LEASING ACTIVE AT SCRANTON

Review Begins Annual Bargain Days

ONE THIRD IS CUT FROM USUAL PRICE OF SUBSCRIPTIONS

Annual bargain rates went into effect Wednesday morning—September first—on new and renewal subscriptions to the Review. During the Autumn months price of the paper will be reduced one third.

Subscribers who live in Callahan, Eastland, Brown, Coleman, or Shackelford county may renew or subscribe during the "bargain days" for $1.00, whereas the customary price is $1.50; subscribers who reside outside the Cross Plains trade area—any adjoining county—may place their paper in good standing for another year for $1.50, whereas the regular price is $2.00.

Despite the fact that newspaper has made material advances within recent months, production prices are being hiked, there is to be no increase in the price of the home town newspaper. Readers are urged to cooperate with the bargain day movement by renewing subscriptions as soon as conveniently possible.

Those who do not know the exact date their paper expires will be furnished this information upon request.

REUNION MORROW FAMILY IS HELD AT ABILENE, SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Morrow, of Nolan, were the honorees at a reunion held at Lake Abilene, August 28. Included in the 54 present were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Spencer, of George Baum, Frank Spencer, Vernon, Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Aiken, all of Cross Plains. Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Childress and family, of Baird; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Edwards and family, Southland; Mrs. J. C. Reed and children, Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Marrow and family, Nolan; Mrs. Wiston Cole and children, Wingate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marrow and family, Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vinegard, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. West, Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hogg, Swenson; Mrs. H. A. Tyrone, Divide; Mr. and Mrs. Will Coffey, Hornleigh; Mrs. B. H. Louis, Snyder.

C. B. Hurt, Mrs. Albert Hurt, Mrs. Vada Deen and children, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Pritchard and family, all of Ship; and Mr. and Mrs. George Cove, Nolan.

DOLORES TANNER WILL TEACH HERE

Miss Dolores Tanner, graduate of Texas State College for Women, at Denton, was elected Monday night to teach English and Public Speaking in Cross Plains high school this year, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Novelyn Price who accepted a position at Baird.

Miss Tanner formerly taught in Eastland and has had experience directing declamation and high school plays.

One other vacancy is yet to be filled in the local system. It is in the grammar grades.

SETTLE INSTITUTES DELIVERY SERVICE
Pick up and delivery service will be instituted Monday morning by J. L. Settle's tailoring plant. The Review was told yesterday. There will be no additional charge for the extra service.

Bill Payne is at home after attending school at A&M college during the summer.
Miss Wilda Fay Wilson of Waco was a visitor here over the week end.

DID PREHISTORIC MONSTERS INHABIT THIS TERRITORY

Tom Bryant's admiration of rare things, especially rocks, caused him to search old places in pursuit of his hobby. Last week his efforts proved availing.

While looking for petrified stone he uncovered a queer looking specimen. Examination showed it to resemble ivory—the tusk of an elephant, only larger. Those who have examined the 20 pound rarity believe it to be part of the tusk of a prehistoric monster.

The "ivory" slab has the gentle slope of an elephant's tusk, however, it is much larger in circumference, measuring about 12 inches.

Mr. Bryant plans to have the specimen examined by an archologist.

12 TEACHERS TO COMPOSE BURKETT SCHOOL FACULTY

Burkett schools are to open Monday, September 13, with an anticipated enrollment of 325, the Review was told yesterday by Superintendent W. R. Chambers.

Twelve teachers will compose this year's faculty. They are: Chambers, mathematics; T. C. Laws, principal; science and history; Miss Georgia Ferrell, English; Miss Alice Cross, vocational home economics; A. J. Edgewood, vocational agriculture. The grammar school staff will include: Miss Vera Pearl Oliver, Lelloy Beard, Miss Leola Aikins, Mrs. J. C. Bowden.

Bus drivers who have been employed to transport children to school are: L. B. Pierce, B. H. Koenig, Norman Farr and Carson Walker. Lincoln Herring will be janitor.

A meeting of trustees, teachers, bus drivers and janitor, has been called for Friday night, September 10, at which time plans for the ensuing year's work will be outlined. The following day, teachers are to meet and arrange schedules.

The superintendent and principal have announced that they will be glad to confer with students on Friday and Saturday before school opens on Monday in regard to classification and courses to be offered.

Trustees of the Burkett district are: E. W. Martin, J. M. Bell, L. E. Mountain, J. C. Slack, A. R. Harris, O. E. Brink, and A. E. Koenig.

LOCAL BANK MADE STATE DEPOSITORY

Announcement was received Wednesday by F. V. Tunnell, Cashier that the Citizens State Bank here had been chosen as a depository for state funds. $25,000.00 will be deposited in the local institution by the state of Texas, the announcement said.

The local institution has also recently qualified and been selected as a school depository.

The $25,000.00 state deposit will give the Citizens State better than $100,000.00 on deposit.

PASTOR BACK FROM REVIVAL MEETING

Rev. V. W. Tatum has returned home from a revival meeting at Pochie and announces that he will fill his pulpit at the Baptist church for both services here Sunday.

"We enjoyed good success at the meeting and I come back inspired to a greater service," said the Rev. Mr. Tatum.

Sunday school is to begin at 9:45, preaching at 11, Sunday morning. Night service is to start at eight o'clock.
Joe B. McAdams was a business visitor in Baird Friday.

PIONEER SCHOOLS TO OPEN AUTUMN SESSION MONDAY

With an anticipated enrollment of 300, Pioneer schools will begin the Fall session Monday morning at nine o'clock with a general assembly in the high school auditorium.

The teaching staff for the school this year is as follows: L. C. Cash, Superintendent; W. Williams, principal.

