TESTON NO. 2 LEADS NEW WELLS IN THAT LOCALITY IN DEPTH

With the greatest local interest centering on the outcome of the new well on the Harlow tract, by Grabb-McNeel & Tom Bryant, which is drilling at about the depth of the wells in the producing territory of the Cross Plains field, and located two miles southwest of these wells, it is uncertain as to what its production will be. There is a difference of 60 feet in the elevation of the two localities, and the drill is now penetrating a newly discovered formation, which is showing good indications of oil and gas. In the main field, among the new wells that are drilling, it is expected the Penant Oil & Gas Co., Teston No. 2, will be the next completion. This well is drilling at 1,750 feet, with Keough et al, Gooch No. 2, underreaming at 1,375 feet, and Center & Tidwell, Scott No. 1, drilling at 1,350 feet, as close seconds in line of completion. The half dozen other new wells drilling in this proven section of the field are reported in good condition and varying in depths between 650 and 1,000 feet. The local field this week was the scene of an unusual number of inspectors, one party, fifty-two in number and composed of English and Canadians, going over the field in a body. They occupied fourteen autos and came over to the local field from Cisco.

COUSIN OF J. G. AIKIN MURDERED IN NEW MEXICO

The bodies of Clay Carpenter and Frank Aikin of Matador, Texas, according to Associated Press reports of last week, were found in an arroyo, about sixty feet from a deserted cabin, near El Vado, N. M., by a searching party looking for strayed cattle. Both men had been shot to death. As a result of the find the authorities are looking for Price Clements, also of Matador, who is known to have been with the two slain men and who now is missing. Signs around the cabin pointed to the fact that the men had been slain in the building and the bodies dragged to the arroyo. The three men left Cuba, N. M., two weeks ago in an automobile for a hunting, trapping and sightseeing trip. Carpenter and Aikin were known to have had about $2,000 with them. Frank Aikin is a cousin of J. G. Aikin of Cross Plains, who has a number of other relatives living in the Matador community.

MRS. CLUTT'S BROTHER DIED AT ABILENE JAN. 13

W. R. Brown, aged 64, brother of Mrs. G. W. Cluts of Cross Plains and Mrs. G. J. Steele, who lives a few miles in the country, died at Abilene last Friday, Jan. 13th. The two sisters were called to Abilene early in the week and were with him at the time of his death.

The deceased formerly lived for a number of years in the Dressy community where he has a host of friends to mourn his death. He leaves an invalid wife and four grown children.

Truly, it can be said that he was a good christian man, a devoted husband and father. It is a sweet consolation to know that his sufferings are all over forever and we hope, some day, to meet him where there shall be no more good-byes.

TO THE VOTERS OF CALLAHAN COUNTY

You no doubt read my announcement for the office of County Judge some three weeks ago. It is not my purpose to enter into an active campaign for a few months, but after that time I hope see and talk with each of you personally. However I feel that it is my duty to express to you in public print some of my ideas, intentions and purposes.

I have not made my announcement unthoughtfully, nor have I failed to go over and over again in my mind the duties and great responsibilities of that office.

I fully realize that the man who sits at the head of the County finances in days we are now passing through, where the farmer are scarcely making enough money to pay their taxes, and the cow man has seen his cows drop in price from seventy-five dollars per head to twenty-five dollars, and the merchants who are putting forth ever effort to save only a part of his original stock, should be a man who is wide awake to these matters of much importance to our people, and should see that our tax burdens are levied at the lowest possible penny and to see that people's money is expended in the most judicial manner.

If I am elected your County Judge, it will not only be one of my duties, but I assure you that it will be my pleasure to execute that duty.

It shall be my purpose to devote my entire time, and to put all of the ability I possess into the discharge of the duties of that office.

Your knowledge of my private and political life, since having lived in the county thirty-three years, refrains me from saying anything of my qualifications.

I will be glad to express my views on any matter that pertain to the duties of County Judge at time. Wishing for each and all of you much happiness and prosperity throughout the New Year, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
W. E. (Gene) Melton.

HAD TO FALL BACK ON LUNCH

Seemed the Only Thing Left to Which Host Could Invite His Artistic Friends.

Mr. Heming tells an amusing little incident to dispel the general belief that artists are temperamental, irascible creatures who thrive on the "beatnik" life. The ancient days before prohibition Mr. Heming was in New York to invite American artists to exhibit in the Canadian national exhibit in Toronto. Gardner Symons, the well-known American artist, invited Heming and Frederick Waugh, another leading artist, to dinner at the National Arts club. "Let's go down and have a cocktail before lunch," said Symons. "I never take anything," said Heming. "Neither do I," said Waugh. Symons laughed. "That's funny," he said. "Neither do I, but anyway we'll have some cigars." "I don't smoke," said Waugh. "And I don't smoke," said Heming. "Well, this is a great joke," said Symons. "I don't smoke, either, but I thought you fellows would at least take a cigar. Say, you eat, don't you?—because I've ordered lunch."

