and march off to war if America is imperiled. For those behind the scenes, however, there is a part to be played. It is of the nature of the wheels of defense that are being set in motion.

One of the first requests of the government is for scrap aluminum. This vital metal is needed and everyone who can furnish a few ounces or pounds is urged to do so.

Before the present generation of newspapermen had graduated from kindergarten a wise, old editor was chronicling the doings of a county up at Albany.

But still going strong, Colonel McCarty's column is yet a C. S. Martin, will be made a part of the weekly paper he bequeathed to his son.

Dick's style is characteristic of the old West. His writings, editorialized, vibrate with passion and possess the adventurism of a moonlit prairie.

For example, the following excerpt from his column last week: "Something is not done, Albany is going to be a cord wood town."

It is pointed out that the returns will be difficult to tabulate and that smaller crews will probably be able to handle the job conveniently.

At the same time reduce the expense of about $600, which a county wide election necessitates.

The ballot to be used in voting Thursday will be the same as that used in the Cross Plains precinct.

A little more than two months ago when beer was rejected here. The ballot will read as follows:

For prohibiting the sale of beer containing alcohol not exceeding four (4%) percentum by weight.

Against prohibiting the sale of beer containing alcohol not exceeding four (4%) percentum by weight.

Dry voters will, of course, scratch through the bottom paragraph, while wet voters will scratch through the top paragraph.

Outcome of the election is expected to be known within two hours after the polls close, as rural boxes have been asked to telephone their returns as soon as possible after tabulations have been completed.

Polls will close at seven o'clock.

News From The AAA Office

By E. L. Pierson,

Wheat producers who have excess wheat may store the amount of the excess in order to postpone or avoid payment of the penalty.

Some wheat farmers have misunderstood the motive of wheat marketing quotas but the primary objective is to keep the excess wheat off the market at this time since the United States has an enormous surplus on hand. The penalties on excess wheat are not to be confused with measures for raising revenue since the penalties are so means of inducing producers to keep excess wheat off the market and in no way constitutes a tax.

Wheat producers who have excess wheat and who wish to postpone or avoid the payment of the penalty may either store the wheat on the farm by executing a bond of indemnity, or by placing funds in escrow, through the county AAA committee or by storing the wheat in a warehouse and depositing the warehouse receipts with the county AAA committee. The excess may be pledged to secure a Commodity Credit Corporation loan which will be at a rate of 90 percent of that available to cooperators.

If producers do not choose to store their wheat they may avoid the penalty by delivering the excess to the Secretary of Agriculture, through the local county AAA committee, for relief purposes.

Producers who do not choose any of these methods to dispose of their excess wheat must then pay the penalty on the excess before they are eligible to receive wheat marketing cards.

An amount of wheat not less than the farm marketing excess must be either stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the penalty at the rate of 49 cents per bushel must be paid not later than 90 days after harvesting the wheat. If the excess is not accounted for in one of these ways, the producer will be liable for the amount of penalty incurred on the farm marketing excess. The payment of the penalty can be postponed as long as the wheat is in storage.

It is permissible for Callahan county cotton producers to dispose of cotton to comply with the supplementary cotton program to bring their acreage reduction in line with the reduction indicated on their intention sheets. J. L. Farmer, chairman of the Callahan county AAA committee, has announced.

This is made possible by the recent amendment to the 1941 agricultural conservation program which provides that acreage will not be considered as planted to cotton if the cotton is disposed of before reaching the bolting stage or within 10 days after notice of the seeded acreage is given, whichever is later.

Under no circumstances, however, may a cotton producer receive cotton stamps for reducing more acreage than he signed on his original intention sheet on the cotton stamp program.

To make this ruling clearer, assume that a cotton producer has a 1941 cotton allotment of 50 acres, planted 50 acres in 1940, and to receive cotton stamps, indicated a reduction of 2 acres. This would permit 48 acres to be planted to cotton for this year. However, when the cotton was measured, he showed 49 acres planted. He would be allowed to dispose of 1 acre to come within his intended 48 acres but he would not receive cotton stamps on more than 2 acres since this was the amount signed on his original intention sheet.

