CROSS PLAINS' OLDEST BUSINESS INSTITUTION

"When The One Great Scorer Comes To Write Against Your Name He Writes Not If You Won Or Lost But How You Played The Game"

Vol. 33, No. 5

"Without offense to friends or foes we sketch Cross Plains exactly as it goes."

"Nothing but the United States mint can make money without advertising."

Home Town Gossip

A good thing Mrs. Leo Varner is very understandable lady for she is now calling her husband "Sugar Man", even to the work and children: occasioned, of course, by the fact that he's handling the rationing of the sweet stuff.

Did the German to the Swiss: "Come you have an Admiral? Have no coastline, no navy, no air."
The Swiss replied, "Well, you in any have a Minister of Justice don't you?"

The blooming dogwoods are beginning to fail to stir the hearts of Texans in politics this year.

The candidate was recently asked whether or not he had an opponent. He replied, "and don't tell anyone running either."

The neighbors heard a loud commotion at the Fred Stacy place, near Southwest of town, early Monday morning. Rufus Kenfro, who to the scene and found his wife, Mrs. Stacy, the former Miss Kenfro, at a tank near the garage in a stage of great excitement. She was talking so fast and so excitedly that at first he could not follow the conversation, but in a few minutes he gathered enough to break out in a thunderclap.

The neighbor, who had never caught a cat in her life, had just landed a pound yellow-cat, and was so over the accomplishment that she was shouting her joy to the neighbors.

The neighbor explains that his wife—unusually in fishing—literally ran to the pole and started running to the pasture, dragging the fish "out of the tank" to a point where there could be no possibility of its getting back into the water.

The neighbor is the thrill that comes to fishermen who chance to catch a big one for their first catch.

The neighbor and morning coffee sippers, of Cross Plains possess more proportionate share, are bad news. Press dispatches at capture of Java by the Japanese will prevent further shipment there to give American that delightful aroma while sitting at a table with a single spoon of sugar, and in compliance with rationing. The cream may be frozen for more important uses.

The neighbor keeps getting worse and is forced to resort to old-fashioned water as a mid-morning drink. But what of those rituals, contests to determine who is the better fisherman?

The neighbor country club's annual tournament for members, which occasions a great deal of activity underway this week. Three of eight players each are off. Down in the bracket of dubbers is this rural pencil and our honorable opponent of the likewise rural scribbler of Rising Star, Doc.

The neighbor has been pounding the little round the fairways for more than he'll possibly admit, is quite potent. Time for the has not been set but we'll have to close up shop and put the entire force as a section and morale builder. One of the most difficult of our golfing pastime.

The neighbor congratulations to Verda (Tommy) Gray, who has been a swell job pinch-hitter for her at the switchboard of the telephone office. Mrs. Gray has been enjoying a well earned vacation of two or three days in Odessa.

The neighbor Mrs. L. W. Coppinger and her guests the past week with Mrs. Mike Cunningham in Odessa.

The neighbor Mrs. R. Anderson and Kathie Billy spent the week end with relatives and friends in Odessa.

The neighbor Miss Mildred Hargrove has returned to her home here from Hamilton, where she has been visiting for the past four weeks in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hargrove.

WHEAT GROWERS VOTE MAY 2

NATION'S FOURTH INVENTORY OF MAN POWER IS FINISHED

Count Goes To 313 As Sick Man Signed Up By Clerk Here Wednesday Morning

313 men were signed for possible non-military service in Cross Plains this week as Uncle Sam inventoried his man power between the ages of 45 and 64. 312 had been signed up when the registration office closed Monday night, however, S. F. Bond, who handled the job here, registered one other—a sick man—at his home Wednesday morning.

Men who registered in the fourth "sign-up" will not be eligible for military service, however, they may be drafted into industry to serve anywhere in the continental United States. There will be no national lottery, however, to determine order numbers.

Questionnaires filled out by the registrants will give their experience and particular aptitudes for work. From this information workers will be drafted into industry if the need justifies, say selective service officials.

Although he was exempt by virtue of the fact that he is already in military service and is commander in chief of the army and navy, President Roosevelt registered Monday as did all other Americans within the age group.

CROSS PLAINS OVER THE TOP AGAIN IN PATRIOTIC GIVING

$108.50 Is Raised For Navy Relief Society In Rally Here Saturday Afternoon

More than a third of Callahan County's quota for the Navy Relief Society was raised in a downtown rally here Saturday afternoon. Mrs. H. A. Young, local chairman of the drive, announces that total receipts were $108.50.