Tied Up.

Knicker—"Smith says all he is he owes to his wife." Bocker—"Another of those frozen credits."

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on? Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your water today, and probably you'll begin to have better tomorrows, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by adding 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

GOVERNOR APPEALS TO PEOPLE FOR AID

DECLARES CRIME WAVE IS LAMING THE SHIP OF STATE ON THE BREAKERS

ASKS CITIZENS TO STAND BY

Calls on Speakers of This State and Others to Make Law Enforcement Addresses

Austin, Texas.—On every side we hear the underground rumblings of revolt against law and order," declared Governor Neff in an appeal addressed "To the People of Texas," for a vigorous campaign in behalf of law and order and to which document he subscribes himself "Yours for law."

The Governor's appeal, in part, is as follows:

"To the People of Texas: The law is the foundation of civilization. It is the cement that holds together the bricks of established government. Obedience to the law is the first and highest obligation of the citizen. Loss of respect for the law marks the beginning of the breakdown of civilization. When people scoff at the law or those attempting to enforce it, they are adding the cause of anarchy. On every side we hear the underground humblings of revolt against law and order. The crime wave is lashing the ship of State and tearing it from the moorings. Life and property are unsafe. Every day callers make, and every fall brings appeals from every section of Texas asking for aid to suppress lawlessness, claiming that local authorities can not or will not enforce the law. We have an unprecedented growth of crime. The law is the great channel through which flows the sovereign power of the people. They are in the last analysis the servants of peace and the conservators of civilization.

"Therefore, as your Governor, I call upon all patriotic law-abiding men and women to unite with me in a definite campaign for the education and development of public sentiment in favor of the maintenance of law."

WILSON IS CONFIDENT OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Washington.—Declaring anew his confidence in the "vitality of the League of Nations," former President Wilson Sunday warned in impromptu gathering at his home on S street that those who opposed the league would have to "look out for themselves."

A motion made by a man in the audience at a meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation that those present pay their respects to the former Chief Executive, led to a spontaneous pilgrimage of several thousand admirers and friends of Mr. Wilson through two miles of slushy streets to his residence. There the crowd increased and swiftly resolved itself into an enthusiastic demonstration.

Mr. Wilson's remarks were in reply to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who acting as spokesman for the crowd had declared that its presence offered proof that the League of Nations was not dead.

"I need hardly tell you how such a demonstration of friendship and confidence makes me feel," Mr. Wilson replied. "There can be no doubt of the vitality of the League of Nations. It will take care of itself and those who do not care it will have to look out for themselves."

MEXIA BUSINESS DISTRICT SWEEP BY $350,000 FIRE

Mexia, Texas.—Two and a half blocks of the business district of Mexia are in smoldering ruins, the phone exchange is destroyed and the light plant temporarily out of commission as the result of the most disastrous fire in the history of the town. Seven two-story brick buildings were burned. The loss is estimated at more than $350,000.

The fire started Saturday afternoon in a restaurant located on the ground floor of the Petroleum Building on the south side of Commerce street. A gasoline stove in the front of the cafe began leaking gas while burning and in a few minutes fire was all over the front part of the place.

Among the buildings destroyed are the Petroleum, the Ross & Green, the Ben Simons, the Pittman, the W. H. Wells and the Prendergast-Smith Bank, over which was located the telephone exchange, and two others.

The electric light and telephone systems were crippled shortly after the fire started.

Water was cut off from the residence district and the pumps put on maximum pressure.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. THEIR MAIDENS IN DAINTY PROGRAM

The dainty southern girls, to whom the old stories of a negro mammy and the crooned songs of ante-bellum days that still survive as a birthright, make up the Bliss Duo, one of the most popular attractions on the Lyceum platform, which comes to Cross Plains on January 26.

The girls are Miss Annie Barr, a gifted musician, soloist and accompanist, and Miss Devereaux Jarrett, a story teller of exceptional ability. Both were born way below Mason and Dixon's line, and each realizing the beauty of the stories and songs she's heard in her childhood, had decided before she met the other that through art the old folk-lore and songs of Ante-bellum days should survive. Hence their association in Lyceum work.

Their program consists of songs and stories sung and told by real Southern girls in the costume of ante-bellum days. It re-creates the atmosphere of the fine old civilization of the South. Negro songs and stories are featured, although the best classical music intersperses the offering. An evening of infinite charm is presented.

Miss Barr has a voice of agreeable timbre, fine and sympathetic. Miss Jarrett, while using negro stories for the most part, also offers many from other sources. The one rule is that they be new to the audience and full of wit and humor. With Miss Barr she will be heard in a number of vocal duets.