Under the original definition of cotton, the acreage of cotton disposed of below the acreage allotment would still be classified as acreage planted to cotton. The amendment also provides that if cotton is seeded but does not reach maturity, the smaller of (1) the acreage seeded to cotton, (2) 3 acres, or (3) 3 percent of the 1941 cotton allotment will be considered as having been planted to cotton. This provision was made, Mr. Farmer points out, so that farms will not show zero acres of cotton when was actually seeded.

The new amendment also permits producers to dispose of cotton acreage to come within total soil-depleting acreages. By this method, deductions for overplanting total soil-depleting.

It might be advisable that in cases where Callahan county cotton producers will suffer total or partial loss of their 1941 cotton crops because of excessive rains, insects or abandonment, to dispose of the acreage on which cotton will not be harvested.

In explaining this point, the county committee chairman said that a high acreage of cotton with a low lint yield per acre because of factors such as these, will, in all probability affect cotton yields on individual farms, under the 1942 agricultural conservation program and probably will have a direct effect on cotton insurance since an extremely low yield might affect premium rates.

Producers should remember, however, the chairman continued, that acreage will be considered as planted to cotton this year if the cotton is not disposed of before it reaches the bolting stage or within 10 days after notice of the seeded acreage is given, whichever is later.

This would not change the basis for cotton stamps to be issued on a farm since cotton stamps cannot be obtained on more acres than was shown on the original intention sheet.

COLEMAN PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION LOANS ARE $779,412.00

In connection with the nationwide celebration of the founding of the two-billion-dollar in production credit association loans, the Texas' 36 associations had its part by hitting an all time high in loans to stockmen and farmers during the first six months of 1941, according to word received by the Coleman Production Credit Association.

Reflecting credit demands for seasonal operations and expanded farm production to meet national defense requirements, Texas this year have borrowed $23,957,630, a gain of 47% over last year's first half total of $16,442,727. Loans during the period reached a total of 9,377—a gain of 2,991 members.

The Coleman Production Credit Association has made loans to stockmen and farmers for $779,412.25 in the period of January 1—June 15, 1941, as compared with loans for $508,000, during the same period last year.

THE PASSING OF THE Boomtown

Oil boomtowns exist today only in the movies. The old-time "gusher" wells a gone forever.

In the early days, as long as oil flowed the boomtowns flourished. But soon the wells failed and the booms collapsed, carrying with them the income and security of those who had depended on them.

Today, through a sound program conserving oil and gas, hundreds of Texas communities are enjoying a permanent type of petroleum development. Furthermore, because of conservation, we have the largest oil reserves in the world, one of our greatest assets for National Defense.

Oil now builds stable communities. It provides assured tax revenues and greater ultimate tax returns than were ever possible boomtown days. And every citizen benefits from the income oil creates.

Conservation not only protects Texas oil resources. It also assures for many years the prosperity which oil brings to every community where it is found.

Letters To The Editor
Dear Sir and Friend:
Thank you Jack for your very kind and complimentary remarks concerning my piano playing, over the microphone and in this week's issue of the Review.

Good or bad, home talent is not always encouraged or appreciated as it should be. I say this based on at least fifty years of spare time study of various musical instruments, playing for various social, educational, religious and home entertainment, but never for dollars and cents.

There is some excellent talent in Cross Plains. It should be brought out more to the front. True, lots of good players are timid and get stage fright when up before a crowd, but they will soon get over this and when asked to play, will put everything they have into getting the job done, whether it is well liked or not.

I have attended every picnic Cross Plains has had for over fifteen years and I have never seen anything in the way of entertainment that our home people could not duplicate.

Why not have an incorporated association of some kind, owned by our farmers, merchants and others, where our farm products, goods, wares, merchandise and talent can be displayed. This would eventually bring returns from far outside the immediate territory of Cross Plains.