Callahan County had been given a quota of $300, of which has commissioners precinct comprising Cross Plains, Atwell, Gaddo Peak, Dressy and Cottonwood, was expected to raise $100.00. Mrs. Young has notified Ashby White, county chairman, that this precinct's quota has been surpassed.

"We are again proud of the patriotic response of our citizens in oversubscribing a quota assigned for war effort. As was the case in the recent Red Cross drive when Cross Plains gave far beyond expectations, our people have again responded gloriously and everyone should be supremely happy to live in a community so unanimously American," stated Mrs. Young yesterday.

With the fund of $108.50 raised in Cross Plains Saturday afternoon, only $191.50 more must be raised in the entire county to meet the quota assigned to Callahan, Baird, Clyde, Putnam, Oplin, Denton, Eula and other communities are expected to subscribe this amount.

MARKETING QUOTAS TO BE DECIDED AS PRODUCERS BALLOT

Seven Polling Places Will Be Open In County From 8 To 8:30; 202 Eligibles

Saturday, May second, is voting day in Texas and the nation. Wheat producers will go to the polls to decide whether they will continue the use of marketing quotas on this year's crop.

This, in turn, will decide the important question of whether government loans will be made to producers for extension of loans are contingent upon marketing quota approval.

Records in the county AAA office reveal 202 producers eligible to vote in this referendum, all of which are urged to go to the polls and use this privilege which few farmers in the world have today.

The polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., War Time.

The polling places in the county are as follows: Cross Plains at the bank, Putnam at Cook's service station, Oplin at McIntyre's store, Baird at the court house in the grand jury room, Eula at the school house, Lanham at the school house, and Denton at Padon's store.

Death Summons Early Settler Of Callahan County

Funeral services for Mrs. J. B. Cutbirth, 85, pioneer Callahan county ranch lady, who died at her home in Baird at 11:20 Wednesday night were to be held from the family residence Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. Interment was to be made in the Belle Plaine cemetery, beside the grave of her husband who died in 1922.

Mrs. Cutbirth had been seriously ill less than a week. All of her seven children were at the bedside when she died.

J. B. Cutbirth and Sarah Alice Skinner were married at Pilot Point, in Denton county, in February 1877 and came to Callahan county shortly thereafter settling near the present township of Clyde. Later in the same year the couple were among the settlers who gathered at Belle Plaine for the organizational meeting of the county. After the county was formed and Belle Plaine designated as the county seat the Cutbirths moved there. They continued to reside in Belle Plaine until in the 1890's when the railroad's Westward surge resulted in the removal of the county seat to Baird and the town of Belle Plaine abandoned. Through the intervening half century the family home has been on the same block at Baird.

Survivors include seven children: Mrs. George B. Scott, Cross Plains; Willie L. Cutbirth, of near Baird; Fred Cutbirth, of near Cross Plains; Mrs. Gordon I. Phillips, Big Spring; Mrs. Russell Hart, Baird; Mrs. Fred Heyster, of near Putnam; Mrs. Howard E. Farmer, of Baird; as well as two sisters, 11 grand-children, six great grand children, one great great grand child, number of relatives and a great host of friends.

Burial Thursday afternoon was to be made in the family plot in the Belle Plaine cemetery, beside the grave of the late Mr. Cutbirth and five other children.

Further details were not available as the Review went to press early Thursday morning.

The Insecticide Situation

Agriculture has a call for increased production on one hand and a shortage of several standard insecticides on the other. Here's about the way insecticide situation shapes up:

First, the cotton farmer is faced with a decrease of from 25 to 40 percent in the available supply of calcium arsenate.

No shortage in lead arsenate is anticipated, but the supply will be used principally in the control of fruit and vegetable insects; therefore we cannot count on this material as a substitute for calcium arsenate.

Other substitutes, such as Paris Green and white arsenic, will be unavailable for all practical purpose except for stocks carried over from last year.

Plentiful supplies of both natural and synthetic cryolite should be available, but the effectiveness of this material in controlling cotton insects is limited.

There will be no shortage of dusting sulphur to control the rottion fleahopper.

Vegetable growers will face a shortage of the rotenone insecticide, which have grown increasingly popular in recent years.

