FORTY-TWO GUESTS PLAY "42"

The Wednesday Club and other guests were delightfully entertained Wednesday of Christmas week by Mrs. V. E. Hill. The house was appropriately decorated for the festive occasion, even the refreshments carrying out the Christmas spirit. Forty-two was the diversion of the afternoon and forty-two guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Hill.

The out of town guests were Mrs. William Hamilton, of Albany; Mrs. Frank Hall, of Fort Worth; Mrs. Russell Sailey, of Mineral Wells; Mrs. Bloom, of Lubbock; Miss Ada Powell, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Wren Foy, of Breckenridge; Miss Inez Franklin, of Fort Worth.

All departed with the wish that the New Year would bring to them as pleasant an entertainment as the closing days of 1921 brought them.

MISS HALEY ENTERTAINS S. G. S.

The members of the S. G. S. Club of Baird High School were entertained by Miss Bernice Haley, at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. V. Hart, Thursday evening of last week.

Pleasure was derived from many sources. Stories and jokes were told to begin the evening's jollity, by Mildred Holmes, much laughter resulting. Several songs were then sung, the personality of Peggy O'Neil being perpetually impressed on the consciousness of every one present.

Just about that time some one started a dance, and its delights were enjoyed for fifty minutes. Then we branched into "42," and "animal grab," and enjoyed these games immensely until refreshments were served, after gustatorily enjoying which the crowd drifted back to the dance.

Bob Farmer performed a jig solo, accompanied on the piano by Jimmie Beebe.

The Virginia Reel was then danced, following which the old square dance, directed by Ila White, was greatly enjoyed.

It was at quite a late hour when the girls forced themselves to depart. Those who enjoyed the pleasures of the evening were: Billie Cowan, Neil Ball, Maggie Lou Price, Mildred Holmes, Norma Bowlus, Thelma White, Ila White, Faye Bryant, Freda West, Bernice Haley, Bob Farmer, Agnes Eastham, Edith Bowlus, members of the club; Lucille Farmer, Elouise Haley, Jimmie Beebe, Beatrice Beebe, Frances Harris, invited guests; Mrs. Hart.

T-P CAFE'S NEW PROPRIETORS

Frank E. Stanley, proprietor of the Elite Cafe, and his late night chef, Louis A. Reno, have formed a partnership under the firm name of Stanley & Reno and taken over the "T-P Cafe," which distinctive and familiar name will be retained. Their announcement of eatable features will hereafter appear weekly among The Star's Classified Ads.

The new firm has overhauled, refurbished and rehabilitated the old cafe and, when all their improvements are completed, former patrons will hardly recognize the place.

The general color scheme in the dining room, when the improvements are completed, will be green and white. Special attention will be paid to the gustatory entertainment of ladies, and their waiters will be quick footed, deft handed, polite and agreeable, so that guests will be served with proverbial "quickness and dispatch."

At present, Mr. Stanley is also conducting the Elite Cafe, serving cooked to order meals, and remaining open from 10 a. m. till 10 p. m. He will, however, either sell the establishment he made famous, or close its doors, and devote his entire attention to the T-P, the doors to which, by the way, have no keys, being open day and night, year in and year out.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Thomas, of Eastland county, came up Saturday evening to visit Mr. Thomas's mother, Mrs. M. M. Thomas and niece, Flora Thomas, returning to their home Sunday evening.

LYCEUM LIVELIEST ENTERTAINERS

The Rondoliers, which company is to appear in Baird at the School Auditorium on Friday evening, February 3d, is the one entertainment in Lyceum which always beats the gun at the kick-off. It is a musical marathon from the time the curtain lifts, and a high speed race right through to the last note of the "Good Night" lullaby.

It is "Lyceum's Liveliest" and one of the cleanest and best entertainments now before the public. Press reports, wherever this company has appeared have been extremely commendatory during the present season's tour.

These versatile entertainers present many different orchestral arrangements. You will hear the trumpet quintet, the saxophone trio, played by three demure little musical maids; the Rondolier orchestra, with its stirring melodies; the splendid solo violin work of William Larson; the piano solo numbers of Delta Erickson; the reading of Emily McGregor; Walter Reed on the violin, saxophone or cornet, or the delightful soprano voice of Gertrude Erickson.

Literally, there are dozens of pleasing musical combinations, rendered with the exhilarating "snap" and "punch" that is fast spreading the name and fame of The Merry Rondoliers.

