Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she used Electric Bitters, which helped at once, and finally made her entire well. She is now strong and healthy. Powell & Powell, druggists, guarantee them, at 50c a bottle."

THAT EVIL TAP ROOT DRINK.

An editorial in the Chicago Examiner rehearses the notorious Taggart case in brief paragraphs, the closing one reads as follows: "The main cause of their shame is social drinking, which is just as brutal as dive drinking."

Yes, the devil is the devil still whether he sneak at home or flaunt his meanness abroad.

This is no news to temperance folks, but it is good news to the cause when these facts are rightly recognized and made public."

The W. C. T. U. is founded upon this fact of moral responsibility for certain conditions coming within its notice. To see an orange peel upon the pavement with the ability to remove it and not to do so is to be morally responsible for the hurt of the one whose unwary foot slips upon the peel.

RUM AND RELIGION.

Once upon a time a good man dreamed that the impossible could happen. He believed that two such incongenious things as rum and religion might be made to mix. So some unwise, but well meaning people set up a religious saloon; that is they started a saloon that was hedged about with moral and proper restrictions, and expected the public to be benefitted thereby, and the bishop even dedicated the new saloon with prayer. The men who wanted to drink declined to patronize the thing, and it was an ignominious failure. Then an out and out, but common sense disciple of the devil, bought out the sanctified saloon and is running it on natural saloon principles.

The new owner posted up the following, eloquent cards: "The man with the biggest thirst is my best customer. Rum and religion won't mix any more than oil and water."

"You can't follow the Lord and chase the devil at the same time."

"You can't boom drink and temperance too. Running a saloon by telling people of the deadly effect of rum is like telling a man to 'please buy poison because the undertaker needs the money.'"

According to Duffey's advertising Mrs. Susan Baker of 95 2nd East Market Street, Elmira, N. Y., was given up to die by the doctors. She then began taking Duffey's Malt Whiskey, which cured her and now she does her own work, aged 101 years.

An investigation shows that there is no such street number as advertised, that no one in the neighborhood ever heard of any such person, no one is able to get trace of Mrs. Susan Baker, and many other such.—Union Signal.

Don't think rum is all; tobacco, cigarettes and all things used intemperately of at all have their evil effects, but let me plead of you to touch not, taste not, that which destroys, degrades, and dethrones reason.

A CARD FROM P. S. BELL.

BAIRD, TEX., Sept. 5, 1905.
HON. W. E. GILLILAND,
BAIRD STAR.

My DEAR SIR: There appeared in your different issues a communication and resolutions purporting to be by authority of Camp Albert Sidney Johnston; but lacking in manhood, truth and dignity, and was a personal attack on Gov. Lanham for not violating his conscience and oath of office in refusing to sign the bill for the construction and maintenance of a home for the wives and widows of ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors, and also against myself for delicately showing wherein the Camp erred; in answer to which a subsequent issue of your paper contained my card, and I challenge any fair man to point to one word or sentence in this card which would offend the most sensitive. Now instead of a gentlemanly reply thereto there appeared in your issue of July 27th over the signature of one W. C. Powell ostensibly acting by authority of the said Camp, an unmanly and cowardly personal attack on Gov. Lanham and myself, and in your issue of Aug. 10th to this appeared, my answer in which I propounded several questions to the "Citizen" which any Man would have answered or confessed his inability. I made no mention of names except that of "Citizen" W. C. Powell to distinguish him from W. C. Powell pretended and self constituted representative of said Camp; for I knew then and I know now that the good members of the Camp never "asked" him to make any such reply except as mentioned in my said answer; and the "Citizen" well knew that I referred to him as the fraud. Now this is enough to apprise the readers of this paper of what took place prior to the resolution appearing in your issue of Aug. 31st, the substance of which is hereinafter mentioned. I do not wish to omit the name of any person, for vice often act in a provoking manner, so I shall give certain sobriquets representing certain persons in this matter.