Some manufacturers of commercial rotenone mixtures (made from the rotenone bearing roots such as Derris, Cube or Timbo with carriers of sulphur or inert materials), report that supplies have been depleted and that much delay is anticipated in renewing stocks.

If there are supplies of Derris, Cube or Timbo in storage at local points, these may be mixed with sulphur, clay or talc. If the sulphur on hand is of the wet-table type, this may be used in lieu of dusting sulphur and can be applied either as a dust or spray.

No shortage is anticipated in the available supplies of the pyrethrum or of the tobacco insecticides, such as tobacco extract, free nicotine and nicotine sulphate.

The supply of lead arsenate is apparently sufficient to take care of vegetable growers' needs and this insecticide will again come into use to control chewing insects, a purpose for which it has been largely replaced by the non-toxic to humans rotenone insecticides. Use of lead arsenate on vegetables should be followed by the usual precautions.

Fruit growers will find enough lead arsenate on the market for normal use and the ingredients for lime-sulphur are in plentiful supply. There is no shortage of oil for oil emulsion sprays in Texas.

Since the cost of a enemy has advanced from $125,000.00 in the pre-war period to $1.25 million in the present, it is far more important to super production and deal the war zones, than it is to send men out to fight enemy short of planes, and other equipment, as we are doing.

OFF-HAND Observations

The editor of the Stanton Reporter, James E. Kelley, announced through his personal column that he attended church recently in his home town.

"The churches are making a valiant effort to get all the sinners to go to church, as well as the backsliders, whom ever they may be, if any."

It is high time the churches are calling that people back to God. The reason our country and other countries are in today is because we have departed from God.

As a Christian nation we have been entirely too self-sufficient and forgot our need of a Savior. We have gone our own way and now since we are beginning to realize our sin we are actually reaching out and calling to the world to return to God and it seems there is a feeble response.

However, the Christian people have much to do yet and attendance of Divine worship on the part of the church membership needs to be greatly increased and a closer walk with God in our daily lives.

On account of the shortage in farm labor caused by the war a move to an increase in night plowing is advised by some of our agricultural magazines.

They say certain tractor plowing, such as the preparation of seed beds, and the cultivation of some row crops can be done very well at night by attaching headlights to the tractor.

It is to be hoped our farmers will arrange to work late in their crops

WAR

... after 10 years of something for nothing!

JIMMIE, too young to know about the newfangled theories of the past 10 years wherein you get something for nothing, is simply amazed at getting even double for his money.

A double-decker brings a "Gee-Whiz!" and bulging eyes.

And Jimmie is right. The war is disproving all the socialistic theories of the last decade. The country is paying in blood for the sweat and toil it failed to expend in honest work during a period when political boondoggling and perpetual motion substituted for labor to make our nation strong and virile.

The awakening is painful. Today we are straining every ounce of energy in the wartime effort while proving the old theories wrong... working night and day to get something for anything! Today we know that PRODUCTION, not reduction, makes a people strong, a nation free.

We are paying dearly for producing too little, too late!

We will win, of course. No other country can compare with America's potential war production. No other has the men, the machines—or the electric power.

America's electric companies, under trained and experienced business men, are supplying power for the vast wartime industries where it's needed when it's needed... a supply that is greater than the combined total of all the enemy nations.

While most everything else has gone up, electric rates remain the lowest in history.

In fact, like Jimmie, you are getting a double-decker... double for your money. The average price of electric service today is about half of what it was just 15 years ago.

It's true, maybe, that your bill hasn't been cut in half. The answer is, of course, that you are more and better lights, more new and useful appliances.

But right now for two nickels a day a majority of West Texas homes operate lights, radio, cleaner, toaster, washer and refrigerator.

No, you don't get "something for nothing." But the electric nickel buys just about the world's biggest double-decker!

SUGAR, BETTER TEETH rationing may be just what you need, the Public Education of the American Association said.

W. Morrey, director of rationing, said that if the date's per capita sugar consumption was "drastically cut over a reasonable period of time" there would be a sharp reduction in tooth decay.

He pointed out that almost 100 million eligible fighting men in the army were suffering from tooth decay.

He called for a campaign of "prevention" among parents, urging the child's consumption of foods and nurturing "a set of teeth that last."

Morrey based his conclusion on the diet of orphans in Eskimos. Children in the United States were observed by University of Michigan researchers, and that groups receiving a diet suffering less tooth decay.

WASHINGTON—Mr. John Doe, American citizen, has a job, a family, an automobile and a thousand problems aggravated by the fact that this country is now at war.