Mid-term examinations have been held this week in the Baird Public School, and many of the pupils will go from "low" to "high" and from "high" to "low."

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

CONGRESS WILL GET LOOK AT FORD'S OFFER

FULL REPORT OF THE MUSCLE SHOALS SALE PROJECT IN WEEKS' BUDGET.

Washington.—The proposal submitted by Henry Ford and modified for the lease and purchase of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., properties will be put into contract form and sent to Congress, Secretary Weeks announced. He added that he would send a report with the contract form to Congress.

Disappointment was expressed by Secretary Weeks that Mr. Ford had been unwilling to agree to further modifications of his proposal, which has been suggested as desirable by the War Department.

Secretary Weeks said the contract if signed by Mr. Ford when it was completed was to go forward as a matter of form for presentation of the question of the disposal of the Muscle Shoals property to Congress.

Secretary Weeks, after the conference, made the following statement: "Mr. Hoover and I have had a long conference with Mr. Ford about his offer on the Muscle Shoals project and have brought up for consideration various phases. The only modification Mr. Ford has been willing to make was based on our request that there should be a guarantee as to the limit of cost of building dams No. 2 and No. 3 and in that matter he has offered to pay 4 per cent on the cost of the dams from the time of completion to the expiration of the contract."

The War Secretary said he would possibly submit to Congress other offers received for the Muscle Shoals properties at the same time he sent the Ford offer. He would do so, he said, "for the information of Congress."

PROBLEMS OF THE FARM ARE TO BE DISCUSSED

Subjects To Be Taken Up At Meeting Outlined By Wallace.

Washington.—Discussion of the particular problems of the cotton belt, the range country and the other agricultural sections of the United States will mark the opening of the agricultural conference on Jan. 23, it is announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Plans are being made to have representatives of those branches of agriculture appear before the full conference at its opening session, to familiarize the delegates with the important problems with which they are to grapple.

The opening address will be made by President Harding, who will explain why the conference is called and what he hopes it will accomplish. After the addresses of the first day which will give the conference a picture of the whole situation, other sessions will be devoted to short addresses of a constructive nature, a report on the European situation and its relation to conditions here, and some discussion of what readjustments in the agriculture may be made to relieve the situation and consideration of the financing of agriculture.

WORKERS IN RAIL SHOPS STUDYING CONDITIONS

Chicago, Ill.—Representatives of 600,000 railroad shop workers announced here Friday that they would not order a strike vote taken by their organizations as a result of the revision of working rules in favor of the railroads by the United States Railroad Labor Board.

This decision of the board on rules is not accepted in toto, however, according to President B. M. Jewell, and a rehearing will be requested of the body on certain provisions of the decision.

The main objection of the committee of 100 is the rule which eliminates time and a half overtime payment after eight hours' work. The board gave overtime at the time and a half scale only after ten hours. Objection is also made to the rule placing Sunday work on a straight time basis.

PROF. VINSON SEES NEFF ABOUT MORE MONEY

Austin, Texas.—Dr. R. E. Vinson, president of the University of Texas, conferred with Governor Neff Friday regarding the finances of that institution, especially for the next scholastic session, beginning in October, such conference being made necessary by the provisions of the Pope amendment to the educational appropriation bill, which prohibits the use of parts of salaries to augment others where promotions occur.

MARTIAL LAW NOW IN EFFECT AT MEXIA

NEFF IS DETERMINED TO RUN
OUT VICE. WILL CLEAN UP
TEXAS LAWLESSNESS.

Austin, Texas.—Determined to rid Texas of bandits, bootleggers, gamblers, murderers and other classes of lawbreakers, Governor Neff has, in his initial step for a State-wide campaign against the lawless element, taken vigorous action.

Exercising his constitutional authority he issued a proclamation placing the town of Mexia, Limestone County, and the immediate territory, in which is located the Mexico oil field, under martial law the proclamation becoming effective at 5 o'clock Thursday morning, with Brigadier General Jacob F. Wetters, Texas National Guard, in supreme command.

Five hours after the declaration of martial law, orders were issued for the movement to Mexia of headquarters troop, Fifty-Sixth Texas Cavalry of Brenham, Captain E. A. Gejeske, commanding. Captain Gejeske was ordered to carry full field equipment for an indefinite stay.