Now the causes for all this. Look to the Court records of this county and you will find "Citizen" W. C. Powell defeated in certain cases wherein F. S. Bell was his opposing counsel, and this in the 80's at that; quite a time to harbor malice. Now said "Citizen" is aided in this matter by a dormant partner, John, but sur-named by many as "Skeeter", because he has his bill in the business of every one except his own. Now "Skeeter" once had aspirations, and this Gov. Lanham defeated his party's candidate for Congress which blasted his party's hopes forever. "Skeeter" is still mad.

He and the "Citizen" tooted horns, tried to influence the members of the Camp against me in their acts in the shape of former resolutions of the Camp, brought to the Camp, consisting of resolutions and again resolutions. I have another resolution which they brought to the Camp, and they resolution of his Camp and in substance says because the laws for the construction of the Colony and Reformatory were valid that this bill was also valid. Now any negro could give better reasons. These laws are by authority of the Constitution and even "Citizen", were he not blinded by passion and prejudice, could see it. This resolution is further to the effect that they stand by their minutes. Just so shall they stand, for on the 8th day of July, when the "Citizen" said he was "asked" to reply, there assembled only eleven out of the fifty or sixty in good standing which was a fraud on the Camp. The resolution is further that in both meetings referred to, no negative votes were cast. Now this is false, for one of the most intelligent members and a gentleman of the old school, opposed such resolution, giving his reasons therefor, and I say that he will say that any minutes which show that he voted in the affirmative are false and that any person lies who says so. In resolution No. 2 it is set forth that if any member is present and don't vote, he is bound by the action of the others. Now what miserable and cowardly rot and dodge. Now this Camp is turned into a "Multo Politico Society," deceived, misguided and dominated by a few designing political shysters and turncoats, who have impudently attempted to criticize those, the latchet of whose shoes they are unworthy to unloose. Ex-Confederates, I do not condemn but pity you. Although you did shield deception and fraud you were made to think it right. You, whose last deeds in war will ever be the theme of the poet's pen and the orator's tongue, repudiate such as "Skeeter" and "Citizen" and all other political tricksters and renegades. Follow them if you will and it will be sung of you in the future as of them now.

"That same old gag we've often heard Ten thousand times or more, Now don't you feel like rotten fruit, Plum rotten to the core."

I am a son of as brave and self sacrificing ex-Confederate as ever faced an enemy or fired a rifle, and had I been of sufficient years I would have been one of you and with you to the finish, so I feel an interest in your Camp and a pride in its reputation. But ex-Confederates, do you not know that in adopting the resolution condemning the Governor for not signing that bill, you voted to uphold and ratify one of the most dishonorable tricks and acts ever practiced on a set of credulous men; for the man or men who signed Dr. John Collier's name to that resolution were worse than Arnold, who would have sold his country for gold, and no better than Judas, who betrayed his Christ with a kiss. Dr. Collier, a christian and educated gentleman, was not present when these resolutions were adopted and did not sign them.

Now Mr. Editor, in conclusion permit me to say, that any one, who, in order to vent a personal spleen, will strike and then dodge behind his Camp, is contemptible and cowardly. There are other ways of resenting insults than in print, and if any person or order answers this communication through this or any other paper I brand them in advance as cowards and enemies to justice. It seems to me that "Skeeter" and "Citizen" are before them. I have time for all peace or war, instrument and Motto for the year—Go Forward, WHICH.

We saw a man going home with a bag of fruit; a few evenings later by chance we passed him again and he had a small sack of candy. Our companion on both occasions was the same person. He remarked to us that our friend was a good fellow, but he blew in all he made so foolishly. We merely smiled in reply. But we could not help in our minds as we walked along, draw a contrast between the two. He was smoking a cigar that cost as much as the fruit. Burning into ashes and blowing into the air the money the other spent so foolishly for nick nacks, that brought the smile of happiness to the cheeks he once thought so rosy, and adden eyes that still sparkled like a thousand diamonds with their tell-tale love for him, carrying home for chubby little hands and sweet little lips the nickle the other was carrying home one by one the sweetest memories of life, building evening after evening an image in a little heart of home sweet home that no time, even into eternity would destroy. Nourishing and kindling a new love that would in old age look back to those happy home comings and bless his memory memory as the dearest papa that ever lived. But what of our friend the critic. Yes, what of him? Which of the two would you rather have been? Which of the two are you?—Gatesville Messenger.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST.