NO PARALYSIS
Rumors that there were two cases of infantile paralysis in Pioneer were disproved yesterday morning in a check-up with Superintendent L. C. Cash, of the Pioneer school system.

"Two children at Pioneer have been ill and it was at first feared that they might be stricken with infantile paralysis," however, attending physicians have definitely stated that there are no symptoms of the disease and there should be no cause for alarm," Cash said.

Pioneer school officials investigated every illness in the district and learned that the school district had not a single case of infantile paralysis, the Review was told.

Alva Harrell, Phil-Pe-Co golfer lost to Fred Bedford, of Brady, on the final hole of the Brownwood links tourney's championship match Sunday, when his put to have was two feet short.

Harrell had his opponent five down through the 27th, but slipped badly on the last 9 to card 9 over par. The tide turned when the Brady leader took Nos. 28 and 29 with birdies. He also won the next hole with a par 4.

Bedford won the 31st hole when a technicality was called on Harrell, because he had removed a rock in the rough near the green.

Bedford won the next hole and the match was all square. Harrell birdied 33 to take the hole, and so one up. The Brady golfer won the 34th with a par and the match was again even. The next hole was halved and they approached the 36th all-square. Harrell's put, which would have halved the hole was not strong enough, and he was 1 down.

Two Phil-Pe-Co golfers, Harrell and W. A. Wright, faced each other in one of the semi-finals. Harrell clinched the best, 3 and 2.

NIMROD MAN AND SABANNO GIRL WED

J. M. Carnes, of Nimrod, and Miss Inez Darnell, of Sabanno were united in marriage here Friday with Justice of the Peace Drew I. Hill officiating. The bride is the daughter of Ed Darnell.

JEAN HARLOW'S LAST COMPLETED PICTURE AT LIBERTY SUNDAY

Two of the outstanding names in the film firmament are co-starring in "Personal Property" which will be the attraction at the Liberty Theatre for two days, beginning Saturday midnight. They are Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor, appearing in the comedy-drama, "Man in Possession," which enjoyed a hit run on the New York stage.

The picture, according to W. A. Bowers, Liberty manager, is the last completed by the late Jean Harlow, whose recent death rocked millions of movie goers. She was working on "Saratoga" at the time of her death but died before it was completed.

In the supporting cast are Reginald Owen, one of Hollywood's outstanding character actors; Una O'Connor, who played Norma Shearer's maid in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," Henrietta Crossman, veteran actress of the Broadway stage, E. E. Clive, Cora Witherspoon, Marla Shelton, Percester Harvey, Lionel Braham and Barnett Parker.

The story of "Personal Property" casts Miss Harlow as Mrs. Crystal Wetherby who poses in London society as a wealthy American widow, but who is actually impoverished and is being pursued by her

Cross Plains Will Have High School Band Of 40 Pieces; Lively Director

For the first time in history Cross Plains is to have a school band this year. Courses in band music have been added to the curriculum and credit will be given on a high school diploma. A. O. Lively, former director of the Cross Plains Municipal Band, '35, been engaged to conduct this work. Lively is at present also director of the Daniel Baker College band.

Since leaving Cross Plains in 1932, Lively conducted the Palestine Municipal Band two and a half years, producing a first prize band for the three year class in a statewide contest. Later he was at Gaston high school, where he had a band that in four contests rated one excellent and three superiors. This organization was rated the most outstanding band to attend the Texas Centennial in 1936. It was also the official band for the Oleander Festival at Galveston; also, won prizes as the best uniformed delegation of its class and upon instrumentalism.

The band in Cross Plains high school, Lively said yesterday, is to be a permanent proposition. Credit will be given on high school diplomas and the subject will be a part of the authorized curriculum. About 40 pieces are expected to compose the band. There will be three drum majors with the marching band.

It was pointed out yesterday that former Cross Plains students of Lively have earned $1,370 on college educations, as a result of their musical ability. The total will be enlarged this year, the Review was told.

HARRELL LOSES TO BEDFORD IN TOURNEY FINAL AT BROWNWOOD

Alva Harrell, Phil-Pe-Co golfer lost to Fred Bedford, of Brady, on the final hole of the Brownwood links tourney's championship match Sunday, when his put to have was two feet short.

Harrell had his opponent five down through the 27th, but slipped badly on the last 9 to card 9 over par. The tide turned when the Brady leader took Nos. 28 and 29 with birdies. He also won the next hole with a par 4.

Bedford won the 31st hole when a technicality was called on Harrell, because he had removed a rock in the rough near the green.

Bedford won the next hole and the match was all square. Harrell birdied 33 to take the hole, and so one up. The Brady golfer won the 34th with a par and the match was again even. The next hole was halved and they approached the 36th all-square. Harrell's put, which would have halved the hole was not strong enough, and he was 1 down.

Two Phil-Pe-Co golfers, Harrell and W. A. Wright, faced each other in one of the semi-finals. Harrell clinched the best, 3 and 2.

Clark Roberts, another Phil-Pe-Co member, fought his way to the semi-finals of the first flight before he was eliminated by Bobby Morris, of Brownwood.

PAYMENT MADE ON DIST ROAD BONDS

McIntyre McRoberts company of San Antonio has delivered payment on $25,000 road bonds purchased from the Taylor-Callahan counties road district No. 7, officials were informed this week.

The bonds were voted July 8 on the purchase of right-of-way in Callahan county for the proposed highway 35, and delivery of the bonds was made, after registration in the comptroller's office.

First payment on the bonds will be $4,000 of the principal and $515.62 in interest. Of the principal, another $4,000 will be due in 1938, $5,000 in 1940, $6,000 in 1941 and $6,000 in 1942. Interests will be computed semi-annually.