The declaration of martial law was made, according to the Governor's proclamation, because of the "open and flagrant violation of the law, in this, that highway robbery is of frequent occurrence, accompanied in some cases by the murder of peaceful and law-abiding citizens; gambling houses are in full operation day and night, protected by armed men; intoxicating liquors are being openly sold over the bar at so much per drink, as well as in bottles and other containers, a multitude of unfortunate women ply their nefarious business in houses of ill-fame and the local officers are either unable or unwilling to maintain and enforce the law."

Discussing the conditions which brought about the putting into effect of martial law in the old field sections, Adjutant General Barton says:

"We agreed to clean up this town so a man could walk the streets without being hijacked, and we are going to do it. Open gambling, violation of the gambling laws and of the liquor laws must be stopped."

PREMIER OF FRANCE AND CABINET HAVE RESIGNED

Paris.—President Millerand has summoned former President Poincare to the Elysee Palace and formally asked him to assume the task of forming a new French Cabinet to replace that of Aristide Briand, which resigned Thursday.

M. Poincare agreed tentatively to assume the task.

M. Briand's resignation came with dramatic suddenness in the Chamber of Deputies, for the Premier returning Thursday morning from his conferences with the other states and later at Cannes, had brought the opposing members of his Cabinet into accord with his policies, and, by a powerful speech in the Chamber apparently had won over the great majority to his side. His blunt eloquence evoked a tremendous ovation, and when he abruptly declared his intention of withdrawing from the Government members of the Chamber seemed overwhelmed.

President Millerand accepted the resignation of Premier Briand and his entire Cabinet.

NEWBERRY IS WINNER; ENTITLED TO HIS SEAT

Washington.—Truman H. Newberry was declared by the Senate early Thursday night to be entitled to the seat which he now holds and which was made the basis of a contest by Henry Ford, his Democratic opponent in the 1918 Michigan Senatorial election.

The vote was 46 to 41. The Senate acted on a resolution sponsored by Republican leaders asserting that Mr. Newberry was entitled to his seat, but amended in last-minute conferences, so as to condemn excess expenditure of funds in senatorial campaigns.

Senator Newberry in the following statement termed the Senate's action as a vindication:

"My heart is filled with thankfulness that the three years and four months of prosecution have ended in complete vindication and exoneration of myself and all concerned."

Enforcement of prohibition throughout the country cost the Government $8,250,000 during the last fiscal year, it is revealed in a statement given out at prohibition headquarters.

Put up your hammer; don't knock your town and county. Pull, don't knock.

"A Full Dinner Pail!" was the old-time Republican slogan, but you do not hear much about it now.

Mexia, according to press reports, is in the Sodom and Gomorrah class of Bible times.

The man that has the grit to stick to his business, no matter what it may be, through hard times as well as good times, is the man that wins out in the end.

Some people are always looking for a good country just ahead and they never reach it. We know men who spent a life time hunting a better country, moving every year, but never found the good country, because the promised land is always ahead. We recall the history of one man who spent the best part of his life hunting a better country. He started in a northwestern state and moved over six states before he reached Texas, moving every year. When he reached Texas his family refused to move any more and the old man was so put out about it that he did not live very many years. Discontent has pauperized many good people. We have traveled some over all parts of Texas, except the Panhandle, and we would not exchange a home in old Callahan for any of them.

Not the political millennium has not come according to the Republican prognosticator promises in 1920. The effort to lay all the blame on the Wilson administration for the large number of unemployed will not go with people who read. The country enjoyed the greatest business boom all through the eight years of its existence, but war conditions brought this about mainly.

The war ended in 1918. The Republicans captured one if not both branches of Congress that year. They promised great things if Harding should be elected in 1920. He won, but where is the great things promised? There is a deal of bunk about any party making good or bad times. The slump in the business world did not come for several months after Wilson went out of office. We do not claim that the Republican party, that has had control of all departments of the National Government since March 4th, 1921, is wholly responsible, but we are quite sure that the Democrats are not responsible.

The cold blooded facts are that readjustment had to come after the war, and had the Democrats won in 1920, conditions, in all probability, would have been the same as they are now. The good hard sense of the American people is gradually working back to prewar stability. No political party, so far as the average man can see, has done anything to help conditions. If so, in what way?

PRESBYTERY TO INSTALL PASTOR

We are grateful for the attendance last Sunday morning. We hope our people will attend the revival meeting now in progress.

