Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood... I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and gradually got worse. Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, I decided to

TAKE CARD

The Woman's Test

"I took four bottles Mrs. Jones goes on to say, 'and was not only greatly relieved, but I truly say that I have not a pain.' "It has now been ten years since I took Card and I am still in good health. I would advise any woman who is suffering from any kind of trouble." If you suffer pain caused from womanly trouble, if you feel the need of good strengthening tonic to build up your run-down system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Card. It helped her. The Shield of Security

A PROPER MOTTO FOR THE NATIONAL BANK

Our government furnishes protection of many kinds for its citizens, such as food inspection, disease quarantine, safety appliances on railroads, storm warnings, etc. But in no respect does the government give the individual more careful protection than the laws governing National Banks.

These laws not only provide the fullest measure of protection for the depositor, but they insure the greatest possible usefulness on the part of National Banks in facilitating business.

You receive the benefit of these laws the moment you become a depositor in this bank.

HIGGINBOTHAM STORE BURGLARIZED

Higginbotham Brothers & Co's store in Cross Plains was burglarized Saturday night, something between fifteen hundred and two thousand dollars' worth of silks, skirts, pistols, etc., being taken. The store was entered thru the rear door, which was opened with a plank as a lever. T. W. Anderson, manager, states that the store was open until nearly midnight, and that the robbers must have entered after that time.

No clue has been found whereby the burglars can be identified. It is believed, however, that some one interested knew something of the local lay-out of the store. Diligent effort is being made to apprehend the culprits. Fifty dollars reward is offered by the management for information leading to conviction of the guilty parties.

This is the first time in the history of the town that a burglary of any magnitude has been reported. Cross Plains has enjoyed an even tenor of existence for a number of years, but now with the advent of the oil boom we may expect thefts and burglaries, and the only effectual way to combat them is perpetual vigilance. We need and need at once a good night watchman, the securing of which we have been discussing for some time.

The Fighting Journalists

The Fighting Journalists, an organization of newspaper and magazine correspondents who were in service in France, are making a tour of the oil fields in Texas and will furnish their respective publications with oil stories of the various places visited. Mayor Wakefield states that he is going to get in contact with this bunch and do his best to get them to come by Cross Plains, and if he succeeds we will have them about Tuesday. Be prepared to help entertain a live bunch. We will try to notify the people in the country in time to come if we can get them, and will expect a large crowd in town. This is an unusual opportunity to get our fair little city before the world.

WORK STARTS ON ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Ere long Cross Plains will be raised from a state of darkness to light by reason of the fact that she will have an electric light system in operation, work on which was begun this week. S. F. Bond, who is installing the system, has had the streets surveyed, and has hands out now digging holes for the posts. A good deal of trouble has been had in getting material delivered, which has delayed the work. Electric lights and gas in town will make Cross Plains a more fit place to live.

Chrisman For County Superintendent

B. C. Chrisman, superintendent of the schools at Patnam, has announced for county superintendent. Mr. Chrisman was reared in the county and has been teaching for fourteen years in the eastern part of the same. He is a son of the late E. Clay Chrisman, well known as a pioneer teacher in this part of the State. Mr. Chrisman is a high-toned gentleman and well qualified for the office, and deserves your consideration at the polls.

CHAUTAUQUA A SUCCESS

The Radcliffe Chautauqua closed last program in Cross Plains on Sunday night. It was a success in every respect. Large crowds attended the program from the first. The guarantors, who were responsible for the amount of five hundred dollars, are embarrassed this time by having made good a deficit.

The Chautauqua was not advertised in the local newspaper. The people in the country had little chance indeed to learn of what was taking place, and many are anxious to take advantage of these unusual opportunities to come in contact with the outside world's culture.

Accidentally Killed

Walter Woods, aged 24, was shot about ten o'clock Saturday by an accidental discharge of a shotgun while he was plowing corn on his father's farm four miles north of Moran, death occurring at four o'clock while he was on the operating machine. It seems he was carrying the shotgun in the trunk of the car, and the discharge was effected when he turned the end of the row. He was killed about Christmas. The deceased was a nephew of Walton Carter, who was called to Moran immediately after the horrible accident happened.

EMBARGO RAISED ON TEXAS CENTRAL

We are in receipt of a letter from J. W. Evans of the M. K. & T. offices at Waco, calling attention to the fact that their circular No. 340, of April 22, lifts the embargo on all oil stations in the Texas Central district. Freight conditions have been bad here for some time on account of the embargo.