Who can enter one of those grand old minsters erected by our Saxon or Norman forefathers, or by the brilliant architects of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, without a thrill of veneration, a thrill almost of solemnity and awe coursing through one's veins. In some, as at the imposing and stately fane of St. Giles, Edinburgh, decorated with the honored remnants of innumerable battle flags, tattered regimental standards which in many a hard-fought conflict, in the Peninsula, in Russia, at Waterloo or in India, have been pierced by hurricanes of bullets, or torn to shreds by grape and canister until scarce a vestige of the inspiring symbol was left intact.

In others, as at Westminster Abbey, the interest is more centered in the many tombs and monuments erected in honor of a long line of monarchs and warriors, benefactors and scientists, statesmen and poets. Here, amidst relics of the dim, far-off past, is the tomb of King Sebert, erected there nearly thirteen centuries ago; here the mausoleum of Queen Eleanor, whose devotion to her wounded husband will be remembered for all time; and here the stately monument of the Great Elizabeth, whose valiant sea captains, aided by the storm or heaven, scattered and destroyed that mighty Armada which was to bring proud England to her knees.

Now we come to a spot where repose the ashes of many Kings and Queens of a far bygone age, their gilded effigies unharmed, some almost as perfect as when placed there hundreds and hundreds of years ago; their features mostly noble, dignified and regal; their garb garish and old-time. And now, in Poets' corner, statues or memorial tablets of many a genius whose poesy and idyls have of times stirred within us a responsive chord, and whose writings will be appreciated as long as mankind remains good and noble—Milton, that saintly and almost inspired master mind, whose "Paradise Lost" surpasses any other book ever written—of course, excepting one Book—in graphic word-pictures and bold imagery, alternating between abysses and lurid horror, and a supernal Elysium of transcendent sublimity; Chaucer, that earliest, and Tennyson, latest of English poets; the gifted Longfellow, greatest of America's poets, to whose memory a tablet has well been raised; with many and many another, altogether too numerous to quote.

But, and of greater interest than all, forming part of the coronation chair, rests the "Stone of Destiny," that stone held in veneration by perhaps more than a thousand generations, upon which the kings and queens of England have been crowned for centuries past; that venerable time-worn relic believed to be the very stone upon which the patriarch Jacob rested his head when, in the reveries of the night, that wondrous vision of angels was revealed to him.

But a day will come when the Archangel's trumpet will sound loud and long, and all these mausoleums will burst open and the sea and land shall give up their dead. Then we shall all stand before the throne of the great Judge to be judged according to our deeds. Happy they who, with divine help, have done their best to live a godly life; and who, having laid their sins upon Him who died upon the cross to atone for them, find that that there remains not the record of one solitary transgression against them. For them—and for them alone—there will be no condemnation.—By a Banker.

MAYOR'S NOTICE.

In view of the prevailing fever in our neighboring state, and the urgent request of our State Health officer to thoroughly clean up each city, I respectfully request, and urge each citizen of Baird to see that his premises are thoroughly cleaned, especially the yards, lots, out houses, all closets and alleys. I feel that the citizens of Baird are interested in preserving the public health, and will act promptly in cleaning up their premises, alleys, etc. without the necessity of having the matter forced upon them by our ordinances. Let every property owner respond to this request cheerfully, otherwise the City Council will have to resort to a rigid enforcement of our Sanitary ordinances.

Respectfully Submitted,
B. L. RUSSELL, Mayor

An Old English Wager.

In the Gentlemen's Magazine, an old English publication, for 1750, appears the following: "On Wednesday 29 (August) at 7 in the morning was decided at Newmarket a remarkable wager for 1,000 guineas ($5,000) laid by Theobald Taaf, Esq. against the Earl of March and Lord Eglington, who were to provide a four-wheel carriage with a man in it to be drawn by four horses nineteen miles an hour; it was performed in 53 minutes and 27 seconds." Each of the horses was ridden by a jockey, and only harnessed to the carriage by loose straps. Between the hind wheels sat another jockey, who guided the carriage by moving a handle like that of the modern bicycle.

