been purchased.

End Of The World

By Norris Chambers
The Earth's last storm has struck
And the people are frantic and scared
For the thing is then upon the earth
That they so long have feared.

The damage is counted and marked
And the dead are numbered and lost
And the ruin to the nations and seas
Is summed up in one great cost.

When the emperors and kings are dead
And the rulers are lost and gone
Then the Monarchs and Democracies
Have vanished
And no nation's sword is drawn.

The buildings are demolished and stricken
And the cities are swept and destroyed;
The houses are mingled with the debris
And the work of destruction is employed.

EDITORIAL

PRE-DESTINATION

By Norris Chambers

Some people go around saying and believing, "Yes, your time to die is already set down. You cannot get out of it—the inevitable end is already marked, the date set." By this they mean that they think they believe that every event in the whole course of nature is set down and planned out beforehand. That every time a rabbit is shot down, it is part of the original plan—that everything that moves must make every movement, even the batting of an eye, according to the way it was planned out from the beginning.

If the plan for every existence and every affair was laid at the beginning, then what would happen if some creature accidentally did something he was not destined to do? But you will say, "Oh, he won't do anything that he is not supposed to do. It is part of the plan that he do just so much, and try as he may, he can do no more nor no less." Suppose there is a pencil before me—I can either pick it up or let it stay there. I have my choice. If it is part of the original plan for me to leave the pencil there, then do you think it would be impossible for me to pick it up? No; I can pick up the pencil if I want to, and if I should, when I am not supposed to, what will happen? Nothing. So you will say, "Well, it was part of the plan that you pick it up," while if I had left it where it was, you would have said the same thing.

Human beings have the power of choice. They are not governed by a pre-destined course. It is foolish to believe that every little action is planned from a beginning, and that it absolutely cannot be avoided. If this were so, and some fortune teller who was an expert told you that you would die at a certain place, in a certain manner, at a certain time, then if you failed to appear at that time at that place you would fail to die in that manner. Thus you see that the argument of pre-destination does not hold up.

And you say that animals have no control of their actions, that they were all mapped out before the animal was born. That it not so. If I have a rabbit in my clutches—have him bound down where there is no chance of escape—then I have that rabbit's life in my grasp. I can kill the animal by pulling the trigger of a gun, or I can let the rabbit live by leaving it alone. By this you can see that I have either the power to kill or set free the rabbit. I am bound to do one of these two things—according to your theory one these two things is undoubtedly the way that was planned. And since I have it in my power to do either, then if it is planned that the rabbit is to die, I can set it free; if it is planned that the rabbit is to go free, then I can kill it. But which is really the way intended? No one shall know, for either one that I do will be all right.

You cannot try both the experiments at once but it is generally accepted as true that if I push the muzzle of a rifle against the head of a rabbit and pull the trigger, the rabbit dies, I can do either, and I have a choice. Predestination is not even logical—much less sensible.

All the good souls are in Heaven
And the bad ones are lodged in Hell;
And scientists have pointed to their theories
For it all has ended well.

And now the storm has swept over
And the dying and wounded are taken;
The dying to perish in glory
And the wounded to be not forsaken

We feel as if we can do better work, now that we are something besides freshmen. We intend to do our best all the time, and we are behind the paper. We will do all we can to make it a success.

Well, grab your board, there come some of those green fish!

When Pullets Start Laying

It is important to have pullets in their laying quarters at least two or three weeks before they start laying. A radical change in their environment after they start laying may lead to a moult which, possibly will postpone egg production for some considerable time. As pullets are usually more profitable than hens, it will pay to plan to cull out the older birds in order to allow sufficient room for the incoming pullets. It does not pay to overcrowd these layers but, if there is any question about allowing sufficient floor space, it is better to crowd the older birds than to allow insufficient room for the pullets.

Perhaps the most important consideration in the prevention of cannibalism in pullets is the amount of space allowed per bird. For general purpose or heavy breeds, it is best to allow four square feet per bird. For Leghorns, there and a half square feet per bird if penned up during the winter and three square feet if the birds run out year round, is standard. Less space per bird is needed in large flocks than in small ones. More pullets can be housed successfully in a given area as the pullets are more susceptible to colds than are the hens and, as has already been mentioned are more liable to become cannibalistic. It is also important to allow at least one nest to each four or five pullets.

Before the pullets are placed in their laying quarters the house must be free from disease and parasites. A mixture of boiling water and household lye is commonly used, at the rate of one pound of lye to forty gallons of water. The hot lye solution, applied, as near the boiling point as possible, helps to remove dried manure and dirt that may be on the floor, walls and equipment of the house. Following the washing, it is advisable to apply a spray containing some good disinfectant. There are many disinfectants on the market suitable for poultry houses. In purchasing disinfectants, it is advisable to note the phenol coefficient of the materials, as disinfectants are rated by a comparison of their germ-killing power with carbolic acid. Pine oil disinfectants have been found to be very effective germ killers.

In addition to the elimination of diseased or apparently diseased birds at the time the pullets are housed, many poultrymen take precautions of vaccination against chicken pox and the treatment of the pullets for intestinal parasites while they are still on range.

Pullets require careful supervision

SCHOOL TIME Means SHOE TIME

No phase of a school child's clothing is as important as the shoes. Badly worn, leaky shoes mean ill health and absent days from classrooms.

Timely repairs at Gautney's will not only be an insurance on your child's health but will result in a material saving in the long run.

GAUTNEY'S SHOE SHOP

at the time they are first put into their laying quarters. It is usually necessary to give them some assistance in becoming accustomed to the roosts.

An epidemic of Fall colds often starts by allowing pullets to spend the night on the floor, huddled into a corner, on or in the nests, on the rafters of the house, or even in the windows at the front of the house.

STAGING DANCE FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE

Dances sponsored by the Bob Bishop American Legion Post at Rising Star every second Friday night are becoming a regular entertainment feature, according to announcement from Wayne C. Sellers, publicity chairman, yesterday. Another of the dances, from which proceeds are used for community enterprises, will be held in the Chevrolet building at Rising Star Friday night.

Sellers' announcement to the Review said: "The dance this Friday night will be well managed and orderly as usual. Ray Judia and his orchestra from Cisco will be on hand to furnish music. Those who attended the last dance know he has a nice band, and this week he stated that there will be additional instruments added to the personnel of two weeks ago.

'PROMPT ACTION' IS ASKED BY RECOVERY MEN ON N. R. A. QUERY

Properly completed questionnaires are expected, in the course of the National Recovery Census now under way, from every business establishment in the country, including those in which there are no paid employees, according to information just received from Washington.

A return from every business is essential, it was today pointed out by the National Recovery Administration in a statement requesting the owners of stores and other business in which the owner does all the work, to be particularly prompt in filling in and returning the questionnaires now being distributed. Many cases have been reported where owners have mistakenly believed because they have no employees they need make no return.

Such owner-operators should insert the word "none" as the answer to questions asking for number of employees and amounts of salary or wages paid.

It was particularly pointed out that returns are also expected from non-commercial institutions. Churches, private schools, charitable organizations, social and fraternal groups, are also requested to answer the questionnaire and return it promptly.