M. E. Meeting Closes

The Methodist protracted meeting under the able preaching of the Rev. Sam Steele, of Mansfield, La., came to a close on Sunday night. Rev. Steele has had a long and honored career in the service of the M. E. Church. He is a strong preacher, a fine reasoner, a learned man. He has held a number of responsible positions in colleges and universities. It was a rare treat, not properly appreciated by the public, to hear him.

The singing was conducted by Chester Green of Sabanno, who is one of the best choir leaders in the country.

The meeting and the Chautauqua conflicted in dates, and partly for that reason the services were discontinued on Sunday night.

Buys Grocery Business.

B. J. Forte, who has been living in New Mexico for some time, but of late has been in Cross Plains, has bought the R. E. Wilson stock of groceries and will run the same at the same stand. Mr. Forte will be assisted in running the store by his wife. Mr. Wilson, having recently bought a first-class fountain, has installed it on the south side of the store. A partition to be provided will divide the store in half in the front, thus separating the two businesses. Mr. Wilson is to put in an up-to-date confectionery.

ADMINISTRATION WINS

As was expected, Woodrow Wilson was overwhelmingly endorsed by the Democratic conventions held in the State on last Saturday. Joseph Weldon Bailey, once the political idol of the State, failed to develop any strength in any part of the State, being defeated by more than two to one in his own precinct at Gainesville. He lost all the cities, and in fact carried but very few counties, and those instructed for him were in southwest Texas.

In the convention at Cross Plains not an anti-administration man was present, or at least, voiced his sentiments. Virgil Hart, precinct chairman, called the meeting to order. W. A. McGowen was elected temporary chairman and Jim Lawrence secretary, the organization thereupon being voted permanent. M. E. Wakefield, J. A. Atwood, Jim Lawrence, George Cunningham, were elected delegates, unopposed, to attend the county convention at Baird on May 4th.

John Stacy Dies

John Stacy, who has lived four miles southeast of Cross Plains for several years, died on Wednesday of last week from a siege of small pox. He developed the disease some two weeks prior to his death. He was unable to get medical attention, either from Brownwood, which should take care of Brown County's infectious diseases, or from Cross Plains. The deceased was buried in the Pioneer cemetery.

Opening A Cool Business

Messrs. J. H. Smith and C. C. Carmony of Dublin have bought the Sam Sipes ice house on the right-of-way and are preparing to open an ice business here at once. Mr. Smith will have charge of the business. Mr. Carmony is manager of the Dublin ice factory and of course they will be in a good position to handle the business. Mr. Smith says they would warrant to keep plenty of ice on hand. They expect to have a carload here by the last of the week.

We are glad to welcome the establishment of this new enterprise, and wish it success. The town needs ice. L. P. Henslee.

Meets Horrible Death.

George Speckles, an elderly man who has lived in the Pioneer country with few interruptions for several years, was killed in a railroad accident near Pioneer on last Wednesday morning by a west bound freight train. It seems, Mr. Speckles was sitting against a cattle guard and apparently asleep, his feet across the track, the engineer being unable to arouse him before the train hit him. Both feet were cut off. He was carried to Rising Star, where he died in a few minutes after arriving at the doctor's office. His body was laid to rest in the family cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. The horrible accident is deeply deplored by the entire community.

KIRBY BUILDING NEW DERRICK

The Kirby rig on the Powell and Leggett land near Rowden was demolished Sunday, April 24, while the casing was being pulled. Material for new rig has been hauled from Cross Plains. This well has a peculiar history. Directly the well was spudded in, eighty goats, seeking shelter from a blizzard, found refuge in the hole and had to be drilled out. Later the hole was lost and the derrick skidded. The present hole is about 1300. This well recently developed a rainbow showing of oil.

A party representing the Dixie Lyceum Company of Dallas, was here on Tuesday. The Dixie Lyceum has been put on here for several seasons, and although it has at times been hard to make it a financial success, it has furnished high-class entertainment that the town needed and still needs. We believe in good lyceums and chautauques, and believe the town should get solidly behind such institutions, and more solidly against cheap shows of every kind. The boys and girls of the community need to see shows that will inspire them to higher things, and not wild west exhibitions and high kickers that might encourage them to go to the bad. The common carnival, like the one recently put on here, should be barred.