On the basis of what already has happened to him and what is likely to happen in the near future, here's a picture of what John Doe's typical day will be like:

He gets up in the morning an hour earlier than he once did (by the sun), because the country must save electricity. He has toast and coffee for breakfast, spooning in a lessened amount of sugar because he can now have only one-half pound a week. Maybe his two-egg ration has been cut to one through rising prices.

When he puts on his new business suit it has no cuffs, no frills. He rides a bus or street car, either because his tires are worn through or his gasoline ration card is used up.

Harder Work
At the office he works a little harder, because some of the younger men have gone to the army and new assistants—sometimes women—have to be trained. He saves on office paper to combat a shortage. His secretary uses the old typewriter that doesn't suit her—she can't get a new one now.

At night he and his wife and the kids listen to the radio with only an occasional movie or attend instruction classes in civilian defense. Expenses must be cut because his salary probably hasn't kept up with advancing prices, and he must pay higher taxes and buy war bonds.

Part of John Doe's troubles are going to be eased. The prices he must pay for goods—providing the goods are available—probably will not be more than he had to pay during March. But on the other hand his salary will likely remain static for the duration of the war.

That's because the economic system can't stand the strain of an over-balanced ratio of purchasing power to the amount of consumer goods available.

May Lose Job
If John Doe works for a company whose product is hit by priority orders or rationing system he may lose his job. In that case he probably goes to work in a war industry or in government service.

Maybe John Doe was planning a little cottage somewhere out in the country—but not now. No building materials are available. He was saving money for a vacation trip—but that went for war bonds, taxes and increased living costs.

His wife makes over dresses, or buys new ones a trifle shorter and with only one pocket. She hangs blackout curtains in place of the new frilly ones she wanted so badly.

But Mr. and Mrs. John Doe know there's no rationing or ceilings on smiles.
"G'est la guerre," they say.

Vitamin A Shortage

Because of a shortage of Vitamin A, which is manufactured in the body from carotene (yellow or greenish coloring matter in carrots and leaves), the government food experts are reducing the content of this vitamin in standard daily doses from 10,000 International units to 5,000. However, any normal human being can easily obtain his needed 5,000 units of Vitamin A from a cupful of cooked turnip greens, mustard, spinach or chard, or from eating fifteen dried apricots or a fair-sized boiled or baked sweet potato.

THE LONGEST LIVED ANIMAL

It has been thought that the elephant holds the record, since his average life is between 125 and 150 years. In the London Zoo, it has been reported, there were some geese from 90 to 100 years old, which is exceeded by a number of humans. However, all these seem to be over-shadowed by a species of turtle which naturalists believe to have reached an age of as much as 250 years.

Marie Parker is visiting relatives in Big Spring this week.

HOW YOU CAN KEEP UP WITH THE JONESES

Not so long ago a favorite American sport was "keeping up with the Joneses." The only rule required participants to drive as shiny an automobile, dress as snappy and in every way present as sharp an appearance as the neighbors. This was great for persons with things to sell, but a bit rough on pa's pocketbook.

Now is the time to revive the old game, but with quite different rules. This time you will be setting the pace, not attempting to catch up with the Joneses. Make them get up and hustle to catch you as you go all-out for Uncle Sam. Here are some little things which, if done well and regularly, will put you in the home army front rank.

1. Turn over to the proper authorities all scrap metal, rags, paper, rubber, glass and tin foil.
2. Send books, playing cards, cookies and candy to some man in the service.
3. Make it a smiling farewell for friends or relatives called to the colors.
4. Clean your attic of inflammables, select a refuge room and place minimum fire-fighting equipment conveniently.
5. Take extra good care of woolen and rubber goods, and household articles.
6. Don't hoard anything.
7. Put your family and yourself on a definite health program.
8. Carry packages home to save rubber and paper.
9. Buy as many war bonds and stamps as possible.
10. Participate in civilian defense activities and register as a blood donor.
11. Keep constant check on parts of your car and double up with neighbors in use of caps.
12. Keep your mouth shut so far as the spreading of rumors is concerned.
13. Make "Quiet, please," motto of your household. A war worker may be trying to sleep.
14. Put that extra push in your job. Enough such pushes will pulverize the enemy.
15. Shelve that sourpuss for the duration. Be cheerful.

