Home Town Gossip.
"You look worried", said the merchant.
"I ought to be", replied the superintendent. "All I have to do is find a teacher for $110. a month who can coach the football team."
"Be Scout Master, avoid the band, direct the band and sing in the church choir, neither drink nor smoke, teach chemistry and avoid from local politics".

Visitors coming into Cross Plains, or people returning here after an absence of some time, mark that one thing about our city stands out most vividly. The town presents a dressed-up appearance, is the way they describe it.

It is the case too. Just start looking close attention to the things you see every day. Most all Cross Plains homes are newly painted, the grounds nicely kept, shrubbery groomed exceptionally well for a small West Texas town.

There are many, many beautiful homes in Cross Plains. One of the attractive lawns is that of Mr. and Mrs. A. Monroe and Mrs. C. W. Weller, on East Street. Shrubbery is trimmed with precision, the grass mowed freshly mown, and a well-kept garden attests to the pride of Cross Plains soil. But it is that Mr. Weller does all the work himself and still finds time to read two or three daily papers, to listen to a radio, to play a half dozen radio programs, to visit with friends and to do all the time, not to mention the fact that he does the cooking himself on the side.

Plains is opened to traffic, road built by the highway department itself, instead of by a contractor as was the pre-war case. The element has worked toward results rather than "cutting corners" for profit, as is necessary in a contractor building, thereby making it one of the finest sections in the state in all Texas.

Mark Adair is entitled to a little verbal bouquet for his persistence in improving the appearance of his section of Main Street. When the store next door to his became a war casualty, he arranged to decorate the windows of the adjoining building very attractively, thereby giving himself a great deal of additional display space but even more important is the fact that no vacant look was taken from the empty building. Think how it would be if all unoccupied buildings were thus decorated.

All in all, you'll find Cross Plains merchants are about the most progressive to be found in all towns anywhere, and that's the big reason why they're enjoying profitable business despite time curtailments.

County quotas on rationed machinery were cancelled according to word received from Lester Farmer, chairman of County USDA War Board.

Norman is a ground mechanic in the air forces and has been in service about nine months. He was first stationed at Santa Monica, California.

PVT. J. L. KING
Pvt. J. L. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. King of Cross Plains, was inducted into the army on January 9, 1943 at Camp Wolters. He is in the anti-aircraft coast artillery, stationed at Camp Hulen, near Palacios, Texas.

J. L. finished high school in Cross Plains in 1941 and later attended Cisco Junior College.

William Franke, 76, Laid to Final Rest Monday Afternoon

Last rites for William Franke, 76, who died at his home Southwest of Cross Plains early Sunday morning after a long illness were held from the residence Monday afternoon. Burial was made in the Swiss Plains cemetery. Mr. Franke had been in declining health for more than a year.

William Franke was born in Schilsien, Germany, January 13, 1867. He came to this country when only a lad of 16 years. He was married to Miss Mathilda Ludwig November 3, 1887 at New Braunfels, Texas. The couple moved to Cross Plains 39 years ago and had made their home here continuously since that time.

Recently your son was decorated with the air medal. This award was made in recognition of his courageous, fearless service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you.

Your son was decorated for meritorious achievement in more than twenty-five operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These flights included interception missions against enemy fighters and bombing planes and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre.

Almost every hour of every day, your son, and the sons of other American fathers are doing just such things as that here in the South Pacific.

"There is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and to peace.

I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against aggressor nations.

You, Mr. Morris, have every reason to share that pride and gratification.

Sgt. Samuel Norris Ramey War Prisoner of Japanese

Sergeant Samuel Norris Ramey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ramey, of Cottonwood, who has been listed "Missing in Action" since May 7, 1942, was reported by the International Red Cross this week to be a prisoner of war held by the Japanese government. The youth is believed to have been captured the day before the fall of Corrigedor.

A telegram to Mrs. Ramey from J. A. Ulio, Adjutant General, Tuesday read:
"Report received through the International Red Cross states your son Sgt. Samuel N. Ramey is prisoner of war of the Japanese government. Government letter of information follows from Provost Marshall General.