OLD PICTURES AND PAPERS WANTED FOR HISTORICAL ISSUE

Do you keep old newspapers? The Review editor wants a copy of the Pioneer newspaper, which flourished during the oil excitement there, and also a copy of the Cottonwood Prodigal, which suspended publication about 1890. The Review would like to take excerpts from these publications for the historical edition scheduled to come off the press about January first. Any other old newspapers published in this section, as well as old pictures are also welcomed.

"NEOLECTRESS" IS SUBSTITUTED FOR WORD "HOUSEWIFE"

What is believed to be the first concerted effort in the nation to eliminate from popular usage a name the majority of women resent, "housewife," this week had resulted in the substitute word, "Neoelectress."

It was defined as meaning "a modern house maker alert to this new electric age" and had the approval of Dr. Charles E. Funk, noted lexicographer of New York, who selected it from more than a thousand substitute names submitted in a campaign conducted by the West Texas Utilities Company over its 40,000 square-mile territory.

Mrs. Ben D. Parker, Abilene woman and a dog fancier, submitted the word, Ne-o, she pointed out, means "new." Lectress, she said, suggests feminine usage of electricity.

The campaign was based on the theory that the word "housewife" has become obsolete due to the improved status of women.

"It is true," Dr. Funk said in announcing his selection of neoelectress, "that the facilities for the effective management of the home have, within the past few years, become so notable as to render—let us hope, forever—much of the senseless drudgery formerly a concomitant of that necessary field."

"My search for the winning name (neoelectress) led me to seek a term that was not only new in every respect, but that would be formed with due regard to etymology and with a recognition of the fact that the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity."

Winner of second prize in the contest was Mrs. F. R. Probandt, of San Angelo, who entered the word "domestician." Third place was awarded Mrs. W. B. Bourland, of Oklahoma, with the entry, "homeologist." Decisions of Dr. Funk also were based on letters explaining usage of words.

Mrs. Parker's reward for her first place entry will be a super-duty Frigidaire; Mrs. Probandt receives her choice of a Hotpoint electric dishwasher or a Thor washing machine; and Mrs. Bourland will be presented with a Sunbeam Mixer.

Honorable mention and choice of smaller electric appliances will go to 10 women: Mrs. Lee White, Dalhart; Mrs. O. R. Bodeca, Caddo; Mrs. Jane Yeager, Rochelle; Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Vernon; Mrs. W. N. Pipkin, Matador; Mrs. S. G. Jones, Abilene; Mrs. J. Dexter Eoff, Ballinger; Anna Mick, Mason; Mrs. R. H. Bounds, Stamford; and Mrs. R. R. Trimble, San Angelo.

TUNNELLS MOVE INTO WILLIAMS RESIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Tunnell and family have rented the Nat Williams residence in the North part of town and will move here from Rising Star Monday. Mr. Tunnell is Cashier of the Citizens State Bank in Cross Plains.

$5.00 AN ACRE IS OFFERED WITH NO TAKERS THIS WEEK

Stimulated by the recent announcement of Phillips Petroleum Company that a 4,000 feet oil test will be drilled on the B. P. Cozart farm at Scranton, trading on leases in that vicinity has become active with some tracts bringing as much as $5.00 an acre.

An Abilene syndicate is said to have offered $5.00 this week for anything within a mile of the well. There were, however, no takers. Tracts not included in the huge Phillips block are reported to be receiving overtures from oil operators throughout this entire section.

The Cozart test is to be located in Callahan county 300 feet from the Eastland county line.

Confidence in the wildcat is no doubt increased due to the fact that it is generally known that a number of core tests were drilled in the Scranton vicinity a few years ago. Rigging up is expected to be started on the test within the near future, the Review was told yesterday.

28 CROSS PLAINS STUDENTS OFF TO COLLEGES IN AREA

With the arrival of September one finds many college students of this place making last minute preparations to return to school.

The 28 boys and girls from this place who will leave this week and next to enroll in different schools. They are as follows: Dale Bertrand, Socrates Walker, Doyle McMillan, and D. C. Hargrove will be enrolled at Daniel Baker college in Brownwood. Miss Eloise Lane, and David Henkel will attend Hardin Simmons University at Abilene. Miss Bobbie Nell Neel will return to Weatherford Junior college in Weatherford. Clifton Armstrong will attend Texas Tech in Lubbock. J. T. Cross, and Billie Gray, will be enrolled at McMurry college in Abilene.

Miss Cheryl Lutgens, Donald Lutgens and Miss Sara Collins are to attend Trinity University in Waco. Jimmie Settle, Morland Baldwin, R. W. Huntington, and Ross Hagan Hemphill will be enrolled at Texas University in Austin. Durward Varner, James Collins, Garland Smith and Bill Payne will attend A & M College at College Station.

Miss Martha Nan McAdams will attend John Tariton College at Stephenville. Miss Helen Johnson will be enrolled at John Tariton in Stephenville. Bobbie Hiss will return to Abilene Christian College in Abilene. Miss Ida Nell Williams will enroll at C.I.A. in Denton. Bevo Webb will return to North Texas State Teachers College in Denton. Billie Welch will attend school in Colorado and Tommie Holden Jr., will return to Oklahoma University in Norman Oklahoma.

START SCHOOL AT DRESSY ON MONDAY

Dressy school will begin the Fall session Monday morning. Plan of the trustees is to run three or four weeks and then dismiss school until after the rush of cotton season.

Teachers at Dressy this year are to be C. R. Steele, principal, and Miss Clara Nell McDermitt.