INCREASES APPROPRIATIONS

FOR WHICH HOUSE AUTHORIZED $424,500,000 RAISED TO $464,591,000.

FORTIFY PACIFIC COAST

Danger is Coming, It is Coming! Senator Lodge Declares in Urging Appropriations.

Washington.—Passing on appropriations with record-breaking rapidity, the Senate has virtually completed consideration of the annual naval appropriation bill. Within 30 minutes, virtually without debate, appropriations of $464,591,000 were ordered, compared with $424,500,000 authorized by the house. With the exception of one minor item, the bill was ready for passage.

There was no discussion whatever of the building program, for which appropriations were increased from $48,000,000 to $52,000,000 in order to expedite the completion of the three-year program authorized in 1916.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, and Senator Page of the naval committee, emphasized necessity for increased defense on the western coast, the former declaring that any menace danger to the United States lay in the Pacific.

FOR MEN PROTEST AGAINST MEXICANS

Protest is Made They Are Being Imported to Displace Americans in Texas.

Del Rio, Texas.—The Texas State Federation of Labor, by resolution, set on record as opposing the importation of Mexican labor and telegraphing protest to Secretary of Labor Wilson, charging that certain interests are importing Mexican labor to displace white labor, taking as an example the farmers for their labor.

PAPER SHORTAGE ALSO FELT IN WASHINGTON

Congressional Record Has But Two Days Supply on Hand and May Suspend.

Washington.—The Congressional Record, published daily at the government printing office and containing all speeches delivered the day before, may have to suspend this week, the shortage of print paper, and are being employed by the printers to displace maintenance of workers, and by the packing houses, and thousands have been shipped north for all purposes to displace workers.

Big U. S. Steel Earnings

New York.—Total earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the first quarter of 1920 show an upward trend from the final quarter of 1919, the aggregate of $42,089,019, representing an increase of $6,297,717. The net income of $31,323,701 increased to $35,426,426 and the surplus of $19,705,000 was a gain of $8,150,787.

Cost of Tax Collections

Washington.—Collection of the national taxes last year cost the government $16 for each $100 in revenue, according to a statement by the bureau of internal revenue. Total collections for the year were $3,850,150,000, and total expenditures in collecting that amount $20,573,000.

Danish Plan To Limit Sugar

Chicago Ill.—One pound of sugar is to be rationed to each household until the present critical sugar shortage is relieved, as announced here by wholesale grocers.

AMERICA IS OFFERED ARMENIAN MANDATE

BRITAIN TAKES MANDATE FOR MESOPOTAMIA AND PALESTINE AND FRANCE FOR SYRIA.

San Remo.—The supreme council is sending a formal request to President Wilson that the United States government take the mandate for Armenia. The council is leaving to President Wilson the arbitration of the differences over the boundaries of Armenia.

There seems to be division on the part of the council as to whether the region of Erzerum and its vicinity should be included in the territory of the Armenian republic. The Turkish nationalists are strongly claiming Erzerum for themselves. The council awarded a mandate for Mesopotamia and Palestine to Great Britain and a mandate for Syria to France.

In placing Palestine under a British mandate the council established within the ancient limits of Holy Land what is called "the national home for the Jews."

The terms of the mandate protect the national rights of Jewish citizens of other countries. That is to say, a Jew of American, British, French or other nationality, may retain his nationality, although he is also a citizen of the state of Palestine. The rights of Arabs also are protected, those being 600,000 in Palestine and 100,000 Jews. The mandate is limited generally by what is known as the Balfour declaration.

France has been the protector of the Christians in Syria since the Middle Ages, having been designated for the purpose by the Holy See. The question with regard to Syria has been in serious controversy between the French and British governments since the armistice was signed, particularly over the point whether France should have all of what is geographically outlined as Syria, or only certain parts.

The agreement between Premier Millerand and Lloyd George concerning Germany has been presented to the supreme council and forms the basis of a very stiff note to Germany which will be ready for signature this week by Great Britain, France and Italy, Japan and Belgium. The United States will not sign the note.

PROFITEERS SHOULD BE SENT TO JAIL SAYS CAPPER

Kansas Senator Declares Profiteering "Open, Scandalous and Shameless."

Washington.—Profiteers were denounced in the senate by Senator Capper (Rep.) of Kansas, who presented statistics which he said showed the earnings of many American corporations represented profiteering "open, scandalous and shameless."