A Laxative Cough Syrup.

"A cold or cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. It meets and corrects the above condition, by acting as a pleasant cathartic on the bowels—expels all colds from the system and cures all coughs, croup, whooping cough, LaGrippe, bronchitis, ect.

HOME SPUN THOUGHTS.

There is something else besides the almighty dollar in this world; but few people can see it.

"I had rather be right than be president" is a good motto for every young man whether Henry Clay was the author of this famous quotation or not.

They tell us that love flies out at the window as poverty enters the door. Love and religion both have been known to do the same thing when pride enters the church. Fine churches are all right if you can keep pride and self-love out, and the members don't worship the church building or the church itself in place of God. Popularity of a church denomination is not always and evidence that it is right; neither is the unpopularity of a church conclusive proof that it is wrong. The popularity of the Jewish church and the unpopularity of the teachings of Jesus Christ while on earth, is a case in point, and the Mormon church is another.

THE ORIGINAL.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Powell & Powell.

Saw Battle of Waterloo.

A Belgian woman, Mme. Rolland of Senefte, attained her 104th birthday on June 12. She is credited in Belgium with being the only surviving witness of the battle of Waterloo, having been seated on a wall in the neighborhood of the battlefield during a part of the engagement. Last year, when the French monument to Waterloo heroes was unveiled on the battlefield, Mme. Rolland was allotted a place of honor as the most noteworthy spectator present at the ceremony.

Dr. Finn's Testimony Interesting.

Dr. Thomas Finn, of Boonsboro, Mo., who has practiced medicine for 32 years, says he has used every prescription known to the profession for treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, and says he has never found anything so effective in both chronic and acute kidney and bladder trouble as Foley's Kidney Cure. It stops irregularities and builds up the whole system. Powell & Powell

HOLLAND'S FOR SEPTEMBER.

The September number of Holland's Magazine, published in Dallas, Texas has made its appearance, and is even an improvement on the August number—which is saying a good deal. The cover design is a simple but remarkably beautiful one—just a bunch of golden-rod in its natural colors. Handsomely lithographed on heavy white paper, the effect is most pleasing.

One of the leading articles of the month is "Tarpoon Fishing on the Texas Coast," by F. P. Holland, publisher of Holland's Magazine and Farm and Ranch. Mr. Holland is a true sportsman and his description of a popular sport will be read with interest.

The September issue of Holland's Magazine is primarily a fiction number, however. A strong leading story "Love in the Home Street," is contributed by Lorena M. Page. Will Harding Mayes, in a well told tale gives the remarkable experience of a life insurance agent in earlier years "A Coon Flat Idyl" is a mountain story, written in the best vein of Frank H. Sweet, whose name is not unknown to magazine readers. Of unusual pathos is "The Deserter" by Leone C. Gale, which is offset by the humor of "The Indian Idol," by Mary E. Killilee. Ralph T. Yates tells of a summer resort episode in "The Perspicacity of Maud," and Milford W. Forshay is an exceedingly clever tale of the Chicago strike and the troubles of a strike leader. James O. Fag, contributes a stirring railroad story, "Freight Bakedman No. 13," while among the stories for young people are some excellent ones by Leonora Beck Ellis Patricia Pelham and Elizabeth C. Buckham. Jake H. Harris has an exquisite little poem, "Edith" which is happily illustrated, and there are some other good ones by Minta Rulon Roadhouse, Harry Van Demark and others.

Among the special articles for the month are "Training Trick Horses," by Walter B. Whitman; "A Retold Tale," dealing with the rise of the Rothschildes, by Arnot Chester; "Baby Talk," by Hester Grey; "Flowers, Their Place and Power," by Wm. Lomas, and Mrs. Buchanan furnishes another installment of "Among the Wild Flowers." Additional space is given to fashions this month, and the departments devoted to the fancy work table and to the kitchen are full of useful hints and helps to the busy housewife. Nearly every story and article is aptly illustrated, and the publishers of Holland's are making good their promises to issue the best magazine ever published in the South.

Russia might have secured an indemnity from Japan if they had held out a little longer. That is the trend of press talk in Russia.