Mr. Steele finishes his second semester of college work this Summer at Howard Payne this week. He did his first semester's work at Texas University. This is the fourth consecutive year he has completed two semesters.

Miss McDermitt also attended the university at Austin this Summer.

Misses Emily McCollum, Mary Runington, and Velma Stanley all of Brownwood were visitors here Sunday.

Nothing but the United States mint can make money without advertising.

Home Town Gossip

Richard Holford, editor, of the News-Review, owes the city of Cross Plains a retraction for an erroneous item carried in his paper a couple of weeks ago.

For some unknown reason the newspaper took it upon himself to inform subscribers that the city of Cross Plains has only four telephones. If Holford has ever been in this up and coming little town no one here seems to know anything about it, and where he derived this absurd idea is an even sorer puzzle.

For your information Mr. Holford let me say, Cross Plains has 16 telephones and one of the most up-to-date operators in the state. Please enlighten your readers accordingly, both of them.

As now while we're speaking of other members of the craft it is going and proper that a few addressees be spent in commendation of the splendid historical edition of the Rising Star Record which came off the press last week. "Doc" Galt and his staff produced one of the most interesting 28 page editions it has ever been our good fortune to examine.

"Well done, friend 'Doc'"; Rising Star should feel proud of this splendid achievement and present copies of it for posterity.

The S&H Department Store is being torn but that does not necessarily mean Cross Plains is to see any less dry goods stores. It's my guess that the building won't last 15 days.

Every community in the Cross Plains trade territory has an oil flurry, with the exception of two or three. It now looks as if Scranton is going to become a center of excitement. Selah, power to you Scranton, here's hoping that your is the best boom

This column would give a pretty good idea as to how many marriages were made in Cross Plains. Facts as this are being compiled for publication in a huge historical edition now being prepared by the Review.

A couple of weeks ago we recommended that Cross Plains arrange a football game with Baird on September 15. Both schools had open sides on that date. A day or after the Review came out, Nat Adams, Baird supt., booked an opponent for October 15. And now looks as though grid rivalry between the two schools will have to be suppressed until 1938.

Cross Plains men may be surprised to hear it but most every one of them has a neoelectress in home. At least that is what Mr. Mitchell told the Gossip last Thursday morning. If this is a lie, a riot, blame Arthur

Cross Plains men may be surprised to hear it but most every one of them has a neoelectress in home. At least that is what Mr. Mitchell told the Gossip last Thursday morning. If this is a lie, a riot, blame Arthur

It seems that "neoelectress" is being substituted by the West Texas Utilities Company to replace word "housewife". You can fill the details about it in an installment of the firm on another page of today's edition.

REALIZATION BOARD MEETS SEPTEMBER 11

Realization board for Cross Plains schools will meet September 11 at the City Drug Store, say the board being called to property of the district. The board is composed of O. T. Laws, Vestal and Vic Barclay.

Realization Board of Pioneer Independent Schools will meet Monday morning by L. C. Cash, Superintendent of Pioneer schools.

William O'Brien, of Merkle and H. L. Breeding, is visiting relatives and friends in Cotwood this week.

Jeff Clark and family and W. C. Adams visited their son and daughter, Mrs. Leo Tyler Baird Thursday.

Lena Jergerson and family of Spring spent Thursday and Friday here visiting her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Mae Adams and Baird first of the week as they are employed.

Ruth Johnson was in Stamford last week.

"MAD" CAT KILLED IN TOWN THURSDAY

A "mad" cat was killed in the Northeast part of town here Thursday morning by "Boots" Kinnard. The feline was attacking a milk goat when first noticed. A group of children nearby saw the goat pawing at the cat and scared it away.

Young Kinnard began to observe the animal and noticed that its eyes were bulged and that they were unusually green. A few minutes later the cat began to froth at the mouth and have fits. The lad took a stick and killed the cat. Examination revealed almost certainly that the animal was afflicted with rabies.

Whether or not it had bitten other animals in the neighborhood was not immediately learned.

SYNOPSIS
Just before she leaves to spend a vacation in France, Anne Vincent tells her adopted daughter, Rachel, that Rachel's mother was beautiful. Elinor Mallory, before her marriage to Rachel's father, who was killed in the World War.

Rachel goes to New York, where she is to stay while Anne is in France. After Anne leaves for France, Rachel, bent on seeing her real mother, looks up her number.

Rachel learns the Caynes are not yet in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoda Steel's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby genteel young man out of work who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustration. He agrees to introduce her to the head of an agency.

Thinking of Anne, Rachel is puzzled, fretfully believing her own mother would not have left her alone. She is not entirely happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Elinor Cayne increases through Oliver Land she meets Louis Vines, is hired as a photographer's model.

On an assignment Rachel meets Curt Elliott, a young friend of Vines'. At lunch she learns that he is a country newspaper man spending a year in New York. For experience he takes a number of different jobs, planning to return home later to edit the paper his father left. That evening she receives flowers from him. She phones Mrs. Cayne's home but is rebuffed because she will not give her name.

Later Curt reveals that Vines had received an inquiry from a private detective for a girl to go into a rich family and act as lady's maid to check up on some jewelry thefts. Rachel is amazed when she learns the name is Cayne. Without revealing her relationship, she asks Curt to persuade Vines to let her meet Terriss, the detective.

They had to work late, for the photographer was grimly set on making no mistakes this time, so there were takes and retakes and adjustments and checking up each detail from the light sport time needed in the picture to own clothes, but Curt waited her and was there in the shade of the studio entrance. "You kid, I know you're dead," he said. "I've got to dash uptown or take you home. Are you still on this housemaid stunt?"

"Yes, at least I'm going to out what it's all about."