Senator Capper attacked the department of Justice's cheaper meat campaign and said increased prices for sugar were "the most brazen challenge we have had in this era of greed."

Senator Lenroot (Rep.) of Wisconsin, agreeing with the Kansas senator's declaration that profiteering had become a national menace, said Attorney General Palmer was setting a few mouse traps around the country when he ought to be setting bear traps to catch the big or millionaire profiteers.

Senator Capper said ample laws existed to check profiteering and that "if those charged with enforcement of the laws will see that profit hogs are sent to jail prices will soon tumble."

Excessive margins of profit are part of profiteering, Senator Capper said, in presenting his list of corporations whose profits were placed at 20 to 200 per cent. The list of such corporations included textile manufacturing companies, shoe and leather manufacturers and makers of nearly all the staple commodities.

withholds from him the possession thereof, to his damage in sum of Five Thousand Dollars.

3. Plaintiff further represents to the Court that on March 9th, A. D.
1920, J. F. Brown executed and delivered to Jno. A. Haywood, a deed conveying to him, the aforesaid tract of land, that said deed was for a valuable consideration, to-wit: Five hundred dollars, which said consideration plaintiff then and there paid to defendant.

4. That plaintiff purchased said land as above that the name of plaintiff, the vendee in said deed was erroneously stated as Jno. A. Haywood, when same should have been John A.
Hayward. That said deed was signed "J. F. Brown," when it should have been signed and executed by J. F.
Brown.

5. That said deed of conveyance was so, as aforesaid incorrectly written by the mistake of the writer who drew the same; that it did not express the mutual intent of the parties, but was executed and delivered by defendant Brown and was received by plaintiff, under a mutual mistake, of fact, and plaintiff has requested and demanded of defendant that he execute to him a correct and proper deed of said premises, but defendant has ever failed and refused and neglected and still refuses and neglects to comply with said request and demand.

6. Plaintiff alleges that he claims to have good and perfect title to the land above described, had had and held peaceably the land claimed and adverse possession of the same cultivating, using and enjoying the same for a period of more than ten years after defendants cause of action or right to said land, if any they have accrued, and before the commencement of this suit and this he is ready to verify.

7. That defendants are asserting or claiming some adverse interest or claim to said land and premises, which is a cloud on plaintiff's title to said land.

Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendants cited to appear and answer this petition and for judgment of the court, correcting said deed, and that plaintiff have judgment for the title and possession of said above described land, and premises, and that writ of possession issue, for his damage and cost of suit, and for such other and further relief, special and general in law or equity, and that he may be justly entitled to, etc.

J. RUPERT JACKSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff, Jno. A. Hayward.
Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Baird, Texas, this, the 5th day of April, A. D. 1920.

The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY HALL

"EVEN STEPHEN"

Synopsis—Dick Morgan of Syracuse, N. Y., a failure in life, enlisted in the Foreign Legion of the French army under the name of Henry Hilliard, is disgraced by a picture postcard bearing the radiant face of Christ. The surgeons do a good job. On his way back to America he meets Martin Harmon, a New York broker. The result is that Morgan, under the name of Hilliard and unrecognized as Morgan, goes back to Syracuse to sell a mining stock. He is determined to make good. He tells people of the death of Morgan. He finds in Angela Cullen a loyal defender of Dick Morgan. He meets Carol Durant, who had refused to marry him. She does not hesitate to tell him that she had loved Morgan.

It was perhaps five minutes before that door was reopened, and during the interval, Hilliard had an opportunity to wonder if the doctor had revised his office hours; otherwise, he should now be down in the Physicians' building, receiving patients. It occurred spontaneously to Hilliard that both Carol and her father were conceivably harassed by contrition, but as he estimated the extent to which their sorrow might go . . . judging by Carol's distress of last night, and the potential "tranny" of the doctor today—he was possessed of gripping emotions. Had they cared so deeply for him, then? Angela and Carol had said so; but he had doubted what he most wanted to believe. Was this additional proof? Had the doctor cared so deeply that in order to hold converse with Dick Morgan's sole executor, he would interrupt the sacred routine of his practice? Too late! Too late to care, too late to sympathize, only the winter garment of repentance was left for them! Hilliard couldn't comprehend why, when he had risen this morning so refreshed in mind and body, he should now be so unutterably wearied in both.