Sunday morning the theme will be: "Discouragements by the Way." We have them, but there is an antidote for them. We will seek to show what the remedy is for the different phases.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the Presbytery of Abilene will meet in special session here and place the call of the Baird congregation in the hands of the present stated supply and will proceed to install him as Pastor over the congregation. Rev. Rev. R. B. Twitty, of Abilene, will preach the sermon, Rev. J. A. Owens, of Albany, will deliver the charge to the congregation, and Rev. Fred S. Rogers, of Merkel, will deliver the charge to the Pastor. A full attendance of our membership is desired and most earnestly solicited.

Come out and be with us. This is a very important service always, and we will welcome you.

Gerald Fitzgerald, Minister.

GRANDPARENTS AFTER 19 YEARS

Grandpa and Grandma H. A. Lones are stepping pretty high these days, higher even than they did a good many years ago, when they went nearly crazy over their first grandchild. It was nineteen years ago when grandchildren became a sort of old story to this estimable couple, but this latest arrival—my! my!

There never was such a child born into this little old world of ours and, if you don't believe it, ask either of the tiny one's adoring grandparents. The much loved little stranger arrived in Baird by celestial aeroplane express, Wednesday, January 11, 1922, weighed six-and-a-half pounds and is the adored first-born of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowler.

He has been named Selman John William after three uncles, and Grandpapa and Grandmama Lones will wager dollars to doughnut that Selman John William Bowler will some day shed shining distinction on his tri-patronymic.

an auto wedding right then and there. Forthwith the solemn words were spoken which made the twain partners for life, and they whirled merrily away on the first lap of the long journey. The names on their license read: Mr. E. F. Jarrett and Miss Louise Williams, both of Baird.

On Friday, January 6, he united in wedlock Mr. J. O. Horton and Miss Minnie Breeding, both of whom live in Clyde.

BAPTIST CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

We will have all our regular services next Sunday, except the preaching service at night. The pastor will preach at 11 a. m. on the subject of "The God Planned Life," and is anxious to see every member of the church present. Be sure and come to Sunday School at 10 a. m. and stay for the preaching service. Let's make a sacrifice, if necessary, to that end.

There will be no night services while the revival at the Methodist Church is in progress. Everyone is missing the blessings of real pungent, practical preaching, such as every community very greatly needs, who fails to hear Brother Freeman's messages at the Methodist Church. May God help us all to be, and do, what will please Him most.

Chas. A. Loveless, Pastor.

The installation of a perfect water supply and sewerage system for Baird would increase the value of your property, fructify your gardens, keep down the disease laden dust, lower your insurance, reduce the fire peril and cause Baird to flourish like a green bay tree.

The municipal taxpayers who desire health, comfort and the material conveniences and blessing that will accrue to them from an abundant pure water supply and sanitary sewerage, are solidly behind the improvement program, which, originating with City Council, has been and still is, vigorously supported by the Baird Progressive Club's Executive Committee and many of its members.

Next Friday night, January 27th, will be the regular monthly meeting night of the Baird Progressive Club, which now numbers close on to two hundred members. A splendid program is being arranged—music, reading, booster talks, etc. The meeting will be held in the school auditorium, and the general public is cordially invited to attend and learn what the boosters are doing for Baird's betterment.

Mrs. J. L. Lea gave a tea party to Mary Frances Bookhout, of Dallas, Saturday afternoon, January 7. Those present were Martha Strine, Jewell Grimes, Thelma Boatwright, Lewis Boatwright and the honor guest. Though many years have passed since her youthful days, the hostess showed she had not forgotten them and made the afternoon one of rare pleasure for the little ladies and their dollies.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roe Keilty and little daughter, Patsy Roe, have returned from the East, where they spent the holiday season with Mr. Keilty's brother, Dr. Robert Keilty, and family. They also visited in New York City and Washington, D. C. In the latter city they heard Mr. Keilty's sister, Miss Madeline Keilty, sing "Marguerite," in the presentation of Faust by the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, of which she is a member—Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune. Mrs. Charles Roe Keilty nee Miss Kathrin Boydston, is the daughter of B. L. Boydston, of this city.

Dr. J. B. Ferrell, optometrist, late of McKinney, has recently become a citizen of Baird and has brought his family hither. He has taken offices with Dr. A. L. Bradford, in the telephone building and his professional card appears elsewhere in The Star. Dr. Ferrell comes to us highly recommended, is a pleasant, affable gentleman, and it is to be hoped that the professional patronage he receives will make him a Baird Booster, who will fight valiantly for the future honor and glory of the best small city in Texas.