After his discharge from the service, ten months of which time was spent in France and sixty days at the fighting front as a member of the 36th Div., Co. C., 111 Eng., he has cast his lot for a future home and livelihood with the people of this town and community and will duly appreciate their help and influence in his candidacy for the office of public weigher. He is a good deserving citizen and is thoroughly qualified for the duties of the office to which he aspires.

CREATED BARRIER OF DEATH

Precision by Which Deadly Artillery Fire Was Laid Down During Conflict of the Nations

Barrage in warfare is an artillery term, meaning a barrier of gun fire from heavy artillery and machine guns, called by the French "feu de barrage," and by the British "certain fire." This method was invented by the French during the World war, and employed (1) between opposing trenches to stop enemy attacks, (2) in the rear and flank of the objective, to isolate the defenders in an attack and prevent reinforcements coming up. This method was used by the British in the battle of the Somme, July to September, 1916. Afterward, for purposes of attack, it was combined with the "creeping barrage" devised chiefly by General Sir Henry (now Baron Horne). Formerly the artillery had played upon line after line of enemy trenches, missing the rifle and machine-gun posts hidden between these, which were responsible for many casualties. In the new "creeping barrage" no ground was neglected. In an attack the artillery started by bursting their shells about 120 yards in front of their own lines, gradually advancing at a pace regulated by the infantrymen's rate of progress. The system gave excellent results, and the men soon learned to follow the barrage closely. In the latter stages of the war, when field guns were left behind temporarily owing to rapid advance, the machine-gun barrage at long ranges was brought to a pitch of considerable accuracy. The word is used in engineering as synonymous to a dam to hold back water.

One night he grew persistent and Mr. B— seemed to be near the point of investing. Very much disturbed she openly protested against his investing.

"But it's just the best proposition going," spoke up the promoter. "Why look how much I have invested myself. Even if I shouldn't get such great returns while I'm alive myself—"

"You'll get them after you're dead no doubt," she interrupted icily, "and then you'll wish that you didn't have so much oil."

STOVE OF NOVEL DESIGN.

A decided departure from the ordinary line of stove design is represented by a new heater. It is modeled on the lines of a phonograph cabinet and is painted in similar colors. An internal drum of cast iron, inclosed within an outer casing of light metal, holds the fire. Air is admitted to the stove from the outside, through lower openings in the casing sides. These pipes cross the open fire where the air is heated and consequently floated upward into the air. Hard or soft coal may be used in the stove.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"QUICK" AND ITS DERIVATION

True Meaning of the Word Not as Fully Understood as Might Be Generally Imagined.

To most of us the word "quick" means primarily, if not only, a rapidity of motion or action. The word in its primary meaning—Dutch "kwik" and Danish "qvik"—was used to designate the property of life. It was used to describe the condition opposite to that of being dead or inanimate.

This meaning extended to objects having a vegetable as opposed to an animal life. Thus, a "quick" hedge meant a hedge consisting of live or growing materials, such as a box-wood hedge.

It is a far cry from the English word "quick" to the Latin word "vivo," I live, and the Greek word "bios," life. But they all come from the same root, away back in the early morning of the human race as we know it. Especially in a country like America, the "melting pot" of the nations, it is well to remember that we all sprang from the same original stock, whether our ancestors came on the Mayflower or we ourselves arrived on a modern ocean liner.

MADE IT RIGHT WITH CLERK

Bride Understood Human Nature, and Demonstrated the Fact to More or Less Admiring Husband.

They were newly married and all their savings were invested in the furnishings of their new home, and consequently the young wife hesitated to mention it when she felt the need of candy.

Finally she announced her candy hunger to her husband and cautioned him, "I don't want you to get me one of those extravagant boxes that you used to send me," she said. "We can't afford it. Let's go into an ordinary candy store and buy 15 cents' worth of loose chocolates." "But, my dear," her husband objected, "I'd like to get you a real box. Besides, if I didn't, I'd feel the clerk was thinking all the time: 'There's a piker, buying 15 cents' worth of candy for a wonderful girl like that.'"

She smiled on him for the "wonderful girl" and explained away his objections. "I'll make sure that he sees my wedding ring and then neither you nor he need be embarrassed."

LIKE REAL LIFE.

The high school seniors were rehearsing their class play and the bride and bridegroom had come on the stage. After their sentimental little scene they proceeded to sit down at the breakfast table while the amateur comedian did his turn. And straightway the bridegroom grew interested in the make-believe food and didn't even look at his bride. Then the director grew sarcastic.

"Here, you bridegroom!" he shouted, "what's the matter? You're not paying any attention to your bride? Are you tired of her already?"

The bridegroom colored and became confused. "Oh, I forgot this was a play," he stammered.—Indianapolis News.