The war is over now and the Texas daily press will have to devote their space to yellow fever news and perhaps the Galveston-Dallas News will have something more to say about poor bleeding section 120.

Judge Bryant, of the Federal Court has knocked out that part of the liquor law that required C. O. D. liquor packages to be returned to shipper in seven days when not called for. The decision exempts interstate shipments, but leaves the law intact as to shipments from points in the state. The decision makes the Texas law discriminate against its own dealers. The result will be that liquor dealers outside of Texas will get a great deal of the trade that should go to Texas houses.

A doctor attempted to horse whip Judge Don. A. Bliss, of Sherman, while on a visit to Denison last week. Judge Bliss refused to take the whipping and proceeded a la John Sullivan to turn the tables on his assailant and was giving him a real genteel castigation when friends interfered and saved the doctor from further punishment. No cause was assigned for the assault, but as Judge Bliss has been rather active as an anti-prohibitionist in Grayson county the supposition is that prohibition was the cause of the trouble. They have had a long and bitter fight in Grayson county over prohibition and it would not be surprising to hear of serious trouble at any time. Strange some people think it a crime for other people to differ from them upon political or religious questions, but it is so nevertheless. Intolerance has caused more trouble in this old world than anything else; but as people become more enlightened they become more tolerant, and people these days can discuss their differences in the public press occasionally without denouncing each other as liars, cut throats and dead beats, but not all can do this. There is lots of Old Adam in the human race yet.

As the Confederate Camp vs Bell controversy has degenerated into mere personalities we will decline to publish anything further on the subject. All parties are our friends and we regret exceedingly that the discussion has taken the course it has. To be plain about it, in order to try to treat all parties fair we have allowed things to go in the paper that no publisher should permit. But when to stop or what to eliminate without giving offense is a question not as easy for an editor to decide as one might imagine. We do not like for the columns of THE STAR to be used for such controversies as this has been.

BAIRD PUBLIC SCHOOL

On account of the extreme hot weather the trustees and I have decided that it is best to delay the opening of school until Monday, September 18th. The first four weeks of the term will be subscription school. The scholastic enrollment for this year is considerably less than it was last year, consequently the funds are not sufficient to maintain the free school for nine months.

We shall be glad to enroll during the first week all pupils who expect to attend school during the year. By entering school at this time pupils can be better classified and will have the advantage of the preliminary instructions so essentially necessary for a successful year's work.

Parents should not purchase books until their children have been classified.

All pupils who were promoted at the close of last term will be assigned to their grades without further examination. Those not promoted will be given a test as to their proficiency in the grade last studied.

There will be a meeting of the teachers in the school building at 4 o'clock p. m. Friday, Sept 15th.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR.

On Monday evening, August the thirty-first, Callahan Chapter No. 242, of the Order of Eastern Star met for the installation of officers. As there were seven applicants for membership ready for initiation, that part of the work was first considered, that they might be present, in full membership, at the installation ceremonies.

Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Fanbie V. Ward, of Big Springs, was present and by the invitation of our Worthy Matron conducted the initiation as well as the installation ceremonies.

The impressive, solemnity and beauty of the work could not fail to impress deeply those seeing it for the first time, growing on one as familiarity gradually teaches the full meaning of the obligations.

Mrs. Harmon, the retiring Worthy Matron, was presented by the Chapter with a most appropriately beautiful emblematic pin. Mrs. Oris Phillips delivered the presentation address with her accustomed grace; and in like manner did our Worthy Matron reply.

The evenings business was followed by the serving of the most delicious cooling refreshments by the ladies of the social committee, thus bringing to a close a most successful year for the Chapter.

The following is a list of officers for the ensuing year:

- Mrs. Dora Harmon, W. M.
- B. L. Russell, W. P.
- Miss Ada Cooke, A. M.
- Mrs. Kate Ramsey, Sec.
- Mrs. Maude Boydston, Treas.

A CARD FROM MR. K.