MRS. J. ROY JACKSON ANNOUNCES

Mrs. J. Roy Jackson, of Baird, announces this week as a candidate for County Treasurer. Mrs. Jackson, before her marriage, was Miss Eva Clifford, a member of the well known Clifford family of this county. The editor is not personally acquainted with Mrs. Jackson, but those who do know her, say that she is in every way worthy and well qualified to discharge the duties of the office.

We knew Roy Jackson, who recently died, from the time he was a small boy to the day of his death. Mrs. Jackson has lived in the county all her life and has a wide circle of relatives and acquaintances. Mrs. Jackson later, will have something to say in her own behalf through the columns of The Star.

Since the above was written, W. C. Martin, present incumbent of the Treasurer's office, has withdrawn from the race, and announces as a candidate for Tax Collector. This, for the present, leaves the field open to Mrs. Jackson.

She is a deserving woman, and the office will enable her to support herself and little fatherless children. We will break a long established rule in The Star office not to express any preference for any county candidate, by saying that we hope that Mrs. Jackson will not have any opponent.

WANTS RETENTION AS TREASURER

When his present term expires Walter U. Martin will have been the custodian of Callahan County's War Chest for four years, with the overshadowing cloud of a one hundred thousand dollar bond to protect the taxpayers against loss. He has made a good Treasurer, punctiliously accurate and scrupulously honest.

As to this latter virtue, he comes by his honesty honestly. He is a crack tennis player, and penal statistics, running back for a half century show that no tennis player ever went to the penitentiary.

Treasurer Martin's announcement of his candidacy for the office he now so efficiently fills, appears elsewhere.

[Just as The Star was going to press Mr. Martin announces that he withdraws his candidacy in favor of Mrs. J. Roy Jackson for County Treasurer.]

CLERK RESSPES ASKS SUPPORT

The first term of Grady G. Respes, as County Clerk of Callahan has reached the last heat and he is clerkily running true to form, and elsewhere in The Star he enters for another race.

He has made a good clerk, being both efficient, courteous and accommodating. He served his country gallantly on the combat line in France and, counting the material loss Uncle Sam's militant service coat him, he deserves some recompense at the hands of those whose battles he fought, and his friends—who are legion—think he deserves another term and, to compass that end, will give him their loyal support, which he asks of the whole electorate.

COOKED FOOD SALE.

A BIT OF NONSENSE

By JOAN M. GRAY.

© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Now, where on earth did Nim get the idea?" Bink Spaulding asked Nim's brother, as they stood staring down upon Nim's bobbed head, turned adoringly upward toward the words which a long-haired, lanky individual was passionately pouring forth. "We three start off on a tramp as usual and she announces that a man with the most wonderful ideas in the world is coming along and then she prances off down the hill with him and leaves us here without any idea at all."

"Oh, Nim's Nim," Nim's brother said, unruffled, "and you are you. You let her walk all over you and only sputter when she steps off and tries her footling on someone else. If you'd only shake her—once in a while—"

"Oh, for heaven's sake! You know how it is with me, George. I'd rather have Nim walk all over me than—"

"I know, all right," snorted George, "and Nim knows. Listen to that," as Nim's adorable laugh floated up the hill to them. "That girl needs a darn good lesson."

"This is the third time she's lugged that bird along when I asked her to come out here with me—"

"And his hands aren't overly clean, either—"

"I bet he's only got that one collar to his name, and it's celluloid at that."

"Bink, if you only had sense enough to do it! Listen. Get Madame Nonsense on the line and play her against the idea. Show Nim that you have an outside 'interest' and see what happens. Will you?"

Nim's laugh floated up to them at that moment, and Bink swore that he would.

Nim, ready now to laugh with Bink over the Great Idea, found Bink in a sort of trance with Madame Nonsense. And he left with Madame, still in the same trance. But he came quickly out of it when he had left her at her door, and with a muttered "whew" of relief, returned to Nim's tea table. Once there he manfully raved over Madame's charm until Nim disdainfully left him for the upper regions.

Thereafter Bink talked Nonsense, thought Nonsense, and desired Nonsense only—apparently. Long after the Big Idea had said good-by forever to Nim and had promised to still love her when they met again in the Great Beyond, did Bink continue to worship Nonsense.