Sgt. Ramey entered the service and was assigned to the air corps in the role of mechanic on September 16, 1939. He sailed from this country October 4, 1941, arriving in the Philippine Islands shortly before the outbreak of the war. Last letter received by his mother was dated April 30, 1942, seven days before the time he is believed to have been captured.

In that letter Sgt. Ramey stated that he was in good health and happy, however, "between the lines" his mother read that he was anticipating ill fortune. The letter was mailed without an envelope and appeared to have been written hurriedly. It is possible that it left on the last outgoing mail from the Southernmost Philippine outpost on which the youth was stationed.

Mrs. Ramey told a representative of the Review Wednesday morning that she expected a letter soon instructing her what she could write to her son and giving information as to where he was being held.

Young Ramey is the second Cottonwood boy to be reported a prisoner of war held by the Japs. John Ivy, Jr., sailor son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ivy, was announced several months ago as a war prisoner of the Nipponese. Word from the Red Cross to his parents stated that he was receiving "fair" treatment.

It is pointed out that parents may write family matters to prisoners of war, however, the prisoners are not allowed to reply.

GUNNERY INSTRUCTOR

SGT. I. B. LOVING
Sergeant Ira B. Loving, Jr. of Cross Plains, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Loving of this city. He is an aerial gunnery instructor at an air base near Laredo, Texas. I. B. received his wings and was promoted to the rank of staff sergeant in five months after enlistment in the air corps. He entered the service on October 24, 1942.

Sergeant Loving, a 1936 graduate of Cross Plains high school, received primary training at Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado.

Local Teacher Is Bride Of William B. David Tuesday

The marriage of Dorothy Jean Cash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cash of Pioneer, and William B. David, Ensign, United States Naval Reserve, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ben M. David of Cuero, took place in Pioneer Tuesday, June 1. Dr. Ben M. David, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Cuero, read the single ring ceremony in the Methodist church in Pioneer where an altar of palms and ferns, white candelabra holding white lighted tapers and baskets of pink gladiolus were arranged.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. J. L. Glenn of Cross Plains, who also sang, "At Dawn" and "Because", accompanied by Mrs. Herstein Hawkins.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with long sleeves and train and sweetheart neckline outlined with pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a lovely orchid on a white Bible with the name Jean Cash David engraved in gold.

For something old she carried a handkerchief trimmed in handmade lace made by her maternal grandmother. For something borrowed a cluster of diamonds belonging to her cousin, Mrs. J. A. Sadler of Colorado City; for something new a white Bible gift of the groom.

June McClung of Kingsville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jimmie Barton of South Bend and Alta Reese of Brownwood, cousin of the bride. Mrs. J. H. Day of Abilene, the bride's aunt, acted as Matron of Honor.

Miss McClung wore a gown of powder blue net, shoulder length veil and carried a nosegay of white. The bridesmaids wore identical pastel dresses and veils and carried white nosegays. The Matron of Honor wore a gown of pink taffeta and wore a pancake hat fashioned of illusion topped with pink and rose flowers. Her nosegay was identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Best man was Orion Gorbett of Dallas, cousin of the groom, and ushers were William Emery Cash, brother of the bride and Sam Marshall.

TOWNS ALONG LINE WILL BE NOTIFIED COMMISSION SAYS

Rail Road Claims Loss For Years Of 1941 And '42 In Petition To I. C. C.

A time and place has not yet been announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission for hearing on the M. K. & T. railroad's application to abandon its line from DeLeon via Rising Star to Cross Plains, a distance of 41 miles.

Communications received from the I.C.C. this week declared that questionnaires had been sent to the railroad and that as soon as they were returned a hearing would be set and officials of all cities along the route notified. The I.C.C. also acknowledged receipt of protests filed by the peoples of Cross Plains, Rising Star and DeLeon.