WEATHERFORD, TEX., Aug. 31, 05
EDITOR STAR:—I am sorry to see my old Camp U. C. V. taking such a high hand against Gov. Lanham for vetoing a bill that he had no right under the constitution to approve. The constitution will have to be amended before such a bill would pass any court of competent jurisdiction. It is held, and I think rightly too, that old Confederate Soldiers are handing down (to posterity) in golden urns pure patriotism and constitutional government, therefore I am especially sorry to see my old Camp, one I love and keep my membership in, desiring a governor to violate his oath of office and disregard the constitution he has sworn to keep in its purity. I love the old Southern woman, to my mind the greatest class of woman patriotism this country has ever known, but we should regard the constitution of Texas for above any class or citizen. We remember 1866-7 when the constitution was played with as a foot ball, when the old Confederates had to tread the wine press alone everything was in chaotic state. Such will recur unless we hold to a strict construction of the constitution, the only protection the common people have, the bulwark of our liberty, the foundation of every free and good government, let's hold to it as our only safety, let not sympathy de-throne reason. Let the next legislature submit to the voters a constitutional amendment covering this question and it shall have my support, heart and soul, but let no governor by sickly sentiment be forced to sign a bill so palpably without constitutional authority. Mr. Bell has taken high constitutional ground and does not deserve the bitter shafts hurled at him in the Camp's late resolutions. Be more conservative comrades, study your constitution and uphold its principles as you so heroically did in 1861-5. No other country presents so sublime a view under our constitution. What a comprehensive policy, what a wise equalization of every political advantage, our noble constitution protects the oppressed of all countries, the martyrs of every creed, the innocent victim of despotic arrogance Under it all good people can find refuge from oppression and tyrannical rule of kings and potentates, under laws guarded by the constitution, which are the same to all and distinction but that which his merit may originate. Who can deny that the existence of such a constitution presents a subject of human congratulation. No one man can change it one iota, but all the people submitted by a regular session and then by a two-third vote of all the members. Keep the constitution intact as Lanham has done and your children's children will reap a noble heritage.
Adios,
J. N. RUSHING.

Robert Ingersoll made the average of life beautiful, he placed man in heaven with splendid rigging and launched it on summer's sea. Sweet flowers, grand music and good cheer were provided as happy pastime. Noble lessons of humanity we taught, friendship, brotherhood and the love of home were daily practice. And so long as the weather kept fine it was pleasant enough to be with him. But friends, he carried life lines, when your dear ones came weary of the trip, dizzy from the long ride and fell overboard, boats were lowered, they were for eternity, buried deep in the bottom of a sea that never gives up dead. And then again he carried compass and no chart. No need of hope to guide the boat to the magnetic harbor of God. When skies darken overhead and the waves leap high, no star of hope gleams for the passenger on the gulf of eternity.—Ex.

NEW ENGINE.

The new gasoline engine for the Electric Light Co. arrived direct from the factory Tuesday night and it of it is already on the foundation. The engine is 60 horse power and weighs about twenty thousand pounds with all the attachments, tanks, pumps etc. There is one 6 foot fly wheel and two 6 foot balance wheels, one of the latter weighs four thousand pounds. These heavy balance wheels are to regulate the speed that is to counter act the explosions of gasoline in the cylinder. These engines are built especially for running electric lights and Mr. Cook, says they will give as steady light as any steam engine built, in fact we believe the claim is made that the speed of these large engines is more regular than a steam engine. The new engine cost $2,800.00, and in the language of the street is a "cracker-jack".

The entire light system will be put in first class condition as soon as possible. If every thing goes well it should not be many days until the plant is ready to start up again after an eight months rest.

THE STAR hopes the new management will make a success of the enterprise and the people of Baird should encourage them by their patronage and otherwise. Let's make it a success: we can do it.

A TRUE WAY TO BE HAPPY.

We have one paramount desire to become wealthy. There is so much poverty in the world that one can make so many hearts glad if they could only have the means to assist those who are trying to assist themselves. This was forcibly brought to our mind the other day when a large, fine looking man came into the Index office and left a substantial amount to be given to the poor and needy, saying that it was his religion. We will bet that action made that man feel better than if he had made a million. How we envied that man his happiness and how we resolved that if it was our lot to accumulate a goodly portion of this world's goods to quit when we had a sufficiency and begin a quiet work of doing good. Many of us are too much inclined to selfishness. There is not nearly so much pleasure in making yourself happy as there is in the consciousness of having relieved the suffering of some one in distress. There is a plenty in this world for all. God has been bountiful with His blessings on every hand. There is too much of the animal in mankind, too much selfishness, too much grasping and not enough of those who have been distanced in the race of life.—Mineral Wells Index.