"Then if you don't mind I'll be round in the morning and join conference. I want to know what it's all about, too, I feel responsible for getting you into it."

"Oh, will you? That makes feel heaps better—thanks ever much, Curt! You're a lamb!"

By the time she reached home she wasn't so tired, expectation began to come back and with it to stand by she would be sure herself. The flat was empty, I had left a note saying she had to dinner with a man from her face, so Rachel put on house jammies and foraged for bread milk and fruit in agreeable silt. Just as she sat down to eat door-bell trilled.

"Oh damn!" she said at "Wouldn't you know that would happen?"

It was Genie Moore from across the hall and Genie was in a great rush. "Isn't Pink here?" she asked. "What a nuisance! I wanted to row a hat, I've got a swanky one for the theater and Harriem and said specially not to dress, frork is all right but I haven't a thing to put on my head. It looks festive or eveningish."

"Neither have I," said Rachel looking coldly at Genie's self-blonde prettiness, "and I can't I Pink's things when she's not here."

"Oh, that's all right. I'll tell what I want. Pink won't mind she walked into Pink's room; I began to rummage, coming on moment later with Pink's new white beret. "This is just what I wear how lucky she didn't wear it."

"Lucky for who?" asked Rachel. "Genie laughed. "Lucky for sweetness and light. Tell Pink bring it back in the morning." "You can tell her yourself. Pink isn't crazy about lending her hat."

"She won't mind," said Genie undisturbed. "I'll tell her."

"That'll start another row with Pink, I suppose," thought Rachel returning to her bread and milk. "She'll think I did it purposely cause of my evening dress. A ge thing I'm getting out of here, Genie's a horrid little moocher."

She ate slowly, thinking of the morning and her own mother, with this came thoughts of Anne. How would Anne feel about all this wouldn't it seem as if Rachel had been ungrateful and deceitful? At wouldn't want her to go into Eli Cayne's house, Rachel was sure that, and she began to wonder she could avoid telling Anne. I that would be shameful, coward. A second ring of the bell started her.

"I suppose Genie's come back to slippers and an evening coat," thought, as she opened the door. But Genie was not there, it was someone below at the street entrance who was ringing. Rachel pressed the electric opening button and then went out on the land to discover Oliver Land coming.

"I was near by and thought I'd take a chance," he said. "It's been a grief's age since I saw you. Where's the girl friend—out? The good. I always have a feeling she likes to spit on me. Those are sn pajamas, very becoming—a look at you, sitting here alone eating bread and milk, funny!"

"The most beautiful model in the city ought to be out whooping it!" His face was white, his queer grey eyes were bright and malicious as he didn't seem quite steady on his feet.

"Sit down and stop staring me," said Rachel. "I'm going finish my humble meal. I'm hungry."

"I'm hungry, too," said Oliver. "It's quite a while since I ate. He sat down suddenly, folding his thin and broken.

Rachel was terrified, but she rushed to his aid, pulled him back in the chair, held salts under his nose as he stirred and coughed, and brought a glass of sherry, the oil

Just before she leaves to spend a vacation in France, Anne Vincent tells her adopted daughter, Rachel, that Rachel's mother was beautiful Elinor Mallory, before her marriage to Rachel's father, who was killed in the World War. Rachel goes to New York, where she is to stay while Anne is in France. After Anne leaves for France, Rachel, bent on seeing her real mother, looks up her number. Rachel learns the Caynes are not yet in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoda steel's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby genteel young man out of work who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustration. He agrees to introduce her to the head of an agency. Thinking of Anne, Rachel is puzzled, fretfully believing her own mother would not have left her alone. She is not entirely happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Elinor Cayne increases through Oliver Land she meets Louis Vinco, is hired as a photographer's model. On an assignment Rachel meets Curt Elton, a young friend of Vinco's. At lunch she learns that he is a country newspaper man spending a year in New York. For experience he takes a number of different jobs, planning to return home later to edit the paper his father left. That evening she receives flowers from him. She phones Mrs. Cayne's home but is rebuffed because she will not give her name. Later Curt reveals that Vinco had received an inquiry from a private detective for a girl to go into a rich family and act as lady's maid to check up on some jewelry thefts. Rachel is amazed when she learns the name is Cayne. Without revealing her relationship, she gets Curt to persuade Vinco to let her meet Terriss, the detective. They had to work late, for the photographer was grimly set on making no mistakes this time, so there were takes and retakes and adjustments and checking up on each detail between poses. She had to change from the light sport costume needed in the picture to her own clothes, but Curt waited for her and was there in the shadows of the studio entrance. "You poor kid, I know you're dead," he said. "I've got to dash uptown or I'd take you home. Are you still set on this housemaid stunt?" "Yes, at least I'm going to find out what it's all about." "Isn't Pink here?" she asked. "What a nuisance! I want to borrow a hat, I've got a swanky date for the theater and Harlem and he said specially not to dress, this frock is all right but I haven't got a thing to put on my head that looks festive or eveningish." "Neither have I," said Rachel, looking coldly at Genie's selfish bluntness, "and I can't lend Pink's things when she's not here." "Oh, that's all right. I'll take what I want. Pink won't mind." She walked into Pink's room and began to rummage, coming out a moment later with Pink's new white beret. "This is just what I want, how lucky she didn't wear it." "Lucky for who?" asked Rachel. I'm hungry." "I'm hungry, too," said Oliver. "It's quite a while since I ate." He sat down suddenly, folding up, thin and broken. Rachel was terrified, but she ran to his aid, pulled him back in the chair, held salts under his nose and as he stirred and coughed, she brought a glass of sherry, the only liquor in the apartment, and this she dribbled into his slack, half-open mouth. As she did it she noticed how very thin he was, his collar loose on his neck, his arm a bone in a flapping sleeve. "He's starving," she thought. "He's starving! She tried to lift him farther up in the chair, but he came alive and pushed her away. "Sorry," he murmured apologetically. "I'm making a nuisance of myself. Don't bother—" "Lie down on the sofa," begged Rachel. "I'll help you. Come along, it'll be better for you to lie down and I'll get you something hot to drink." He staggered to his feet and with Rachel helping managed the half dozen steps to the sofa. "It's my head," he whispered, "it's queer."