Carol returned, followed by a gentleman of sixty; and as the doctor entered, the room was suddenly permeated by an atmosphere of calm, and kindly peace. He was a large man, large of feature, and large of instinct; his forehead was that of an intellectual; his eyes were those of a dreamer; his chin denoted rugged capabilities, and the stubbornness of unswerving ethics.

"Mr. Hilliard?" His voice was pitched low, but its resonance was striking. Thirty years ago the doctor had been a famous harpist; and there was still one church in town which dated its musical supremacy from the choir he had organized and directed.

"Doctor Durant!" The two men clasped hands firmly. Hilliard, experiencing the dreaded sinking sensation which came upon him as often as he exposed himself to yet another old acquaintance, hardened as he perceived no recognition in the doctor's eyes. The inevitable reaction left him momentarily weak.

thing he did is a fact. I'm proud of him for it—and so far, for that, and for that only. But it isn't true that by itself alone it made him a hero. And when I said that I'm interested in the lesser facts, I mean that Dick's reasons for going into the war at all may be the proof that he was a hero—and that any physical bravery he may have shown has nothing whatsoever to do with it. Please don't misjudge us. We're not trying to belittle anything Dick did; it's neither fitting nor possible. But what we want to know is where the credit lies—with Dick, a reasoning, inspired, determined man, or with Dick, intoxicated by danger. In the latter case, his heroism would appeal to us as a detached incident, having no relation to his earlier life or to our own; it would be something to bring us pride for that, but for nothing else. In the other case, the knowledge of the why, in addition to the what, would bring us . . . But about Dick?"

"You can be happy, then," said Hilliard unhesitatingly, "because he went over. I believe, in the firm conviction that every man has two countries—his own and France."

"Yes?" The doctor sat down abruptly. "As long as you're interested in what he did before he was wounded—"

"And afterward, Mr. Hilliard."

"Rather than how he was hurt, let me assure you that as far as I know, from the first day he landed, I don't believe he thought once about his own misfortune. He had them. I know. But if you've got any manhood in you, you can't think of your own troubles, over there. It's too fearful. The Carrel-Dakin solution heals all sorts of wounds, Doctor Durant, all but the worst wound of all—and that's what every man who has any humanity and any sympathy about him gets when he first sees France. His heart is torn clear out of him. He can't sleep, he can hardly live with his own thoughts. And that quiet resolution you speak about—it's enough if it comes to a man there; I don't care what he had in his mind when he left you; I don't care what it was that led him to go overseas; I don't care what his purpose was when he sailed; I know that when he stood on French soil there wasn't an atom of selfishness or self-pity in him. It wasn't a question of adventure; it wasn't a question of drowning his sorrows; it was a question of his doing anything and everything he could to help out. Let me tell you something." Hilliard sat on the edge of his chair. "It's possible that you never thought of Dick Morgan either as a martyr or a fatalist. Nor do I think he was. But when he was pitched low, but its resonance was striking. Thirty years ago the doctor had been a famous harpist; and there was still one church in town which dated its musical supremacy from the choir he had organized and directed."

"Doctor Durant!" The two men clasped hands firmly. Hilliard, experiencing the dreaded sinking sensation which came upon him as often as he exposed himself to yet another old acquaintance, hardened as he perceived no recognition in the doctor's eyes. The inevitable reaction left him momentarily weak.

demically—if you didn't go so far beyond the actual facts."

"How do you mean?"

"Why," said Hilliard, "for one thing, in laying so much stress on his grandparents, Dick was the one who went overseas; his grandparents didn't. And his grandparents didn't go into action on the western front singing Stevenson's 'Requiem' at the top of their lungs and knowing that it was mighty appropriate, as Dick did."

"What?" said Carol, straightening. "What's that?"

"No." The doctor's negative was quiet, but decisive. "A man doesn't rise to heights of glory without some reason for it, Mr. Hilliard. But a man can resist his inheritance for a good many years, and suddenly stop resisting and revert to his family type. He can do it voluntarily or involuntarily. It's what we call atavism. He paused and smiled sadly. "The pity of it," he said, "is that in spite of his having failed in everything he tried to do in Syracuse, he would have made us proud of him, sooner or later, if he had stayed on here. I'm positive of that."

"Pity!" Hilliard straightened. This was the third time in two days that he had caught the intimation that he could have come home decently and humbly and been forgiven.