No, those 15 items would hardly qualify anyone following them for a martyr's monument in the cemetery, a pretty medal, or even your name in the paper. If every family, beginning right now, would make these 15 points "must", however, the combined strength of such a home front army would prove a great force and inspiration for the men at the war front. —San Angelo Standard.

No Waste

Great Britain is seeing to it that every last small article is put to use. Milk-bottle caps go back to the milkman; left-over food is collected—scraps of paper, rags, bones and metal end up in factories. Worn-out batteries, once useless, now yield brass for uniform buttons, copper for shells, zinc for camp utensils, graphite for machine grease.

Wrecked ships and cars give 1,000 tons of scrap a week. One rich source of salvage metal; bombed sites. Last year $4,000,000 worth of metal came from them. The London transportation board is saving 480 tons of paper this year; they've reduced ticket thickness by .004 of an inch. Children are collecting wisps of sheep's wool that get snagged on hedges and fences and are turning them in.

One example of the thoroughness of the campaign is a letter that accompanied a single door key to a salvage office: "The house belonging to this key has been bombed. Please accept for salvage."

The city of Detroit found that by equipping a hundred miles of heavy traffic thoroughfares with "Traffic Safety Lighting," night fatalities fell from eighty to sixty per cent of the total.

NEWS BRIEFS OF BYGONE DAYS

Little Squibs Gleaned From Files Of Review

July 29, 1921: Olan F. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson of Cross Plains, completed the two years term of his enlistment in the navy and returned to his home here the first of this week. This young man was with the Eagle 4, which was a submarine chaser during the war and later a sea plane tender. He was stationed a greater part of his two years service at Panama, but also visited Porto Rico, Columbia, Canada and several other interesting foreign seaports. He returns the picture of good health and noticeably reflects the good training a young man receives in the American Navy.

July 29, 1921: Another attempt was made on the life of Al Irvin, ex-sheriff of Callahan County, at his ranch home a few miles south of Baird about 9 o'clock, last Friday night. Four shots from a 38 or 41 caliber gun were fired at him while he and other members of the household were eating supper. The shots were fired through the screen door from short range, one of which struck Irvin in the right temple, entering from the rear side and passing through the front of the eye cavity. The eye was entirely destroyed and removed by attending physicians. His condition is serious but it is reported that there is a chance for recovery. The three shots missed their intended mark and penetrated the furniture and wall of the dining room. There was little evidence at the scene of the shooting that would lead to the identity of the party who fired the shots. A few dim tracks, it is reported, were visible where the party stood at the time, but could not be traced in any direction.

September 23, 1921: Mr. E. M. Nordyke and Miss Flora Varner, popular young couple of Cottonwood, came over to Cross Plains Wednesday of last week and were married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Henslee, with Rev. Carter performing the ceremony.

October 14, 1921: Mart Harlow and Porter Henderson have returned from a trip of several weeks duration in New Mexico. Mr. Harlow relates about some interesting scenes which he encountered in that part of the country, principally among which were a number of the old and antique Spanish mission buildings. These buildings were constructed hundreds of years ago and their interiors are dilapidated and decayed, but many of the walls are still standing and in substantial condition, their thickness indicating they were built as much for a fortress as for other purposes. Other remarkable and interesting objects were the famous old apple trees which were still growing around the scenes of these missions, some of which are claimed to have been planted about four hundred years ago. However, untrue that may be, their age dates back beyond any accurate records of the present inhabitants of that country. These trees are still bearing apples of a distinctive variety.

November 18, 1921: A party of five camp hunters composed of John Atwood, J. C. and H. J. Rindorf, W. M. Franke, George Younglove and Ralph Chandler returned last Saturday from a fourteen day camp hunt in Christmas Mountains in the Southwest part of the state, near the border. They report having a good outing and succeeded in bagging two fine deer, besides a quantity of small game. They relate some thrilling experiences had with Spanish wild hogs, which are numerous in the mountains of that locality.

December 12, 1921: The Ford car which was stolen from the home of W. B. Williams in Cross Plains about a month ago, was recovered by him the first of this week near San Angelo. Notice had been given that a number of cars supposed to have been stolen were being held by the officers of that place. Mr. Williams went there Sunday, identified his car and returned home with it.

Not to have seen San Antonio, to have revealed in its magic, to have thrilled at the spot where Bowie and Crockett and Travis died—one who has not felt these kindling emotions has not truly known Texas to its fullest.