Tarkington's Narrow Escape.

While Booth Tarkington was in Paris he became interested in aerobatics. The captive balloons in the vicinity of the Eiffel tower so caught his fancy that he made many ascents, growing more infatuated with each experience. His fad just missed resulting disastrously to him. He decided on giving a lunch in midair, but at the last moment an important guest found it impossible to be present, so it was decided to postpone the affair. The balloon in which they were to have made their ascent broke from its moorings and drifted afield, giving the people who had taken the place of Mr. Tarkington's party a terribly rough experience before it landed them on terra firma.

Anthropometric Reunions.

In a recent lecture on "Physical Records," Francis Galton proposed that on February 29 of every leap year there should be school reunions at which there might be an opportunity of reviving early friendships, and at which at the same time physical measurements of the pupil might be made.

Each old boy would be represented by an envelope stored in the school library. This would contain his physical measurements to date, and at each reunion he would be given printed forms containing a few questions as to health, profession, marriage, children, recreations, etc. and the answers to these along with the new physical measurements would be added to the record card. In this way a very valuable series of anthropometric records might be accumulated.

So Mikado Lives.

When reporting the victories of their armies and fleets, it is very much the fashion of Japanese generals and admirals to attribute their triumphs to the "glorious virtue" of the emperor. That this is not a mere figure of speech was shown by the account given by a Japanese concerning the mikado's daily life and work.

The emperor rises at 6:30 every morning, and, after a simple breakfast, proceeds to the apartments in which he transacts the affairs of government. Here he works strenuously all day, examining all the memorials and official documents received, and giving audiences to his ministers, officers starting for the front and others.

Often he becomes so engrossed in his work that he hardly finds time to take his meals. Even at the close of the day's business he will attend to urgent affairs, and does not complain if these keep him from his bed.

During the whole period of the war, it is said, he has almost abandoned exercise and recreation. He takes an anxious interest in the welfare of his soldiers and sailors, and has been known to forego the comfort of a stove in the cold weather, using instead the tiny "hibachi," or Japanese fire box, so that there should not be too sharp a contrast between his own surroundings and those of his troops in the cold and snow of Manchuria.

Ten Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." Powell & Powell.

Made Empress Dowager Mad.

An English paper published in Peking says: "A memorial has again been sent up to the throne of Prince Ching that all military officers shall wear foreign uniforms and have their hair cut short, the proposal being supported by both Viceroy Guan and Tieh Liang. The empress dowager was very angry, declaring that changes of this kind might be made after her death, but not during her life time. Prince Ching has been cut five years' pay for his presumption, and Tieh Liang's transfer from the board of revenue to the board of war is attributed to the same cause."

Aged Miner's Record.

Patrick Sweeney, a 70-year-old miner, residing at Coaldale, Pa., claims to have the most remarkable record of any miner in the world. He has, according to his figures, driven nine miles of gangway himself and mined enough coal to supply the country for half a year, seriously injured, but he assisted in carrying from the mines 115 men who had been killed and 300 injured. In his home town he has for many years been looked upon as the leading citizen. He has stood sponsor of 714 children.

Chinese at West Point.

Ting Chian Chen and Ying Hsing Wen are the names of two Chinese who have entered West Point. There are thirty-six military schools in China, and from these particularly intelligent students have been selected to study the art of war in the military schools of the principal nations of the world. Three thousand are studying in Japan. In order to permit these Chinese studying at West Point congress had to pass a law, which it did at the recommendation of the president and the request of the Chinese government. Chen and Wen studied in 1904 at the University of California and are said to speak fluently seven languages.

"DO IT TO-DAY!"

"And to think that ten months ago I looked like this! I owe it to German Syrup."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it TO-DAY—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.