"Not that I pity him for what he accomplished, or what it cost him," warned the doctor. "I don't; I was very fond of the boy, Mr. Hilliard, but I wouldn't for the world have had him do anything else than what he did. No—but I do pity him because he can never know what we think; because he can never know how much we gladly forgive; because he can never know why we are proud of him."

hear to see a woman cry; it was immaterial to him who she was, or what the circumstance; he was powerfully affected—distracted. His single aim was to console her—it was a selfish aim designed primarily to relieve himself.

"But it's easy to see," he said desperately, "why he was so anxious to have me come. I . . . I have twice as many reasons to envy him now. Miss Durant . . . I really have. And . . . and, unlike your father, I can pity him, too, for—"

"Oh!" she said, smiling tremulously up at him through the misty veil of her tears. "But you see, Mr. Hilliard . . . you're quite mistaken . . . I wasn't pitying Dicky; I was pitying me!"

He bit his lip sharply. No reproach could have gone deeper. "That was your letter, you said?"

"Oh, yes," she said. "It couldn't have been for anyone else! Thank you so much . . . for bringing it . . ."

He was trying to analyze the emotions which stirred him. He had told himself over and over again that his love for her was numb; and yet here he was . . . unsteadily balanced . . . torn by her grief . . . and lying to her in the next sentence—to protect his previous lies, and to give to her what comfort he could.

"I want you to have his war cross, Miss Durant . . . I think it belongs to you more than to anyone else. . . . He stopped and stood irresolutely; for she had broken down completely. He watched her and slowly the blood burned in his cheeks! He tried to order his thoughts, to select his action . . . if he still loved her, he was there to console her; if not . . . he ought in all humanity to console her just the same, even if it took another of those inexcusable deceptions. For an instant he was on the point of succumbing to a wild impulse to blurt out the truth and take the consequences . . .

question as to the state of Hilliard's health, and before Angela had found an opportunity to get a word in edgewise.

"Understand you're a mining man, Mr. Hilliard," he said pleasantly. "I used to be," said Hilliard. "I've retired. I thought I told you so the first night I was here."

"Oh, yes—you did say something about it, but—" Mr. Cullen laughed with the fullness of one who has unearthed secrets. "It took some of our bright young newspaper crowd to ferret out the facts. You're too modest—that's what's the matter with you!"

As Hilliard smiled in deprecation Angela, crowing triumphantly, snatched for the papers.

"Where is it?" she cried. "Where . . . oh!" And slipped into beneficent calm, devouring the none too conservative paragraphs with all her might. The cold-type repetition of the well-known story sobered her considerably; still, it was for Hilliard's and her father's names that she glared; and as for the panegyric of Morgan, that was only an added garland to the wreath which was already his.

"Russian and English syndicate wasn't it?" asked Mr. Cullen.

"Yes," said Hilliard. "English and Russian."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR MAY 9

ELI AND HIS SONS.

2. Eli's Sons (vv. 12-17, 22). The behavior of these sons is in strange contrast to that of the boy Samuel. Eli's sons were priests and ministered the things of the sanctuary, but "knew not the Lord" (v. 12).

3. Eli's Sons (vv. 12-17). This story was practiced upon the worshippers who brought their sacrifices to the sanctuary, according to God's law. God ordained that the priests should have the breasts and shoulders of the animals which were brought to the altar (Ex. 29:27; Lev. 7:31, 32). The degenerate sons of Eli were not content with this, but demanded more and even sought to obtain it by force (v. 16). Moreover, they lifted up with a fork certain choice portions while raw, and had their portions. Such behavior on the part of the priests was revolting to the worshippers and resulted in the abhorrence of the Lord's offerings.

4. Eli (vv. 27-36). Eli was seemingly a good man, but he seriously erred before God in that he failed to discipline his sons (vv. 25-24). He knew of their sins and was conscious of his obligation, but his fatherly heart led him into a sentimental indulgence; he loved the better of his judgment. Eli was content with a weak remonstrance. He was under obligation to merely to speak against it, but should have acted against it.

5. Eli and His Sons Punished (1-15). They at last came to reap what they had sown. God has appointed a day of judgment (Acts 17:31). The law is a harvest time for the sinner as well as for the righteous (Job 3:18). If one has sown to the wind he shall reap the whirlwind. The Philistines made war upon Israel and defeated them with great slaughter. This judgment had been made known to Eli by a "man of God" (2:27) and Samuel (3:11-18). The Philistines were instruments in the hands of God for this judgment.