Petition filed by the road with the I.C.C. contended that the line had been operated at a loss during 1941 and 1942 and that prospects for increased business were not immediately apparent. In contradiction, people of Cross Plains point out that the loss is of a temporary nature as a result of the war, and in substantiation of this fact contend that if the railroad would give sufficient cars to big shippers who have been denied them, the line would be operating at a profit rather than a loss. From other towns along the line come similar reports.

"If instead of abandoning the line the M.K.&T. people would give us six days a week service, we would really load them down with freight," said several local merchants Tuesday at noon at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Club, at which the railroad subject was the principal topic of discussion.

They further pointed out that thrice a week service prevented merchants from using the line for anything needed from Fort Worth or Dallas in less than a week. It was further intimated that if the railroad would give six days a week service most every Cross Plains business concern would agree to favor the line virtually 100 percent of their business.

Prominent Early Settler Laid To Last Rest Friday

W. W. (Uncle Will) Anderson, 93, early settler in this section of Texas and head of one of the vicinity's most prominent families, died in San Antonio Wednesday afternoon of last week, May 26, after an illness of some time. Funeral services were conducted from the First Methodist church in Rising Star Friday afternoon at three o'clock with Rev. Ed Anderson, a nephew; Rev. C. Y. Butler, Rising Star, and Rev. C. D. Wooten, Cross Plains, officiating. Interment was made in the family plot of the Rising Star cemetery.

"Uncle Will", as he was affectionately known, was one of the first merchants to do business at the present township of Rising Star. He made his home there until about 15 years ago when he moved to Abilene and thence to Cross Plains.

Survivors are the widow of this city, Tom Anderson, San Antonio; F. R. Anderson, Cross Plains; George Anderson, Albuquerque, New Mexico; C. D. Anderson, Dallas; Wallace Anderson, West Texas; and Mrs. Volly Joe Williams, Cross Plains, as well as a number of grand children, relatives and a great host of friends.

Pall bearers at the funeral and interment services were: Hugh Edington, W. R. Wagner, C. S. Martin, F. V. Tunnell, S. F. Bond and Tom Bryant all of Cross Plains.

Explanation . . .

Within the past 18 months the Review has spent some $200. for newspaper cuts in order to publish from week to week the pictures of local boys in various branches of the service. Reduced advertising and constantly rising publication costs forbid our continuing this practice, despite our earnest desire to do so. We must, therefore, ask that hereafter a portion of the publication costs of these pictures be borne by the parents or those who bring them in for publication.

Further necessitating the payment of the pictures is the fact that they have been brought in at the rate of six, seven and eight per week, where as we have obligated ourselves to publish only two per week, as a means of holding down overhead expense. In the future the pictures are brought in as quickly as they can be prepared, provided the parents in cases where parents of young men in the service are unable to share a portion of this expense, the Review will continue to pay the expense.

The cooperation of the public in this matter is earnestly requested.

New OPA Regulations On Rayon Hosiery

Means Savings For You

To conform to new Ceiling Prices announced as effective May 15, prices on all our rayon hosiery have been reduced.

It is our purpose to conform strictly to all OPA regulations and we are putting the new ceiling prices into effect at once. Most of you are familiar with our choice line of hose and will recognize quickly the values now being offered.

This is not intended as a special hosiery sale, but follows up our custom of keeping our customers completely informed on any new regulation concerning their purchases at our store.

We Cannot Guarantee These Hose

SUGGESTIONS FOR SECURING THE BEST WEAR FROM RAYON STOCKINGS. You will get extra wear and more satisfaction out of rayon hosiery if you will be guided by the following suggestions: Rayon hosiery is not as strong when it is damp as when it is dry. It will not dry as quickly after laundering as silk or nylon. Therefore, to secure the best results and wear, be sure that these hose are thoroughly dry before putting them on. Hang them up to dry and do not try to dry them too quickly by letting them come in contact with heat. By following these suggestions, and with a reasonable amount of care, you will get satisfactory wear from rayon hosiery.

Our New Ceiling Prices

Table with 3 columns: Stock No., Price, and New Ceiling Price. Includes items like Stock No. 66, 51 gauge Grade B. Former price $1.10, New ceiling price $1.10.