People like to go places, they want to be entertained, they like to laugh and play (even if their hair is white and some of their teeth missing) so why not have an organization, grounds, buildings and all where they can get it.

People and contributors and entertainers will come from outside points. While there were many good entertainers on the platform the night of the picnic, I particularly appreciated the little girl from May who sang "God Bless America".

Jack, if you and my fellow citizens will get going on an incorporated, profit-sharing association for Cross Plains along the lines I have intimated, I will not only pay spot cash for one or more shares, but hereby obligate myself to put on some real musical entertainment in which I will play various musical instruments and some of them two at one time, but always remember, I play for the fun and "kick" I get out of so doing and not for money.

With kindest regards, I remain, Yours sincerely, R. B. JORDAN

Richard Hardwick of Camp Bowie visited Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pierce the past week end.

NEWS BRIEFS OF BYGONE DAYS

Little Squibs Gleaned From Files Of Review

July 15, 1927: The Empire Gas and Fuel Co.'s big gas well on the Johnson ranch 18 miles West, has turned out to be a big oil well, too. A separator was installed and the well is now producing 1,000 barrels it is stated, and maintain its record as a gas producer. This means big pay in that section when conditions warrant.

In the new field five miles West of town, Shaw & Rothke are on top of pay sand on their Miller No. 3, and are drilling at 1150 on their No. 7. Brannon & Murry on Bennett-Booth No. 2 are expected to drill in this week. Mosk, Texas & Wakefield on T. E. Baum, No. 2 are drilling at 725. Bradstreet is underreaming at 790 on his Walker No. 1. Hill & West are fishing for collapsed casing at 730 on their Walker No. 1.

Other drilling has not been reported.

July 22, 1927: Thursday, July 21, at 2:30 p. m., the City Council will receive bids on street paving. Bids will be received on different types of paving. It is understood that seven blocks has been figured in the paving program, to include four blocks on Main, extending south from the Baptist church; two blocks on Eight, extending a block each way from Main Street and one block on ninth, extending one block East of Main. This program is subject to alterations, if it becomes advisable.

The City Council is anxious to get the paving started, and it is thought now that actual work may begin in a few weeks and probably about the middle of August. The Review hopes to make some definite announcement by next week, as to the time the work will start.

The white way just recently contracted for, will be installed just prior to the paving and with the white-way and paved streets, Cross Plains will look like a different town—and the change will be for the better. We will all enjoy and appreciate these splendid improvements.

July 29, 1927: Higginbotham Bros. & Co. here are installing modern new fixtures in the Dry Goods Department, and rearranging the Departments. When complete the improvements will represent an investment of approximately $4,000. This store is to be congratulated for this worthy improvement, giving evidence in their faith in the future of their business in Cross Plains, which is justified. It will be several days yet before the remodeling will be complete and all the new fixtures installed, business will go on as usual, they state.

August 5, 1927: The fire alarm sounded at three o'clock Monday morning and hundreds of people dressed frantically and rushed to town to witness the biggest and the most disastrous fire Cross Plains has had for many years. The Cross Plains Bakery and the Hotel Grace were completely destroyed. Both were two story frame buildings. The Volunteer Fire Department was on the job and did splendid work, but the fire was too far advanced when they reached the scene to save the buildings, yet they kept the fire from spreading to other buildings by using two streams of water directed in the most effective way. The West Texas Utilities office building, just south of the fire sustained considerable damage from both water and fire before the conflagration subsided and a number of other nearby buildings were threatened, but the fire boys fighting the spread of the fire desperately—and they won. RAILROADS MOVING ONE FOURTH MORE FREIGHT THAN 1918

"Just what the shape and the size of the job ahead is, no one knows," said Robert S. Henry of the association of American Railroads, recently. "But the railroads know that with their twenty years program of preparedness, with improved plant, the better methods of operation which such a plant makes possible, and the organized cooperation of the users of transportation, they will keep pace with the demand. If they, and they will, then they will keep right on making, "no news" which is good news.