"But what does he see in that frowzy old thing?" raged Nim to George. "She is forty if she's a day."

"Oh, well, we men like someone with experience—someone who is ready to please us and think of our comfort before anything else. Madame surely thinks of Bink's happiness, all right, which is more than you do."

"Well, is he thinking of mine? I mean—" Nim could have bitten her tongue with vexation. "Heavens," she shrugged, recovering. "I don't care what he does. Come on, George. Dad's waiting out there for us."

Madame was describing the vision of a departed Red Man, when Nim, having left George and her dad behind, came swiftly into view. Bink, embarrassed, changed from one foot to the other, dislodging Madame, who was rather leaning on him, and Madame, slipping slightly, sat down with a thump on the edge of the hill.

As Madame went down her wrath came up, and when Madame rose, her wrath went still higher. With her golden hair hanging a little to one side, she used words which her association with things spiritual had not taught her to use. Then, feeling lonesome with all of them lost upon Bink Spaulding, she stalked down the path, passed an open-mouthed Nim, and disappeared into the grove.

"I hope she bumps into a tree," muttered a miserable, red-faced Bink.

But the worst seemed to be coming for Nim, with a rush, was before him. "Bink Spaulding, I should think you'd want to hide your face! Making love to a woman old enough to be your mother, and vulgar, swearing, rough, commonplace—oh, Bink, I think you're horrid!"

Bink wasn't ready yet, and Bink had seen a suspicious tremble in Nim's adorable mouth.

"She—Nim, how could I know, I—" "Bingham, you don't really care for her? After—"

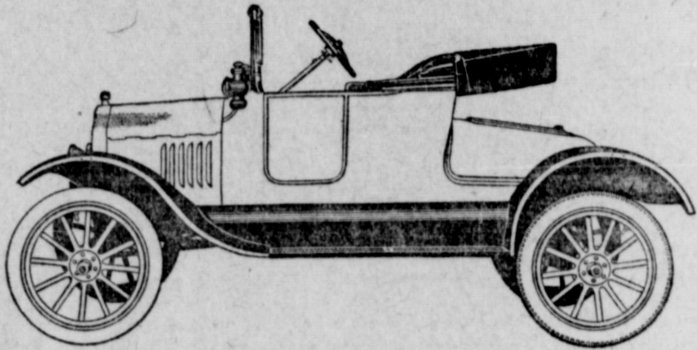

Nim was angry. If he thought he could have affairs with all the old peroxide hens for miles around, after asking her three times to marry him, he was mistaken. She turned and stalked away from him.

"Nim, you come back here and kiss me," said Bink, appearing much braver than he felt, and Nim, so unusual was the command, obeyed.

Fifteen minutes later she asked suspiciously "Bink, did you ever kiss that—her?"

"Ye gods!" cried Bink, lifting his head. "Nonsense! What do you think I am? But what about your Big Idea?"

"Um-um. And no Nonsense, either, Bink."

And as a little Nonsense and a few Big Ideas, shared by two, can accomplish all sorts of wonderful things, no doubt Bink and his Nim were very happy forever after.

WILSON IS CONFIDENT OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Washington.—Declaring anew his confidence in the "vitality of the League of Nations," Former President Wilson Sunday warned in impromptu gathering at his home on S street that those who opposed the league would have to "look out for themselves."

A motion made by a man in the audience at a meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation that those present pay their respects to the former Chief Executive, led to a spontaneous pilgrimage of several thousand admirers and friends of Mr. Wilson through two miles of slushy streets to his residence. There the crowd increased and swiftly resolved itself into an enthusiastic demonstration.

Mr. Wilson's remarks were in reply to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who acting as spokesman for the crowd had declared that its presence offered proof that the League of Nations was not dead.

"I need hardly tell you how such a demonstration of friendship and confidence makes me feel," Mr. Wilson replied. "There can be no doubt of the vitality of the League of Nations. It will take care of itself and those who do not regard it will have to look out for themselves."

MEXIA BUSINESS DISTRICT SWEEP BY $350,000 FIRE

Mexia, Texas.—Two and a half blocks of the business district of Mexia are in smoldering ruins, the phone exchange is destroyed and the light plant temporarily out of commission as the result of the most disastrous fire in the history of the town. Seven two-story brick buildings were burned. The loss is estimated at more than $350,000.