She left him and ran to the kitchen. Thank goodness she hadn't used all the milk. As soon as it was hot enough she brought him a cup of it. "Now try to drink what you need. Wait, let me hold it." She supported his head and he sipped the milk. "I'm sorry," he said again, weakly. "I ought not to have come." "But what's the matter? Are you sick. Where's Bill? You two are so—" Oliver was sitting up now. "I oughtn't to have come, I tell you Bill and I've been thrown out of the hotel, we haven't been able to pay our room rent for three weeks and we're both down to coffee and we've been trying to find somebody who'd ride over, just a loan, things are bound to break better for us soon, and—there it is. Forget it Rachel, I'll be all right in a minute or two."

"But you said you were hungry, Oliver, that you hadn't eaten for a long time." "Did I say that? I'm a fool! When did I say it?" "Just before you fainted. Is it true, are you hungry?" "Not any hungrier than usual. I had coffee this morning, and a roll, the maid on our floor sneaked them off somebody else's tray. She's a good old soul!" Rachel looked about her distractedly. "There's almost nothing in the house to eat, but I can phone to that little restaurant across the street and get them to send something."

"No, don't think of it. I'm all right. If I could have a little more hot milk—" "Of course," she hurried again to the kitchen, heated more milk, made a couple of slices of toast. "Now," she said, when she came back, "I want you to eat all of this it's not much. And, Oliver, look here, I've felt all along that I owed you something—a commission—for taking me to Vinco and getting me started there and now's certainly the time for me to pay it, and I'm going to."

"You don't owe me anything. I won't take anything from you." "Don't be ridiculous. I do owe you something. And I'm going to pay it." She went into her bedroom and took out all of the money in her bag except a little silver. "Now," she said, coming back and folding the bills flat, "you're to take this and find Bill and get yourself a room and some breakfast in the morning."

Oliver had expertly flipped the corners of the bills. "There's $50 here! You don't owe me anything. I can't possibly take this. You know I can't." But he made no move to return it. "I feel I owe it to you," said Rachel, "and anyway you need it. I wouldn't have it on my conscience to send you out of here broke and nowhere to go. And say for saying you can't take that little bit of money from me, that's not why can't you?"

Oliver still held the bills in his hand. He looked at her miserably, almost with tears. "You're so kind!" he said. "You're so lovely, Rachel. And I'm nothing at all. But I love you. That's why I can't take any money from you." Before she could answer he went on, quickly: "Don't say anything, ashamed to be such a louse, I'm ashamed that I came here and—made you all this trouble. I'm going now. You'll forgive me, won't you, beautiful, dear Rachel?" He rose unsteadily to his feet and picked up his hat. "I'll forgive you if you take the money," said Rachel, shaken and distressed. She caught the bills from his hand, pushed them into his pocket. "There forget about it, go along and find Bill, unless—are you really strong enough to go out alone, Oliver? Do you know where Bill is?"

He flung his arms around her and held her against him, kissing her cheek and forehead and eyes. "I'll never forget this as long as I live," he whispered. "There's nobody in the world but you who would be so wonderful!" And as swiftly as he had embraced her he released her and went to the door and was gone. Rachel stood perfectly still listening to his step on the stairs. Even in her confusion it occurred to her that he was oddly vigorous for a man who had just come out of a hunger faint. He had made, it seemed, a quick recovery. Almost too quick. And hadn't there been something histrionic in the whole episode? (Continued next week) Mrs. William O'Brien, of Merkel, aunt of H. L. TRACY APPEARS IN WANTED! JANE TURNER

Smuggling Lee Tracy will be on the screen of the Liberty Theatre here Thursday in "Wanted! Turner", which is to run one only. Packed with thrills, action and gunplay, plus a typical fast-talking, good-humored comedy by Lee Tracy, this picture is one fault—it's six months. Varying from the run-of-the-mill G-men films in that the department does the slouching of the murderer of a mail driver, it is a well-balanced, fully directed production whose value as a program feature is diminished because of the "war of crime" sagas. Action centers around the pursuit of gangster by means of a letter sent by across the country, and picks up in the general delivery of a girl confederate working the pseudonym, "Jane Turner." Complications arise when the Jane Turner calls for the letter. Directed by Edward Kelly.

Winter Legumes and Inoculation

In previous articles the value of hairy vetch has been stressed. Now, following this article is a letter right to the point from Mr. E. A. Miller, Extension Agronomist, in which he says: "My experience with this crop in Texas on the poorest sandy soil as well as on the richest black land has convinced me that vetch will be one of the most important soil building crops in the future, and it fits so well in the cropping season whereby the land can be kept at work during the winter and summer. Further more, I want to urge you to read the splendid article on vetch by Eugene Butler in the September issue of the Progressive Farmer and my article in the Farm and Ranch which will be published in September. Both articles give the latest methods of growing this crop successfully and the one in the Progressive Farmer gives the results of demonstrations in various parts of Texas."