It ought to be news when the railroads buy 100,000 new cars this year and plan to acquire 120,000 more next year. It ought to be news when the railroads deliver 5,000 car loads of material a day to defense projects, without delay or failure. It ought to be news that this year the railroads have been moving nearly one-fourth more tonnage of freight than in the year of 1918. But those things are not treated as news because they represent what the railroads are supposed to do. Namely, meet any emergency of agriculture and industry as a part of the day's work.

Today's railroad is a different sort of railroad from that of the last war. For instance, for each hour on the road, railroad freight trains now turn out twice as much transportation service as they did in 1918. That's the kind of plant the railroads have built, and that's the kind of plant that is handling the biggest mass transportation job in history with 100 per cent efficiency.

COUNTY ATTORNEY EXPLAINS

I have had many inquiries concerning the effect of the coming local option election upon the dry precincts in the county, and for that reason am making this public statement. If the county should go dry then it will be illegal to sell beer anywhere in the county, and no precinct can legalize beer until after another county wide election in which the county goes wet. On the other hand, if the county goes wet, then beer may legally be sold in the precincts where it is now legal to sell it. In other words, if the county votes wet in this election, it will still be illegal to sell beer in the precincts which are now dry, such as Cross Plains, Clyde and Opalin. I trust that this will clarify this question.

NO BUTTER? THEN TRY SOME DAISIES, GERMANS ADVISED

The Voelkischer Boebachter, Adolf Hitler's official Nazi daily, recently advised Germans, in effect, to butter their bread with daisies. The paper said this wildflower had more Vitamin C, more health-giving minerals and more nourishing salts than most domestic vegetables, and it urged housewives to spend Sundays with their children in the woods, gathering daisies and other wild plants. Chickweed, nettles, dandelions, butterburst and caseweeds were other plants suggested for wartime soups, gravy and vegetable dishes.

Some Town Gossip SENATE L Texas To Have

STEVENSON TAKES OVER AS O'DANIEL BECOMES SENATOR

W. Lee Leaving Saturday For Washington: To Take Oath Monday Noon of Next Week

Lee O'Daniel announced Wednesday that he will leave for Washington, D. C., Saturday night and will take his oath as U. S. senator at noon Monday.

O'Daniel will leave Houston by train Monday night at 9:40 p. m. As soon as he crosses into Louisiana, Lieut. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will become acting governor. When O'Daniel becomes U. S. senator the following day, Stevenson will be in office for the remainder of O'Daniel's term as governor.

The governor was to attend the wedding of his daughter, Molly, to Jack D. Wratler Jr. of Tyler at the executive mansion Thursday at 8 p. m. The next day he was to be a guest at a barbecue and farewell party given by Fort Worth friends.

Saturday at 6 p. m. O'Daniel will attend a similar reception at Hermann park, Houston, after which he will board the train for Washington.

Only Mrs. O'Daniel will accompany her husband to the national capital to take over the seat of the late Morris Sheppard, who served Texas as senator for nearly 30 years.

The governor said he had made no plans to take along his famous hillbilly orchestra, colorful feature of his short political career, as it had been reported he might do.

Unless there is some change in O'Daniel's plans to take the senatorial oath of office at noon on next Monday, Stevenson likely will be formally sworn in as governor of Texas at noon Monday.

Monday, it was said, will be a favorable time for the attendance of Mrs. Stevenson, which is Stevenson's main concern about the time.

One of Stevenson's early duties will be to decide if there shall be a special session of the state legislature to pass a road bond servicing act. Stevenson has no disposition to call a session until the disagreements that prevented such an act at the regular session have been ironed out. It is unlikely there will be a session before September.

It was pointed out here that county commissioners' courts need not act finally on taxes until Sept. 12, and that if an agreement was reached on a bond servicing act, they could be notified that no taxes will be needed for the bonds, and the legislature meet later to care for the bonds.

Any technical default that would result in barring bonds for investment of state funds could be cured in the same act that the legislature passes to care for bond servicing.