The fire started Saturday afternoon in a restaurant located on the second floor of the Petroleum Building on the south side of Commerce street. A gasoline stove in the front of the cafe began leaking gas while burning and in a few minutes fire was all over the front part of the place.

Among the buildings destroyed are the Petroleum, the Ross & Green, the Ben Simons the Pittman, the W. H. Wells and the Prendergast-Smith Bank, over which was located the telephone exchange, and two others.

The electric light and telephone systems were crippled shortly after the fire started.

Water was cut off from the residence district and the pumps put on maximum.

JEFFERSON DAVIS AT BUENA VISTA AND IN A PRISON CELL

"Savoyard," an old-time correspondent of the late Henry Waterson's Louisville Courier Journal and the late A. H. Belo's Galveston News, has a most interesting article in last Sunday's Dallas News, reminiscent of happenings in this old world a half century ago, in the course of which he recalls the following dramatic incident in Kentucky's political history, which occurred in 1865. "Savoyard" says:

Pardon me for relating an incident in Kentucky politics in the year 1865. The issue was amnesty for those Kentuckians who had gone South and fought for the Confederacy. In a mountain community that had sent a full regiment to fight for the Union and scarce half a score to wear the gray, Frank Wolford and Sidas Adams were opposing candidates for a seat in the House of the State Legislature. Wolford was a Democrat, Adams a Republican. The district was overwhelmingly Republican, composed as it was of the counties of Casey and Russell.

Wolford had been the first Colonel of the famous First Kentucky Cavalry in the Union Army. Most of it was recruited in the mountains; but there were squads from the Blue Grass and the Pennycuik also. Adams, a much younger man, physically virile, a magnificent gentleman in character and splendidly handsome in person, had been Lieutenant Colonel of the regiment and Colonel thereof after Wolford was promoted to Brigadier General.

Both were powerful orators on the stump and daily had a joint discussion, before immense crowds. When Stoneman surrendered to Wheeler during the war the First Kentucky, then commanded by Adams, was a part of his force. Adams rode up to his superior and demanded to know if it were true that he had surrendered.

"Yes," replied Stoneman, "there is nothing else to do."

"By —!" exclaimed Adams, "I'll take my regiment out of here!"

And he did. And for it General Sherman commended him and the command in a general order, that was read to every regiment in the army. During the war the First Kentucky Cavalry participated in 110 battles and actions in which blood was shed.

On Saturday before the election the succeeding Monday, an immense concourse greeted the candidates at Liberty the county seat of Casey County, and Wolford spoke first and created great enthusiasm. Adams rose to reply and turning to his competitor, said:

"General Wolford, you claim to be for complete and unconditional amnesty for unrepentant rebels. Now, sir, no dodging; tell this people if you are willing to discharge that arch traitor, Jeff Davis, from his prison quarters in Fortress Monroe?"

"I'll answer you, Colonel Adams, when your time is up," said General Wolford, rising.

"I want an answer now!" roared Adams.

There was scarce one single Southern sympathizer in that vast audience. It was a crowd of Union men, Union at all hazards and without conditions. They believed that secession was the sum of all villainies and demanded that treason be made odious.

His supporters trembled for Wolford and feared that he was lost, however he answered, and certainly lost, if he took counsel of his heart rather than his head in the response he should give. But Wolford never wavered. Stepping to the front, he thrilled friend and foe with these burning words:

"Fellow citizens, I was at Buena Vista. I saw the battle lost and victory within the grasp of the brutal and accursed foe. I saw the favorite son of 'Harry of the West' and my Colonel, weltering in his blood. I saw death, or captivity worse than death, in store for every surviving Kentuckian on that gory field. Everything seemed hopeless, and was hopeless, when a Mississippi regiment, with Jefferson Davis at its head, appeared on the scene. 'I see him now as he was then—the incarnation of battle, a thunder bolt of war, the apotheosis of victory, the avatar of rescue. He turned the tide, he snatched victory from defeat; his heroic hand wrote the words Buena Vista in letters of everlasting glory on our proud escutcheon.

"I greeted him then a hero, my countryman, my brother and my rescuer. He is no less so this day, and I would strike the shackles from his aged limbs and make him as free as the vital air of heaven and clothe him with every right I enjoy had I the power. Put that in your pipe, Sidas Adams, and smoke it."