6. The battle with the Philistines (vv. 19). The Israelites made an unsuccessful attempt to free themselves from the oppression of the Philistines. Israel was smitten and some 4,000 were slain. This aroused them to inquire as to why "the Lord had smitten them" and to suggest that the ark be brought from Shiloh as a defense against the enemy. In this they committed two blunders: (1) The elders had no right to handle the ark; that belonged to the priests. Before taking such a step they should have sought the will of God, and if it were His will that the ark be brought, it should have been done by the priests. (2) It was a perpetual sin of the ark, which was a symbol of God's presence. They ignorantly assumed that the presence of God inhered in the symbol, forgetting that he is the living God, who has will and purpose of his own, and therefore will not give countenance to the which disagrees with his holy purpose and will. Professing Christians in this age commit a similar error when they substitute the sacraments of God in the church for the presence of God in a great soul. The earth rang out with a great shout when the ark was brought into the camp and the enemy was struck with fear, for they knew what would befall them if they were to be taken. God had wrought them a state calling upon their men to do their best with their backs to the wall the fought and won the victory.

7. Israel's disastrous defeat (v. 18). (1) The ark was routed and a great slaughter occurred (v. 10); (2) the ark of God was taken (v. 10); (3) the ark was taken into the hands of the Philistines; (4) the ark was carried away from their grasp; (5) the ark was taken into the hands of the Philistines; (6) the ark was taken into the hands of the Philistines; (7) the ark was taken into the hands of the Philistines; (8) the ark was taken into the hands of the Philistines; "Understand you're a mining man, Mr. Hilliard," he said, pleasantly. "I used to be," said Hilliard. "I've retired. I thought I told you so the first night I was here."

"Oh, yes—you did say something about it, but—" Mr. Cullen laughed with the fullness of one who has unearthed secrets. "It took some of our bright young newspaper crowd to ferret out the facts. You're too modest—that's what's the matter with you!"

As Hilliard smiled in deprecation Angela, crowing triumphantly, snatched for the papers.

"Where is it?" she cried. "Where is it?" And snatched into beatific calm, devouring the note too conservatively paragraphs with all her might. The cold-typed repetition of the well-known story sobered her considerably; still, it was for Hilliard's and her father's names that she glared; and as for the panegyric of Morgan, that was only an added garland to the wreath which was already his.

"Russian and English syndicate wasn't it?" asked Mr. Cullen. "Yes," said Hilliard. "English and Russian."

"Mighty interesting game—mining," said Cullen. "Let's wander down by the fountain; shall we? . . . I don't know why it is, but it sort of fascinates me—mining. It does everybody. More romance in it than most lines." Here Angela looked up sharply, and gurgled with wicked satisfaction, and sent a lifted eyebrow signal across to Hilliard.

"Yes," said Hilliard, "but there's more tragedy, too. I suppose that's the law of compensation getting to work. Big profits call for big risks."

This was for sand in Cullen's eyes; and it had its effect. "Oh, but the ratio's the same in almost any business, Mr. Hilliard, isn't it? It's about the same theory. Savings banks pay three to four per cent, but they never made a man rich yet. But copper has!"

Uncultivated Philippine Land. Surveys of the Philippine Islands have shown that of the total of 120,000 square miles, the cultivated area is only 14,000 square miles, the remainder embracing 61,000 square miles of commercial forests, 11,000 of non-commercial forests, 14,000 of uncultivated islands, and various areas and small islands, and various areas promising mineral products. The cultivated lands include 2,180,000 acres of rice, 1,296,600 of abaca or Manila hemp, 880,000 of coconuts, 440,000 of sugar cane, 145,000 of tobacco, 18,000 of mahogany, 26,000 of cacao, and 2,000 of coffee.

On Genius. Genius gets the world's praise because its work is a tangible product, to be bought, or to be had for nothing. It bribes the common voice to praise it by presents of speeches, poems, statues, pictures, or whatever it can please with. Character evolves its best products for home consumption; but, mind you, it takes a deal more to feed a family for 30 years than to make a holiday feast for our neighbors once or twice.—Holmes.

Children's Theology. A little girl explained God's omnipresence by saying that he was everywhere without going there. A small boy, reflecting on the misdeeds of Satan, remarked: "I don't see how he ever got to be so bad when he had no devil to put him up to it."