This thrilling story was found in the "66" News, published at Phillips:
As he coasted down the hill, he traveled faster and faster. The wheels turned at a terrific pace; the motor generated its last possible ounce of power. People were clustered at the turn, ahead of him, waiting to see if he would get safely around it. As he approached the curve, the crowd held its breath. Like a flash, he was zooming around the turn. The thrill was too much for one spectator. "Look!"

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

San Antonio is the most romantic of all Texas cities. In fact, take the word of one who has roamed amid the venerated splendors of Los Angeles, the quaintly beautiful city of the Alamo is more picturesque—and it's not 1,200 miles away.

"A foreign land at home", somebody has described San Antonio. An old Mexican playing a harp almost as big as he is, a singing blind man being led by a little daughter, a withered brown crane begging pennies, dark-eyed beauties with flashing teeth and wearing bright colors and gleaming jewels—these are sidewalk dramatics personae.

Then there is the old Menger Hotel, once the mesa of the cattle kings of the Southwest, and still a busy place, with its rotunda that gives the visitor a view of the marble and gold of the balustrades for three floors above. And you will see a bronze plaque commemorating Sidney Lanier—for the great Southern poet spent a Winter in San Antonio and stopped at the Menger.

Sunshine, palm-trees, flowering shrubs of exotic coloring and pungent aroma, soft Spanish syllables—manana, amigo, hasta la vista—and from somewhere the faint strains of a guitar and a tenor voice rendering "La Paloma"—such is San Antonio.

Then there is the Mission of San Jose with its famed window, a blossoming in stone that was carved by a Spanish artist whose fingers have been dust for centuries, and the bell-tower with its winding stairs hewn from logs.

And the old San Antonio river, its water a beautiful blue, winding through the center of the city, spanned by a score of bridges, its banks a smooth slope of green—memories of O. Henry and Brann the Iconoclast, for both these great writers lived here; memories of Robert E. Lee and Albert Sidney Johnston; memories of the war-shouts, "Who will follow old Ben Milam into San Antonio!" and "Remember the Alamo!"

she screamed. "He's going around the curve on two wheels!" He heard but he only laughed. For he knew he was on a motorcycle.

Berton Braley says that snobbery is the pride of those who are not sure of their position.

Amid the sternness of Tom Carlyle—whose "Sartor Resartus" is one of my favorite books—comes across little valleys of verdure and wild flowers in the midst of granite mountains—such as these:

The sacred art cities of Hope; the mean gay lamlets of reality; The inarticulate mystic speech of Music.

WASHINGTON—Mr. John Doe, American citizen, has a job, a family, an automobile and a thousand problems aggravated by the fact that this country is now at war.

On the basis of what already has happened to him and what is likely to happen in the near future, here's a picture of what John Doe's typical day will be like:

He gets up in the morning an hour earlier than he once did (by the sun), because the country must save electricity. He has toast and coffee for breakfast, spooning in a lessened amount of sugar because he can now have only one-half pound a week. Maybe his two-egg ration has been cut to one through rising prices.

When he puts on his new business suit it has no cuffs, no frills. He rides a bus or street car, either because his tires are worn through or his gasoline ration card is used up.

Harder Work
At the office he works a little harder, because some of the younger men have gone to the army and new assistants—sometimes women—have to be trained. He saves on office paper to combat a shortage. His secretary uses the old typewriter that doesn't suit her—she can't get a new one now.

At night he and his wife and the kids listen to the radio with only an occasional movie or attend instruction classes in civilian defense. Expenses must be cut because his salary probably hasn't kept up with advancing prices, and he must pay higher taxes and buy war bonds.

Part of John Doe's troubles are going to be eased. The prices he must pay for goods—providing the goods are available—probably will not be more than he had to pay during March. But on the other hand his salary will likely remain static for the duration of the war. That's because the economic system can't stand the strain of an over-balanced ratio of purchasing power to the amount of consumer goods available.

May Lose Job
If John Doe works for a company whose product is hit by priority orders or rationing system he may lose his job. In that case he probably goes to work in a war industry or in government service.

Maybe John Doe was planning a little cottage somewhere out in the country—but not now. No building materials are available. He was saving money for a vacation trip—but that went for war bonds, taxes and increased living costs.

His wife makes over dresses, or buys new ones a trifle shorter and with only one pocket. She hangs blackout curtains in place of the new frilly ones she wanted so badly.

But Mr. and Mrs. John Doe know there's no rationing or ceilings on smiles. "Gest in guerre," they say.