CHINESE NAMES.

Young women who insist upon tacking their maiden name over that of their husband's on the front-door bell, are not as modern as they think. For centuries in China a woman has had the choice of keeping her maiden name after marriage. Even her husband often adopts the habit. "Only friends made after marriage usually call a woman by her new name," writes Miss Elizabeth Durfee, Y. W. C. A. secretary in Nanking, China. "Her maiden name is used by her friends who knew her before marriage. Our Chinese teacher always calls his wife Miss Chang."

BEAUTY FOR FLOWER LOVERS

Magnificent Coloring a Delight to the Eye, According to Members of Exploring Expedition.

Near Sedonchen the rain had brought out leeches and drops of blood on the stones became frequent from bleeding wounds left by the leeches on the mules, writes Col. Howard Bury, leader of the Mount Everest expedition, in a special cable dispatch to the Washington Post. The march from Sedonchen to Gnsong was the steepest we had had, with a rise of over 5,000 feet in height.

We soon got out of leeches into a most wonderful zone of towering rhododendrons. Those at the lower heights had already flowered, but those between 10,000 feet and 12,000 feet were a marvelous sight. The orange and red rhododendrons. The nubarium came first, then pink, deep crimson, yellow, mauve, white and cream-colored flowers appeared in turn until the whole hillside was a blaze of color. It is impossible to imagine anything more beautiful. We were delighted at every yard of road. Deep purple and red primula covered all the open space, growing in the greatest profusion. Though snow had only been gone a month, flowers of all kinds were beginning to emerge.—Rochester Post-Express.

HISTORIC HOUSE FOR NATION

Building Famous in English History Believed to Be Destined as a Gift to the People.

Stone house, Buckinghamshire, one of the show places of England, which was sold recently for £50,000 to Harry Shaw, may be presented to the British people as a national possession. Mr. Shaw said that he hoped, with the assistance of his friends, to make the gift possible.

Stone house formerly belonged to the dukes of Buckingham and Chandos, passing in 1899, on the death of the third duke, who was the last of the line, to Baroness Kinloss. In this house Queen Victoria, for the only time during her life, held court in a private residence. It was built in Queen Elizabeth's time. It is famous for its historical associations with the lives of Sir Richard Temple, Pope, Congreve and others of literary fame.

DON'T BELIEVE THEM.

"Speaking of artists," said Brown, "my brother is a wonderful painter. Do you know that one day when father was indulging in his afternoon nap my brother painted two rabbits on the top of his bald head, and they were so lifelike that everyone mistook them for hairs?" "That's nothing," said Green. "I have a brother who painted a hen on a piece of cardboard. When it was placed on the table it laid there."

"Well," said White, "I have a brother who can beat your relatives hollow. One day he painted a mustard plaster on the outside wall of the prison, and it was so natural that it drew his pal out of the prison, where he was doing six months for perjury."

X-RAYS' POWER.

A French scientist, chief of the bureau of radiography for the Paris hospitals, has demonstrated that an X-ray apparatus can photograph subjects through a stone wall more than 25 feet distant from the source of the rays. He has obtained clear photographs of metallic objects, the rays filtering through marble plate more than an inch thick, 12 inches of oak, four inches of plaster and a sheet of lead one-eighth of an inch thick.

ONE USE FOR CATALPA.

In response to an inquiry made by the Missouri state board of agriculture, Prof. J. C. C. Price of the horticultural department of Mississippi college, concerning the "Catalpa Speciosa" tree, says that it may sound amusing, but there are people in the state of Mississippi who plant the catalpa to obtain the large caterpillars therefrom for fish bait.

MISS BESSIE WORK FOR DISTRICT CLERK

Through the columns of the Review Miss Bessie Work announces her candidacy for the office of District Clerk of Callahan County. The duties of the District Clerk consist mainly of book keeping and typewriting in which accuracy and neatness are essential, and it follows that Miss Bessie is especially qualified for the position to which she aspires, since she has had much experience in office work, and is said to be exceedingly accurate and efficient in keeping records or books of any kind. During the war she was appointed Clerk of the Local Exemption Board of this county, and her thorough acquaintance throughout the county, while her pleasantness of manner and her accommodating and cheerful spirit won for her the favor and friendship of the soldiers and all others whom she met in that work.

Miss Bessie has lived in this county practically all of her life, and her family were among the pioneers here. Her mother, the daughter of

W. J. McGowan, was Cottonwood, and married Work who died while Miss Bessie was very small.

Miss Bessie has attended college and educated herself such work as constitutes the duties of the office which she seeks in commending her candidacy for favorable consideration of we would compliment Miss Bessie in her desire to be elected to the position in order that she may be employed and be at home to her mother, and avoid the necessity of finding employment away from home among strangers.