"Get Rich Quick." Writing a song that catches on is one of the shortest cuts to wealth. Sir Arthur Sullivan received $50,000 in royalties for "The Lost Chord," and "My Pretty Jane" remunerated its composer to the tune of $10,000 a line.—Boston Post.

LESSON FOR MAY 9

ELI AND HIS SONS.

May be used with temperance application. LESSON TEXT—1 Sam. 2:12, 23-36.

GOLDEN TEXT—The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.—Rom. 6:23-24; 4:19; 6:18; Eph. 6:14.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God Calls the Sons of Eli.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Eli and His Sons. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Responsibility of Parents and Children.

I. The Wickedness of Eli and His Sons 2:12-17, 27-36.

1. Eli's sons (vv. 12-17, 27). The having of these sons is in strange contrast to that of the boy Samuel. Eli's sons were priests and ministered the things of the sanctuary, but "knew not the Lord" (v. 12).

(1) Graft (vv. 12-17). This graft was practiced upon the worshippers who brought their sacrifices to the sanctuary, according to God's law. God ordained that the priests should have the breasts and shoulders of the animals which were brought to the altar (Ex. 29:27; Lev. 7:31, 32). The degenerate sons of Eli were not content with this, but demanded more and even sought to obtain it by force (v. 16). Moreover, they lifted up with a fork certain choice portions while raw, and had them roasted. Such behavior on the part of the priests was revolting to the worshippers and resulted in the abhorrence of the Lord's offerings.

2. Eli (vv. 27-36). Eli was seemingly a good man, but he seriously erred before God in that he failed to discipline his sons (vv. 23-24). He knew of their sins and was conscious of his obligation, but his fatherly heart led him into a sentimental indulgence; he love got the better of his judgment. Eli was content with a weak reproof. He was under obligation to merely to speak against it, but should have acted against it.

II. Eli and His Sons Punished (2:1-19).

They at last came to reap what they had sown. God has appointed a day of judgment (Acts 17:31). This is a harvest time for the sinner as well as for the righteous (Joel 2:3). He who has sown to the wind he shall reap the whirlwind. The Philistines made war upon Israel and defeated them with great slaughter. This judgment had been known to Eli by a "man of God" (2:27) and Samuel (3:11-18). The Philistines were instruments in the hands of God for this judgment.

1. The battle with the Philistines (vv. 1-9). The Israelites made an unsuccessful attempt to free themselves from the oppression of the Philistines. Israel was smitten and some 4,000 were slain. This aroused them to inquiries as to why the Lord had smitten them and to suggest that the ark be brought from Shiloh as a defense against the enemy. In this they committed themselves: (1) The elders had no right to handle the ark; that belonged to the priests. Before taking such a step they should have sought the mind of God, and if it were his will that the ark be brought, it should have been done by the priests. (2) It was a sacrilegious use of the ark, which was a symbol of God's presence. They ignorantly assumed that the presence of God inhered in the symbol, forgetting that he is the living God, who has will and purpose of his own, and therefore will not give his countenance to those which disagree with his holy purposes and will. Professing Christians in this age commit a similar error when they substitute the sacraments of the church for the presence of God in the soul. The earth rang out with a great shout when the ark was brought into the camp and the enemy was struck with fear, for they knew what wonderful God had wrought. In times past, in their desperation they made a statue, calling upon their men to do their best with their backs to the wall they fought and won the victory.

2. Israel's disastrous defeat (vv. 10-18). (1) The army was routed and a great slaughter occurred (v. 10); the ark of God was taken (v. 10); the symbol of the divine presence with its sacred memories torn from their grasp and with it went Israel's hope; (2) Eli's sons slain (v. 10); the very priests who were the custodians of the ark were slain; (4) death of Eli the high priest (v. 18). The news of the defeat of the army and the death of the high priest was awful, but when he learned that the ark of God was taken he died instantly.

Paint is a necessity
—not a luxury

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Mendocville, Ky.—Mrs. Cyn. Higginsbotham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak. I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few doses of Black-Draught."

Seventy years of successful use has made Theford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member of every family, at times, need the help that Black-Draught can give in cleansing the system and relieving the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, lazy liver, etc. You cannot keep well unless your stomach, liver and bowels are in good working order. Keep them that way. Try Black-Draught. It acts promptly, gently and in a natural way. If you feel sluggish, take a dose tonight. You will feel fresh tomorrow. Price 25c. a package—One cent a dose.