Mr. Miller points out also that inoculation is very important in the growing of vetch. He says: "It is almost useless to plant vetch without inoculation as there are very few bacteria in the soil for this crop. Failures with vetch in the past have been due largely to lack of inoculation and not using phosphate." Superphosphate should be applied to the land at the rate of one to two hundred pounds 20 per cent purity on sandy land and eroded black land. It will greatly increase the growth of the vetch and when the crop is off the ground the succeeding crop will use the phosphate.

Planting: There are two successful methods of planting vetch. First, broadcast 100 to 200 pounds of superphosphate and 15 to 20 pounds of vetch seed mixed with an equal amount of rye, barley, or wheat to serve as a nurse crop. Then flat break the land so the seed will be covered two to four inches deep. Second, broadcast the phosphate and seed as stated above into a middle-buster or sweep to cover the seed and phosphate two to three inches deep. This method will put the plants all on beds. A third method is to drill the vetch and grain with a common grain drill or row planter and if the fertilizer is used it may be broadcast ahead of the planting. The inoculation should be applied to the seed before they are planted.

Seed Costs: Hairy vetch seed costs about $12.00 per hundred F.O.B. Dallas. The inoculation costs about 65 cents to treat a hundred pounds. This is a real soil builder. It will also fulfill the requirements of the A.A.A. Program in planting idle lands to make compliance in the 1937 program. This office has already ordered several batches of vetch and hopes that many other farmers will have a demonstration of this winter legume to report next Spring.

ORCHARD PLANTING

Last week the county agent accompanied by J. Frank Browning, apple grower of Baird, and Cecil B. Harris, peach grower and orchardist of the Clyde district, attended a field orchard day held at the nursery of Ross K. Wolfe at Stephenville. Some four hundred people were in attendance at that meeting which included enthusiasts from four states. All were impressed with the heavy yield of peaches seen growing on the Frank trees in the Wolfe orchards. It has not failed to bear in the last five years since reaching maturity in the Wolfe orchard and this variety has not been known to fail in the past thirty-four years.

Mr. Alexander of Weatherford exhibited a new apple which he calls the Holland, named for Frank Holland of the Farm and Ranch, which ripens at this time of year and has a very delicious flavor. Mr. Browning exhibited some Golden Delicious, the Starking and King David apples from his orchard. Mr. Browning emphasized the value of the King David apple for this district.

The county agent is releasing this week an orchard letter and inquiry to a number of farmers in this section and if this letter should fail to reach any prospective orchardist it would be appreciated if he would drop into the office and discuss his needs and work out an orchard plan for his farm.

This quantity of fruit trees supply one person with fresh fruit for one year: 6 peach, 4 apple, 2 plum, 6 grapes, and 16 berries. If your orchard does not contain this number of plants for each person it is very likely that you do not produce year by year enough fruit to supply your needs. Most land in Callahan County will grow an orchard if it is properly prepared. All orchard should be terraced before the trees are set and these terraces should be run at narrow intervals so that trees may be placed between each

DANIEL BAKER MAN RISING STAR COACH

Bodie Hunter, former Daniel Baker football star, arrived at Rising Star Wednesday from Brownwood to take the place of high school coach and teacher of science, replacing Carr P. Spraberry, who resigned a few days ago to teach in the Lamesa school system.

Hunter was graduated from Daniel Baker in 1932 and for two years was freshman coach. He taught at Early high school the past two years. The new coach will have a nucleus of eight letter men, several good squadmen brought over from last year and some promising freshmen.

IT SWING TIME AT THE LIBERTY TUE. AND WED.

With New York as its principal setting and a distinctive double-triangle type of theme, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers introduce a wealth of novelty in their newest picture "Swing Time," which opens at the Liberty Theatre here Tuesday night.

Unlike their former offerings, the new picture has an intricate romantic story, with both stars pursuing the course of true love through the obstacles offered by a pair of rivals. Astaire is a cheerful gambler, seeking his fortune in Manhattan so he can go back to his home town and marry his childhood sweetheart; Miss Rogers is a dancing academy instructor who takes Astaire as a pupil, despite the growling of an orchestra leader who intends to marry the lovelorn lady.

Complications come thick and fast, especially when Astaire's fiancée shows up to find out what he's doing, and the band leader makes frantic efforts to break up the growing romance between Astaire and Miss Rogers. All this is interspersed with some of the catchiest song numbers and dances the famous pair have yet presented and the hilarious counterplay of a new screen comedy team in the persons of Victor Moore and Helen Broderick—a combination that gives "Swing Time" top honors in originality and entertainment value.

reach San Antonio to arrange with Mexican officials to carry forward his father's colonization plans, and who was granted permission to explore the lands on the Colorado River?

A. He arrived at San Antonio, Aug. 10, 1821, and at first was bluntly rebuffed, but through the intercession of Baron de Bastrop, whom he chanced to meet, he was authorized to explore the Colorado on August 14.

Q. For whom was Ochiltree county named? A. Ochiltree county, created in 1876, was named for Gen. Wm. B. Ochiltree, a native of North Carolina, who came to Texas in 1839, was judge of the Fifth Judicial District of the Republic in 1842, secretary of the treasury in 1844, attorney general and member of the annexation convention in 1845, and of the secession convention of 1861. He died at Jefferson, Dec. 27, 1847.

Q. How and when was the "Cherokee Rose" introduced in Texas? A. It was brought to Texas more than 100 years ago by colonists from Georgia and planted in the Texas coast settlements, where it has thrived most and attained such size that it is used effectively for lodges.

Q. A former Texas, now living in New Jersey, would like to know if the State of Texas has any lands for sale or lease. A. Write Land Commissioner, General Land Office, Austin, Texas, for desired information.

Q. Have the Texas Rangers ever worn uniforms? A. No, though they are usually pictured wearing broad-brimmed white hats and boots as outstanding features of their clothing.