The effect was electrical. Men cheered, laughed, wept. The sublime moral courage that thus bared his heart at the risk of political annihilation was not lost on that mountaineer assembly. Perhaps nowhere else could be found a community with more vivid appreciation of such moral heroism. For one moment that crowd of mountaineers swayed. Then altogether—friend of amnesty and partisan of rigor—they sprang forward, and taking the old and many scarred veteran on their shoulders made a progress through the town, cheering and singing as they went.

As for Adams, his speech was ruined and never finished. The following Monday, Frank Wolford was elected and his majority was only six votes. The tribute to Jefferson Davis saved him. In the Legislature he brought in the bill and championed it to a final passage that restored Confederates to all the rights the State had deprived them of during the war.

WANTS TO BE CITY MARSHAL

J. R. Roper, Baird's present superior Night Police, is a candidate for the office of City Marshal and Tax Collector of Baird, at the coming April election, for which he formally announces himself elsewhere.

For some time Mr. Roper was Night Yard Watchman here for the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, which duties he fulfilled efficiently and to the best interests not only of the railroad company but of the citizenship of Baird, for he kept the flitting undestrables that flock to a railroad division point, persistently on the move.

He is heroically O. K. with the railroad men and idolized by them, because he resigned his position rather than "guard eses," as he tersely put it, during the recent threatened railroad strike.

As Baird's nocturnal guardian, he has certainly maintained order on the streets after night, and zealously guarded the property interests of the taxpayers and business men along Market street.

We call attention to the announcement of Roy D. Williams as a candidate for reelection to the office of District Clerk. Roy is so well known that he needs no introduction to Callahan voters. He has held the office for two terms, we believe, and his record is before the voters. Do not forget he is in the race.

METHODIST PROTRACTED MEETING

A protracted meeting started at the Baird Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Sunday at 11 o'clock Rev. R. B. Freeman, evangelist, of Abilene, is doing the preaching. Mr. McIntosh has charge of the choir.

They did not decide to hold the meeting until after the Star was out last week, hence no announcement was made in this paper. Evangelist Freeman is a forcible speaker and holds the attention of his audients well.

The meeting, while handicapped for lack of proper advertising, started out well and the attendance was increasing until the blizzard hit this place Wednesday night.

The pastors of the Baptist and Presbyterian churches are assisting in the meeting and are doing good work.

A PLACE FOR ME

A place for me—oh! precious thought!
A place to serve Him day by day—
At home, at church or far away
In other lands.

Christ leads the way—oh! precious thought!
Unless He leads, my work is naught!
I follow on, my joy's complete—
I shirk and many shadows creep
Across my path.

Oh! Blessed Savior—precious thought!
Thou hast the power I long have sought—
To make my life a steady gleam
That will pilot harks to a safer stream
And home at last.
Mrs. H. P. Foy.

G. E. PRINTZ FOR TAX ASSESSOR

George E. Printz, at present Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1, announces this week for the office of Tax Assessor of Callahan County, which position he is very anxious to fill, both for personal reasons and the public good, and his prominent qualifications for the position to which he aspires, leads him to hope that the voters will so decide in the primaries.

Mr. Printz is probably more familiar with the land values of the county than any of his competitors for the Assessorship, having been in the abstract business for the past four years. He is a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, a man of education, adept at figures and thoroughly at home in all sorts of clerical and tabulated work.

During the late war he proved himself a loyal American, making great sacrifices to help the Government financially and sending three sons overseas, one of whom volunteered one was wounded in the Champagne objective.

Mr. Printz came to Callahan county in 1898 and lived till 1902 in the Clyde section. For fifteen years he was away from Callahan, but the lure finally drew him back in December, 1917, and he is here this time for keeps.

Candidate Printz will not make an active canvass just at present, but later will make the grand tour of the county and shake hands with all the voters.

With an anonymous letter, addressed to County Attorney L. W. Green, as a guide, he accompanied by Sheriff George Houston Corn and City Marshal W. L. Ashton visited a house on the old McManis truck farm, about a quarter of a mile east of the water tank, last Friday night, where they captured an artfully concealed copper still, complete in all its essential parts, and 100 gallons of mash. The mash was destroyed and the still brought back to the city. As the officers approached the house a man sprang away from the place and escaped. No arrests were made.

Cheap Money on Farms

Callahan County farmers having loans past due or maturing within 60 days can avail themselves of 6 per cent, 33 year loans through the Citizens Farm Loan Association of Clyde, Texas. $1,000. to $10,000. amounts. Prefer hard land, 50 per cent in cultivation.