Q. If the Old Trail Drivers' Association of Texas is still meeting, who are the officers? A. President, W. T. (Jack) Mann, San Marcos; Secretary, Wiley M. Pain, San Antonio.

Q. Where did the variegated philoxerina originate? A. It is a native Texas flower, unknown to botanists until found in great profusion and beauty on Texas prairie by the first colonists. In 1823, a Dr. Drummond, of the Glasgow Botanical Society, sent seeds to England, from which the many beautiful variegated ones known have been propagated.

Q. I notice reference to a place called "Papatote." Is there such a place? A. "Papatote" is a village postoffice in Lee county, the word being Spanish and meaning "windmill."

Q. When was the town of Abilene, Texas, organized? A. It was laid off and lots were sold in 1881, but was not incorporated until 1885.

Q. What was the first name given to Paris, Texas? A. Prior to 1845, it was locally known as "Pinhook"; when at the suggestion of a citizen of French descent it was given the more dignified name of "Paris."

Q. When was Comanche County organized and who were its first officers? A. It was organized from Bosque and Coryell counties, in 1856, with Cora as the county seat. The first officers were Jesse Bond, county judge; F. M. Collier, county clerk; James Martin, sheriff; T. J. Dunlap, justice of the peace. The county seat was moved to Comanche in 1858 and Cora became an abandoned village.

Q. For what was the clock tower at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, originally constructed? A. When built it contained a 30,000-gallon water supply tank for use of the fort.

Q. When was the Government's quartermaster department's storehouse moved from the Alamo? A. On completion of the storehouse at Fort Sam Houston, Dec. 22, 1879.

Q. Who brought in the first important Rusk county oil well, when and where? A. C. M. (Dad) Jolner and associates, seven miles east of Henderson, in 1930, where the town of Joinerville was soon built.

Q. When and where was there a "Hubbard College" in Texas? A. A college of that name was opened in 1881 at Overton by Prof. W. M. Crow, who afterward was superintendent of public schools at Galveston.

Q. I have seen a recent claim that artificial ice was first manufactured in Galveston in 1880. Is that correct? A. According to a sworn statement of B. J. Benefield, of Jefferson, who sold and delivered it at 10 cents a pound, ice was manufactured in Jefferson by Boyle & a year 1874 or 1875. After about a year Boyle went north to raise money to promote ice-making and was never heard of again. His partner went into bankruptcy and the plant was moved to Harrisburg near Houston.

Q. When was Marion County organized, from what territory and for whom was it named? A. Marion county, the area of which was once in Red River county, was organized in 1860 from Chase and Harrison counties, though Jefferson, the county seat, was found

CANNERY NOW HAS OPEN DATES; TOLL HAS BEEN REDUCED

Announcement is made this week that all next week is now open for commercial canning at the W.P.A. cannery in Cross Plains. Persons who wish to furnish vegetables may now receive 50 percent of the cans, whereas the former toll taken by the cannery was 60 percent. Plans also include the canning of several beets this Fall. Persons who have beets they wish canned should contact the cannery within the near future, the Review was told. In canning beef the cannery takes only a 40 percent toll. It was opened as early as 1836. It was named for Gen. Francis Marion, known as the "Swamp Fox" of the American Revolution.

creditors. When Taylor, playing the part of Raymond Dabney, signed to watch the personal property of Mrs. Wetherby, she indicated to pose as her lover in order not to "give her away" before a man whom she hopes to marry for money and thus liquidate her debts. Since this man turns out to be none other than Dabney's brother, who, under the impression that Mrs. Wetherby is similarly plans to marry her for money, the complications are thick and fast to make one of the funniest and most hilarious comedies of Miss Harlow's career.

MAYOR COLLINS TO DELIVER OPENING ADDRESS AT 9 A. M.

It's readin', and 'rithmetic time again. Most schools which have not already opened in this area will launch the new term Monday morning.

Initial exercises are to be held in Cross Plains high school auditorium Monday morning at nine a. m., with Rev. S. P. Collins, Presbyterian pastor and Mayor of the city, delivering the opening address.

Classes will meet Monday afternoon and rolls formed and lessons assigned, the Review was told yesterday by Superintendent L. C. Norman.

Nineteen instructors are to compose this year's faculty, 10 of whom are hold overs from last year's staff. Most recent addition to the faculty is Miss Alveta Tate, graduate of Howard Payne College, who was elected by the board of trustees Monday night. She will teach public school music and penmanship in the grades.

Members of the high school faculty are: Superintendent Lewis C. Norman, Principal J. C. Barrington, Coach Bill White, V. A. Underwood, Clinton Voyles, Miss Patsy Noel, Miss Dolores Tanner, Mrs. M. G. Underwood and Mrs. Harold Overies.

Grammar school teachers are: Miss Anna Mae McCanab, Mrs. Pat Allen, Miss Elizabeth Tyson, Miss Ethel Manning, Mrs. R. B. McGowan, Miss Alben Tate, Miss Mary Beth Langston, Mrs. Orba Booth, W. E. Lusk and C. S. Martin.

An enrollment slightly larger than last year is predicted by Superintendent Norman for opening day.

Pointing to a game with the Olden Hornets at Pioneer, 18 athletes answered Coach W. Williams first call for practice on the Pioneer high school campus Monday afternoon.

The Panthers are lighter this year than last and are minus the services of experienced material, however, Pioneer fans are giving no quarter for the Olden game to be played at Pioneer the twenty-fourth of this month. The game will be of conference significance.

Pioneer, Dressy and Cross Out schools got underway this week with all reporting enrollments slightly below par, however, attendance is expected to be swelled to normal within a week or 10 days, the Review was told.
